A very appreciative congregation was in attendance at the illustrated gospel song service at the Y.M.C.A. Sunday evening, given by Mr. James Stubbs.

The service was very impressive. A number of gospel songs were illustrated and sung and views given of the life of Jesus.

The life and travels of Paul were very faithfully described, and practical lessons for every day, life were drawn.

New Song Made a Decided Hit

"Flower of Japan" Sung at "The Royal Chef"

The Grand Opera House was crowded last night, when Fraze and Wade presented the big musical comedy, "The Royal Chef," and the production made a great hit. With a constant supply of bright jokes, a score or more of dashing musical numbers, a splendid cast of principals, and a big chorus, "The Royal Chef," is a hummer all the way through, and a dull moment would be hard to pick out. The costuming and general stage embellishments add greatly to the production. The story of the piece is woven around the adventures of Heinrich Lemphauser of Chicago, who in some manner or other has drifted to an Oriental land and is made Royal chef to be Rajah of Oolong. The part is taken by Henry Hermsen and he is a comedian of the first rank. He was the cause of twenty laughs a minute during the three acts, evolved in the presentation of the piece. He made a great hit in his song numbers, "Take Me Back," "It's a way they have in Chicago," and "In the morning." Two other song hits were "O'Reilly" by Miss Elsie Frazer, and "What's the matter with my man in the moon," by Miss Gertrude Hutcheson. Nearly every musical number were encored and the company was most generous in responding. Mention must be made of the work of Oscar Ragland, as the Rajah of Oolong. He has a powerful voice of careful training and was a decided favorite. The chorus was large and well trained and appeared to advantage in the different songs and dances. The production closes in a novel manner, as the curtain is rung down and the company is assembled on the stage, they throw hundreds of yards of different colored confetti among the audience enwrapping the occupants of the seats in its mazes. It is a pretty feature, and caused much amusement.

Between the second and third acts Mr. Isador S. Lashman, a member of the company, sang in splendid voice Mr. Croyland Yokome's "The Flower of Japan." Mr. Lashman has a splendid tenor voice and the pretty vocal number made a great hit. The audience was most enthusiastic and two encores were demanded and responded to. Mr. Lashman will sing Mr. Yokome's song at every production of the "Chef" during the remainder of the tour.

It was stated that the invitations had not official character and that Ambassador Bryce had "to attend the peace conference in New York."

In the House of Lords, Lord Leith of Fyvie, complaining of the Ambassador's absence, said that Great Britain had stood aloof and it would be most disappointing to see the late Lord Pauncefote's great work of re-establishing a good understanding between the United States and Great Britain ended by an act of indifference, which might be misconstrued into something stronger.

EDUCATION DAY AT PARK STREET

Rev. A. H. Brace Refers to Good Work of Baptist Colleges

It was a busy day at Park street church Sunday. The sermon on education in the morning was by Rev. A. H. Brace. His text was from 2 Kings, 5, 1-2. The subject was treated under four heads;

1. That a school for the prophets was necessary and did exist. "The place where we dwell."

2. That it was so popular that it became overcrowded, hence they said its too straight for us.

3. That extensive enlargement became necessary, and they said, "Let us go to Jordan and take every man a beam, and let us build a place where we may dwell."

4. This enterprise was hearty and united. Every man a beam, and the old professor said, "I will go."

This had its exact counterpart in the McMaster University. Students in McMaster, Woodstock and Moulton Ladies' College number 515 students and for the ministry last year 113. Sixty-five students preached in one hundred and nine churches during summer and one hundred and one persons were baptised. Offerings for Christian education will be taken next Lord's Day. At night at close of the sermon the ordinance of baptism was observed and a short reception service preceded the communion, at which the new members received the hand of fellowship and were welcomed by the church.

Wednesday, public service, pastor in charge. Friday, Busy Workers at 4.20.

MADE IN BELFAST

The Heart of a Good Garment Comes From the Land of Erin.

"The true-hearted Irishman" has become an accepted phrase the world over, for the native-born son of Erin is a man full of kindly sentiment and warm-hearted soul in his friendships.

The Irish industrials are known the world over for the sterling quality of their products. The heart of the Semi-ready garment is built on Irish linen canvas, and the inward construction which is so important in holding the shape and style of the coat is of good Irish manufacture.

"We could save a dollar on every coat by using cheap material in the hidden parts of a suit, but we use the Belfast quality which makes for higher standards," said the President of the Semi-ready. The Semi-ready Frock coats hold their shape always because they are built on good Irish fabrics within.

THEIR TERMS HAVE EXPIRED

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Todd Resign Offices in First Church of Christ, Scientist

First Church of Christ, Scientist, will hold their annual business meeting on Friday evening of this week, to receive reports and elect officers for the ensuing year.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Todd have tendered their resignation of all offices in connection with the church. They however, will likely continue their home in Peterborough. If relieved of the responsibility of church work, Mr. Todd may open an office of healing in Toronto or Ottawa, where he formerly did a great deal of work. Mr. Todd has been reader in the local church for three years. The term allowed by the Mother Church at Concord, N. H. He was succeeded three years ago by Mrs. Todd, and her term as reader has now expired. Mr. and Mrs. Todd have lived in Peterborough six years. It is possible that the congregation of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, may ask that their duties here be extended. This question will be definitely decided at the annual meeting on Friday night.

TURNED THE JOKE.

The Way a Bridegroom Got the Laugh on His "Funny" Chum.

Under the thin disguise of harmless fun many an unpardonable rude prank is played upon newly married couples. It is refreshing to hear of an occasional instance in which the "joke" reacts on the joker. A young man and his bride, who had just been married in a western town, were starting on their wedding journey. They had managed to reach the train in safety despite the showers of rice and old shoes.

Just as they had taken their seats in the car one of the bridegroom's chums came hastily in to bid him goodby. As the young husband extended his hand the friend snapped a handcuff round his wrist.

The groom had been suspecting a trick of some kind, and before the practical joker could play a similar trick on the bride he found the other handcuff snapped round his own wrist. He was chained to the happy bridegroom himself.

"That's a good one on me, Harry," he said, with a sickly kind of smile, "but I'll have to ask you to come to the door with me and get the key to these things from the fellow outside that's got it. Hold on, conductor, just a minute!"

But the conductor, whose quick eye had taken in the situation, refused to wait. He gave the order for starting, and the train pulled out. It was a through train and made no stop for the next fifty miles. Before it stopped, however, the brakeman, with the aid of a sharp file and a hammer, succeeded in releasing Harry. The practical joker meanwhile had had to pay full fare for the fifty miles and still had his fare home to pay.

FRENCH SENTIMENT.

The Way It Classifies the Greatest Men of the Nation.

The Petit Parisien in 1906 conducted a very interesting plebiscite, the object of which was to ascertain who, in the opinion of its readers, were the ten greatest Frenchmen of the nineteenth century. More than 15,000,000 votes were given, and the result was that Pasteur came out at the top of the poll with 1,338,425 votes. The next were Victor Hugo, who received 1,227,103 votes; Gambetta 1,155,672, Napoleon 1,118,034, Thiers 1,039,453, Lazare Carnot 950,772, Curie 851,107, A. Dumas pere 850,602, Dr. Roux 603,941 and Parmentier 498,863. Immediately following were Ampere, the electrician; Brazza, the explorer; Zola, Lamartine and Arago.

It will be observed with interest how large is the proportion of scientific men in the number of those who, in the opinion of Frenchmen, occupy the highest places in the records of the country. Napoleon is only fourth, though Pasteur heads the list, and Curie, Roux and Parmentier, the chemist who introduced the culture of the potato into France, are also honored, while Ampere and Brazza are not far behind. Literary men and statesmen dispute with the scientists for the highest distinctions, and the national sentiment of France is evidently eclectic.

Animals That Are Trained.

The animal trainer paused in his midnight supper.

"It is strange," he said, "how training increases an animal's value. I can buy a young lion for $100, train it and sell it for $500 afterward. Take the group I performed with tonight—three lions, three tigers, two leopards, four bears and four boarhounds. They are all young adults in the pink of condition, but untrained they wouldn't be worth more than $1,500 or $2,000 at the outside. Yet the boss was offered $60,000 for them last week. The training sets the price, and no wonder. It took four years to train this group of mine, and, though there are only sixteen animals in it now, no less than seventy had to be tried and discarded before we got together the sixteen we wanted."

Short Stay Neighborhoods.

A man who contemplated going into business for himself looked around for a good location. He rejected the advice of two friends who had suggested neighborhoods which they thought desirable.

"I don't like either of the places," he said. "Business can't be good around there. I have passed through those streets many times, and always I have been struck with the frequency with which the names on the shops are changed. That doesn't look promising. Wherever a man finds trade profitable he stays; contrariwise, he moves. None of the short stay neighborhoods for me."

Causes of Headache.

People get headache because they do not take sufficient active exercise to keep the blood circulating actively, become excited and often about things that do not concern them at all, neglect daily action of bowels, bathe in cold water without wetting the head, sleep on a low pillow, take too much alcohol, allow the feet to get cold, take iron and quinine when these drugs do not agree with the system.

The Return.

"I believe," said the cheery philosopher, "that for every single thing you give away two come back to you."

"That's my experience," said Phamley. "Last June I gave away my daughter, and she and her husband came back to us in August."

It often takes a lot of common sense to get a man out of trouble a little nonsense got him into.—Beaver (Okla.) Herald.

Robt. Peebles, father of Alderman Peebles, Hamilton, died recently in the city.

Some Pretty Collars for Dressing up Shirt Waists.

The season has brought out some very fetching collars and berthas for wear with simple dresses or waists and two of these are shown here. The first is most pleasing in its unusual and round neck edge and appears wonderfully smart worn with a lingerie shirt waist or a silk one. It may be made of mull and inset with lace insertion or medallions, or of allover lace and finished with a narrow edging of lace. The other bertha with its Mandarin sleeve bands is decidedly new and smart. An allover lace or embroidery may serve for its making or a silk edged with lace or narrow pleating. The collars are very simple to make and require but 7-8 yard of 27 inch material for either in the medium size.

A Very Attractive Dressing Sack.

Some of the simplest negligees are the most fetching and one which will please any woman of good taste is shown. While restful in its lines and contours, there is none of that negligee appearance which the men of the household so much dislike in breakfast apparel. The neck is attractively finished with a band of embroidery which also forms the front and back panel while a trig belt of the same assures a pretty waistline. The sleeves are of elbow length and may be completed with a plain band or narrow frills of lace and ribbon. Such a sack is pretty in challis, silk or one of the fascinating tub fabrics such as lawn, mull or swiss. The medium size calls for 3 1-2 yards of 36 inch material.

The price of this pattern is ten cents.

HONOR ALL MEN

"Honor all men was the message given by Rev. J. R. Webb at the evangelistic meeting for men at the Y.M.C.A. on Sunday at 4 o'clock. His remarks were very pointed and impressive as was shown by the keen attention with wich the men present listened to the address. Mr. J. F. Thornton sang "I am a stranger here."

A FARM IDYL.

Who built those splendid buildings
Where grain and hay are hid?
Who built that noble pig pen?
The old man did.

Who built those bullet-proof fences,
The glowing fields amid?
Who cleared that cedar slashing?
The old man did.

Who slew the deadly mustard
In hppy spring crops hid?
Who threshed the rowdy ragweed?
The old man did.

Who built that splendid mansion—
No mortgage for a lid?
Who planted all that orchard?
The old man did.

He did it with affection;
It was his joy and pride;
And when his work was finished,
The old man died!

The Young Man Did.

Who let the homestead crumble,
The lilac trees amid?
Who wrecked the old verandah?
The young man did!

Who let the caterpillars
With tents come in unbid,
To spoil the splendid orchard?
The young man did!

The noble big farm building,
From its foundations slid;
Who let it go to ruin?
The young man did!

Who let the rascal ragweed,
The fertile fields amid,
Destroy the wholesome clover?
The young man did!

Who with an awful mortgage
The noble acres hid?
And who destroyed the sugar bush?
The young man did!

His father built an honored name,
The countryside amid,
Who trailed, who dragged it in the dust?
The young man did!

"FINALLY."

A Good Point In Work of Late Detective Murray.

A recent article about detective work in London recalls the work of the late John Murray, for so many years chief of the Provincial Detective Service, says The Toronto News. You will not find this little point in his book, interesting as his memoirs are, but it came out constantly in his conversation, and this point is indicated by the word "Finally." Anyone who ever talked to Mr. Murray knows how he smiled at the Sherlock Holmes idea of a sleuth; and he would in the freest way explain how he followed his clues. It is true that at times his conclusions sometimes seemed to be reached by intuition rather than by reasoning; nevertheless Mr. Murray always viewed them as reasoned out from facts he had been able to gather. But throughout his conversation Mr. Murray would brush away and pass over intermediate steps with the word "Finally." Having indicated how he was led into wrong by-ways, how the fugitive threw him off the scent, he would pass over the perplexities and the anxieties of those days or weeks and show how he got back on the trail, with a hearty and victorious "Well finally." That was the keynote of the character of the great detective. With him there was always a "finally." Nothing was ever settled until it was settled right; no crime was ever forgotten until the mystery had been solved and the criminal brought to justice. Though he spent practically his whole life in tracking criminals, Mr. Murray was no human bloodhound. He was always to the last a genial, kindly Irishman, who did his duty and caused pain to individuals for the good of society from the same sense of duty, and with the same personal distress, as the physician, the teacher, or the Crown prosecutor. When he had given his word on any subject, he was scrupulous in carrying it out. A characteristic instance may be given. When his book was published in London, six advance copies were to be sent to the author, and he promised that the first to receive one would be the Literary Editor of The News. Through no fault of Mr. Murray, but because of what newspaper men call a "scoop," he went home one evening a fortnight before the copies arrived to find a four-column review of his book in the news columns of The News. Mr. Murray did not rest until he had made it plain to the Literary Editor that he was not to blame. Detective as he was, it was some time before he learned how he came to be "scooped" on his own book.

Dealing With Criminals.

The question of how to deal with the criminal class must ere long be met by the application of more potent remedies than are now applied, such as will meet the cause of moral deformities, contagion or accident. Countries to-day vie with each to devise sugar-coated systems to cure criminal habits; eminent jurists and magistrates have strained statutes in their behalf, and many good people keep beseeching the great Creator to set aside an immutable law and thus relieve the abnormal conditions of mankind.

Remove the certainty of death from a trip over Niagara Falls in an open boat and such trips would soon become a holiday pastime. So it is with the commission of criminal acts; remove the chances of just punishment from criminal offences and each act committed will only be a stimulant for the commitment of more atrocious ones.—W. P. Archibald, Dominion Parole Officer.

Edmonton has a Canadian Club, which when a fortnight old had 138 members, and was still growing. The Canadian Club idea has got a firm grip on Canadian towns and cities and is a most hopeful sign for the political and commercial life of the community.

King Edward School Will Not Be Opened Until September

It is Felt That it Would Not be Advisable to Break Up the Classes in Other Schools at Present Time

The new King Edward School in the South Ward will not be opened until the commencement of the fall school term, about the first of September. While the building is practically ready for occupancy, it is felt that it would not be advisable to break up the classes at the present time, as would result if the new school was opened now. In order to be ready for the examinations which have to be tried during the latter part of June, the pupils have much hard work before them, between now and the summer holidays. To break up the classes at the present time could not but have a detrimental effect to the school will not be opened until the first of September.

The new school is practically finished. Rutherford Bros. have completed their contract, and all that remains to be done is the placing in of the seats and a few other minor details. The cornice has yet to be put on and the grounds levelled.

When the King Edward school is opened there will be considerable shifting of pupils in the different schools in the city. It is likely there will be more or less changes in every public school, except the one in the fifth ward. The south central, and west ward schools will be affected to the greatest extent.

Employers Present Their Side of the Present Strike Trouble

Messrs Ackerman Say They Cannot Deal With Men as a Union as the Members Thereof Will Not Produce Proof Either in Writing or Actual Work of Being Competent Journeymen Harnessmakers

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—We have been asked by your representative for a statement of the facts in connection with the strike of nineteen harness makers. We had not intended making any explanation, as we neither feel abused, nor are we looking for sympathy, but possibly the public, after reading the strikers' statement, would be in a better position to judge the matter fairly after hearing both sides of the story.

In a general way the account published is correct, the average present pay of the union men being $9.60 per week. We submitted to them a new pay sheet, which would increase the average to $10.40, in addition to giving them an extra hour per week at our expense, which they did not demand pay for. While $9.60 per week may seem small pay for union men, it is 60 cents per week over the minimum of the Leather Workers' Union. We charge the Leather Workers' Union with accepting members who can neither produce proof in writing or in actual work of being competent journeymen harness makers, and this fact makes it almost impossible for us to deal with them as a union. If this association of men will take unqualified mechanics into their union, the average wage will be low, because we always have and always will pay our employees according to their merits. We will not submit to our pay roll being arranged in Kansas City unless the views of these American Union officials happen to coincide with ours. As a proof of the above the present weekly wage of our competent non-union men average $12.00 per week, and we intend increasing this to over $13.00. This may seem discrimination, but there is not a union man who can fairly say that we have shown any partiality to non-union men. In the harness trade we have apprentices, helpers and journeymen harness makers. A few years ago we averaged from ten to fifteen apprentices; we now have in our harness room three out of a total number of employees of forty. In our business unionism has been so antagonistic to apprentices that we cannot keep one boy out of every ten engaged. As we cannot afford to pay competent journeymen to do boys work we must look for helpers, and these helpers are evidently satisfactory candidates for the Leather Workers Union. In the case of this strike one of these helpers was sent to us repeatedly as one of the Union committee to treat for higher wages. This man (not a Canadian) applied to us for work some 18 months ago; we kept him on through the winter, but as soon as spring opened out he left us suddenly to become a painter, claiming he could thus earn more money. We were quite satisfied with this, as his time was worth all he could get for it in the open market. When the painting season was over he came back to work at $9.00 per week, the minimum union wage, and in our opinion every cent he was worth. Now we do not know if he is a member of the Painters' Union as well as of that of the Leather Workers, but from our past experience he is not to be depended on and he was not included in the advance offered other union men.

We ask you sir, to solve the help question for us. Journeymen harness makers are leaving the trade through old age faster than the Union will allow us to make new men. You will note in their statement last evening that they are allowed one apprentice to ten journeymen according to the union constitution; the result is that we must turn to foreign countries for helpers and do our best to make mechanics out of them, while our own Canadian boys can become laborers. This is a growing country, we could increase our output one hundred per cent. with a staff of men who would give us a square deal. Out of the nineteen men on strike eleven of them learned their trade in our employ, serving a three years' apprenticeship they seem to have forgotten something. These men have no solution to offer us in the way of getting out our work. We are told they do not frame the union laws, but that they must abide by them. They may be ordered out at any time from Kansas city. This wage question is general throughout Ontario, other factories in our line are in a similar position. Our wages will compare favorably with those of any Eastern factory in our business.

In concluding we will say that we have advised the men on strike to call for their tools and pay. On no other pretense will they be admitted to our factory. We will not receive any deputation with views towards a settlement of this affair, as we feel that we alone, through long experience know our own business best.

We thank you sir, for this space.

Yours, etc.,
B. F ACKERMAN, SON & CO.

Merchants Fined for Blocking Walks

Judgment Delivered in the Police Court To day

Magistrate Dumble in the cases of Jas. R. Bell, Jos. Duranceau, and Alex Elliott, who were charged two weeks ago with violating by-law No. 1,161, by having boxes and barrels on the sidewalk in front of their premises, after 12 o'clock...

Jas. R. Bell, and Jos. Duranceau were each fined five dollars to be paid in ten days. His Worship said Judgment was given to-day by he could make no distinctions. One merchant couldn't be discharged because the box was too heavy for him to take in, and the other one could not escape because he didn't notice the goods in time. He would fine all alike.

Alex Elliott was discharged. His Worship said that he could not fine the Dominion Government. The barrels in question were in bond.

THE BOMBMAKER.

He Makes an Apparently Harmless Letter a Deadly Machine.

So expert are bombmakers nowadays that an apparently harmless letter may kill any person who tries to open it. A piece of cardboard is cut to a size which, when folded over, will fit into an ordinary envelope. The four corners of this are slit into narrow strips. Fulminate of mercury is spread over three of the slits, and the sheet is folded and fastened together. Projecting from each side of the folded sheet is a little metal strip, or detonator, glued to the cardboard in such a manner that the envelope cannot be opened without striking one of them. Upon meeting this slight resistance the hand moving the paper cutter instinctively pushes harder, and the result is an explosion that either kills or maims.

The easiest bomb to construct is set in operation by simply turning it upside down. It is usually a good sized cracker box, lined with paper and half filled with a mixture of chlorate of potassium and ordinary sugar. Into this a bottle of a powerful acid is introduced. The remainder of the space in the box is filled with scraps of metal. Then the lid is soldered on.

All that is then necessary is to place the box upside down at the spot in which it is to explode. The acid eats quickly through the cork of the bottle and comes in contact with the chlorate of potassium. As a result of the chemical combination which takes place there is a terrific explosion.

THE ESPOUSAL.

Ancient Ceremony of the Mutual Promise of Marriage.

The first part of the matrimonial office was anciently termed the espousal, which took place some time prior to the actual celebration of marriage. These espousals consisted in a mutual promise of marriage, which was made by the man and woman before the bishop or presbyter and several witnesses.

After them the articles of agreement of marriage, called tabulæ matrimoniales, which are mentioned by Augustine, were signed by both persons. After this the man delivered to the woman the ring and other gifts, an action which was termed subarrhation. In the latter ages the espousals have always been performed at the same time as the office of matrimony in all the churches abroad, and it has long been customary for the ring to be delivered to the woman after the contract has been made, which has always been in the actual office of matrimony.

The ring is a special token of spousage. In some of the old manuals for the use of foreign cathedrals before the minister proceeds to the marriage he is directed to ask the woman's dowry—viz, the tokens of spousage—and by these tokens of spousage are to be understood rings or money or some other things to be given to the woman by the man, which giving is called wedding or covenanting, especially when it is done by the giving of a ring.

Knew Him at Once.

There are other sure ways of bringing a man to mind besides mentioning his name. Among the candidates who were sent from Princeton to a Philadelphia church was one young man whose language was of the sort which dazzles and delights the younger members of a congregation and sometimes pleases the elders as well. In this case the committee were besieged to ask for the young man again, and they consented, but unfortunately the man to whose lot it fell to write the letter had forgotten the candidate's name. Nothing daunted, he wrote to one of the seminary professors:

"Please send us that floweret, streamlet, rivulet, cloudlet, starlight and moonbeam young man again. We've forgotten his name, but we've no doubt you'll recognize him."

"We do," wrote the professor. And the desired candidate was sent and subsequently was called to the parish.

Shuffleboard.

Shuffleboard probably comes from the same source as quoits, curling and bowling. It was immensely popular in England during the reign of Henry VIII. Subsequently it was one of the games forbidden by law because it turned the people from the practice of archery.

Newark, N. J.

Newark, N. J., was first called Milford, from the name of a town in Connecticut. Its name was changed at the suggestion of the Rev. Abraham Pierson, an early minister in the town, who had been ordained at Newark, in England.

Milling to be Commenced at Once at Star of East Mines

Officers of the Company Were in Peterborough on Their Way to the Scene of Operations—Nearly 600 Tons of Ore Ready to be Milled.

Messrs. Ira Dale, of Franklin, Penn., President of the Star of the East Mining Company; J. R. Steele, of Oil City, Penn., secretary-treasurer; C. M. Cozad, of Oil City; E. T. Brooks and L. M. Wood, of Breckenridge, Colorado, were registered at the Munro House last night on their way to the mines of the company at Kaladar, Hastings County. Mr. Cozad is a director of the company and Messrs. Wood and Brooks are experts in connection with the milling of ore, and will take charge of this work at the mines.

A staff of workmen have been engaged in getting out ore, and between five and six hundred tons of quartz have been brought to the surface and are ready for milling, which will be commenced at once, and kept up steadily from now on. Mr. Wood will superintend the work and Mr. Brooks will also be engaged in the milling. Both Mr. Wood and Mr. Brooks are experts at this work, having had many years experience in the milling of ores in the mines of Colorado.

It is expected that considerable new new machinery will be added to the milling plant in the near future. However, it is in good condition at present, and the results of the milling will be awaited with interest. The ore minded during the past winter is exceptionally promising looking, and, in the opinion of those who have seen it, and are competent to judge, it should turn out well.

The gentlemen referred to above all left for the mines this morning.

Grenadier Guards Are Not Coming to Peterborough

Have Decided to go to Owen Sound on May 24th—Nothing Further Heard From Brantford.

The Grenadier Guards of Toronto, are not coming to Peterborough on May 24th. Information to this effect has been received in the city, although the officers of the local regiment have not yet been officially notified to that effect.

The Guards have decided to spend the holiday at Owen Sound to which place they had been invited before the invitation was received from the Peterborough regiment. It is understood that the officers of the regiment would have liked to come to Peterborough, but the trip to Owen Sound possessed certain advantages that Peterborough could not offer.

Nothing official has yet been received from Brantford as to whether or not the Dufferins will be here on the holiday. It is expected that the Telephone City regiment will decide what they are going to do in the course of a few days.

The citizens of Peterborough would have liked to have seen the Grenadier Guards visit this city, but it is probable that they will be here next year.

Have the Largest Roller Skating Rink in Canada

Mr. S. J. Sheridan has returned from Ottawa where he has spent the past two weeks in connection with the opening of the new roller skating rink there. Everything is now going full swing, and Messrs. Sheridan and Henderson are being complimented on all sides in the capital on the splendid floor they have laid, and the excellent manner in which everything is conducted. The rink is at Dey's, the scene of many familiar hockey battles and it is the largest roller rink in Canada. The floor is an excellent one, the corners being rounded.

A great business is being done at the rink, over nine hundred being in attendance on Saturday. Ottawa is going crazy over roller skating, and the rink is crowded all the time. Arrangements are being made for the formation of a roller hockey league in the capital, and a meeting has been called for Thursday night, to consider the matter.

Mr. Henderson and Prof. Genno are in charge of the rink, and there are such a large number in attendance, that two of them are kept on the floor all the time.

ROLLER LEAGUE IS PROPOSED

To Inclune Teams From Peterborough, Toronto, Montreal and Ottawa

A proposition is under way for the formation of a roller hockey league being formed, to include teams from Peterborough, Ottawa, Montreal and Toronto.

The Ottawa Journal yesterday has the following item in reference to the matter;

"There is talk of a roller hockey league being formed in Ottawa, and a meeting is called for Thursday evening at Dey's Arena to discuss the matter. A team would also likely be placed in the league with teams from Peterborough, Montreal and Toronto."

From a Peterborough point of view the scheme seems quite feasible Peterborough should be able to place a team on the floor that could make the best of them go home. The matter is being talked over here and something will likely be done.

Nothing New in Strike Situation

There is nothing new in the strike situation at Ackerman's today. The nineteen men are still out, and the management is firm in its attitude to hold out against the demands of the strikers. A mass meeting of the harness makers will be held in the Orange Hall, Simcoe Street, tonight, when the situation will be discussed and a decision reached as to what action will be taken.

Long service postal clerks are renewing their appeals to the Government for an increase of wages.

Dog Poisoner Continues Work

The dog poisoner continues in working his deadly game. While so many dogs have not died today, as yesterday, yet there are reports of a few whose canines were victims. Mr. C. N. Brown, who keeps a flour and feed store on Simcoe street, lost his dog. He found his Scotch Terrier had been poisoned and at once sent for Dr. Poole, but nothing could be done for it. The report came yesterday that Mr. Harold Gibbs' dog was dead is not correct. The canine was poisoned but under the care of Dr. Johnson soon recovered.

Mr. Bruce Hutchison, Sheridan street, noticed that his dog had been poisoned yesterday morning. He at once took it to Dr. McKercher, who worked with it all day. Now the canine is as well as ever.

Terrible Fire in New York City

Four Men Dead Ten Firemen Injured 250 Horses Burned

Special to the Review.

New York, April 23. — Four men are dead, three are missing and ten firemen are badly injured as the result of an early morning blaze on the east side today.

Two fire engines were wrecked in collision with street cars, 250 horses were burned to death, and a property loss of $200,000, completes the record of loss.

Practically every fire corps on the East Side was in action for several hours. It is estimated that three hundred families were driven from their homes by flames. The most serious fire, destroyed the Dispatch Express Co.'s stables, where the men and horses lost their lives.

William J. Bryan says the platform of the democratic party should be controlled by national convention.

Edward A. Nelson, of Wilmington, N.C., a railway mail clerk, has confessed to stealing $10,000 from the mails.

Poor Woman and Four Children

Two emigrant specials went through to the city yesterday. We are told that one woman got off here en route to Peterborough. She had four children and a ticket for Peterborough, but not a cent in the world. Inasmuch as the Peterborough train did not leave till today, the immigration agent here had to look after the woman and her small brood. They left for Peterborough today, where the meal ticket of the family, it is to be hoped is awaiting them.—Belleville Intelligencer.

The Review communicated with the agent of the Charity Board at noon today, but as yet he had not heard of the woman's arrival, and he had not been applied to for assistance.

Will Organize Epworth League

Preliminary Meeting Held at Bethel on Warsaw Circuit

A deputation from the Epworth Leagues of the city drove out to Bethel Methodist church on the Warsaw circuit, last evening, for the purpose of organizing a league in that church. Those who attended were Rev. Dr. Crothers, Mr. B. Cain, Misses Collins, L. Sanderson and Misses Chasty. A large number of people were present.

Rev. Mr. Nickle, pastor of Bethel church, occupied the chair, and the meeting was opened with the singing of a hymn and prayer.

The following excellent programme was then given:—

Chorus by choir.

Recitation—"Where is My Wandering Boy"—Miss A. Payne.

Vocal Solo—Miss Chasty.

Address—"The Christian Endeavor department of League Work"—Mr. Cain

Duet—The Misses Chasty.

Address—Missionary Department in League"—Miss Collins.

Instrumental Duet—Miss S. Payne and Mr. White.

Discussion.

Recitation—Mr. E. Thompson.

Vocal Solo—Miss Chasty.

Address—"The Young People of the 20th Century"—Dr. Crothers.

Vocal Duet—The Misses Chasty.

Chorus—Choir.

Miss I. Sanderson very kindly acted as accompanist.

The addresses were all along the line of Epworth League work. They proved to be very interesting, and conveyed much valuable information of the work done, by an Epworth League, to the Young People of Bethel church. The matter of organizing a league was discussed and many favored the movement. It is likely the young people will meet in the course of a week or two for the purpose of organization.

The meeting was closed with the benediction. A small admission fee was charged last evening, and the receips amounted to $34.35. The visitors were royally entertained, and cannot speak in too high terms as to the treatment received at the hands of the young people of Bethel church.

UNION MEETING

Held by Brotherhood of St. Andrew—Addresses Given.

The local assembly of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew held an enthusiastic joint meeting at All Saint's church last evening. A large delegation from St. John's and St. Luke's churches was present. Mr. R. J. Devey, director St. John's chapter, occupied the chair and opened the meeting. A lively discussion then followed on general principles of Brotherhood work.

The subject of sending a delegate to the general conference of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, to be held in Winnipeg, from May 21st to 28th was discussed. The local assembly would like very much to have a representative at this conference but the expense will be very heavy. It will be decided at a meeting to be held shortly, whether it will be advisable to send some one or not.

Cadets Had First Drill Yesterday

Collegiate Institute Boys Had Good Workout

The Collegiate Institute cadets had their first drill of the season yesterday forenoon, and showed up to good advantage for their initial workout. The three companies, totalling over one hundred in strength, were out, and were put through squad drill for half an hour by their instructor, Lieut. Hodgson. The corps will drill every Tuesday and Friday, from now on and expect to give a good account of themselves, when the time for inspection comes in June. The outlook for the Cadets is very bright as the boys are enthusiastic regarding their work and are going to do their very best.

FELL OFF CART AND BROKE ARM

Mr. Ed. Brown Met With an Accident Yesterday

As a result of falling off a load of window sashes, which he was delivering for the Peterborough Canoe Company, Edward Brown had his right arm broken yesterday morning. The accident took place on Water street, just opposite the market square. The cart had a big load of sashes on it, and Brown was driving the horses. In some manner or other he fell from his place on the load and the broken arm was the result. The strange part of the accident is that Brown had only started to work for the Canoe Company yesterday morning. The injured man went to a doctor, where he had the fracture set. He will not be able to work for some time.

Perfect Woman

You may have the Beauty of Perfect Health

The perfect woman is the woman who has perfect health. Beauty is more than skin deep. Beauty is as deep as pure blood and a perfect digestion. Especially is female beauty dependent on the perfect health of the delicate female organism.

If you wish to have the beauty and attractiveness of perfect health, if you wish your eyes to sparkle, your complexion to resume its brilliancy, and your whole body to thrill with the glow of renewed vitality, take that famous woman's medicine,

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

If you have headaches, backache, organic pains, painful or irregular periods, or any female trouble, begin with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once. It will save you needless suffering. It will restore your womanly beauty.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—Soon after my marriage my health began to fail. I was unable to sleep, became very nervous and had shooting pains through the abdomen and pelvic organs, with bearing down pains and constant headaches, causing me much misery; my monthly periods became very painful and I became a burden to my family.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me within three months. I am stronger and look better than I did before I was married, and there is great rejoicing in our home for what your wonderful medicine has accomplished for me. MRS. M. A. C. LETELLIER, 732 Cadioux Street, Montreal, Que.

No woman, were she a Venus de Milo, could continue beautiful with a dragging down female complaint. Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write to her for advice. For twenty-five years Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, has under her direction, and since her decease, been advising sick women free of charge.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cures Where Others Fail

In Favor of the Railways; Long Discussion in House

House Votes Against Enforcement of Act by Government.

Hon. Mr. Aylesworth Refuses to Consider the Suggestion—Cannot Enforce Its Own Laws—Mr. W. F. Maclean Exposes the Absurdity—Bitter Pill for Western Liberal Members.

Ottawa, April 24.—The House yesterday went squarely on record by a party vote as opposing the enforcement of the Railway Act by the Federal Government.

It was Hon. Mr. Aylesworth who, Monday stripped the provinces of all control over railway corporations, and who, yesterday protested that the Federal Government should not be required to control these same corporations.

It was a bitter pill for the western Liberal members, who have been flooded with letters and telegrams from the constituents, driven at most to revolution by their mistreatment at the hands of the railway companies. These members, however, were compelled to acquiesce in the decision that Federal laws cannot be executed by the Federal Government.

It is significant that no Ontario Liberal, representing a constituency crossed by the G. T. R., voted for this amendment, although if carried it would have devolved upon the Government the duty of obtaining two cents a mile railway fare for their constituents.

The matter came up yesterday morning upon Mr. Aylesworth's bill to amend the Railway Act. Its real purpose is to permit the employment of Mr. Shepley and other counsel before the Railway Commission in its investigation into the schedule of tolls filed by the express and telephone companies under the legislation of last session.

Mr. Aylesworth's Excuse.

W. F. Maclean (South York), having given notice of his intention to move an amendment requiring the Minister of Justice to enforce the provisions of the Railway Act, and of their own charters against the railway companies, Mr. Aylesworth pointed out that it was unreasonable to expect this Government to enforce the Federal law as Federal laws were enforced by the United States Government. In the United States were Federal courts. These could not exist in Canada without changing our constitution. We had gotten through 40 years of existence with the present B. N. A. Act. If it was so unsatisfactory to certain gentlemen, let them propose an address to the King.

Referring to the case in point, Mr. Aylesworth said that, supposing that as one of the witnesses a company put in their manager, it was necessary that he should be cross-examined, and such cross-examination to be effective should not be the ordinary fireworks of the Police Court, but should be conducted by some one instructed in technical knowledge and in a position to bring out of a hostile witness facts which otherwise might not be elicited.

After commenting upon this remarkable mis-statement, as the British North America Act explicitly provides for the creation of Federal courts and the enforcement of Federal laws by the Dominion Government, Mr. Maclean (South York) said that it was idle for the Minister of Justice to humbug the country by claiming that our Federal statutes couldn't be enforced without an act of the Imperial Parliament.

Charged to Fulfil Law.

He read from the act creating the Department of Justice, and by the terms of which the Minister, as Attorney-General, is charged with the duty of superintending the execution of the law.

Mr. Maclean challenged the Minister of Justice to state any reason why this country alone among the nations of the world was unable to enforce its own laws.

"True, Mr. Aylesworth says that he is willing to enforce the law if he is asked to do so by the Railway Commission," agreed the speaker, "but the Commission is a judicial body not responsible to Parliament. This is a responsible Government, a political Government, and we have a right to have some member of the Government responsible."

Revenue and Right.

"It is a curious situation," continued Mr. Maclean, "that the Customs Act is vigorously enforced by this Government. Evidently collecting the revenue is considered more important than protecting public rights."

Dr. Sproule feared that the bill was a step towards turning the Railway Commission into a court so that suitors couldn't be heard without going to the expense of employing counsel.

Mr. Bergeron suggested that the Solicitor-General was idle. Why not direct him to appear before the Railway Commission.

The Division.

Upon third reading he offered an amendment to the bill providing that the Attorney-General should enforce the Railway Act, and employ counsel, if necessary, and should institute all such proceedings, civil or criminal, that might be necessary to enforce the law to punish violations thereof or to collect fines and penalties thereunder. The amendment was defeated by a party vote. Yeas 38, nays 80.

An amendment moved by R. L. Borden requiring the Attorney-General and Solicitor-General to appear before and assist the Railway Commission, was defeated by the same division, and the bill passed.

Patching the Cabinet.

Ottawa, April 24.—Although there can be no formal Cabinet appointments until the return of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the leaders are busy preparing the Cabinet for him.

As Mr. Hyman will not return, it is agreed that Speaker Sutherland will enter the Cabinet, probably as Minister of Agriculture, Sydney Fisher assuming Public Works.

Mr. Marcil, the Deputy Speaker, cannot become Speaker, as a French-Canadian, Hon. Mr. Dandurand, is Speaker of the Senate. It is, therefore, settled that Arch. Campbell will be the Speaker for the next session, and then probably go to the Senate.

It is announced that Premier Pugsley of New Brunswick will not be put in charge of railways or of any other spending department. He may enter the Cabinet without portfolio. Neither will Mr. Carvel secure this coverted position. He may, however, succeed Sir Frederick Borden as Minister of Militia, thus clearing the way for the almost certain appointment of E. M. Macdonald as Minister of Railways.

Opposition to Pugsley.

St. John, N. B., April 24.—Premier Pugsley will not have it all his own way by any means at the Liberal convention on Friday night.

Already Mayor Edward Sears has announced his intention of contesting for the nomination. Failing in this, he will not, however, be a third candidate in the bye-election if a Conservative should take the field.

Dissatisfaction in the party is shown in the complaint that an old Conservative has been made Lieutenant-Governor; an old Conservative has been given an important commercial position in South Africa; an old Conservative has been made Senator, and finally, an old Conservative is being put forward by the Liberal organization.

Gas Leak Exploded.

Brantford, April 24.—By investigating with a lighted match the cause for escaping gas, the plateglass fronts of the two stores on Dalhousie street, owned by J. B. Holt were blown across the street.

Provincial Inspector.

Toronto, April 24.—William Willard Holden of Gore Bay is the first appointment as provincial inspector of fish and game.

The position carries with it $1,500 a year.

Chinese Minister to Britain.

Pekin, April 24.—Lord Liching Fang, the adopted son of the late viceroy, Li Hung Chang, has been appointed Chinese Minister to London. The new Minister is very wealthy.

Fire at Macoun, Sask.

Winnipeg, April 24.—At Macoun, Sask., fire, yesterday morning, destroyed Seaton's store, the Northern Bank and postoffice, with all mail. Loss $20,000.

LONG BATTLE WITH FIRE

Four Men Dead and Many Injured—250 Horses Killed.

Fierce Fight With Flames In New York City—Fire Engines In Collision With Street Cars—Overturned and Wrecked—Many Thrilling Escapes From Blazing Buildings—Property Loss $200,000.

New York, April 24.—Four men burned to death; two hundred and fifty horses killed; twelve firemen injured, two of them seriously; two engines overturned and wreck by collisions with street cars, several thrilling escapes from burning buildings, and a property loss of $200,000—that is the story of the fire department's work for the seven hours following Monday midnight.

Six fires on the upper east side on Broadway, in the middle east side, and a big stable fire at Christopher and Barrow streets, kept the firemen constantly at work.

The dead are four Italians whose bodies, burned beyond recognition, were found in the ruins of the Despatch stables, in the block bounded by Christopher, Barrom, West and Washington streets. It was only after most desperate efforts that the firemen saved the big adjoining tenements and the Palace and Knickerbocker Hotels. Two hundred and fifty horses were burned.

Another serious fire started in the Madison Laundry in East 73rd street and swept up through the five-storey building, several of the upper floors of which were occupied as tenements. Families in the upper part were rescued by firemen.

It was a high building in Wooster street that most of the firemen were injured. They had dragged hose up the stairs when the "back draught" swept over them. A dozen of the men were blown down a flight of stairs.

The repair shops of the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad in the Melrose yards, near 156th street, were burned yesterday with a loss of $100,000.

Four Go Over Falls.

Raleigh, N. C., April 24.—Swept over the falls, four men were drowned in Cape Fear River yesterday at Buckhorn Falls, 30 miles from Raleigh.

The men were in a scow, trying with poles to force it from the river bank, with purpose of reaching a lower landing. The scow was caught by the current. One was to have been married here next Sunday.

Wreck on Great Northern.

Minot, N. D., April 24.—Twelve persons were seriously injured and a dozen or more were badly hurt in the wreck of a Great Northern passenger train near Blaisdell Monday night.

The wreck was caused by a broken rail.

NEW THEORY IN MARVIN CASE.

Detective Thinks Boy Was Killed and Body Concealed.

Dover, Del., April 24.—A new move has been made in the Marvin case, based upon the theory of Detective Lora of New Jersey. A deckhand employed on a steamer running between Lebanon, Del., and Philadelphia, was arrested, but he denied that he had anything to do with the disappearance of the child.

The deckhand worked on the Marvin farm, helping in the transfer of the household goods, the day that the child disappeared. Detective Lora's theory is that the boy, while climbing about the wagon, fell, and was killed, and that the men, fearing they would be blamed, concealed the body and later made away with it.

East Northumberland Election.

Warkworth, April 24.—East Northumberland Liberals yesterday nominated A. A. Mulholland, manager of the Northumberland Paper Co., at Campbellford, to contest the vacancy for the Dominion House.

Weds 17 Wives.

Marshall, Mich., April 24.—Dr. John Carver, alleged bigamist, who is said to have at least 17 wives, was captured at Fort Smith, Ark., Carver is charged with defrauding his wives out of $150,000.

The specific charge on which he was arrested was that of defrauding Mrs. Lola Davis of Battle Creek out of $25,000. He went with her to New York and they decided to buy a boarding house. He told his wife to go home and raise all the money she could on her property and forward him a draft. He got the money, it is said, and disappeared.

Exporters.

Not many shipping cattle on sale, and it was fortunate for those having them that they were not on the market, as few, if any, are wanted for several days, as space is scarce. A few lots were sold at $4.90 to $5.25, and one lot of 7 at $5.35; the bulk, which was not large, sold around $5 to $5.10. Bulls sold at $3.75 to $4 per cwt.

H. Murby reports not much trading in stockers and feeders to-day. There were very few fresh arrivals of stockers, but there were more than enough held overs to supply the demand. The call is very limited for light, medium and common stockers, and they are hard to cash. Mr. Murby bought about 100 cattle to-day, weighing from 1000 to 1200 pounds, at prices ranging from $4.35 to $4.60 for 1000 to 1000 pound steers, and $4.70 to $4.85 for 1100 to 1200 pounders. The good steers, 800 to 900 pounds, are in demand at $3.90 to $4.12½, but they have to be good quality.

The Marathon Mystery

A Story of Manhattan

By BURTON E. STEVENSON
Author of "The Holladay Case"

Copyright, 1904, by Henry Holt and Company

"So I thought at first. I couldn't see him for a little while, but presently I perceived that he wasn't searching over the body of the carpet, but around its edges. He seemed to be looking for a place where it was loose, for he went very slowly from tack to tack. Once I thought he had found it, for he came to a place where a tack was wanting and ran his hand under eagerly. But in a moment he brought it out again empty."

"So it couldn't have been the diamond," I remarked in perplexity.

"No, it couldn't have been the diamond," assented Godfrey, his eyes shining. "But Tremaine wasn't done yet. Really, he'd make an admirable detective. I admired his methods, though they also gave me a clew to what he was looking for. He placed a chair just here, before this desk, just opposite the bedroom door. You'll remember that Thompson also had a table and chair similarly placed."

"Yes, I remember."

"Then he sat down in the chair and began a minute scrutiny of the walls. First that one yonder. He went over it inch by inch until he came to the speaking tube. Then he sprang up and opened it and peered inside, even holding a lighted match in. Let us see," and Godfrey also examined the tube. "It's empty."

"Yes," I said. "I've used it once or twice, and it works all right."

"Well, Tremaine wasn't satisfied with that. He ran his hands along the top ledges of the doors, mounted a chair and peered above the windows, examined every nook and cranny. At last he gave it up, replaced things just as he had found them, glanced at his watch and went away. Now, what was he looking for?"

I cudgeled my brain.

"I don't know," I said. "I can't imagine."

"Let me help you," said Godfrey, his eyes shining still more brightly. "I had time to think it all out in the closet there. In the first place, he looked only in the outer room; in the second place, he was plainly looking for something that had been purposely concealed; in the third place, when he examined the room he placed his chair just where Miss Croydon had sat."

A flash of light burst upon me.

"The clippings!" I cried.

"The clippings. Just that. I haven't the least doubt of it. And that explains another thing which seemed very puzzling. It explains why Miss Croydon was so anxious to rent this suit."

"But how did he find out about them?" I asked at last.

"I think they contain some secret of his, and he's concluded she hasn't got them because she hasn't produced them against him. And he's reasoned correctly in supposing that if she hasn't got them she must have hidden them here."

It was a good guess; an adroit one.

"The question is," added Godfrey, looking about him, "where did she hide them?"

CHAPTER XI.

WHEN I left the office at noon next day I took a cross town car which eventually landed me at the foot of West Tenth street, where the red and black steamers of the Quebec line load and unload their West Indian cargoes. I had found by reference to a file of the Maritime Gazette that the Parima had arrived on Feb. 23 and had sailed again on the 5th of March, and the paper of the day before showed me that she had just arrived in port again.

I hunted up the purser without delay.

"May I see your passenger list for your last trip north," I asked, "the trip before this one?"

"Certainly," he responded, and produced it.

It was not a long one, and in a moment I had found what I was looking for. Victor Tremaine and wife were fifth on the list. But no "H. Thompson" appeared there. However, I had a last resource. I had scarcely expected to find him entered among the passengers.

"Is the captain aboard?" I inquired.

"Captain Hake has gone over to his home on Long Island for a day or two," answered the purser. "The first officer, Mr. Grice, is forward, superintending the unloading."

"Thank you," I said, and hurried up to the deck. I found Mr. Grice without difficulty, a tall, blond young man, with eyes of a cerulean blue. "Can you spare me a moment?" I asked, after I had introduced myself.

"Why, I guess so. What is it?"

"Did you ever see this man before?" and I produced the photograph Godfrey had given me.

"Well, I should say so!" he cried at the first glance. "And I hope I'll never see him ag'in. Thompson his name is, and we shipped him at Barbados, in place of one of our men who deserted there. He didn't have a decent rag to his back, so we fitted him up with some old things out of the slop chest."

I nodded.

"He only shipped as far as St. Pierre," continued the mate, "but after we'd got there he changed his mind and come on to New York. What's he been doin'? Gettin' into more trouble? He's not been out of jail more'n three or four weeks."

"Out of jail?"

"Yes. He was a regular fiend for booze, though we didn't find it out until after we left St. Pierre. Where he got it I don't know. He didn't have any money t' buy it, that's sure. I've kind o' thought one of the passengers must 'a' give it to him, though I can't imagine why. But, anyway, he was half drunk three-fourths of the time and dead drunk the other fourth. We'd find him layin' in his berth and we'd yank him out and drop him into a tub of water. He'd sober up quicker 'n any man I ever see, but he was never satisfied unless he had a pint or two inside him. When we tied up at the wharf here he got awful bad. Wanted t' go ashore right away. Fought the captain when he wouldn't let him. The captain handed him over to a policeman, and he got twenty days on the island."

I nodded again. So that was why he was so long after Tremaine in putting in an appearance at the Marathon.

"What's the matter with him now?" he added.

"He's been murdered, and we've been trying to find out something about him. Do you think the captain would know anything more?"

"No, I don't. Plant him in potter's field and good riddance. I'll bet he didn't get any more'n was comin' to him."

With which sage reflection he turned back to his work, while I sought the shore.

Godfrey came into the office that evening just as I was closing my desk.

"I want you to go to dinner with me," he said. "I have to run down to Washington tonight, and it may be three or four days before I get back. I want to talk things over."

We took a cab uptown and stopped at Riley's, and were presently ensconced in a snug corner where we could talk without danger of being overheard.

"I've found out a few things about Tremaine," began Godfrey as the waiter hurried away with our order.

"And I about Thompson," I said.

"You have?" and he looked at me in surprise. "How in the world did you do it?"

His astonishment was distinctly complimentary, and I related with considerable gratification my conversation with the mate of the Parima.

"Well," observed Godfrey when I had finished, "that was a bright idea of yours. That establishes the link between the two men. Our St. Pierre correspondent wires us that Tremaine arrived there some three years ago, presumably from South America. He bought a little plantation just outside the town and settled there. He seemed to have plenty of money when he arrived, but he probably spent it all—on that girl Cecily, perhaps—for before he sailed he borrowed 3,500 francs with his plantation as security."

"Seven hundred dollars — that wouldn't go far," I commented.

"He hadn't enough to run him a month—and he's been here nearly twice that long. It's evident that he's an extravagant liver. He's been moving in expensive company and has, of course, been keeping up his end. Then, too, I don't doubt that he provided for Thompson—gave him enough money, anyway, to keep drunk on—that's the only way to explain Thompson's taking an apartment like that. I should say that $1,500 would be a low estimate for the two months. Of course he had to get all his clothing new—Martinique clothing wouldn't do for March in New York."

"All of which indicates," I said, "either that he had other resources or that he's received some money—$1,000 at least—since he's been here."

"Precisely—and I incline to the latter theory. He's working some sort of tremendous bunko game. He's playing for big stakes. He's not the man to play for little ones."

"No," I assented, "he's not," and we fell silent while the waiter removed the dishes.

We put on our coats and went out together. On the steps we paused.

"There's one thing, Lester," he said—"keep a clear head; don't let that siren"—

"No danger," I interrupted, and half unconsciously I touched a ring on my finger.

He smiled as he saw the gesture.

"Oh, yes; I'd forgotten about that. Where is she now?"

"In Florida—she and her mother. They're coming north next month."

"Well," he said, "I'm glad you've got the ring; you'll need it this next week. I wish the chance was mine. Cecily, I'm sure, knows a good many interesting things about Tremaine. Besides, I haven't got your high moral scruples. I believe in fighting fire with fire. However, do your best. I'll look you up as soon as I get back. Goodby."

* * *

The next day was Saturday. Tremaine was to leave in the afternoon for his week's absence, and he came in before I left in the morning to say goodby. He seemed strangely elated and triumphant. His eyes were even brighter than usual; the color came and went in his cheeks. He presented altogether a most fascinating appearance. He lingered only a moment to shake hands and thank me again.

At the office I found awaiting me a note from Godfrey, scribbled hastily in the station of the Pennsylvania road:

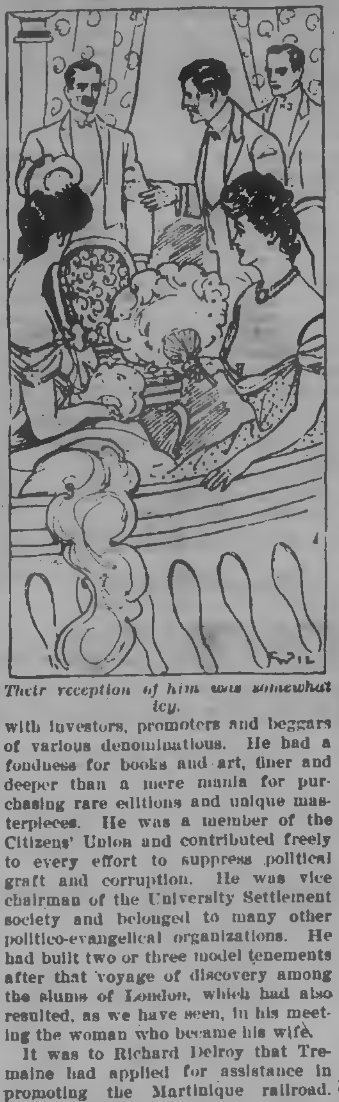
> Dear Lester—By the merest good luck I met Jack Drysdale just after I left you. Drysdale is betrothed to Miss Croydon and is to be one of a little house party which Mrs. Delroy has arranged at her country house near Babylon, Long Island. Tremaine is to be a guest also! That is where he will spend the week, and it's evident he's going there with a purpose. I would give worlds to be there, but Drysdale has promised to keep a journal of events—he's willing to do a good deal for me—and to wire me if anything unusual happens, so I hope for the best. Remember to keep your eyes open.
>
> GODFREY.

It is principally from Drysdale's journal that I have drawn the story of those eventful days.

CHAPTER XII.

ALTHOUGH Richard Delroy was known among his more familiar associates as Dickie, he was not, as that diminutive might seem to indicate, merely a good fellow and man about town. It is true that his wealth was great and that he had never settled down to that steady struggle for money which had marked his father's career and which many persons seem to think the only fitting employment for a man in his position. He had concluded, wisely perhaps, that he had enough, and thereupon proceeded to an intelligent enjoyment of it.

He had an office in the Wall street district, where he spent some hours daily in interested contemplation of the world's markets and pregnant talks with investors, promoters and beggars of various denominations. He had a fondness for books and art, finer and deeper than a mere mania for purchasing rare editions and unique masterpieces. He was a member of the Citizens' Union and contributed freely to every effort to suppress political graft and corruption. He was vice chairman of the University Settlement society and belonged to many other politico-evangelical organizations. He had built two or three model tenements after that voyage of discovery among the slums of London, which had also resulted, as we have seen, in his meeting the woman who became his wife.



Their reception of him was somewhat icy.

It was to Richard Delroy that Tremaine had applied for assistance in promoting the Martinique railroad. How he gained an introduction I do not know. Perhaps from some uncritical man in the street. But gain it he did, and he used the opportunity to good advantage. I can easily imagine the perfection of wizardry he brought to bear upon Delroy, the persuasive eloquence, the irresistible fascination. In the end he succeeded not only in persuading Delroy of the perfect feasibility of the scheme, but in gaining admission to Delroy's family.

It had been achieved in this wise:

They were discussing the railroad enterprise one afternoon, and finally the talk wandered to art and then music. Delroy was delighted to find his companion a connoisseur of delicate perception and apparently wide experience.

"I suppose you've been attending the opera?" he inquired finally.

"Oh, certainly; always when there is something I care especially to hear."

"De Reszke and Melba are on tonight."

"I intend to be there," said Tremaine instantly, no doubt guessing at what would follow.

"Then come up to our box," said Delroy. "We'll be glad to have you."

"I shall be very glad to come."

The words were spoken evenly, quietly, without any indication of that deep burst of triumph which glowed within him; for it was a triumph—a veritable one—one for which many men and most women would have made any sacrifice. He controlled himself admirably, too, at the opera, and it was not until the end of the second act that he sought the box. He entered quietly, and the introductions were accomplished in a moment. Besides Delroy and his wife, Miss Croydon and Drysdale were present. Their reception of him, it must be added, was somewhat icy, but this he did not seem to notice.

It was not to be denied that he added greatly to the life of the party; his comment was so apt, so brilliant, so illuminating, yet not in the least self assured. Drysdale fell under the spell at once, and even the women, who naturally looked somewhat askance at the intruder—who, indeed, had greeted him with glances almost of repugnance—in the end yielded to it.

During a pause in the conversation Delroy's glance happened to fall upon the superb necklace of pearls which encircled his wife's throat.

"Why, see there, Edith," he cried, "how those pearls have changed. They seem absolutely lifeless."

Mrs. Delroy picked up a strand with trembling fingers and looked at it.

"So they do," she agreed, a little hoarsely. "That's queer. They've changed since I put them on."

"Fortunately," said Tremaine suavely, "the defect is one which is very easily remedied. A few days' bath in salt water will restore their brilliancy. It might be worth asking some jeweler about. Mrs. Delroy's necklace is worth saving," and he examined it with the glance of a connoisseur.

It invited examination, for it was almost unique in its perfection. It had been Delroy's one great extravagance. He had spent many years collecting the stones, which were of a beautiful iridescence and perfectly matched, and they had formed his wedding gift to his wife. The value of the separate stones was not less than $100,000; their value combined in the necklace could be only a matter of conjecture.

"Yes," agreed Drysdale, with a little laugh, "it certainly is. You'd better take it down to Tiffany, Dickie."

"I will," said Delroy. "And don't think anything more about it, Edith."

"I won't," she answered, still smiling, her eyes unnaturally bright. "But it's very close in here. I should like a glass of water."

It appeared that the press of social duties and the trying spring weather were proving too much for Mrs. Delroy's strength, which was never great, and which had been especially taxed this season by the introduction of her sister to New York society. Even the comparative quiet of the Lenten season failed to restore her, and the resumption of the social whirl after Easter moved Delroy to protest.

"You're going it too hard, Edith," he remarked. "You need a rest and a change of air; so do I, though perhaps I don't look it. Suppose we go down to Edgemere for a week or two."

"Would you like to go?" she asked eagerly. "Thank you, dear. I do feel the need of it."

"Then I'll wire at once to Thomas to get the house ready. Shall we say next Saturday?"

"That will do nicely."

It was not till the evening before their departure that he referred to the matter again.

"Jack's coming with us," he said, "and, by the way, Edith, I've asked Tremaine to come down tomorrow and stay the week. I want to perfect our plans for that railroad project; and, besides, he's about the most fascinating fellow I ever met."

"Yes," she agreed, with a strained little laugh, "he's very fascinating."

CHAPTER XIII.

EDGEMERE was a beautiful estate overlooking Great South bay, just east of Babylon. It was essentially a summer play house, and yet John Drysdale, looking through the blurred glass of the carriage that had brought him from the station through the sudden April shower, saw in the light streaming redly from the windows a warmth of welcome that summer could not show. A pile of logs was blazing in the hall fireplace, but he paused only for a moment to get off the outdoor chill and then ran up to his room to dress for dinner. He knew the customs of the house, and he hoped for a reward if he dressed promptly.

Nor was he disappointed, for when he came down the stair some fifteen minutes later he saw standing before the fire a regal figure. He paused a moment to contemplate it—the white shoulders rising from a gown of rich, dark red, the poise of the head with its black coiffure, the grace of the arm hanging idly by her side.

She was gazing intently into the fire, deep in thought, and for an instant she did not hear him. Then she turned with that rare smile which a woman of ardent temperament gives to only one man in the world.

Norwood Man Lost His Baggage

In the Wreck at Chapleau—Death of Mrs. Chris. Crowe—Other Notes

Norwood, April 23,

Messrs. Buck & Buck, whose store was destroyed by fire at Hastings last week, have secured temporary premises and have opened out again. Within a week of the fire they were again doing business, which speaks well for the enterprise of the firm.

W. A. Richardson was appointed superintendent of the Norwood Methodist Sunday school last week, and was introduced to the school by the pastor, Rev. W. H. Adams, on Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. John Knox, Alma street, is in the Toronto Hospital this week undergoing an operation.

Mr Burkill is building a nice new residence on Spring street.

Mr. John Weir, who has conducted a lively business here for several years, has sold out to Mr. Harold Howson. The new proprietor took possession on Monday.

Mr Charles Cross is seriously ill with pneumonia.

The debenture by-law to raise money for cement walks and to improve the town hall is the subject of considerable discussion at present While it is having the support of most of the business men of the village, many property owners are likely to look upon it as undesirable for the village. The vote on the 6th of May will likely be close.

A subscription list was started this week for the 24th of May celebration. The subscriptions are coming in pretty well, and a big day is expected here on that date.

Mr. Jas. C. McMullen, who left here on Monday, April 8th, for Port Arthur, had the misfortune to lose all his baggage in the disastrous wreck near Chapleau. Mr. McMullen was fortunate himself in being a passenger on the second section of the wrecked train.

There passed away at her home at Stony Lake a well known and highly respected lady, in the person of Mrs Christopher Crowe, on Saturday last. Deceased is the mother of the well known and popular stage driver Mr. Walter Crowe. The funeral was held on Monday forenoon to Warsaw cemetery.

Mrs Ray, for many years a resident of Norwood, is selling her household effects on Saturday next, before leaving for North Bay, where she will reside in future.

Mr W. C. Harrison has nearly completed the sawing of lumber at his mill, but will have his staff employed in cutting shingles for the next few weeks.

The cheese factories of this vicinity will open on Monday, April 29th. On account of the lateness of the spring and the backward condition of the grass milk will be very scarce, but the scarcity of milk will be partly overcome by the high price of cheese.

REMOVAL

On or before May 15th our Drug and Optical business (the latter in charge of Mr. A. A. Fowler) will be removed to the store No. 386 George St., opposite our present stand, for many years occupied by Mr. Jas. Long, confectioner.

In the new premises we expect to have enlarged facilities for handling all departments.

White Muskrat Was Trapped at Hiawatha by George Paudash

Curious Animal Has a White, Soft, Even Fur—Front Feet Like Those of a Mink—It is Being Stuffed by Mr. Elcome—Alf. Crow Caught 81 Rats the First Night.

Special to the Review.

Hiawatha, April 24.—Mr. George Paudash, son of the Chief of the Hiawatha Indians, has captured a white muskrat, which is a great curiosity. A similar animal has never before been seen or heard of, and it has created a great deal of interest among the natives. The animal looks very much like a rat as far as size and shape are concerned. But its two front feet are ribbed like a mink, and the fur is the color of white bricks and is even and soft. There are none of those long, coarse hairs found in muskrats. The curious animal was caught in a trap and was dead before it was found. It was brought to Mr. Elcome and is being stuffed.

Speaking of trapping muskrats, it might be mentioned that Mr. Alf. Crow, the old and well known trapper, got 81 rats the first night his traps were set. This is the largest catch ever reported in this section. Altogether Mr. Crowe has got over 650 skins. All the trappers have had good luck this year and the total catch will be as large as any previous year.

Omemee Wants Electric Light Service and Fire Protection

Board of Trade Was Organized and is Dealing With These Matters—Proposed to Move G. T. R. Station Into the Village—Will Meet Mr. W. R. Tiffin.

Special to the Review.

Omemee, April 24.—The residents of this town have decided to no longer let all the good things pass their doors to other towns. A good, live, Board of Trade has been organized, and they have already taken up three matters of great importance to everyone. Ever since the first settler located here the town has been in darkness at night. There are no electric lights, and there is no reason why there should not be. Neither is there any fire protection, which would be of use in case of a big fire. The destructive blaze at Hastings last week, caused the local people to wake up to a realization of their own position under similar circumstances and no time will be lost in getting down to business. The new Board of Trade has taken hold of both these important questions and the officers are securing as much information as possible. The people too, are greatly interested, and there is no doubt but that when a bylaw is put, it will be carried by a big majority.

The Board has also taken up the question of having the Grand Trunk bring its station into the village as far as Sturgeon street. At present traffic is greatly handicapped. It costs citizens 25 cents to get to the station in a 'bus, and that is a useless expenditure when it could be avoided. It is also very expensive when so many trips are made to Peterborough and other towns. Then the business people are greatly handicapped with such a long haul for freight. It adds to the cost of doing business and there is no encouragement for new people to come here. If the station was in the village, there would be more traffic on the road and it might also open the doors for new industries to locate here. The G.T.R. officials have already been communicated with, and Mr. W. R. Tiffin, superintendent of the Northern division has promised to meet the Board of Trade in the near future and take the scheme into consideration. The officers of the new Board are,—

President—Mr. John Lamb.
Vice-President—Mr. W. H. Curry.
Secretary—Mr. Bryson.
Treasurer—Mr. J. T. Parsons.

Improvements Have Been Made By G.T.R. at Lakefield Station

Splendid Concert Held in Methodist Church—Foresters Will Hold Church Parade—Band Gave Entertainment—New Stationery Store.

Lakefield, April 24.

Mrs. McGrath, wife of Mr. Chas. McGrath died on Monday last after a brief illness. This is a sad blow to Mr. McGrath, who had only been recently married. The sincere sympathy of the community is with him in this affliction.

A junk dealer from Peterborough had the misfortune to lose his horse on the streets of Lakefield on Monday. From all accounts it was more a misfortune to the dealer than to the horse, which literally perished from exhaustion.

AN EXPLANATION.

The five young men who were up before Judge Edmison in the town hall on Monday last, charged with creating a disturbance at the Shorter-Adams concert were let off with a light penalty, payment of costs being the punishment imposed.

Mr Dela Fosse desires to say that he has been grossly misrepresented in certain quarters in regard to his connection with the above case. He certainly wrote the article animadverting on the conduct of certain persons in the hall on the night in question. Beyond that he had absolutely nothing to do with it. He was not only not the cause of the defendants being summoned, which was due to a direct complaint laid against them, to the constable, but he also had no interest financial or otherwise, in the affair. There was no justification whatever for anyone to drag his name in in order to set him in a false light with the public. The constable had no right also to speak of him as his chief witness, for he knew well enough through personal conversation, that he could not identify anyone on the night in question as having been specially disorderly. From all accounts his name was bandied, about from lawyer to constable in a game of battledore and shuttlecock, for which there was absolutely no warrant, a fact which he very strongly resents.

Mrs. Christie Crowe, an old and respected resident of Dummer township, passed away at her home on Monday last.

Mrs. Crowe was well known to many of the tourists who yearly pass their vacation in the northern part of Stony Lake.

SPLENDID CONCERT.

The concert given under the auspices of the Epworth League in the Methodist church on Monday night was an unqualified success. Following is the programme :—

CHURCH PARADE.

The members of Court Lakefield, No. 43, C.O.F., have already arranged for their annual church parade, which will be held in the Presbyterian church on Sunday, June 2nd. Invitations have been extended to the members of Courts Selwyn and Young's Point.

R. Graham & Son are advertising this week for a new clerk to help them in their increasing business.

Mr. James Oglivie Mills, lately of Glasgow, Scotland, is staying at Cowley the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Hilliard.

Messrs. Chas. Dunn and Ernest Waldon arrived in the village from Grimsby on Friday last Mr. Dunn is here for a short visit and reports business in poultry as booming at Grimsby. He says he will have twenty incubators going at full blast on his poultry farm next winter.

WILL BE APPRECIATED.

The G.T.R. has made a much needed improvement to the station premises by laying a board walk from the platform to the village sidewalk. All who have had in past years to wade through the mud from the track to the sidewalk will hail the improvement with joy. The great corporation whilst it has seemingly had no great regard for the soles of its patrons evidently has some sort of soul of its own.

WAS FINED.

V. McGee, for carrying too much liquor on his person and for giving an exposition on the public streets of his proficiency in profanity, was fined $1.00 and costs by the Magistrate, Mr. John Hull, on Monday last. Mr. O. H. Langley acted for the defence.

The band gave its first public performance on Tuesday evening last and was listened to by a large and delighted audience.

Mr. Jas. Redpath intends shortly to open up a stationery business in connection with his printing and job work. In this he will be associated with his brother, Mr. Gordon Redpath.

Many People Leave for Great West

The Spring Moving From This Section to Distant Lands Keeps up

It is no wonder the farmers of this community as well as all other parts of old Ontario, are finding it very difficult to secure farm help. For years all the young men and young women have been going west and settling in the wheat fields. This year has seen as many or even more leave the old county of Peterborough. Every week a number board the train at the city depot and start on the long journey. This week so far the following have departed :—Miss Hattie and Master Willie Nicholls to Edmonton, A. R. Morrow, to Regina ; J. Davey, to Winnipeg and Miss Lillian McAllister to Regina. Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and the Territories are getting all the people. The province of British Columbia, so rich in minerals, fruits and fish is getting a large number of settlers and visitors from this section. To-morrow Mr. and Mrs. Heaslip and family of three leave for Vancouver and after arrival there will decide what line of business will be followed.

There is much interest in the coming organ recital and concert in the George-st. Methodist church on Monday next. Tickets are in much demand. Mr. Saunders has already shown himself to be in the estimation of our local musicians a most brilliant organist The fact that he has twice played before Royalty vouches for that fact. The George St. Choir, Miss Reesor, Miss Davies, and Norman Jolliffe take part in the concert.

The tickets are only 25c.

HAPPENINGS IN FRASERVILLE

Fraserville, April 23.

The cheese factory, is booming again this year under the able management of Mr. Lane, late of Mount Pleasant. Mr Lane comes to us highly recommended as a capable and careful cheesemaker and speaks for a good share of patronage.

Farm help is very scarce in this section. It is almost impossible to get men.

Stock has wintered very well, there being plenty of feed. Good milch cows are in good demand.

Well, well! spring has come at last, and are on the land once more.

Why not have prayer meeting, Epworth Leauge or a good literary society in our village.

Be sure you attend the auction sale of fancy goods at St. John's church this evening. Bid early and often. Excellent programme provided. Girls' annual affair.

Little Boy Took Dose of Poison

Tasted Contents of a Linament Bottle While Visiting His Aunt

The little son of Mrs. Geo. Windover, of Ashburnham, took a dose of poison last night and gave his parents a bad scare. He and his mother were visiting Mrs. McDonald, who lives over Mac's cigar store, and the little fellow got hold of a bottle of linament and tasted it. The stuff did not agree with him and he turned violently ill. Dr. Frederick was called and as soon as he understood the circumstances only a little while was required to bring the youngster around. He is all right this morning.

Two Small Boys Made Big Haul

Got Away With a Purse Containing $30 in Three $10 Bills

Two little boys, about 8 or 9 years of age, made a good haul yesterday, and, if they are not discovered, should not want for pocket money all summer. A young lady, who is visiting at a house on Fleming Place, left her purse containing three $10 bills and about 80 cents in silver, on the dining room table while she went upstairs to help her friend finish dressing. The two girls were going down street to bank the money. When the visitor went for her purse a few minutes later it was gone. It is supposed that two little boys entered the house from Bethune street and made good their escape. The police were notified and are on the lookout for the young thieves.

THE MEASURE OF A MAN.

One Can Find It Out From His Exact Height and Weight.

If a man tells you his height and his weight, then his exact measurements can be figured out. That is the algebra of physiology—and this simple science is the basis of the physique type system of Semi-ready tailoring. The seven types of man are based on height and weight and the variations from normal are met in the finishing by expert tailors in every Semi-ready store.

Spanking does not cure children of bed-wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Don't blame the child, the chances are, it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

STRIKERS TOOK THEIR TOOLS AWAY

A mass meeting of the harness makers was held in the Sons of England hall, Hunter street, last night, when the strike at Ackerman's was discussed. It could not be ascertained what decision was arrived at, but this morning the striking harness makers called at the factory, and took away their tools. It is likely that the strikers' places will be filled with non-union men and that the strike will peter out.

Why Merchants Should Not Kick

Business Men Elected Those They are Now Dissatisfied With.

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—I have noticed in the columns of the local press for some time past several articles complaining bitterly about the action of the City Council in different matters. I have also noticed that several deputations have waited upon the Council and upon the different committees kicking about new by-laws and the enforcement of old by-laws. Now, Mr. Editor, I happen to know quite a number of those who are loudest in their complaints and if I am not mistaken some of them were the most active in the last municipal campaign. At that time they were firmly convinced that they knew who the best man or men was or were. They would hear of nothing but their own opinions. They elected the men they wanted and now are kicking.

It's is only a short time since the election and I was surprised to see the great change of front. The changing and enforcing of the sign by-law, the enforcement of the box by-law, the dust nuisance and all other matters which have created so much disturbance of late are results of the efforts of the men who were elected. The merchants were very active in the campaign and by their votes left some men at home to look after their own business. Why then all this kicking? Why do they not take their medicine? It is very bitter, everyone will admit, but it is their own choosing. Experience is a great teacher, although not at all considerate of one's feelings or pockets. Vote right on election day and you will have very little trouble during the year.

Yours truly,
NON-KICKER.

A WARNING NOTE

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—Re dog poisoning atrocity, "Cherchez la femme."

EMPLOY A DETECTIVE

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I was astonished to see such a letter in your respectable paper, of Monday last, signing himself "Progress." Why did he not sign his own name, like a man? This individual has never been out of Peterborough or he would have more common sense than write such balderdash, about the noble animal animal, the dog, the best and noblest of the brute creation, and as for the fiend, the dog poisoner, the devil must be deeply rooted in his carcas. There is a heavy fine for anyone laying down poison, anywhere within a certain distance of habitation. The druggists are not allowed to sell poison to anyone, without making an entry on their books, who gets it. I for one will pay my share towards getting a detective to try and locate any scoundrel poisoning the poor dumb brutes. No use for our police trying to do anything in that line. They are N. G. Yours truly,

JAMES STEWART.

Peterborough, April 23rd, 1907.

THE DOG POISONER

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—Every dog lover, and there are few who have not affection for this friend of man, has felt outraged by the wholesale poisoning recently perpetrated in our midst. One is somewhat at a loss to discover a theory upon which the poisoner proceeds. A depraved creature signing himself "Progress," defends the slaughter on the ground that dogs are sometimes a nuisance. Is that any reason why vengeance should be wreaked upon the whole canine family? Is not the act of this poisoner exactly on a par with an anarchistic assassination? Does this wretched mortal imagine for a moment that by killing a few of these innocent animals he is going to rid the city of the whole tribe? It is clear that he is quite insane and almost as dangerous as a lunatic with homicidal tendency. It is the duty of the authorities to seek out this individual and have him placed under restraint, for a being possessed of such depraved ideas cannot but be a menace to society.

Yours, etc,
PI.

Peterborough, April 24th, 1907.

GOOD WORD FOR THE DOGS

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I read with disgust in your last night's issue a letter signed by one writing under the non de plume of "Progress," giving his views on the dog curse, as he expresses it. I would like to ask this genius if he is aware that dog owners pay a license for their dogs to live. Does he pay the same for his flower beds? If not, he is not on an equal footing, and neither he nor any other man has any right to interfere with any dog unless he keeps his property properly fenced. I would suggest that "Progress" or rather "Unprogressive" as I think the latter term is more appropriate, should employ some sons of itself, to whom he indirectly alludes in his letter to dig a moat around his house, then he would be perfectly safe, he, his flower beds, wife's pantry, and all that is his, from any depradations or injury that dog might cause, and not encourage the wretches who are carrying on this barbarous work, by preaching his narrow-minded doctrine, through the public press.

Yours faithfully,

HOW WISE MEN MAKE MONEY VERY FAST

By buying Land in the way of a growing city, you convert your dollar into hundreds and your hundreds into thousands. The more you buy the more money you must make. A friend of mine bought land at $100 per acre 10 miles outside the limits of Chicago and less than 20 years after sold it for $5000 per acre, making $4,900 profit per acre. I offer you Land on "Western Ave." ½ mile outside Peterborough limits and in the way of its most rapid growth, in blocks of 8 lots 30x140 ft. for $75 per lot and only ask you to pay $10 cash and $5 per month. This is your opportunity to convert a few dollars into hundreds. Within a few years those lots will sell for from $300 to $400 each and perhaps for double my estimate. Build a house or I will build one for you, plant your garden and you are on the high road to a rich and happy man. I await your call and will guide you right.

Encouraging Reports, Feature of Annual Meeting of Y.W.C.A.

Another Year of Progress is Recorded—Splendid Work Has Been Done During the Past Twelve Months—Addresses Given Last Evening.

The large gymnasium of the Y.W.C.A. was well filled last evening at the second annual meeting of the Young Women's Christian Association of Peterborough. The meeting was attended mostly by ladies, but a few gentlemen were seen here and there in the room. The association was in a flourishing condition, as was shown by the encouraging reports read last evening.

The president, Mrs. W. M. Roger was in the chair. The meeting was opened with the singing of the doxology, after which Rev. J. R. Webb, read a portion of Scripture and offered prayer.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were read by Mrs. H. P. Kennedy, who also read the recording-secretary's report, in the absence of Mrs. R. M. Dennistoun, who had been secretary for the past year, and who has removed from the city.

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

The Recording-Secretary's report was as follows,—

In presenting the sixteenth annual report of the Y.W.C.A. in Peterborough, it is interesting to remember that the first meeting called to consider the question of forming an association in this city, there were just sixteen ladies present, two of whom remain on the Board today, Mrs. Walsh and Miss Nicholls. These ladies may be termed our charter members.

THE Y. W. C. A. BUILDING

The past year has been marked with continued and quiet progress. The average attendance at the Board meetings has been larger than in any previous year, giving evidence of the increased interest shown by the members in the work at hand. The institution is now well established and is in good working order. Generous contributions have materially assisted in enabling the association to meet its liabilities. Two new baths and four dressing rooms have been placed and beautifully fitted in the public department by Hon. Senator Cox, to whom the association owes much gratitude.

Several changes have been made in the staff since the last annual meeting; Miss Maynard is now General Secretary. The Physical Department is under the direction of Miss Coventry, and a new branch of study, Domestic Science, is presided over by Miss Bawden. Miss Haycock continues in charge of the boarding house.

The Domestic Science Committee has achieved success in meeting expenses connected with their work.

The date of the annual meeting has been changed, and will in future be held in April instead of January, as formerly. The association extends its sympathy to those members who have been sadly bereaved. In the passing away of Mrs. Fairbairn it has lost a true friend and supporter. The Board wishes to express its gratitude to the friends who have interested themselves in the Y.W.C.A. work, to those who have taken charge of classes and meetings with inconvenience to themselves. Gratitude is also extended to the press, who have been kind and considerate at all times.

E. MORROW, Treasurer.

GENERAL SECRETARY'S REPORT.

Miss Maynard, General Secretary, presented a report of all the work carried on during the year. The distinctly religious work of the Association received particular mention. In place of the Sunday afternoon service which has been closed for the present, a stranger's tea is to be established for the second Sunday of every month. Sunday morning at 9.30 there is a short prayer service and study of the Sunday school lesson.

In connection with our Educational Department, classes have been held in English literature, physical culture, nursing and domestic science. There were two classes in literature, on on Tennyson's "In Memoriam," was conducted by Sheriff Hall. Mrs. R. P. McWilliams took up literary work in connection with our new era club, choosing as her study the life of Charles Dickens. Miss Coventry kindly conducted free physical culture classes. Miss Maynard started a Bible Study in the Acts of the Apostiles, but it was found difficult to keep the girls together after Christmas. Dr. Jessie Birnie gave a course of lectures on first aid to the injured.

The number of pupils in the physical culture classes were 110, and the number of classes taught were 100. The closing exercises will be given in the Y.M.C.A. on May 3rd, when the public will have an opportunity to witness this part of the year's work.

Since January 17th, 64 classes in domestic science have been taught by Miss Bawden, also 11 demonstrations and five private lessons. Classes were well attended and pupils expressed themselves as being highly pleased with Miss Bawden's method of teaching.

The Employment Bureau has not been very satisfactory, although a number of girls have been helped to find situations, through this means.

The Reading Room is in constant use and is furnished with four daily, and one weekly papers, and twelve monthly magazines. The library contains three hundred volumes and is well appreciated. It is expected that more books will be added soon. Senior membership for the year is 220 and 32 juniors, make a total of 252. Added to this is the daily routine of office work, reception of visitors, words of advice to strangers, listening to one's difficulties, etc., which is realized only by those who experience it.

Respectfully submitted.

ANNETTE MAYNARD.

General Secretary.

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT.

The Superintendent's report was as follows,—

RECEIPTS.

Bal. Jan. 1, 1906	$ 182.89
From Jan. 1, 1906 to Ap., '07.	7708.99
Total	7891.88
Expenditure	7730.03
Bal. on hand	$ 161.85

Present number of boarders is 22. These with our diners make a family of fifty for each noon day meal. During the past fifteen months, 180 have passed through the Boarding Home, 70 weekly boarders, and 110 transients. Total number of meals served to non-residents 3320. The busiest months in the year are from September to December, and from March to July. It is a cause for gratitude that there has been no serious illness during the year.

Respectfully submitted.

K. H. HAYCOCK.

Superintendent

The reports were adopted on motion of Mrs. (Dr.) Scott, seconded by Miss K. Martin.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

The following ladies were then appointed on the Board of Directors,—Mesdames Walsh, Garvin, Roger, Hill, Cressman, Nugent, McBain, Robinson, Waddell, Thompson, Neill, Morrison, Kennedy, Dennistoun, Kilgour, Scott, Wood, Hunter, Brace, Lundy, Boucher, Stevenson, Denne, Hubbs, Burnett, Morris, and Misses Morrow, Nicholls, Lilian Rush and Dickson.

A well rendered vocal duet by Miss Reenor and Mr. W. McIlroy with violin obligato, played by Miss Kathleen Wallis was loudly applauded, and they were forced to respond to an encore. Miss Gumpricht acted as accompanist, and during the evening also contributed an instrumental solo in her usual excellent manner.

SHORT ADDRESSES.

The President, Mrs. Roger, then spoke a few words. The association should feel very thankful for the success of the past year. They had done a great deal, but there was still a lot to be done. Every girl in the city should be reached through the association and it is for the members to bring them into some classes of the association.

Rev. Mr. Webb also added a few remarks of congratulation to the association on the splendid reports presented. Peterborough should feel proud of such a building as the Y.W.C.A. No other city, the size of Peterborough, in Ontario, could boast of such a building. Rev. Mr. Webb remarked that he was particularly struck with a report which referred to two new members of the work which the association opened up. They were the science class and the Stranger's Tea. He jocularly remarked that he wondered if they intended to work the two together. Putting all pleasantry aside, the speaker thought the ministers should assist the ladies all they could and he concluded his remarks by wishing them continued success.

Mrs. Brown, secretary of the Dominion Council of the Association, Toronto, was present and delievered an interesting and helpful address. It was full of valuable information concerning the association. In the course of her remarks, she congratulated the local branch on the good work done. She emphasized the fact that the object of the Young Woman's Association was the development of true womanhood. The Y.W.C.A. was the product of the church. It originated in a prayer meeting. The study of the Bible should be first in all things. Mrs. Brown spoke at length of the work in the foreign field and the good the association was doing.

Mrs. Kilgour, the president of the Dominion Council, Toronto, also gave a short address, in which she particularly referred to the subject of "Thankfulness." Mrs. Kilgour, is a very fluent and interesting speaker and her address was illustrated by relating many beautiful stories. She urged the members of the Y.W.C.A. and all others never to forget to thank God for blessings received.

At the conclusion of the address, it was moved by Mrs. (Dr.) Scott, and seconded by Mrs. Garvin, that a hearty vote of thanks be tendered the sepakers and all those who took part. This motion was carried unanimously.

Refreshments were then served, and a social time spent.

Charming Recital Given by Pupils

Attractive Programme, Cleverly Contributed, at Y.M.C.A. Hall

A most successful and enjoyable recital was given in the Y.M.C.A. hall last evening by the pupils of Mr. Alfred Davies and Miss Helen Davies.

There was a large and appreciative audience and each number was greeted by hearty and well deserved applause. To particularize, would be unfair, as each pupil acquitted herself in a most creditable manner, amply demonstrating the rapid and satisfactory progress made during the past term under the direction and guidance of such faithful and efficient instructors as Mr. and Miss Davies. The programme embraced many difficult piano numbers, which were interpreted with admirable execution, splendid effect, and delightful finish. The vocal selections were most meritorious and revealed in no unmistakable manner the excellent and thorough results of the lessons imparted in voice culture.

Prof. and Miss Davies are to be cordially congratulated on the advancement and proficiency attained by their pupils in vocal and instrumental work, and the recital was one which afforded all concerned no small measure of satisfaction and encouragement.

The programme contributed was

Wagner—Piano Duet, "March from Tannhauser,"—Misses Gladys Crane, and Mattie Robertson.

Pelissier — Song, "When Roses bloom,"—Miss Geraldine King.

Lange—Piano solo, "In the Twilight," Miss Elsie Clinkscale.

Magistrate Gave Boys Good Advice

Several Juveniles Had Trouble Resulting in Police Court Case

Before His Worship Magistrate Dumble this morning, Earle Downey, Charlie Conroy, Ben Conroy, Dave O'Hearn and E. Galvin, were charged with assaulting Oscar and Gordon Kellar on Saturday evening last. The boys pleaded not guilty. Oscar Kellar stated that on Saturday evening last, while he and his brother were going into the gallery entrance at the Grand Opera House, E. Galvin grabbed his brother's hat and threw it in the road. Gordon Kellar then took Galvin's hat and threw it away. Because Gordon Kellar would not go after Galvin's hat they started throwing mud at him. Witness interfered and then Galvin said that they would get Conroy and Downey and they would lick them. Witness said Downey never struck him.

His Worship dismissed the case, but gave the offenders some good advice. He warned them about bullying others and said that next time he would deal more severely with them.

CITY STARTED HOUSE CLEANING

Sewers Being Flushed for the First Time Since the Fall

Engineer Wainwright, of the fire department, as superintendent of the job, started out yesterday with a team of horses, hose and men, to flush out the sewers after the winter. This is the first flushing this year, and will take about three days to complete. There should be very little trouble at this season of the year, as there has been so much surface water running through the pipes. The only sections where flushing should be necessary is the very outskirts where the water supply is not sufficient to keep the solid matter moving. The central part of the city never needs flushing, and this time of the year is never so bad as in July and August, when the surface water supply has been exhausted. The sewers are usually flushed three or four times a year and as a result there is very little trouble. When one considers the number of miles of sewers in use and the very few complaints made, it is a matter of congratulation, and reflects much credit upon the department of public works and past councils.

ALDERMEN DID NOT TURN UP

Fire Water and Light Committee Had no Quorum

For the first time this year there was no quorum at the committee meeting last night. Heretofore the aldermen have always been on hand and well on time too. But the summer work is beginning to pile up and and the contractors cannot afford the time unless something important is coming up. The Fire, Water and Light committee only had two members present, Ald. Johnston, the chairman and Ald. Duncan. The business which was to have been handled will not suffer any by standing over, although had the chairman known that the others would not be there he would have called it off as he is very busy just now himself. There will be another meeting next week unless something turns up in the meantime.

Retail Merchants' Association Annual Meeting Thursday Night

Every Merchant in the City Requested to be Present—Arrangements Will be Made for the Proposed Banquet—Officers to be Elected.

The Retail merchants are requested to keep in mind the annual meeting to be held to-morrow night in the Y.M.C.A. parlors. This meeting is one of great importance to every merchant. Besides the election of officers and standing committees arrangements will be made for the big banquet which is to be held in the near future. The object of this proposed social gathering is to bring the business men closer together, to give them an opportunity to become better acquainted with one another believing that by so doing the petty ill-feeling which exists among some of them will be to a great extent eliminated and the trades will be put upon a better basis and the life of the Retail Merchants Association will be restored. At the banquet it is proposed to have gentlemen who are at the head of the Dominion Association, deliver addresses. These speakers will take up questions of the greatest importance to all merchants in this city and throughout the entire country. A lot of knowledge will be imparted to the business men which will enable them to see questions of a political nature in their true light.

Every merchant in the city is requested therefore to make a special effort to attend to-morrow night's meeting and help select a very strong committee to carry through the banquet to a successful finish.

Military Men in Evidence At Central Park Last Night

The 57th Regiment had the best drill of the season last night. Over an hour was spent in company and squad drill, and the men went at their work with energy and smartness. The fine night enabled the soldiers to get out of doors, and it was after 9.30 before the drill was over. Considering the earliness of the season, the different movements were executed in fine style, and a constant improvement is noticeable. The total parade strength was 226. Several recruits were sworn in, and only a few more are now needed to bring the companies up to the required strength.

EMPIRE NAVAL DEFENCE.

No Monetary Contribution From Colonies to Creation of Central Staff.

London, April 24—(C. A. P.)—"That conference welcomes and cordially approves of the exposition of the general principles embodied in the statement of the Secretary of State for War, and without wishing to commit any of the Governments represented, recognizes and affirms need of the development for the service of the Empire, of a general staff selected from the forces of the Empire as a whole, which shall study military science in all its branches; shall collect and disseminate to the various Governments military information and intelligence; shall undertake the preparation of schemes of defence on a common principle and without in the least interfering with questions connected with the command or administration shall at the request of the representative Governments advise as to the training, education and war organization of the military forces of the crown in every part of the Empire."

At yesterday's sitting of the Colonial Conference the foregoing resolution was agreed upon, which means there will be no monetary contribution to the creation of a central staff on which the self-governing dependencies can be represented if they so choose.

Admiralty and the Colonies.

The conference in addition to the resolution respecting the general staff for Empire, as already cabled in an official report issued last evening, announce the following:

"The First Lord of the Admiralty explained the general principles upon which the Admiralty held that the defence of the Empire should be organized. He specially insisted on the necessity for unity in the control of the fleet, and explained that the one aim of the Admiralty was to maintain the naval forces on such scale as to ensure retention of the command of the sea in any reasonably probable contingency. He stated that he did not desire to press for further contributions of men or money, but cordially welcomed the co-operation of the colonies in a form most agreeable to themselves. Whether the colonies contributed or not, the Admiralty would do its best to secure them from over-sea attack.

"After general discussion, it was decided that the question of naval defence should be adjourned, the colonial representatives being meanwhile invited to confer separately with the Admiralty regarding the position of their respective colonies.."

The conference adjourned until Thursday.

PASS TORTURE CHAMBER.

Prisoners Beaten With Rods and Their Hair Pulled Out.

St. Petersburg, April 24.—In the Lower House of Parliament yesterday, M. Pergament, Constitutional Democrat, read the reports of the interpellation committee regarding charges that prisoners had been tortured in order to obtain confessions. Details of some seventy cases were given.

They were beaten on sensitive parts of their bodies with Cossacks' whips and rubber rods, and their finger-nails and hair were pulled out. The tortures in many cases were prolonged for eight to ten days. One man, who was only 22 years old, looked like an old man after having been tortured.

The reports added that it was difficult to determine exactly the number of victims, but it could safely be assumed that all who were sentenced by drum-head court-martial, or who overpowered the prison officials at Riga on April 13, passed through the torture chamber.

M. Makaroff detailed the results of the official investigation into the charges brought against the prison officials of Riga in March last, which were shown to be well-founded. The prisoners were clubbed by the police at the time of their arrest, and in the course of their examination in attempts to force confessions from them, the complete illegality of which was admitted by the Government authorities, resulting in Premier Stolypin ordering that proceedings be commenced against the guilty persons.

Continuing, M. Makaroff assured the House that the Government had no intention of overlooking crimes committed by officials, and added that the prosecution of the guilty persons had already begun. M. Lutvi defended the prison guards for killing prisoners who attempted to escape from custody.

Student Condemned to Mines.

Tver, Russia, April 24.—A court-martial Monday sentenced a student named Illinsky, the assassin of Gen. Count Alexis F. Ignotief, to 11 years' imprisonment in the mines and condemned Tsalalovsky, an accomplice of the murderer, to deportation for life.

Farmer Lost His Wad.

St. Catharines, April 24.—William Crawford, a Niagara Township farmer, engaged John Armstrong, an immigrant, for a farm hand. The two went out to the barns to hitch up the horses, where Armstrong is said to have seen Crawford take a thick roll ot bills from his pocket. The farmer was struck a blow over the head, and when he came to the money was gone. Armstrong was arrested.

Cut His Throat.

Windsor, April 24.—Thomas Barrett of Maidstone Cross, this county, committed suicide yesterday at the residence of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Richard Kane, Parent avenue, Windsor, by cutting his throat.

Botha Invites Laurier.

London, April 24.—(C. A. P.)—The Canadian Associated Press understands that General Botha has invited Sir Wilfrid Laurier to visit the Transvaal.

Winnipeg's assessment totals ninety-five millions, an increase of fifteen millions over last year.

Sister Lucy, known in the world as Miss Rosseaux, died in Loretto Convent at Hamilton yesterday.

Mrs. Perkins is Not Guilty; Verdict in Murder Trial

Jury Acquit Her After Four Hours and a Half Deliberation.

Trial Lasted Eight Days—Doctors Gave Emphatic Evidence for Defence—Said Death Was Due to Kidney Disease Not Strychnine—No Adequate Motive Shown—Alleged Immoral Acts Not Proved.

Cayuga, April 24.—Mrs. Mattie Perkins is free. After four and one-half hours' deliberation a jury of her own countrymen pronounced her innocent of the charge of murdering her husband by giving him strychnine. The verdict was received at 11 p. m. The trial lasted eight days.

During the closing sittings, Justice Mabee relaxed his decision against admitting the general public, and a large gathering of townspeople waited in the court to hear the verdict. There was no demonstration. The acting sheriff stated previous to his lordship's entrance that any offenders in this respect would be punished by his lordship.

His lordship said: "After a very long and patient consideration the jury has taken a humane and merciful view of this evidence. Your counsel in a very able and eloquent appeal said that the truth of the matter was known only to you and to your Maker. I sincerely hope, for your own peace of mind, and for the sake of your soul, that the verdict of not guilty is true in deed and in fact. You are now discharged."

The jury made an application for extra payment for the night sittings. The judge said he would make an order to that effect.

The closing evidence for the defence accentuated the conflict of expert medical testimony.

Drs. Graham Chambers and Walter McKeown were both at variance with the conclusions of the doctors who conducted the autopsy, and efforts to break their testimony produced the interest wrangles of the whole trial. There was not a single thing to prove strychnine poisoning, Dr. McKeown swore.

"Medicine is not an exact science," said witness, in explanation of the difference between experts.

Dr. W. Taylor of Toronto Junction agreed with the findings of Dr. Bauer, but came to different conclusions.

Detective Greer was called by the crown for re-examination. He denied that he had used pressure to obtain the statements from Mrs. McDonald and her son, his only object being to find the truth.

E. F. B. Johnstone, K.C., leading counsel for the defence, made a strong appeal to the sympathies of the jury in an address of three and a half hours. Some of the jurors did not disguise their emotions during his portrayal of the life and hopes of the unhappy woman at the bar. He insisted over and over again that the jury must give a verdict upon the evidence alone.

Mr. Arnoldi reviewed the crown's evidence in an hour's address, dwelling on the proof that the prisoner had strychnine in her possession, that Perkins had died from strychnine poisoning, and that the probabilities were that the prisoner had administered it.

Justice Mabee gave dignified and impartial summing of evidence. He said it seemed unlikely that crown officers, who at first said there was no poisoning and one of whom stated in evidence that he hoped the prisoner would be acquitted, would do so fearful a thing as fabricate evidence. His lordship spoke for nearly an hour and a half. The prisoner sat unmoved. The case went to the jury at 6.30 p.m.

An Appeal to the Jury.

"Standing upon the threshold this woman makes her last appeal through me to you. It is not the appeal of one advanced in years, but a woman with all the hopes and fear of one who, in all probability, had many years to live," said Mr. Johnston, in beginning his address to the jury. "By your decision you will decide whether that life shall be taken or left, whether she shall suffer expiation on the gallows or return shattered and broken to that life which still is so sweet."

With great pathos Mr. Johnston sketched the emotions of a condemned person awaiting execution.

"Will you let it go down in the annals of Haldimand County that 12 men of the county sent a woman to the gallows upon the poisoned tongue of some slanderers?"

No Motive Shown.

"There was no motive. They were an affectionate husband and wife. Struggling on together, she working with her needle at home and he at Welland, to provide for their declining years, she lost by his death not only the protecting arm of her husband, but even the little property of hers which, in her confidence and love she had placed in his name. Had she contemplated his death would she not have obtained the will, and not let her property sink into the hands of John Perkins and the people who have been working up this case against her?"

The crown had outlined lust as a motive, but Dr. Kerr had shown in his evidence that this was impossible, and not a single witness had proved an immoral act between her and any man. Mrs. Perkins was a "woman of mercy" to all Canfield. It was she who took Mrs. Johnston's child back to the father when the mother refused to have any more to do with it.

Tom MacDonald was subpoenaed by the crown, but they dared not put him in the box, said Mr. Johnston. Fred. Gowling [illegible] practically admitted that his evidence was the result of an animus against MacDonald.

Death was due to kidney disease, not to strychnine. Dr. Kerr had intended to give strychnine, and could not now swear that he did not give strychnine.

Mr. Johnston spoke for over three and one-half hours.

The Evidence Against.

Mr. Arnoldi said none appreciated more than he the splendid speech for the defence made by the very able advocate, but it was the duty of the crown to protect the lives of the community. It was a practice for the defence to villify crown officers. Where the woman got the strychnine was immaterial. The box was evidence that the woman had obtained the poison. He questioned the motives of Mrs. Perkins and her relatives in searching the house, and insisted that the symptoms disclosed were all suggestive of death caused by the strychnine found in the body. It made no difference if he had uraemia or not. It was as wicked to poison a dying man as a well man.

He denied that it was any part of the crown's duty to call Tom MacDonald. He was one of the implicated parties, yet the defence had not dared to call him to rebute the crown's evidence of the prisoner's connection with him.

His lordship, in summing up, said there were two bold issues standing out. First, was Mr. Perkins' death caused by strychnine poison? and, secondly, was the poison administered by the prisoner, and with felonious intent? Four crown doctors had given evidence that deceased had died from strychnine poison, two of whom had given opinion evidence, which had always to be received with care.

He reviewed Dr. Graham Chambers' evidence at length, and contrasted his opinions with the evidence of the deathbed witnesses.

Cause of Death.

"If you find a man after death with his body filled with buckshot in the vital parts, you might have considerable difficulty in concluding that he died from anything else; and if you find the body of a dead man filled with sufficient strychnine to kill him, you will also have considerable doubt in concluding that he died of something else," he said.

The letters appeared to convey all the affection which a woman should feel towards her husband, but was it possible that, while this woman was penning these letters, she was harboring murder in her heart? What was the objects of her statements about her husband's physical condition? Were they intended to aid her to conceal the effects of a murderous intention, or were they the exaggerated fears of a woman, whose husband was away from home?

Was the conversation with Mrs. Carter of innocent intention? The talk about rats and gardens did not precede the enquiry for strychnine, but followed the enquiry for the poison. Her husband's name was mentioned in that conversation. Had she him in mind when she asked for the drug, and why should a man "go crazy" because strychnine was in the house.

A Strange Occurrence.

A few days before Christmas her husband returned, feeling in excellent health. He visits his farm, and is there taken very ill. It was a strange occurrence. Suppose that when Dr. Kerr called on the Monday, and that, by mistake, he had left strychnine tablets, though he swears he did not leave any. The tablets were to be taken one every three or four hours. By what set of circumstances could the man have got the whole of them into his system by Tuesday morning? There was no one else attending him but the prisoner.

LONGBOAT IS HONORED.

An Enthusiastic Reception Given to Plucky Marathon Winner.

Toronto, April 24.—One of the greatest receptions ever tendered an athletic hero was given to Longboat, the fleet Indian runner, on his arrival home last night from his victory in the Boston Marathon roadrace.

The route of the procession was lined by thousands of men and women anxious to catch a glimpse of him.

When the train pulled into the Union Station there was a tremendous rush for the platform, where the Indian and his trainer, Ashley, were secured and fairly carried to the front entrance, where several bands and a torchlight procession half a mile long was waiting to conduct them to the City Hall.

At the City Hall he was received by Mayor Coatsworth and the members of the council. Complimentary speeches were given, and Longboat was presented with a medal in commemoration of his victory. As a lasting token of the gratitude of the city he will be given a grant of $5,000 to assist him in obtaining an education.

A reception and banquet was afterwards tendered him.

Conductor Guilty.

Guelph, April 24.—At the Spring Assizes held here yesterday, Conductor Thompson was found guilty of manslaughter in connection with the wreck at Gourock on the 22nd of September last.

The judge reserved sentence.

The trial of the engineer was left over till the Fall Assizes.

Manslaughter.

Quebec, April 24.—Manslaughter was the verdict rendered by the jury in the Lecouteur wife-murder case in the criminal court yesterday afternoon.

Lecouteur showed no particular emotion.

Mr. Geo. W. Fowler and Mr. Emmerson

Was it the Former Who Caused the Minister to Resign His Portfolio?

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—Will you give me a little information to settle a bet? A bets that Mr. Geo. W. Fowler, who will give an address at the big mass meeting in the Opera House, on Friday night next, drove Hon. Mr. Emmerson, Minister of Railway and Canals, out of the cabinet, had to take back what he said, and B bets that he hadn't. Which is right?

Yours, etc.,
INQUIRER.

Mr. Emmerson retired from the Cabinet in consequence of these charges, it is said, and followed his retirement up, by making an attack on the Fredericton Gleaner, the Toronto World, and the St. John Telegraph. He instituted civil but not criminal proceedings against these newspapers. They, however, refused to retract, and we have heard nothing further of the lawsuits. It looks, as if, since Mr. Pugsley, the premier of New Brunswick, is taking the field, that Mr. Emmerson intends to remain out of the Federal Cabinet for good.—Ed. Review.

MRS. E. A. CONNOLLY.
MRS. IDA GERMAIN.

Thousands of Women Write Dr. Hartman to Complain That They Never Feel Wholly Rested, That They Are Always Tired.

PELVIC CATARRH CAUSES MANY AILMENTS.

There are so many women who are tired all the time. They get up in the morning tired and drag themselves around wearily all day.

They have pain in the back and dragging sensations which seem to weigh them down as though carrying a burden.

Many women are undoubtedly suffering with systemic catarrh. The proper remedy for them to take is Peruna.

The catarrh has invaded the whole abdominal and pelvic organs. Through mucous discharges they are losing vitality every moment.

The food they eat and the sleep they get is hardly sufficient to keep up with the incessant drain on their vitality.

The only hope for betterment in their cases is the complete removal of the catarrh.

For this Peruna is recommended by Dr. Hartman. It relieves catarrh wherever located in the human body—in the thorax, abdomen or pelvis.

MRS. T. TRENER, Albion Place, Notch Road, Paterson, N. J., writes:

"I suffered five years with my spine and pains in my back.

"I consulted you, fortunately, and in fourteen weeks was cured by the use of Peruna and following your advice.

"I can now do my own work. I cannot thank you enough. I cannot tell you how happy I am. No family should be without Peruna."

Suffered Years With Pain.

Mrs. Ida Germain, 531 Manhattan Ave., New York City, writes:

"For many years I suffered with pains in the pelvic organs. I was unable to find relief, as no doctor could help me.

"I read of your wonderful Peruna and decided to give it a trial. I took it for some time and obtained much relief.

Strong Again.

"Now I am strong again and have a good appetite. Peruna has relieved me of a chronic ailment, and I therefore recommend it to all women."

Always Tired and Weak.

Mrs. E. A. Connolly, 8227 Garner St., Kansas City, Mo., writes:

"I have suffered for years with stomach trouble, so that I could eat hardly anything. I was tired and weak all the time.

"This was caused by indigestion and female trouble. I suffered agonies and was afraid to be left alone.

Completely Exhausted.

"At times I was afraid to stand on my feet and to attempt to do any housework was out of the question.

"One day I read an advertisement of Peruna and its wonderful cures and I decided to try it.

New Life and Vigor.

"My husband brought home one bottle and before that bottle was half gone I felt new life and new vigor.

"That tired, hopeless feeling left me, I began to eat and my food nourished me. I could walk and do my work without fainting.

Peruna's Wonderful Work.

"I took several bottles during the summer and fall and cannot praise it enough for the wonderful work it did for me.

"When I feel tired or nervous from any cause, a few doses of Peruna cure me.

"I hope every man and woman who suffers will give Peruna a trial and be as grateful as my husband and myself."

Doctored a Year.

"Miss Anna McGinn, 161 Plain St., Providence, R. I., writes:

"I wish to let you know of the good your medicine has done for me. I had what the doctors called heart trouble. I had been doctoring for a year before I tried your Peruna. I suffered the most with pain in my head.

A Friend Advised Peruna.

"One day a friend of mine told me of your Peruna, so I got a bottle. After a week's use of it I began to feel better.

"At first I could not eat, sleep or work, but I have at last found that the medicine that would cure me was your Peruna.

A New Woman.

"My face has a good color now. I am a new woman. I thank you very much."

Followed Dr. Hartman's Advice.

Mrs. Viola Marshall, 420 West Mason street, Springfield, Ill., writes:

"Two months ago when I sought your advice, I had gotten so weak that I had to lie down most of the time.

Praising Peruna.

"I began taking your Peruna and now I feel like a new woman.

"I shall never cease praising Peruna, nor thanking Dr. Hartman for his kind advice."

ONE OBJECT OF VISIT TO EUROPE

Mr. Frederic Nicholl's Visit to the Old Country is to Get New Business

A Toronto despatch says: Whatever other business Mr. Frederic Nicholls may have in Europe, there is no doubt that one important part of this mission is to arrange for some valuable new business for the Canada Foundry Company. It was learned yesterday that Mr. Nicholls will visit Germany to complete arrangements for controlling in Canada, and probably in the States, the production of a number of articles connected with electricity, the demand for which is said to be so great that further extensive enlargements of the Canada Foundry Company's works will be necessary to their production. It is also said that very extensive contracts have already been secured by the Canada Foundry works for the productions of the articles included in the negotiations.

WEDDING BELLS

ELLIOTT—PURSER

The marriage took place at two o'clock this afternoon, of Miss Charlotte E. Purser of Hall's Bridge, to Mr. H. Elliott, of Islay, Alberta, formerly of Harvey township. The ceremony took place at two o'clock at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. E. J. Cookson, 508 Aylmer street, and was performed by Rev. Canon Davidson, assisted by Rev. Mr. Bagshaw, rector of St. Matthew's church, Hall's Glen, in the presence of a number of guests. The bride was attended by two bridesmaids, Miss E. M. Purser, her sister, and Miss M. E. Cookson, a cousin. She was attired in a handsome gown of Duchess satin with chiffon embroidery, and pearl trimmings. She wore the conventional veil and orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of white roses. The first bridesmaid, Miss Purser wore a pretty costume of white Japan taffeta, trimmed with applique and Duchess satin and carried a bouquet of white carnations. Miss Cookson, the second bridesmaid, was costumed in a dress of sea green voile, trimmed with eyelet embroidery and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. The groom was ably supported by Mr. E. J. Cookson, cousin of the bride. Promptly at the hour named, the bride entered the parlor, leaning on the arm of her brother, Mr. J. C. Purser, and was given away by her aunt, Mrs. Cookson. The wedding march was played by Miss Velva Martin of Toronto, who also sang in splendid voice, after the ceremony, "O Fair, O Sweet, O Holy." The decorations consisted of palms and roses.

After the ceremony, the wedding dinner was partaken of, amid the usual rejoicing that marks such an event. The happy young couple were showered with congratulations and best wishes for their future happiness. They left in the evening on a wedding tour to Toronto, and other points west, where they will spend a week before returning to Peterborough, when the will be the guests of friends, before leaving for their future home at Islay, Alta., where the groom conducts a large general store.

The bride received a large number of beautiful presents—a tribute to the esteem in which she is held. Among them was a beautiful silver tea set from the congregation of St. Matthew's Church, Hall's Glen, along with an appreciative address. The presentation was made, just before the marriage ceremony by Rev. Mr. Bagshaw, who also read the address. The bride has been organist at St. Matthew's Church, ever since its inception, and took an active part in the work of the congregation. The address referred to her valuable services, and the great regret felt at her removal, and closed by wishing her every happiness in her new home in the West.

Rev. Canon Davidson responded for the bride, thanking the congregation for their kindness.

Mr. Elliott has met with great success in the West, and is the proprietor of a flourishing general store, at Islay.

The bride's going-away costume was of light grey with hat to match. The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome gold brooch, set with pearls and amethysts, and to each of the bridesmaids, a solid gold bracelet.

HE CAPTURED A WILD GOOSE

Nelson Gilgour, who resides on Water street north, captured a wild goose a few days ago, on one of the little islands in the Otonabee river just north of Auburn. The bird had apparently been injured and could not fly well, and as a result, was easily caught. Mr. Gilgour took the goose home with him, and it appears to be thriving in captivity.

Four steamers were loaded with wheat at Superior yesterday for Fort Erie.

Midnight Attempt to Hold Up Mail Carrier James Reid

Bold Attack Made Upon Him on George Street Last Night as he Was Driving From C.P.R. Station to Post Office—Assailant Was Beaten Off With Empty Mail Sack.

A daring attempt was made last night to hold up Mr. Jas. Reid as he was taking His Majesty's mails from the C.P.R. station to the post office after the arrival of the midnight train from the west. It was one of the boldest attempts at highway robbery recorded in the history of Peterborough and only Mr. Reid's coolness and courage prevented the desperado from getting away with the mail bags and their contents. The plucky driver fought off the would be robber and put him to flight after a hard struggle. The police have been furnished with the particulars of the affair and are now working on the case.

ON GEORGE STREET.

The hold up occurred on George-st. a few yards north of the C.P.R. crossing. The crook had apparently laid his plans well and appeared to be acting with great deliberation. A strange part of the occurrence is that the holdup took place before the train had pulled out of the station, but this in one respect was an advantage to the footpad as the escaping steam from the engine made a noise that drownded any sounds that might be made by the events that were taking place.

WAS AT STATION.

Mr. Reid first noticed the man, who afterwards held him up, when he was wheeling the mail bags on the truck from the place where they had been thrown out of the baggage car to where his horse and buggy were standing. The hotel busses had all left the station and there was nobody around except Mr. Reid and the stranger. The latter followed Mr. Reid around closely while he was loading the bags in the buggy and several times caught hold of the sacks as if to render assistance. Mr. Reid suspected that the fellow meant no good and told him he had better go on about his business. The mail driver then jumped in his buggy and commenced to drive away but the stranger run across and intercepted Mr Reid on George street, not far from the Central Milling Company's premises. He caught the horse by the bridel and swinging him around cramped the front wheels as if to upset the buggy. Mr. Reid advised the fellow to go on about his business else there would be trouble, but the tough commenced to use vile language and swore that he meant business and intended getting possession of the mail bags by force if necessary. By this time Mr. Reid was out of the buggy and prepared to mix it up with his assailant if necessarry.

USED MAIL BAG.

The desperado advanced upon him, but the mail man anticipating his intentions grasped an empty mail sack that was in the buggy and holding it by the bottom made a drive at the footpad. His aim was true. The heavy steel fastening at the mouth of the bag landed on the side of the fellow's head and knocked him to the ground. He picked himself up, however, and made a rush at Mr. Reid and managed to land a light tap on Mr. Reid's cheek, but the mail man came back with the mail sack again and the footpad, considering that he had met more than his match, took to his heels and ran south along George street. Mr. Reid then got into his buggy and drove to the post office.

A DESCRIPTION.

Mr. Reid describes his assailant as a man about 28 or 30 years years of age, of medium and thick set build, with an exceedingly dark complexion, his face is so dark in fact, that he might be taken for an Italian, although he spoke English well enough and without a foreign accent. He might have had a short moustache, but Mr. Reid could not tell exactly as it was pretty dark at the time.

DREW BLOOD.

At the post office today a Review representative was shown the mail bag with which Mr. Reid beat off his assailant and several blood marks on the lock and around the top of the sack showed that it had been used with some effect.

Mr. Reid is of opinion that the holdup man might be the pal of Fred Chambers, alias Frank Cameron, who is now in the local gaol on account of the fracas at the Royal hotel last week. He answers the description closely and Mr. Reid had a good look at Chambers and his pal the night they arrived in Peterborough. Mr. Reid saw them get off the midnight train and although he did not know who they were at the time, he afterwards recognized Chambers as one of them when the trouble occurred in which the latter was implicated.

POLICE AT WORK.

The matter has been reported to the police and they are now working on the case. They will likely be able to bring the guilty one to justice as they have several strong clues upon which to work.

THE THIRD TIME.

This is the third time that Mr. Reid has been held up in performing his duties as mail carrier. The second one happened this spring, but was not of such a serious nature as last night's affair. The first one happened over a year ago.

The place where the holdup was attempted last night is rather a lonely spot late at night. There are no dwelling houses in the immediate vicinity and the manufacturing establishments are all closed down at night. A man might shout at the top of his voice and not be heard by anyone unless some person was in the vicinity at the time.

LARGE AMOUNT OF MAIL.

Mr. Reid had a large amount of mail last night. There were eleven sacks of mail in the buggy and the robber would have luikely have made quite a haul if he had not been beaten off.

CREAM SODAS TO BE 10 CENTS

Will Come High in Peterborough This Summer

They may come high, but the girls will have 'em. The reference is to ice cream sodas, which will be sold at 10 cents per glass in the majority of local ice cream parlors this summer. In the past they have only been 5 cents, but one of the men engaged in the business told the Review to-day that it was impossible to make a good ice cream soda for 5 cents. The materials of which they are composed have advanced in price.

Port Elgin ratepayers have carried a by-law to raise $10,000 to extend the waterworks.

Hamilton school children will make a big demonstration in Dundurn Park on Empire Day.

The Tournament Opens To-morrow

Schedule for the First Day of the Big Bowling Meet

The big bowling tournament which has been the talk of the bowlers of the city for the past two weeks, opens to-morrow afternoon at the Majestic Alleys on Water street. The hotel competition will be run off first, and then the open event for five men teams will be put on. The schedule for to-morrow is as follows:—

Nationals, 2.30 to 4.15.
Southerns, 7 p.m. to 8.45 p.m.
Munro's Colts, 7 p.m. to 8.45 p.m.

OPEN EVENT.

Pleasure Club, 8.45 p.m. to 10.30 p.m

The handsome silver trophy for the hotel team competition will be on exhibition in Mr. C. E. Frost's window to-morrow. Mr. Frost and Mr. T. Boyd were in Toronto yesterday and purchased the cup.

The prizes for the winning team in the open event will be a gold locket, valued at $5, for each man. Cash prizes will be given to the winners in the singles and doubles, for both of which there have been large numbers of entries.

There are two special prizes, a box of cigars to the man making the highest score in ten frames during the tournament, and a gold locket, valued at $5, by Mr. C. E. Frost, to the man making the highest total pinnage.

Bowlers must be on hand and ready to bowl sharp on schedule time, or they will forefeit their call. There will be no exception to this rule.

Friday's schedule will appear tomorrow.

Otonabee Council Held Meeting

T. Doherty's Claim Owing to Fractured Leg Settled for $260.

The Otonabee Council met on the 15th inst. All the members were present. On motion Timothy Doherty was granted $260 in full for damages for leg broken on highway.

J G Weir was present, stating that as pathmaster he sold seven pine trees on the highway, opposite lot 22, concession 12, intending to devote the proceeds to the improvement of the road, but as Mr. Gillespie objected to having the trees cut, he (Mr. Weir) asked leave from the Council to have them removed.

Mr. Gillespie, who was also present, vigorously protested against having them removed. The Council informed Mr. Weir that pathmasters had no authority to sell or dispose of any trees on the highways, that authority being vested only in the council and the proceeds put into the general fund, nor had a pathmaster any authority to cut down any trees without the consent of the Council, and only by the Council if they are an injury to the road.

John Courtney was sentenced at Brantford yesterday to two years for bigamy.

Low Water at Chemong Lake

May Cause a Very Poor Fishing Season.

Mr. Dan Whetung, Jr., of Chemong, is in the city today. He says that the ice in Mud Lake has all disappeared. The bridge is all right again. On Monday, Mr. Whetung brought some passengers across the structure. In one place Mr. Whetung had to driver over a huge pile of ice, and the passengers had to walk most of the way. A large part of the railing was torn off.

The residents around Mud Lake are complaining of the action taken during the last few days in lowering the water in the lake. Within the last three days the water has gone down about three feet below high water mark. It goes down about three every day. This letting the water down so low will cause a great scarcity of fish this season. The spawn is now lying thick near the shore of the lake. By the lowering of the water, the spawn become exposed, will not mature and is soon destroyed by the birds. If the water had been left at its original height the spawn would have hatched out thousands of fish in about three weeks. Mr. Whetung thinks the water will be much lower this summer than last. He thought probably they were lowering it so that the building of the new dam at Buckhorn might be proceeded with.

At the office of the superintendent of the Trent Canal, the Review was informed that the water was going down of its own accord, and the superintendent had done nothing to lower it.

The muskrat season is about over at Chemong. It has been a most successful one, a large number having been caught. They will be brought to the city on Saturday and sold.

Sessional indemnities in the Nova Scotia Legislature have been increased $100.

With the Owners of Small Boats

Getting Ready for the Opening of the Season – Increasing Speed of Launches

One by one the gasoline launches and steam yachts are being put into the water. This week Mr. Bert Lorimer launched his fast little craft and for a couple of days has been running around Little Lake. He has secured dockage at the Otonabee Boat house and will move down there as soon as Mr. Rye gets things in shape.

Mr. Ernie Mitchell and Mr. W. E. Talbot, who have wintered their gasoline launches with Mr. E. R. Wilson, of the Peterborough Machine Co., have got the machinery in shape again, and are ready to start the season. The boats are now in the old bridge works building, along with several other small craft.

Mr. E. R. Wilson has his new motor boat, which was built by the Peterborough Canoe Co., stored in the old bridge works building. It is a very handsome boat, and is nicely decorated. As soon as the engine is built, it will be put into the boat, and the craft will be launched. It will likely be late in the season before it will make its appearance, but it will have sufficient speed to make up for lost time. Mr. Wilson has not yet decided what size engine he will use, but it will be one of his own make, and will furnish sufficient power for at least twelve miles an hour. With a more powerful engine the boat could, with its size, run as fast as 20 miles an hour, but that would be too fast for navigation on the Otonabee this year.

One of the most attractive and most complete little crafts on the Otonabee this year will be Mr. Rock Gordon's gasoline boat. It was new last year, and during the winter, the owner has had it in dry dock undergoing alterations. Instead of a two horse power engine, one double the size is being installed. A handsome top has been made, and a number of other extras, which add to the pleasure and comfort of cruising have been added. The boat will have a good speed, and the owner is looking forward to a lot of fun.

All those who have their own small craft, such as skiffs and canoes, are busy getting them in shape for the opening of the boating season. Already several of the old timers have been out on the lake fishing.

PROBABILITIES

Fresh north and west winds fair and cooler. Friday variable winds, fair cool.

PROPERTY COMMITTEE

The Property Committee has several important matters on hand, and it is likely a meeting will be called this week. One thing to be settled at once is the remodelling of the old fire hall to accommodate all the city officials. A plan has been prepared by the city engineer and will be submitted to the committee.

SIXTEEN WHEELS SOLD ALREADY

Mr. C. R. Banks Reports Bicycle Business Very Brisk This Spring

The day for bicycles has returned This year they will be nearly as popular as they were years ago, when everyone had a wheel. From all parts of the province, reports are received of big sales. The sporting goods men of this city have shared in this renewal of business, and Mr. C. R. Banks, who recently opened a sporting goods store in the market building, reports having sold sixteen wheels already this year, and the season is hardly open yet. The sale of other sporting goods is also very good in fact much better than could be expected on account of the unseasonable weather.

Are You Strong?

Do You Eat and Sleep Well? —Or, Are You Pale, Weak and Miserable?

Has your nerve given out? Have you lost confidence in yourself? Has work become such an awful burden that you look upon it with horror?

There's just one thing left to do, and that is to take Ferrozone and get your system into good shape again.

It's quite impossible for anyone to be weak or nervous that uses Ferrozone. It contains so many strength-giving properties benefit is bound to result from its use.

Ferrozone possesses the power to kindle new vitality and vigor where almost a dying condition of weakness exists.

It is an extraordinary and magical tonic, containing more actual nourishment and strengthening elements than you can get at in any other way. As a blood purifier, nerve strengthener and appetizing tonic there is simply no equal to Ferrozone. Of this we are positively sure.

It is crowned with the success of splendid cures; will restore anyone to health who uses it. The following letters from people who have actually experienced what Ferrozone can do will clearly show you just how beneficially it acts:—

No Medicine Ever Did So Much Lasting Good as Ferrozone.

"It would be difficult to express my thanks for the benefit I have received from Ferrozone," writes Miss Eva Wight, of Florenceville. "I was so weak and miserable that I could scarcely go around the house. My head ached, there was a dragging weakness in my limbs, and I felt as if every spark of life had left me. Ferrozone improved my appetite, toned up my blood, and soon made me well. Nothing I ever used did me half the good I got from Ferrozone."

The Great Tonic, Ferrozone, Brought Back Life.

"I am anxious to speak a good word for such a magnificent tonic as Ferrozone," says E. P. Gerow, of Yorktown. "I was wretchedly worn out. I was apprehensive, and lacked confidence. It was simply due to my very weak state. The only remedy that really did me lasting good was Ferrozone. It rebuilt my strength, has made me as vigorous and happy as a man could be. In the whole range of medicines I never used anything with half the merit I found in Ferrozone."

Though you spend a thousand dollars on doctors, you can't get a more vitalizing, strengthening tonic than Ferrozone. It is the best that money, combined with scientific research, can produce. If anything in this world will make you strong it must be Ferrozone. Others have proved its worth. You can easily do so for yourself. It will send new vital energy and renewed youth singing through your veins. It's nature's own remedy—a true food tonic.

Laurier Had Nothing to Say On Most Important Subject

Did Not Speak on Subject of Imperial Defence.

Gen. Botha on Naval Defence—Presence of Transvaal Premier Continues to Supply Dramatic Moments —Haldane Is Pleased—British Premier Says No Obligation Exists for Britain to Defend Whole Empire.

London, April 25.—It is noticeable that Premier Laurier has observed complete silence during the discussion of plans for defence at the sittings of the Imperial Conference, although every other Premier spoke on this subject. It is understood that Canada does not favor participation in the schemes for Imperial Defence.

Gen. Botha, when the question of naval defence arose, said he could only give a pious opinion, since, on an historic occasion, Great Britain had barred the Transvaal's way to the sea.

The presence of Gen. Botha continues to supply the conference with some dramatic moments, as on Saturday, when War Secretary Haldane, sitting opposite and looking straight into Gen. Botha's eyes, confessed that Great Britain had entered upon the Boer war without adequate preparation, but that the lesson of preparedness had been well learned since by both the late and present Governments.

A Pertinent Question.

London, April 25.—In the House of Commons yesterday Premier Campbell-Bannerman stated he was unaware of any country which on the whole gives as favorable trade treatment to the self-governing colonies as did the United Kingdom. Harold Cox asked the Premier whether the British obligation to defend the self-governing colonies had ever been defined, and what reciprocal obligation the colonies had undertaken for the defence of the United Kingdom.

The Premier replied that the obligation of the United Kingdom to defend the Empire was independent of any written agreement. There seemed no doubt the colonies recognize an obligation to assist in the defence of the Empire as a whole.

Real Security Now.

In the House of Commons Mr Haldane, Minister of War, said he was rejoiced to know the colonial Premiers had decided his army scheme was the best pattern of organization, "so that we should have an imperial territorial force which would give us real security."

GUESTS OF BRITISH M.P.'S.

Laurier Says Labors of Conference Will Result In Good.

London, April 25.—(C. A. P.)—The M.P.'s in both Houses yesterday entertained to luncheon the Colonial Premiers. The interior of Westminster Hall was appropriately decorated, but did not present so brilliant a scene as on the occasion of the entertainment to the officers of the French fleet, two years ago. Prior to luncheon a reception was held, after which a procession was formed to the banqueting hall. Among the last to arrive were Sir Wilfrid and Lady Laurier.

The Prime Minister and practically the whole of the Cabinet and many other distinguished notabilities were present. The band played "The Maple Leaf Forever." After the usual loyal toasts, Premier Campbell-Bannerman proposed in appropriate terms the toast to "The Colonial Premiers," Balfour supporting.

Premier Laurier, responding, said no stranger could enter that hall without feeling respect and reverence, and without being oppressed by the ages, and chiefly by those which had done most for the liberty of mankind. The labors of the Colonial Premiers in this country would not be in vain, but would tend for good, and they would go back more impressed than ever with the sense of imperial unity, coupled with, and based on, local autonomy. Premier Botha also replied.

THE INCREASED POSTAGE.

Not In Best Interests of Country Says Senator Ellis.

Ottawa, April 25.—In the Senate yesterday Senator Ellis brought up the increased postage to the United States, questioning the increase being in the best interests of the country.

The minimum rate on a Canadian newspaper to the United States was one cent a package. The good which the circulation of Canadian newspapers did in the United States was to be seen each year by the large number of Canadians from the United States who took part in homecomings held in the towns and cities throughout the Dominion each year. Under the new postal rates the country weekly which cost $1 would have to pay 26 cents a year postage, and the semi-weekly $1.04. The result would be a falling off in the papers going to the United States.

Mail Driver Held Up.

Peterboro, April 25.—Yesterday morning, about 12.30, James Reid, who drives the mail from the post-office to the C.P.R. station here, was held up by an unknown man, who demanded the mail bags.

Just as his assailant was reaching for his hip pocket Reid struck him over the head with the heavy lock of an empty mail bag, and the blood remaining on the canvas of the bag shows that the blow took effect.

Minister and Miser.

Montreal, April 25.—Old Neil Brodie, one of the most eccentric characters Montreal has ever had, has passed away.

Formerly a minister of the Church of Scotland, he came to Canada years ago to escape the double liability he incurred as a large shareholder in the Glasgow Bank, which had failed. He preached for a time in Pictou County, N. S., and later drifted to Montreal, going into stock speculation. He was a shareholder in the Canadian Pacific and MacKays, and Montreal Street Railway, and owned a block of tenements in Griffintown, which were always in bad repair. He was known to pick up coal on the street and to rummage garbage barrels. He is known to be worth at least $100,000.

James McKay, an East Flamboro farmer, was found dead in his barn yesterday.

$200,000 FIRE AT SAULT

One Man Killed in Blaze at Pulp Mill.

Hot Journal Starts Flames Which Soon Cause Heavy Damage—Workman Struck by Hose—Knocked Off Roof—Insurance of $100,000 Distributed Among Several Companies—Floors Gave Way.

Sault Ste. Marie, April 25.—The pulp mill No. 1 of Sault Ste. Marie Pulp & Paper Co. was destroyed by fire yesterday morning. The fire originated about three a. m. in the screening-room from a hot journal, which ignited the oil. Instantly the mill was filled with smoke and the night men rushed out, leaving the machinery running, which rumbled on until the burning floors let the heavy dryers fall into the water raceway below.

Benjamin Schuratz, who went on the roof to assist the firemen, was struck by one of the streams, knocking him off on another roof, causing his death.

The ground wood machinery will be a total loss, but the walls have not been injured to any extent.

The loss is estimated at $150,000, with $100,000 insurance.

George Millington, superintendent of the company, stated that the earning power of the mill had increased during the past year, and the present month would have exceeded any previous Soo records. A new plant will be installed as speedily as possible.

Insurance Losses.

D. C. Edwards left last night for the Soo to adjust the losses. Local insurance men think that the estimate of the loss is exaggerated. They say that the insurance carried totalled about $70,000, about $50,000 being on machinery. The companies interested are: London & Lancashire, Western, Hartford, Phoenix of Brooklyn, Montreal, Canada, London Mutual, Merchants, Standard, Phoenix of Hartford, Manitoba, German-American, Connecticut, Queen City and several others.

The total loss incurred by any single concern will not exceed $12,000.

FOURTEEN LIVES LOST.

Steamer Arcadia Wrecked and All Hands Lost.

Manistee, Mich., April 25.—The steamer Arcadia, which left this port on the afternoon of April 12 for Two Rivers, was wrecked on the same night, and all hands on board were lost, but no suspicion existed until Tuesday that such was her fate.

Before starting Capt. May was warned of the approaching storm, which proved the worst in years, but he thought he could weather it. Although a small steamer she was short-handed, having but one pilot and one engineer.

William McMartin, of 691 Concord avenue, a personal friend of Captain Harry May, master and owner of the boat which has gone to the bottom with her entire crew, refused to leave port on the Arcadia because he declares her engines were in bad shape.

He is firm in his belief that the boat was entirely seaworthy in every respect, save for the condition of her engines, and that had they been in proper shape she would have ridden out almost any storm.

Three Young Women Killed.

Millville, N. J., April 25.—Three young women employed at a glass factory here were killed yesterday by the collapse of a smoke-stack, which crashed through a room in which they were working. The dead: Lena Doughty, Lydia Thurston, Sylvia Gallagher. The accident occurred during the brief 60-mile windstorm.

Described As Murderess.

New York, April 25.—Mrs. Anasia de Massey, who is on trial, charged with having shot and killed Gustav Simon, her one-time employer, yesterday heard herself described to a jury as a murderess.

After several witnesses had testified about the wounds which caused Simon's death, and the office in which the tragedy took place, Bea Fauchere, cashier of the Queen Shirtwaist Company, was called to the stand and identified Mrs. de Massey as a former employe of the company.

Very little evidence was heard, and an adjournment was taken till to-day.

Miners' Strike Settled.

Fernie, B. C., April 25.—Reports from most reliable sources give the assurance that the miners' strike has been settled.

It is known beyond doubt that an acceptable proposition was submitted by the miners to the operators, and although the official statement has not yet been given out, there is every reason to believe that the troubles are at an end.

Mackenzie King, when asked about the report, said that he hoped to give out an official statement to-day of a settlement.

Purely Accidental.

Montreal, April 25.—The coroners completed an enquiry yesterday into the death of three persons, two women and a man, in the Canada Steam Laundry fire last week, and found that the starting of the fire was purely accidental, and that blame could not be attached to anyone connected with the place.

Wanted Medicine For Corpse.

Kingston, N.Y., April 25.—The authorities are investigating the death of Mrs. Frank Gurtler, the wife of a farmer living near West Hurley. Gurtler brought his wife's body to that village Tuesday night, saying she was ill, and asking for medical attendance.

Earl Grey Offers Bulbs.

Ottawa, April 25.—Earl Grey has offered bulbs of plants to the children of Ottawa free if they will cultivate them in Ottawa parks and beautify the Capital in this way.

As platinum has dropped to $26,-050 an ounce, now is the time to lay in your supply for the summer months.

ANARCHY AT TOULON.

"Reds" Accused of Firing Government Arsenals.

Paris, April 25.—It is generally believed that the fire which caused 3,000,000 francs damage at Toulon yesterday was the work of incendiaries. Fuses were found lying about, and just before the fire started the fire brigade was called away to the other side of the town. These facts cause suspicion.

Like Battleship Disaster.

This instance brings to mind the decision of the Senatorial Committee which investigated the disaster of the battleship Iena. The report expressed the conviction that it was not accidental.

During the last eighteen months there have been no fewer than six supposed accidents at the Toulon arsenal. The Forges et Chantiers de la Mediterranie, a private concern, opposite the arsenal, has been free from accidents all this time.

Hotbed of Anarchy.

The Government works have experienced many anarchistic upheavals since the eight-hour day labor first was agitated.

The fire lasted from midnight well into the day, and the arsenal was only saved by the superhuman efforts of the soldiers and sailors. Several lives were reported to be lost.

BOURASSA ALWAYS SAME.

Replies to Laurier's Remarks About "Firebrands."

Ottawa, April 25.—Henri Bourassa, M. P., of Labelle, said yesterday:

"In Sir Wilfrid Laurier's reference to Canadian firebrands referred to in the cable despatches from London, I notice that he speaks of Mr. Bourassa 'and others.' I presume the latter reference is to Hon. Sydney Fisher's speech against preferential trade, in Montreal, on the day of the British general elections last year, and to Sir Wilfrid's own speech against the creation of an imperial council and the policy of imperial defence, delivered at the banquet of the Chambers of Commerce, in Montreal in 1904.

"Neither in Quebec nor elsewhere have I made use of any stronger language than these two honorable gentlemen employed on the occasions I have mentioned, but, of course, I have repeated my arguments outside of Quebec. The inference, therefore, would be that it is safer to be a "firebrand' in Quebec than an imperial statesman in London.

"However, I will endeavor to stick to my present modest policy, which is the same in Quebec, in Ontario or anywhere else in the empire."

WANTED HUBBY ARRESTED.

For Eating With Another Woman In Restaurant.

Port Huron, Mich., April 25.—Mrs. Anna McClellan, lately from Mount Forest, Ont., rushed excitedly into the police station Tuesday evening and asked if she could have her husband arrested for eating with another woman. The police could not help her.

Mrs. McClellan is employed as a waitress in the Harrington Hotel. When her husband, accompanied by a woman, came into the dining-room and to her table, she refused to wait upon them.

She said she had trouble with her husband several months ago while living at Mount Forest.

CHICAGO EXPRESS WRECKED

Collided With Freight and Many Are Reported Injured.

Pittsburg, April 25.—The Chicago express on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, which left this city for New York at 10.45 p.m., was wrecked last night near Bennet Station, on the West Pennsylvania division of the Pennsylvania Railroad, shortly after 11 o'clock.

Bennet Station is ten miles east of here. The express collided with a freight train.

Several persons are reported injured.

The passenger engine and the caboose of the freight train were demolished.

Irish Will Compromise.

London, April 25.—The spirit of compromise is having effect on the prospects of the Irish council bill, and yesterday its supporters were more hopeful of reconciling the differences regarding the terms of the proposed measure.

The outlook has so far improved that Mr. Birrell, chief secretary for Ireland, was able to announce in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon that he hoped to be able to introduce the bill May 7.

The Marathon Mystery

A Story of Manhattan

By BURTON E. STEVENSON

Author of "The Holladay Case"

Copyright, 1904, by Henry Holt and Company

"I heard you drive up," she said. "I thought you might remember our old habit."

"As if I could forget it! Do you know," and he held her at arm's length to look at her, "you take my breath away. But, then, you always do. My luck seems too completely, supremely perfect to be true."

Her color deepened a little under his gaze, but her eyes did not waver.

"I don't want you to live in a state of perpetual breathlessness," she said.

"Oh, you don't know what a delightful state it is. There's nothing in my appearance to cause palpitation of the heart. Just a moment ago, when I came to the turn of the stair and looked down and saw you standing here, do you know I was appalled at the sheer wonder of the thing. 'She is mine,' I said to myself—'she is mine,' and yet I couldn't quite believe it. It seemed too stupendous, too utterly absurd. What have I done to deserve you?"

There was something very touching in the sincerity of the frank, boyish face. She answered with a pressure of the hand which said more than many words.

"I feel a good deal as that page felt," he went on after a moment, "who looked up at Kate, the queen. 'She never could be wronged, be poor,' he sighed, 'need him to help her.' "

"And yet in the end she did need him, didn't she? Perhaps," and her face changed and she looked away into the fire again—"perhaps I may need you—may have to ask a great sacrifice of you"—

"Ask it," he said eagerly. "Ask anything but that I give you up."

"I have already asked one thing," she said slowly, looking at him with a face very gentle. "No little thing—your trust, your confidence, your"—

"You had no need to ask it," and he caught her hands again. "It was yours already."

"And will be mine always?"

"Can you doubt it?"

"No; and I shall be glad to remember it."

"Not long ago," he said, looking at her, "a friend of mine gave me some good advice."

"Which was?"

"That I be happy in having you without conditions; that I try to live up to you and be worthy of you; that I try to do something worth while for your sake."

She had listened with raised brows.

"I didn't know I was a subject of discussion"—

"You're not—but you sent me to him?"—

"Oh—Mr. Godfrey!" A little cloud came upon her face; she opened her lips to say something more, but a step sounded on the stair and Tremaine came slowly down. There was a look on his face not pleasant to see, but he banished all trace of it as he came forward.

CHAPTER XIV.

WHEN Drysdale opened his window next morning he found the sun shining from a sky unclouded, and the air warm with the promise of spring. It called him in a way not to be resisted, and he stepped out on the little balcony which ran beneath the window; then he caught the odor of a cigarette, and turned to see Tremaine smiling at him.

"Good morning!" cried Tremaine. "A beautiful morning, isn't it? Won't you join me?"

"You seem to be an early riser," observed Drysdale, who had thought to find himself the first astir.

"It is a habit one learns at St. Pierre. The dawn is, there, the only pleasant portion of the day—one rises to burn incense to it."

"You have lived long at St. Pierre?"

"Nearly four years."

The merest flicker of amusement flashed across Tremaine's lips and they finished their cigarettes in silence. They went down together to breakfast presently, but only Delroy joined them there, and it was not an especially pleasant meal, despite the bright sun at the windows and Tremaine's imperturbable good humor. As they arose from table, that gentleman announced his intention of going for a walk about the grounds.

* * * * * * *

Tremaine seemed to enjoy his walk; at least he did not return to the house until nearly the hour for luncheon. At that meal the women joined them, and a drive was planned for the afternoon, which ended at the vesper service at the little chapel at Babylon. For some reason the drive had not been a success; a certain constraint seemed to have fallen upon the party, a feeling of unrest, of uneasiness, which sent them severally to their rooms as soon as they reached the house.

Drysdale dressed immediately. What instinct was it that told him to set his foot lightly on the stair, or was it only that he hoped to look down upon her for a moment unseen? The sound of voices reached him, and leaning over he saw two figures standing before the fire which the evening still had rendered necessary—Miss Croydon and Tremaine. He started abruptly to descend when he caught a sentence that made him pause.

"I'm not in the least like that," Tremaine was saying, and, though the voice was carefully repressed, it had in it a ring of savage earnestness. "In your heart you know it or you wouldn't stand there listening. I have come to you at once, boldly, because I'm sure that I shall win. He is not worthy of you—in your heart you know that also. He cannot hold you; he is too weak; I shall wrench you away! You're not the woman to be tied to a gilded mediocrity."

She had been leaning away from him, staring into the fire, as though charmed into silence by this impetuous eloquence. Now she stood erect and looked at him.

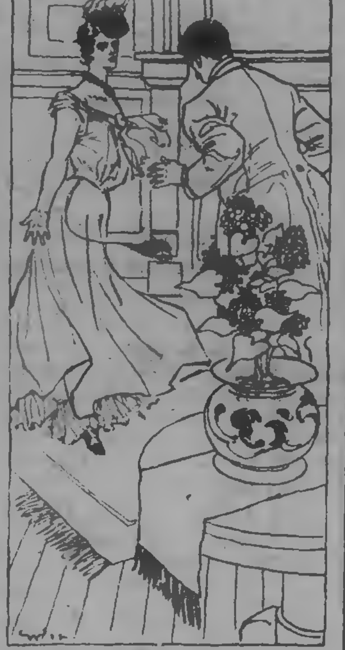
"What you are proposing to me is infamous," she said through clinched teeth.

"It is not in the least infamous," he retorted coolly. "I am offering you the future I know you sigh for. It is a future that I sigh for, too; that I have sighed for from the first moment I saw you, and which I am going to make come true. Together we will conquer the world. As my wife"—

"Your wife?" There was scorn, anger, fear in the words and in the glance she cast at him.

"Certainly—my wife," he repeated, with emphasis. "If I should prove to you"—

She stopped him by an imperative gesture.



"What you are proposing to me is infamous."

"You go too far," she said. "There is a limit to what even I will endure. Do not push me too far. Do not rely too much upon my forbearance. A man capable of any crime"—

He held her by the motion of a finger.

"Is a man who appeals to you," he concluded.

"You strangely mistake me," she said in a cold voice. "You are reading your own nature into me. I would ask no man to commit a crime for my sake. I should abhor the man who did."

He did not answer, but stood looking at her with a gaze which seemed to envelop her, to pierce her through and through. Drysdale felt the perspiration start across his forehead. He wished to cry out, but could not.

A door at the farther end of the hall opened, and Delroy came in. The bonds loosened, and Drysdale fled back to his room. He needed to compose himself. After dinner he at once sought Grace.

"Grace," he said gently, "as I was coming down to dinner tonight I happened to see you and Tremaine standing here together, and, without intending to, I overheard a sentence which stopped me up there at the turn of the stair."

She turned away from him, and her arms dropped wearily by her sides.

"Your proper course is to inform Delroy," he continued doggedly, braving the certainty of offending her. "Or, better still, I will, and then kick that scoundrel out. Why did you permit him to talk to you the way he did?"

"I can't tell you," she answered hoarsely.

"But I have a right to know."

"Yes. I suppose you have. Why not break it off? Then you won't need to worry about me any more."

He started from his chair at the words, but controlled himself and sat down again.

"Do you mean that you want to break it off?" he demanded in a quivering voice. "Do you mean that you can possibly care for that"—

She turned upon him with blazing eyes.

"Do you insult me too?"

For an instant he sat motionless as stone. Then he fell at her knees and caught her hands and covered them with kisses.

"Listen," she said, bending over him, instantly moved, instantly tender. "You told me last night that you trusted me."

"I do with my whole soul."

"And Kate, the queen, needs you, as she said she would. Only I must have time to think, to straighten out the tangle. Tomorrow I will tell you—tomorrow night—till then"—

He seized her and drew her down to him and kissed her on the lips.

"I've never doubted you," he said. "And I'll fight the battle of my life before I give you up."

At the farther end of the hall a door closed very, very softly.

CHAPTER XV.

JOHN DRYSDALE accompanied the other men to town in the morning, not that he cared to be with either of them, for his indignation at what he considered Delroy's laxness in entertaining a man whose conduct was so mysterious and whose past was so little known had not in the least diminished, and his distrust of Tremaine had grown stronger with the passing hours. The prospect of a day alone in the house was intolerable, and he felt that Grace Croydon would wish to avoid him till the hour of explanation was at hand.

Indeed, the sudden antagonism he had developed toward Delroy would have suggested a permanent return to town had not a point of honor, as it were, compelled him to stay. He could not, at this moment, desert Grace Croydon to the machinations of Tremaine. He must save her if he could, not only for his own sake, but for hers.

It was this gloomy meditation which occupied him on the trip in to the city, for his companions, immersed in the details of the day's business, left him severely to himself. He bade them goodby at the ferry and, in a sort of desperation, went down to the Record office and asked for Godfrey. He felt that he was being swept into waters beyond his depth, that he needed a strong, cool hand to pluck him back to safety, but he found that Godfrey was out of town.

Delroy and Tremaine went at once to the Wall street office where the conference concerning the railroad was to take place. Memories of that conference still survive in the street; wild legends concerning it—how a company of conservative, cold blooded, steel gutted capitalists were worked upon, bamboozled, hypnotized, wrought up to enthusiasm over a project which was proved by the subsequent reports of engineers to be about as practicable as a bridge to the moon. Even yet the glamour of that meeting endures with some of the investors who were present, and they are still convinced that a railroad in Martinique would pay a fabulous return. Tremaine set for the street a new standard of "smoothness" and one which has never been approached.

The conference was over by noon, and Tremaine announced his intention of returning to Edgemere by the first train.

"I'm feeling a little worn out by the morning's exertions," he explained, and he really looked it. "When are you coming out?"

"I'm going up to Tiffany's first," Delroy answered, "and have a talk with them about my wife's necklace. I left it with them Saturday. If they advise a sea bath, I'll bring it along with me, and we'll see what virtue there is in the treatment."

"Perhaps there isn't any," said Tremaine, "or it may be that Tiffany has some better method."

"Well, I'll know by tonight," and Delroy held up a beckoning finger to a passing cab. "Goodby till then."

Delroy and Drysdale returned together on the 5 o'clock train and hurried into the house. They found Tremaine lounging in a great chair in the hall, and if the glance which Drysdale shot at him was electric with suspicion he had at least self control enough to restrain any ill considered or hasty words. But he blamed himself bitterly for not having foreseen the possibility of Tremaine's early return, the reason for which he guessed at once.

"We've just time to make the arrangements before dinner," said Delroy, and he held up a long morocco case.

"Ah"—and Tremaine rose lazily—"so you've brought it? Tiffany advises it, then?"

"Yes—but come into the library, and you shall hear. It seems that the only thing to be done is to immerse them in their native element for a few days, and the sooner it's done the better. That's what I brought this cage for. We'll put the necklace in it and let it down into the water at the end of the pier. Only living sea water will do; it seems to have no efficacy shut up in a vessel of any kind. I asked about that particularly."

"I would suggest," put in Tremaine, "that a guard be stationed at the pier to prevent any possibility of danger."

"Perhaps you're right"—and Delroy nodded. "Graham and his boy will be just the ones. They can relieve each other so that the time won't seem so long."

The Grahams were summoned, and they came promptly.

A single glance was enough to convince any one of their absolute probity. The elder man was perhaps sixty years of age, in the very prime of health and strength, with a weather beaten countenance, surrounded by a grizzled beard; the younger one was about twenty-five. Both showed the clean skin and clear eyes and firm muscles resulting from life in the open air, for they had the care of the acres of lawn and garden and woodland and meadow belonging to the estate.

Delroy held up the little cage.

"This string of white stones," he said, "is Mrs. Delroy's pearl necklace, worth something over $100,000. I put them in this cage, close the lid and fasten it with these little hooks. Now, Graham, these stones have lost their luster, and live sea water's the only thing that will restore it. I want you to tie a rope to this cage and lower it into the bay from the end of the pier, securing it, of course, so that it can't thrash around or break away. It will have to stay there for three or four days, and during that time I'd like you and your boy to sleep at the boathouse and see that nobody meddles with it."

The two men had listened intently with serious faces.

"Very well, sir," said the elder as Delroy finished, and held out his hand for the cage.

Delroy gave it to him with a little chuckle of enjoyment.

"You'd better have a gun with you—not that I think there's any danger"—

"Never fear, sir," interrupted Graham. "We'll 'tend t' all that. Come on, Willum."

Delroy watched them till the door closed behind them.

"I believe Graham would say 'Very well, sir,' in just that tone, if I told him to burn the house down," he remarked. "We'll go down after dinner and see how he's arranged things. And now," he added, "my innards are beginning to clamor vigorously for refreshment."

CHAPTER XVI.

DINNER that night was anything but a cheerful meal. In fact, it was evident that the house party possessed that fatal bar to success, a spirit of antagonism. Drysdale and Grace Croydon maintained a careful silence, and Mrs. Delroy was so obviously depressed that her husband was alarmed.

As soon as the meal was over she and her sister disappeared upstairs, while the men lighted their cigars and strolled down to the boathouse to view the preparations made by the Grahams for the protection of the necklace. The night was very close, with a promise of rain unmistakable.

They went through the boathouse without finding any one, but out on the pier beyond old Graham was sitting, gazing across the water and smoking an odoriferous pipe. Between his knees he held a Winchester repeater and a revolver butt stuck from a case at his side.

Delroy laughed quietly as he looked at him.

"Why, you're a regular arsenal," he said. "You're taking it in earnest for sure. You're not going to sit out here all night, I hope."

"Willum takes his trick at midnight, sir. He's gone over t' th' house t' bring a cot an' some beddin' down t' th' boathouse. We'll take turn an' turn about."

"Well," said Delroy, turning away, "I see I can sleep without worrying any over the safety of the necklace."

As they passed through the boathouse again they perceived young "Willum" busily engaged in making up his bed on a cot in one corner. Delroy nodded to him and passed on without speaking.

"It's too nice a night to spend in the house," said Drysdale, a little abruptly, as they mounted the steps to the door. "I believe I'll go for a tramp. I'll take my raincoat, though. Then I needn't hurry back."

Delroy shrugged his shoulders as Drysdale entered the outer hall with them and took down his raincoat from the rack. Thomas, who was stationed in the vestibule, helped him on with it.

"Goodby," he called from the door. "Don't look for me for an hour or two."

"All right, we won't worry," answered Delroy. "Though, for my part," he added, as he and Tremaine went on through the hall together, "I prefer a book before the fire. There's a chill in the air that strikes through one after awhile, and Jack 'll soon get enough of it. But I'd better go up and see how my wife's getting along. You'll excuse me?"

"Certainly; and stay as long as you like. I'm going to my room presently myself. I have some letters to write."

Delroy nodded and went on up the stairs. Tremaine sank into one of the chairs before the fire and watched the blazing logs, with an expression intent, alert.

* * * * * * * *

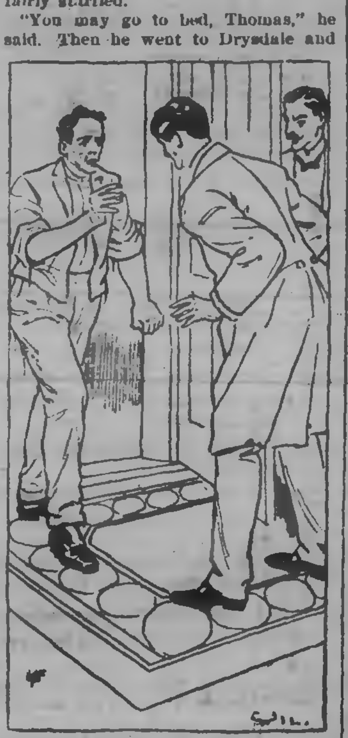
For an hour or more Delroy sat alone before the fire reading. At last he yawned, laid down his book, arose and walked to the door. The wind was rising; he could hear it roaring in the trees, and every minute a broad flash of lightning illumined the clouds on the horizon.

"There's a storm coming," he said to Thomas, who was nodding at his post. "I wonder where the devil Drysdale went. He'd better be getting in pretty soon."

As though in answer to the thought, a dark figure appeared suddenly on the walk, strode up the steps and opened the door. It was Drysdale.

He took off his coat, threw it to Thomas and went on into the inner hall, where he stood rubbing his hands before the fire, with a face so hopeless, fierce, despairing, that Delroy was fairly startled.

"You may go to bed, Thomas," he said. Then he went to Drysdale and laid a hand upon his shoulder. "What's the matter, Jack?" he asked. "You're looking regularly done up."



"Father's killed!" he whispered hoarsely.

Tombstones to the Living.

"To a stranger the erection of a tombstone to a living person seems rather ghastly, but it's the custom in some New England villages," said the traveling man. "I was collecting quaint epitaphs for a magazine article, and, after I had put up my motor car on my arrival in a village, I would go straightway to the cemetery on an epitaph hunt. There I would find, set up in lot after lot, tombstones of living people. Each stone would contain the name and the date of birth. Ghastly, wasn't it? I met a pretty girl in a hotel in New Hampshire. She was the landlord's daughter. She showed me her stone in the cemetery. The last name was left blank in her case. 'I may marry, you know,' she explained."—New York Press.

Incapacitated.

As the "extra hand" rose from his dinner in the farm kitchen the farmer's son informed him that he was to pitch hay in the afternoon.

"I won't do it!" was the curt reply.

"All right, please yourself. It doesn't make any difference to me," retorted the farmer's son. "My father told me to deliver the message, and if you don't pitch you'll get into trouble with him."

"I won't do it for either you or your father!" rejoined the man. "You should ha' told me sooner. At dinner time I filled myself for raking, and I can't pitch."

The First Scapegoat.

The word "scapegoat" originated in an ancient Hebrew custom practiced at the feast of the Passover. Placing a young goat upon the altar, the priests would pray over it, asking that all the sins of the people be visited upon the goat. Then, after each member of the tribe had transferred his guilt to the victim by laying on his hands, the animal was turned loose in the forests to be devoured by the wild beasts.

Some Sixty Cases of Smallpox

Looked After by Dr. Bell in the County of Huron

Dr. R. W. Bell, Provincial Health Officer, has just returned from a visit to the townships of Hay and Stephen in the County of Huron, where he reports sixty cases of smallpox, most of which are in the village of Dashwood. Until the arrival of Dr. Bell in the community, many of the cases had not been visited by a doctor, and not till the more serious ones were noticed by the local physicians was the Health Department notified. One patient died after Dr. Bell had arrived. The local authorities are now looking after the patients through a system of quarantine.—Mail and Empire.

Buy Dickson Co. Land for a Park

Save the Cost of an Outfall Sewer and Hold the Property

The special joint committee of the Board of Health and City Council met to-day on the Dickson Co's property south of Harvey street, along the river front. The object of the meeting was to ascertain if any means of drainage could be figured out so that this property could be cut up into building lots and placed on the market. The cost to run an outfall sewer through that long stretch of land would be very heavy and far more than would be justified according to the amount of benefit to be derived. The only reasonable scheme so far as could be seen up to the present was for the Dickson Co. to pay the whole cost of the work, as they would be the only ones directly benefited. One well known citizen suggested that the city buy the property and hold it for park purposes, or any other purpose which might present itself in the future. This would save the cost of the outfall sewer, and he figured that it would require very much less money.

Having lingered in the lap of spring winter may not be preparing to fall into the arms of summer.

Cement Walks for Ashburnham; Board of Works to Start There

Will be Finished Before Other Walks are Started—Street Extension Again—Arbitration Over Miss McManns' Property—Street Railway Will Have to Fill in Their Tracks.

Ashburnham will no longer be without permanent walks. Arrangements were made last year by the Board of Works to start them but at the last minute the council ordered some other work done, and consequently the east side had to stand over. But on the first of May, or sooner, Street Commissioner Evans will start his men to work over there. The Board of Works so decided last night.

A number of other things, mostly of a minor nature, were put through, and just as soon as the men can be organized into gangs, the sewer work will be started and rushed all season.

Those present were ;—Chairman Duncan, Ald. Johnston, Mayor McWilliams, City Solicitor E. H. D. Hall and City Engineer T. A. S. Hay, Ald. Wilson, Street Commissioner Harry Evans, Ald. McIntyre.

A communication was received from Mr Thos. Begley, Victoria Avenue, asking for a walk in front of his residence. The Council intended to build a walk on the north side, and he is the only one on the south side. This was laid over for the present.

Mr. E. A. Peck was present in connection with the McMann property, which is wanted for the extension of George street. He would like to get it settled. Miss McMann wanted $1,600, which took in her house. Mr. Peck had talked with her and finally she had consented to accept $1,200 and be allowed to remove the house. Mrs. McMann has lived here for the past 30 years, and as she has very little means she should be treated with the utmost consideration. The city's offer was $700 and $100 for the house. Ald. Wilson suggested to Mr. Peck that the city move the house over and fix it up for Miss McMann, and she accept the city's offer.

No action was taken, and there is every probability that it will be settled by arbitration.

Mr. McKee asked for an office, as he has been using his dining room and he had to get out of there by May 1st. The committee told him there would be a special office for the assessors as soon as the firemen are out of the old fire hall.

Messrs. Datcher and Yelland, of Harvey street, want a sewer on their street as soon as possible. This will be done very soon.

The city's engineer reported in connection with the amount of filling required between the street railway tracks. There are about two-thirds of the line not up to requirements, and the stretches that are all right are few and far between. The material also is unsatisfactory, and creates mud or dust, according to the weather.

Moved by Ald. Johnston and Ald. Wilson that the chairman and Mr. Hay make an agreement with the street railway company so that the city will fill in between the tracks and that the company pay for it.—Carried

The city engineer reported on the outfall sewer along the right of way of the Grand Trunk Railway between Smith and Aylmer streets, stating that before starting the Board had better communicate with the G. T.R. and ascertain whether they intend to lower the grade of the road, as it will make a lot of difference in the excavation and the building o manholes.

The city clerk was authorized to write Mr. W. R. Tiffin for an immediate action, on motion of Ald. Johnston and Wilson.

The engineer also suggested that the Parnell street sewer be laid on the west side of Park street, so as to leave the centre of the street for the Park street sewer, which will be built in the near future.

A motion was passed authorizing Foreman Wm. White to start work on Sherbrooke street first.

On motion by Mayor McWilliams and Ald. McIntyre, the engineer was instructed to proceed with the opening of Hunter street east and George and Aylmer street South at once.

On motion by Ald. Wilson and the Mayor, Street Commissioner Evans will start sidewalks in Ashburnham first, as the walks over there were to have been done last year ,but the season closed too soon ,and the walks there are badly in need of renewing.

Commissioner Evans said that he thought he could get started next week, or the first of May at the latest. At present there is frost under the walks.

Mr Jos. Johnston, Park street, near the Baptist church asked for a crossing in front of his place, as there is a deep ditch in front of his property. The request was granted.

Application was made for a sidewalk on the south side of Charlotte, from Park street west to Maitland Ave ,outside the free line. This was not granted, as it is impossible to build it outside.

Application was made for a sewer from Cedar street to the Monaghan road.—Granted.

George Fowler Scares Them

Never was there in Parliament such a situation as that produced by George Fowler, M.P.

Mr. Fowler's frown makes the Ministerial forces tremble.

Mr. Fowler's charge drives a Minister from his position.

When Mr. Fowler rises in Parliament the Government benches are in a state of scare.

When Mr. Fowler sits down, the alarmed politicians breathe more freely.

Why is there such fear of Mr Fowler?

Truly has it been said that conscience doth make cowards of us all.

Mr. Fowler speaks at the big Conservative demonstration in the Grand opera house tomorrow (Friday) night.

Grand Opera House Will be Filled To the Doors To-morrow Evening

Splendid Array of Eloquent Speakers Will Discuss the Issues of the Day—Public is Cordially Invited—Demonstration Promises to be an Unqualified Success.

SPEAKERS

MR. A. C. BOYCE, M. P., West Algoma.

MR. J. G. H. BERGERON, M. P., Beauharnois, Quebec.

MR. GEO. W. FOWLER, M. P., King's and Albert, N. B.

HON. W. J. HANNA, M. P. P., West Lambton, Provincial Secretary.

Are you going to the big mass meeting in the Grand Opera House, tomorrow, Friday, night, under the auspices of the Liberal-Conservative Association of East Peterborough.

Of course you are. The meeting will begin at eight o'clock, and it is important that you should be on hand early if you desire a good seat.

Judging by present indications the building will be crowded to the doors. A number of visitors are coming from outside points to hear the distinguished array of speakers, who will discuss earnest, convincing and instructive manner.

Ladies are cordially invited to be present. Seats will be especially reserved for them and their escorts.

The speakers need no lengthy introduction to a Peterborough audience. They are well and favorably known.

Mr. Boyce, M. P., for West Algoma, is a pleasing, forceful and effective platform speaker, and a clever debater.

Mr. Bergeron, M. P., of Beauharnois, Quebec, has been the champion of the Conservative party in many a political contest in the sister province of Quebec. He speaks fluently and fearlessly in both French and English, and in his own province has always drawn large crowds.

Mr. Geo. W. Fowler, M. P., of Kings and Albert, N. B., has demonstrated in the House of Commons, particularly this session that he is abundantly able to take care of himself in any political battle. He made some grave charges against certain members of the Laurier Cabinet, which have so far not been refuted, and any attempts to besmirch the good name and reputation of Mr. Fowler have ignominiously failed. Mr. Fowler spoke last Saturday night before a great gathering in Montreal and was accorded a splendid reception. His address was full of force and fire, and created a deep impression.

Hon. W. J. Hanna, the brilliant Provincial Secretary, whose able administration of his department, has won admiration from both political parties will talk on provincial affairs, and dwell particularly on the legislation of the past session. His many friends will extend him a hearty greeting on the occasion on his first visit to the City of Peterborough. He is an eloquent and fluent speaker.

Do not fail to attend the big mass meeting in the Grand Opera House, tomorrow, Friday, night, under the auspices of the Liberal-Conservative Association of East Peterborough.

ANNUAL MEETING.

At seven o'clock in the rooms of the Young Conservative Club, the annual meeting of the association will be held for the election of officers for the ensuing year, and the presentation of reports.

The meeting will be over in ample time to attend the great gathering in the Opera House, the same evening. Every member of the Conservative party should make it a point to be present at seven o'clock tomorrow night in the Young Conservative Club rooms.

City Will Get River Dredgings

Chairman of Board of Works Said There Would be No Difficulty

Some time ago a little excitement was created in civic circles when it was reported that the Quaker Oats Company were endeavoring to secure the dredgings from the river to fill up their property on the east side of the river. The city has a large stretch of low land yet to be filled and many hundred yards of gravel are still required. Therefore, the Board of Works Chairman, Ald. Duncan, communicated with the local member in reference to the matter, and last night he informed the Board that the city would get all the material that was required.

The Dominion Government has voted $15,000 for the continuation of this work ,and it is expected that the dredge will get busy again in a few days. There is still a lot of work to be done, and Contractor Wm. Quinn will be busy all summer and fall.

Having got his name in the papers 34,798 times, W. T. Stead's pursuit of the universal peace idea must be considered a complete success.

He Yelled and Was Removed From Colleseum—Fined $2 To-day

There was a busy session at the police court this morning. In addition to the Royal Hotel case and sentencing of Cameron, there were several other cases.

David Hoben, a frequent offender, was charged this morning with raising a disturbance at the Colloseum last evening. Hoben did not know whether he was guilty or not.

P. C Newhall swore that last night about nine o'clock, he was called to the Colleseum. Hoben was there and he let an unearthly yell out of him. He was then given the privilege to ask some questions.

"What picture was being shown?" asked Hoben.

"Well, wasn't it enough to make you yell?" asked Hoben.

His Worship fined him two dollars, to be paid in ten days.

Robert Gibson ,of Tweed, was fined two dollars for being drunk and disorderly yesterday.

Richard Gearey ,who just got out of gaol after serving 25 days, had a place in the prisoner's box this morning. He was charged with being intoxicated. He replied to the charge :—

"Well, your Lordship, I guess I'm guilty. Let me go and I'll go right out to my sister's in Otonabe."

His Worship allowed him to go, and as he walked away Gear said: "Thanks, your Lordship, and God bless you."

For raising a disturbance of the corner of Hunter and George streets, about 11 o'clock, on April 23rd, two young men of this city were fined five dollars to be paid forthwith. The two fellows were the worse of liquor and were trying to fight everyone they met. They paid their fines.

Peterborough escaped the visitation.

LINDSAY HAS MANY DOGS.

A writer in the Review pronounces Peterborough a "canine cursed city." Well, it may be, but we think Lindsay, says the Post, has the Otonabee city eclipsed by a big percentage. Back north, the rule is, the poorer the settler the more dogs he gathers about him. Measured by the same standard, the poverty in Lindsay is remarkable. At any rate most of the dogs are miserable, if the owners are not.

NEW LODGE IS INSTITUTED

Large Nnmber of Oddfellows Visited Marmora

A degree team composed of members of Otonabee and Peterborough lodges, I.O.O.F. went to Marmora last night to be present at the institution of Mystic Lodge, Independent Order of Oddfellows, at that place. The new lodge was brought into existence under most favorable auspices. It has over forty charter members with prospects for a large number more joining in the near future.

The Peterborough Oddfellows to the number of about thirty left for Marmora last night on a special train, which pulled out of the C. P. R. Station, shortly after seven o'clock. At Havelock a number of the triple linked brethren from that place got aboard and in addition to these a large number of Oddfellows from Hastings, Stirling and other surrounding towns were present at the institution of the new lodge.

Under Whose Jurisdiction the New I.O.O.F. Lodge at Marmora Will Be

The degree work in connection with the establishment of the new lodge was put on by the Peterborough degree team and as usual was done in a manner that left nothing to be desired. After the institution of the lodge there were speeches by several prominent Oddfellows, among those present being Grand Master Johnston of Toronto; James Tully, special representative of the Oddfellows' Relief Association; District Grand Master Wm. Hill; District Grand Marshall, J. W. Miller, and many others.

The visitors were entertained at a banquet in the town hall, after the lodge work was over, when a very enjoyable time was spent. The Peterborough Oddfellows report splendid treatment at Marmora. They arrived home this morning at 6.30 o'clock.

FOOTBALL ON CENTRAL PARK

Interesting Match Played Last Night

Central Park was the scene of an interesting football match last night, the players being almost entirely composed of members of the four Y.M.C.A. basketball teams. Two teams were picked and play continued for about an hour. The grounds were not exactly suited for football purposes, trees and other objects interfering with well meant dashes of the players, but beyond a few bruises, several pairs of barked shins, and a few other minor injuries, there was no serious damages. Charlie Sisson gave satisfaction as referee and paid no heed to the generous pieces of advice that were handed out to him. The teams were as follows,—

Winners		Losers
	Goal.
Evans		McFadden
	Backs.
Donaldson		Fitzgerald
Ranton		Darling
	Full Backs.
R. Best		Emmerson
Staunton		"Red" Waistcoat
Deforge		Richardson
	Forwards.
S. Laing		M. Dobbin
C. Best		R. Dobbin
Dingman		Cressman
Wallace		Hurston
MacRae		Baker
Crough		Coleman
Coleman		Robertson

The score was three—one in favor of the winners, at the call of time.

HOW WISE MEN MAKE MONEY VERY FAST

By buying Land in the way of a growing city, you convert your dollar into hundreds and your hundreds into thousands. The more you buy the more money you must make. A friend of mine bought land at $100 per acre 10 miles outside the limits of Chicago and less than 20 years after sold it for $5,000 per acre, making $4,900 profit per acre. I offer you Land on "Western Ave." 1 mile outside Peterborough limits and in the way of its most rapid growth, in blocks of 8 lots 50x140 ft. for $75 per lot and only ask you to pay $10 cash and $5 per month. This is your opportunity to convert a few dollars into hundreds. Within a few years these lots will sell for from $300 to $400 each and perhaps for double my estimate. Build a house or I will build one for you, plant your garden and you are on the high road to a rich and happy man. I await your call and will guide you right.

Advertising Peterborough In the British Isles

Copy of the Review Sent to Booking Agent at Thurso Scotland, is the Means of Bringing a Number of Immigrants to This District.

Newspaper publicity is a sure getter of results. Mr. G. H. Howson, the local immigration agent, has just been furnished an evidence of this, and is gratified with the result. A few weeks ago an article appeared in the Review, based on information secured from Mr. Howson, to the effect that there was a good opening at Peterborough and vicinity for placing a large number of suitable immigrants from the Old Country. Mr. Howson sent copies of the paper to a large number of the immigration booking agencies in the Old Country ,and yesterday he received the following letter from one of them, John Keith & Co., of Thurso, Scotland:—

G. H. Howson,
Immigration Agent,
Peterborough, Canada

"Sir,—I received copy of Daily Evening Review, and I may say that I have booked for sailing, 1st and 8th of June, a number of ploughmen, as follows:—

Seven single men.
One married man, wife and child.
One married man, wife only.

One married man, aged 39, with son 20 years of age. This man's wife and two grown up daughters and six small children (the eldest of the six is 10 years old), are to follow the husband in the spring of next year.

Mr. Howson expects that these people will arrive in Peterborough about June 20th. They are apparently of a most desirable class and should make good citizens. The local immigration office is besieged with requests for men and the demand cannot be met. Mr. Howson believes in advertising Peterborough in the Old Country. The people there who are immigrating to Canada know but little about the geography of this country and naturally buy their tickets for the larger cities, those being the only places they have ever heard about. When they know that there are good openings at Peterborough many of them will buy tickets for here with the result that farmers and others in Peterborough county will be able to secure men.

Land Confiscation Declared To be Illegal and Unfair

Mr. Borden Voices Protest of Ontario Against Land Grab.

Hon. Mr. Fielding Says Government Is Not Concerned What Becomes of Licensees — Dr. Sproule Calls It Robbery — Port Hope's Trouble—Discrimination is Charged—More Estimates—$31,000,000 Voted.

Ottawa, April 25.—The House yesterday afternoon passed bills providing for the harbors at Montreal and Quebec.

In committee re the bill to increase the borrowing powers of the Quebec harbor commissioners, Mr. Fielding stated that the amount that had been advanced was $3,979,645, but in addition to that the arrears of interest up to June 30 last were $2,506,326, and some interest had accrued since then. It was now proposed to loan an additional $800,000 to enable the commissioners to carry on the works and to give the proposed bonds a priority.

Mr. Foster complained of lack of information regarding Quebec harbor. They ought to know how much had been expended by the Government, and how the $800,000 was to be expended. Mr. Fielding said that whatever scandals had occurred in connection with Quebec harbor had taken place under the last Government, and not under the present.

R. L. Borden did not object to the equipping of national harbors, but he would like to see promiscuous borrowing replaced by a definite policy. He thought that there should be some Government inspection of these works.

No Two-Cent Rate.

By agreement between Hon. Mr Fielding and R. L. Borden, there was formally submitted to the House months ago, declaring "that it is expedient that the Board of Railway Commissioners for Canada to enquire determine and report with the least possible delay whether or not the tolls charged in standard passenger tariffs should be reduced so as not to exceed two cents per mile upon all pr any of the railways of Canada."

An amendment was at that time proposed by Mr. Emmerson declaring that, as the railway commission is already making such investigation, no action of the Government is necessary. Upon division, the amendment carried by a party vote—yeas, 36, nays 96.

Port Hope's Trouble.

Upon motion to go into supply Col. Ward (Durham) complained of the Government's discrimination against Port Hope, and in favor of Cobourg. The G. T. R. carry ferry from Charlotte, N. Y., is to come to Cobourg, instead of to Port Hope. The Government, said Mr. Ward, had spent large sums on the harbor and piers at Cobourg to bring this about. The obvious reason, he submitted, was to be found in the fact that electors of Durham rejected Hon. A. B. Aylesworth as a candidate for Parliament. The Ministry had threatened to give Port Hope an "object lesson," and Port Hope was certainly getting it.

Mr. Ward also touched on the terminus of the Trent Canal. The Government was giving Port Hope another "object lesson" as a punishment for defeating Mr. Aylesworth.

Fisher Defends.

Mr. Fisher defended the Government. There was, he declared, no political end to this matter. As a matter of business, the Cobourg harbor was more easily improved. Reports on file in the department showed this to be true.

Aylesworth Denies.

Mr. Aylesworth arose and denied that he had threatened to give Durham County an object lesson if that county defeated him for Parliament. He was proud of the large vote which he polled in 1904. He had carried his he polled in 1904. He had carried the Town of Port Hope by 124 majority. The discrimination by the Government against Port Hope did not result from any motives of spite on his part. As to the Port Hope terminus of the Trent Canal, Mr. Aylesworth denied that he had buncoed the constituency. He had published Sir Wilfrid Laurier's letters in good faith.

The Land Grab.

At the evening session of the House R. L. Borden voiced the protest of Ontario against the recent confiscation of 69,000 acres of land at Petawawa. The action of the Dominion Government, he said, was unjustifiable If Sir Frederick Borden was right, then all the crown lands of Ontario could be appropriated without compensation.

Mr. Fielding replied that Quebec had offered the land free of charge to the Dominion Government, but the Ross Government, in Ontario, had asked the militia department to take this land in Ontario, which the province offered to lease for 99 years at a merely nominal rent.

Mr. R. L. Borden: "What was to become of the licensees?"

Mr. Fielding: "That was no concern of ours."

Mr. Fielding pleaded for a free hand for the militia department. Our army was small, but it must be made efficient. If Ontario was entitled to compensation, this Government would gladly settle. He charged that the Ontario Government was not acting in good faith.

Mr. Alcorn (P. E. Co.) defended the Whitney Government, and Dr. Sproule delivered a scathing arraignment of the Laurier Government.

"Why is it," he asked, "that in the Northwest, when lands are taken, the timber licensees are compensated, but when Ontario lands are taken they are robbed by the Government?"

More Estimates.

The House went into supply and passed a big batch of estimates, including $28,000,000 for the Transcontinental Railway. Thirty-one million dollars were voted in 68 minutes, the Opposition, apparently, being as anxious as the Government to get the estimates passed.

Boy of 13 Suicides.

Brockville, April 25.—The lifeless body of Ernest Perry, aged 13 years, was found hanging from a beam in a barn at Pitcairn Tuesday.

The parents of the boy are dead, and he had been making his home with a family at Pitcairn. It is alleged that he wanted to borrow a fishpole, and, on being refused, became downhearted. He took the pole, broke it in two and then went and hanged himself.

ANNUAL CONCERT GREAT SUCCESS

Girls' Guild of St. John's Held Entertainment

St. John's school room was well filled last evening with an appreciative audience, the occasion being the annual entertainment of the Girl's Auxiliary, and it was a decided success in every way. Miss B. Dawson, who had charge of the affair, deserves great credit for her untiring efforts towards providing an enjoyable evening for all who were fortunate enough to be present.

Miss Pratt, the president of the society assisted, Miss Dawson.

A candy table, in charge of Mrs. Jas. Canniff, was well patronized. A fish pond proved to be a great attraction for the younger folk.

Shortly after eight o'clock, the programme was commenced. Mr. F. D. Kerr acted as chairman, and with a few appropriate remarks, introduced the following excellent programme.—

Selection, violin and piano — Master Cyril H. Devey and Mr. R. J. Devey.
Piano Solo—Mrs. A. W. Turner.
Song—Mr. McLaren.
Reading—Mr. Geo. Lynch.
Song—Miss Ruth Dawson.
Song—Mr. G. Chandler.
Recitation—Miss C. Barton.
Piano Selection—Misses English.
Song—Mr. Freeland.
Song—Miss B. King.
Piano Solo—Mr. W. Bennett.
Musical Sketch, "The Family Doctor"—Mrs. R. J. Devey, Mrs. W. A. Greenslade, Mr. G. Chandler, and Mr. N. Greenhalgh.

The different numbers were received with loud applause and nearly everyone was forced to respond to an encore.

Mr. Geo. Lynch's recitation, "Mon Frere Camille" from Dr. Drummond's "Habitant" created much amusement As an encore he recited "Kelly's Dream."

The vocal selections were particularly good and received much applause.

The musical sketch "The Family Doctor" was exceedingly well put on and was one of the best numbers of the evening.

After the programme, refreshments were served by the ladies and a social time spent. The refreshments were in charge of Miss Layfield.

The singing of the National Anthem closed a very pleasant and enjoyable evening.

Can't Wash Them Out

No other method of home dyeing ever devised gives colors one-half so fast, brilliant, and handsome as DIAMOND DYES.

Each of the fifty colors of DIAMOND DYES give full, bright and fashionable shades that strong sunlight will not fade nor soapsuds wash out, two things that are not true of the adulterated and common dyes sold by some merchants for the sake of larger profits.

When buying dyes for home coloring work, see that your merchant hands you the DIAMOND DYES. If he recommends other dyes, he does so for his own profit.

If your merchant is out of any special color of DIAMOND DYES, write to us for them, stating what material you wish to color—all wool, silk cotton or mixed goods. Price for all colors of DIAMOND DYES, ten cent each.

"Progress" Replies to His Critics

Says That all Tagless Dogs Should be Put Out of Existence

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I have read the various comments, frantic, hysteric and otherwise on my letter re the dog nuisance. Some of these writers evidently mistake statement for argument and premises for proof.

Perhaps the most absurd statement is that by Dr. Poole, "that unless a tax is paid for flower beds they have no right to protection." and asks if I pay a tax.

Well I do. I pay in the neighborhood of $100.00 per year into the City Treasury, and it entitles me to protection for my property, whether grass, flowers or garden produce is grown.

In addition my neighbors and I contribute to the creditable appearance of the city, make it a still more desirable and attractive place of residence, stimulate its ethical tastes, and inspire the co-operative efforts of refined citizenship, whether in cottage or mansion by the cultivation of beautiful surroundings, restful and educative alike to rich or poor. Would we accomplish as much for the community by building dog proof fences, and raising a few pups. The fact that a tax of $1.00 is levied on dogs proves that limitation is necessary. This tax is inadequate. It should at least, be $5.00 and dogs unaccompanied by owners, not allowed to roam at large, also owners to be liable for any damage to person or property.

Another critic thinks I have never been outside the corporation, therefore densely ignorant (rather hard on the old citizens), but to relieve his anxiety, I may say I have lived several years in Toronto and New York, two years of that time in one of New York's beautiful residential suburbs, and my experience in these places confirms my belief that Peterborough is fast becoming a veritable dog resort.

The other morning on my way to the office I saw a drove of nine dogs on Simcoe street, dash into a cottage yard and were only expelled by vigorous doses of water.

Personally I am fond of dogs, and have owned some good ones, but I draw the line at this luxury, when it seriously and harmfully affects my neighbors.

We are paying taxes for our grounds and using them to both private and public advantage. We have therefore a superior and unquestionable claim for civic protection from what "Sufferer" terms the "remarkably selfish owners of dogs." A flower bed is a more valuable asset to a urban community than a dog.

If the doctor would pay a little more attention to civic taste, buy a package of flower seeds, and cultivate them, I am quite sure he will not advocate dog proof fences, or even "moats" in the future.

If the dog owners will build the fence and keep their family pet inside of it, all right, but why in the name of justice or reason, must I spend $100 and then have to disfigure my property to protect myself against an unjust immunity, that my neighbor can procure for $1.00 Verily licensed evils are the most unfair.

Even the fence is no protection to my family when on the street. Many women are exceedingly fearful of dogs. Of course, "they ought not to be" but that does not change the fact. Which then should have the preference of civic protection?

I reiterate the fact that we live in relation to the community, we are not good citizens if we cause our neighbor continued inconvenience, expense and injury, for the mere selfish pleasure of having a dog that is not properly restrained.

I do not infer that all dog owners claim all territory that is "not properly fenced."

Many owners have an adequate regard and exercise reasonable care. If all owners acted thus, there would be no epidemic of self defence.

In the absence of any legal redress, it is up to our aldermen to provide this necessary restraint and protection that the best interests of the community demand.

All tagless dogs should be put out of existence. It is a well known fact that many people do not own a dog during the assessors visit. The existence of these is to a very large extent the cause of present conditions and a "very real nuisance."

The case is well put by "Sufferer" "What is the sense of offering prizes for well kept gardens and lawns, and at the same time permitting them to be ruined by dogs."

Yours in the interests of co-operative citizenship and a beautiful city.

PROGRESS.

Handsome Gift to Popular Lady

Miss C. E. Purser Honored by St. Matthew's Church, Hall's Bridge

A pleasant event took place Wednesday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. E. J. Cookson, 508 Aylmer street, city, after the nuptials of Miss Charlotte E. Purser of Hall's Bridge, and Mr. Henry Elliott, of Islay, Alberta, when the bride was presented with an appreciative address, accompanied by a beautiful silver tea set, from the congregation of, St. Matthew's churhc, Hall's Bridge, in which church she has ably filled the position of organist for many years, and been a devoted worker. Mr. A. Bagshaw, reader, read the following address,—

Miss Charlotte E. Purser.

Dear Miss Purser,—We the members of St. Matthew's church, cannot allow you to sever your connection with our congregation, without an expression of the esteem and regard in which you are held by all of us.

You have been our organist since the church was built, and your faithful attendance and your careful attention to your sacred duties have helped us to render the beautiful services of our church in an appropriate manner.

In all branches of work in the parish, you have taken a leading part and it is largely due to your efforts that we are now free from mortgage debt, and will be able to turn our financial efforts towards other and more congenial objects.

We wish you rich blessing and great happiness in your new home, and wherever you may be, remember you leave warm and affectionate hearts behind you.

We ask you to accept this gift as a slight memento of your friends in this community.

Its value consists, not in its intrinsic worth but in the kind sentiments which accompany it.

Our prayers will follow you.

Signed on behalf of the congregation.

A. BAGSHAW,
Lay Reader.
W. J. McILMOYLE,
R. T. HILL,
Church Wardens.

Rev. Canon Davidson made the presentation of a silver tea service from the members of Hall's Bridge and vicinity. In doing so he referred to the high esteem in which Miss Purser was held by the people and how much her valued services would be missed. She had done much to advance the interest and welfare of the church and her work was greatly appreciated. She had been most faithful and attentive and was a member of a highly respected family, that had long been identified with the progress of the community and all would join in wishing her every success and happiness in her new home.

Mr. E. J. Cookson replied on behalf of the bride, warmly thanking her friends for the mark of kindness and esteem. She would long remember this and other evidences of good will and appreciation from the people of Hall's Bridge and her best wishes would always go out for the success and prosperity of St. Matthew's church, and the people of Hall's Bridge and vicinity.

ATTENDANCE WAS DISAPPOINTING

Small Crowd Marred Success of Boxing and Wrestling Tournament

Owing to the small attendance of spectators the boxing and wrestling bouts in the old opera house last night were not a success. About a hundred were in attendance and, of course the receipts were not large enough to provide the purses that were necessary and two of the boxing bouts were called off and one of those put on was only a friendly exhibition. The feature of the evening was the wrestling bout between Kid Dunn, of Toronto, 145 pound champion of Canada, and Harry Burridge, of Peterborough. Burridge struggled gamely, but was not a match for the Toronto boy in the fine points of the game and Dunn took the first fall in three minutes and the second in six. The winner was required to get two or three falls within an hour and the strangle, full Nelson and hammerlock holds were barred. Dunn got the first on a crutch and bar hold and the second with a half Nelson. The time was three and six minutes respectively. Mr. Gene Hurtubise acted as referee and gave every satisfaction. Dunn is one of the cleverest boys that has ever been seen here. He is as slippery as an eel and several times wriggled out of Burridge's clutches when it looked, as if the local boy had him.

Tommy Daly, of Toronto, and Cornie Burns, of Peterborough, boxed four rounds, no decision being given, according to agreement made before going in the ring. Tommy Lasten, of Toronto, who was to have gone six rounds with Kid Lovett, of Ottawa, was unable to be present and his place was taken by Charlie Christie, of Toronto, the 118 pound amateur champion of Canada. He and Lovett only boxed four rounds and it was only a friendly exhibition as the gate receipts did not make it possible to make up the purse that had been promised.

Billy Myers, of Peterborough, and Jack Brown, of Lindsay, were to have gone four rounds and Jack O'Neill and Jim Downey, of Peterborough were to have gone a similar number, but both bouts had to be called off. Billy Breen gave satisfaction as referee for the two boxing bouts.

BURNS AND DALY.

There was little to choose between Burns and Daly. Burns was the aggressor throughout and landed more frequently than his opponent, but the Toronto boy guarded himself well and Burns could not land in an effective spot. The third and fourth rounds were lively and Daly went to the floor once or twice, but the blows were body ones and did not even make him groggy. Both men were on their feet at the end of the four rounds.

CHRISTY-LOVETT.

The Christy-Lovett bout was a somewhat tame affair. Neither man showed a desire to mix it up and the four rounds were consumed in nothing more than sparring. Christie was easily the better and could have dropped his man any time if he so desired. He landed on Lovett almost at will but put no steam in the blows.

It is regrettable that there was not a large attendance. Billy Breen, who arranged the tournament, did everything in his power to have everything on the square and to provide first class sport, but apparently the Peterborough public does not care for events of this kind.

Special to the Review.

Omemee, April 24.—A cricket club was organized here last night. There was a large attendance of the old-time sports, who are very enthusiastic over the prospects for the year. Later on efforts will be made to have the Peterborough and other other teams visit the town. The locals have several good players and it is felt that they will make good with clubs from outside places.

The following officers were elected:

SENTENCED FOR MURDER.

Sailor Gets Twenty-Five Years For Killing Master-at-Arms.

New York, April 25.—Twenty-five years' imprisonment, 20 of which shall be at hard labor, is the sentence of the court-martial which recently tried Maurice Burke, a seaman attached to the cruiser Tennessee, for murdering James A. Douglass, chief master-at-arms, and assaulting and attempting to kill William McCool, master-at-arms, both of that vessel.

Burke's crime was committed on the night of Feb. 6 last, while the Tennessee was lying at the League Island navy yard, Philadelphia. He returned intoxicated after being given shore leave, and when summoned before his superiors, drew a revolver, killing Douglass and wounding McCool.

Frank Miner Found Guilty.

Binghamton, N. Y., April 25.—The jury in the trial of Frank Miner, charged with the murder of James Aaron Tobey, at Vestal, on Oct. 25, by shooting and then firing the house into which Tobey's body was dragged after death, to consume the remains, brought in a verdict yesterday afternoon of murder in the second degree.

FIREMEN HAD HARD FIGHT.

Overcome by Poisonous Fumes on Burning Freight Steamer.

New York, April 25.—The harbor firemen had a hard fight yesterday, with a fire which destroyed the freight steamer Pioneer, causing a loss of $75,000. The Pioneer arrived here Tuesday night from Newark, N. J., with a miscellaneous cargo of cotton, jute, red lead, cylinders of oil, carboys of acid, and cylinders of carbonic acid gas for trans-shipment. The fire started while the steamer was lying at her pier in the North River. When the fire boats arrived she was almost entirely enveloped in flames. The noxious fumes and dense, black smoke which rolled up from the burning steamer made the firemen's work extremely difficult. They worked in relays, and several of them were overcome. The flames were prevented from spreading to the pier and other adjoining property.

NATIONAL BOARD OF TRADE.

Should Have One With Office In Old London.

Ottawa, April 25.—At the meeting of the board of trade, the president, J. W. Woods, suggested that the Ottawa Board of Trade should become a national one, and one through which Dominion trade suggestions might emanate to the Government and mother country.

He suggested an office in the British capital, at which reliable information could be obtained regarding Canada and her affairs. He claimed that the laws of Quebec were more generous than those of Ontario to businesses.

STRANGLED HIMSELF.

Berlin Tanner Ends His Life After His Arrest.

Berlin, April 25.—Michael Schaefer, tanner, about 61 years of age, who had been arrested by Chief O'Neill Tuesday evening for brutally assaulting his wife and family, while intoxicated, committed suicide shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday morning by strangling himself with the aid of his necktie. He was found about 3.30 o'clock by Constable Gerbigan lifeless. An inquest will be held.

Must Face a Jury.

Orangeville, April 25.—Walter Jackson, charged with being implicated in the death of his sister-in-law, Lizzie Wells, last summer, was brought before Judge McCarthy, who considered it a case for investigation before a jury, and declined to allow Jackson to re-elect to be tried before him. The case will therefore be heard before Chief Justice Falconbridge at the Assizes on the 13th of May next. Frank E. Hodgins, K. C., will represent the crown and James Walter Curry, K. C., with C. R McKeown, will have charge of the defence.

Arthur C. Douglass, the druggist who is accused in connection with the affair, will receive his preliminary hearing on May 20, and his case will likely be disposed of at the quarter sessions, which begin on June 11.

Jackson was readmitted to bail in the sum of $4,000.

Charge Failed.

Chatham, April 25.—At the spring assizes of the county court of justice here yesterday, Richard Bartram, aged 24, married, of St. Thomas, was acquitted of a charge preferred against him by Mrs. Edward McLean, of Tilbury.

Bartram testified that he did not even leave his engine on the night in question.

New York, April 25.—A despatch from Santiago de Cuba says: Antonio Infante, a negro, is dead, at the age of 150 years.

Despite his great age, the greatest recorded in modern times, he retained all his faculties unimpaired to the end.

Notorious Brigand Captured.

Possibly these frequent earthquakes are caused by the earth's spasmodic efforts to warm itself up a little.

Building Permits are Ready; Will be Issued by City Clerk

Building permits and application forms have been printed for the city and City Clerk Armstrong is all ready to start his new duties. Any one building, intending to build or to make repairs to their house, business place, sheds or barns will receive a permit by calling on the city clerk and filling out the proper application form. No building may be erected or repaired unless such permit has been secured.

This is the new by-law which Ald. Johnston has advocated for the past two or three years and which the Property committee took hold of this year. By its enforcement the city officials will be able to give a pretty good estimate as to the amount of money spent during the year in building operations and also which sections of the city are developing the most rapidly.

The permit is printed on a piece of red card board which is to be tacked in a conspicuous place on the building being erected or repaired, and it is a guarantee upon the part of the builder that all work will be in conformity with the building by-law.

The application form must be filled out before the permit is granted. It will give the name and street address of the owner, what the permit is for, the material used and the thickness of the foundation, outside and inside walls, number of stories, number of rooms, the plumbing, roof, interior finish and number of fire places and grates; also the estimated cost and when it will be completed, and the names of the architect and contractor.

The contractors and the owners of buildings now in course of construction will kindly get busy and secure their permits and thus avoid any trouble or inconvenience.

AMUSEMENTS

STORY OF "THE BELLS"

The power of the still small voice of conscience is the sermon so eloquently preached in that splendid drama of "The Bells," which will be presented by Thomas E. Shea at the Grand opera house Monday, April 29. The character of Mathias is one of Mr. Shea's strongest portrayals.

The story of "The Bells" is, of course, too widely known to be repeated here; let it suffice to say that in the last act Mr. Shea covers himself with fresh laurels, where he dreams he is under the influence of the mesmerist who makes him confess to the murder of the Polish Jew. His work in this scene is little short of marvelous. He doesn't make Mathias the hardened criminal as portrayed by other artists, who have essayed this difficult part, but a man who is bowed down by remorse for the enormity of his deed, and thereby wins for the character the sympathy of his audience rather than its contempt.

The play is well mounted, special scenery and pretty costumes being carried for every act. In fact, the managers guiding the tour of this popular actor, have given careful attention to every detail.

Tuesday evening Mr. Shea will present a stirring military drama, "Napoleon the Great," which was written especially for him by Charming Pollock.

LAST RESTING PLACE

The Funeral of the Late Robert N. Roddy Was Largely Attended

The remains of the late Robert N. Roddy were borne to their last resting place in Little Lake cemetery yesterday afternoon, and were followed by a large number of friends, who paid a last token of respect to the memory of the deceased. Members from the Royal Black Preceptory, the 'Prentice Boys, True Blues and the local Orange lodges attended in a body. The Black Preceptory had charge of the funeral. Rev. A. H. Brace conducted the service. Sir Knight George Bartley was master of ceremonies. Messrs. Sir Knights Jos. Batten, Geo. Crowe, Wm. Jones, H. T. Everett, W. A. Kindred and Jas. Garside were the pall bearers. The floral tributes were beautiful and numerous testifying to the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

WEDDING BELLS

CAMPBELL—HUMPHRIES

A pretty wedding took place last evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Humphries, ... Lang, when their daughter, Miss Jean Humphries, was married to Mr. Robt. H. Campbell general merchant, of Keene. The ceremony was performed in the presence of about sixty invited guests by Rev. D. D. MacDonald, pastor of the Presbyterian church, Keene. The bride was beautifully attired in white silk, and wore the customary veil and orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of bridal roses. Miss Ray Humphries, sister of the bride, played the wedding march.

The bridal couple were unattended. Mr. and Mrs. Campbell will reside in Keene, and many friends will join in wishing the popular young couple every success and prosperity.

A large number of artistic and attractive presents testified in no unmistakable manner the esteem and respect in which the bride is held.

After the ceremony the guests sat down to a choice wedding repast, and hearty congratulations were bestowed upon Mr. and Mrs. Campbell.

Presentation to Popular Member

Mr. Louis Leclaire Honored by Knights of Columbus

Mr. Louis Leclaire, who for several years has been connected with the Kingan Hardware Company, has accepted a position as traveller with Lewis Bros., a big Montreal wholesale hardware house, and will assume his new duties on May 1st. Mr. Leclaire has not yet arranged where his headquarters will be, but if possible they will be at Peterborough.

In view of the fact that Mr. Leclaire's new position will entail his absence from the city to a great extent, he was honored last night by the Knights of Columbus, of which he was a popular member. He was presented with a handsome gold ring, engraved with the insignia of the order. The presentation was made by Mr. D. O'Connell, state deputy, who in doing so referred to the esteem in which Mr. Leclaire was held among the Knights and the valuable service he had given to the order. They all regretted that he would be absent from Peterborough a great deal when he assumed his new duties, but they hoped that he would be able to drop in and see them occasionally.

Mr. Leclaire made an appropriate reply in which he thanked the Knights for the honor done him and for the handsome gift.

A pleasant social time was afterwards spent.

Mr. Leclaire's many friends in Peterborough will be glad to hear of his success, although regretting his departure from the city.

Six Years in the Penitentiary Is Sentence of Fred Chambers

The Prisoner Who Stabbed Three Men in the Royal Hotel Last Week Took His Sentence Calmly—Pleaded Guilty to Three Charges of Wounding—Chambers Has Bad Record.

Six years in the Kingston Penitentiary was the sentence imposed upon Fred Chambers alias Frank Cameron, to-day by His Worship Magistrate Dumble, for wounding Levi Thorndyke, Pat. King and Gilbert Blezard at the Royal hotel on April 17th.

His Worship Magistrate Dumble addressed Cameron as follows:—There are three charges against you for wounding. You have pleaded guilty. There is nothing that I can find which would justify you in drawing a knife. Your past record is very bad. You have been in the reformatory and penitentiary on previous occasions. There is evidently no hope for your reform.

In the Thorndyke case the judgment of the court is three years in Kingston penitentiary.

To this the prisoner replied "That is pretty hard your Worship," but the magistrate replied, "The way of transgressor is hard."

In the case of Patrick King you also will receive three years at Kingston, following that of the first term. In the Blezard case you are also sentenced to three years to run concurrently with the sentence in the King case.

His Worship dismissed the case of Cameron assaulting P.C. Mcharry whilst being arrested. Mr. Dumble thought it was done in a frenzy of madness.

The prisoner received his sentence calmly and did not seem to be moved at all by it. All he said was the foregoing words. Chambers was remanded a week ago that all possible information might be learned of his past reputation. Chief Roszel was in communication with the Chief of Police in Toronto and yesterday received the following letter:—

Re Fred Chambers alias F. Cameron.

Sir,—In reply to your letter of 19th inst., respecting the above. I would inform you that he has been identified by the members of this department as Fred Chambers, whose criminal record is as follows:—Nov. 5th, 1889, convicted of theft and committed to the reformatory for 4 years. March 10, 1899, convicted of attempted robbery with violence, committed to Kingston Penitentiary for ten years.

I would also say that since his release from penitentiary he has been associating with professional thieves, and has been suspected of having taken part in a number of recent robberies which have occurred here.

Your obedient servant,

H. J. GRASSETT,
Chief Constable,
Toronto.

Wm. McGee Arrested To-day on Suspicion of Midnight Hold-up

Wm. McGee, of this city, was arrested to-day at noon, it being alleged that he is the man who attempted to hold up Jas. Reid, who carries His Majesty's mails, the night before last. McGee was a witness in the Royal hotel case this morning and Reid was in the court room listening to the evidence. He at once identified McGee as the man with whom he had the fight the other night. When the people were leaving the court Mr. Reid informed P.C. Newhall that McGee was the man they were looking for. P.C. Newhall and P.C. Meharry at once ran down the street and arrested McGee who had not gone far. He was brought back and locked up. It is said he made a statement confessing his guilt. He has a cut over his left eye which very likely was inflicted by the lock on the mail bag. A special sitting of the court was held this afternoon at 3 o'clock, when McGee appeared before His Worship Magistrate Dumble.

PLEADED GUILTY

Later—Wm. McGee, the prisoner, came up at four o'clock this afternoon before Mr. Dumble, on the charge of assaulting Jas. Reid, the mail driver. McGee pleaded guilty and was fined $5—the fine to be paid within ten days.

C.P.R. Negotiating to Purchase Owen Sound and Meaford R. R.

Will be Connected With the New Victoria Harbor Road Near Peterborough—Conference Was Held This Week.

Special to the Review.

Toronto, Ont., April 25.—It is reported the Canadian Pacific Railway is negotiating to secure the charter of the Owen Sound & Meaford Railway Co., which road is yet to be built, but which has been subsided by the Dominion Government to the extent of $96,000. The proposal is to build the road from Owen Sound taking in Meaford and Smith's Falls and running south of Lake Simcoe form a junction somewhere near Peterborough with the proposed Victoria Harbor line. This would give the Canadian Pacific access to three Georgian Bay ports, and also would give Collingwood a Canadian Pacific connection. A conference was held this week between Canadian Pacific officials and Mr. J. J McLauchlan, of Owen Sound, President of the Owen Sound & Meaford Railway.

Charge Dismissed by Magistrate

Evidence Heard on the Royal Hotel Case To-day of "Disorderly" House

The charge against James Kelly, proprietor of the Royal Hotel, for keeping a disorderly house, was proceeded with this morning. Mr. R. F. McWilliams, counsel for the defendant said that the chief had furnished him with two dates, but he objected to the charge that the general reputation was that of a disorderly house. The two dates on which Chief Roszel claimed the house was disorderly were April 3rd and 17th. A large number of witnesses were called, about twenty-five names being read out at the beginning of the case. The charge was dismissed, there not being enough evidence to make out a case.

P.C. Meharry was the first witness. He gave evidence as follows, — On April 3rd, I was called to the Royal Hotel, between six and eight o'clock p.m. The glass was broken in the front door. There was a man in the yard badly cut. There was blood on the floor. There had been a fight on, but it was all over when I got there. Mr. Kelly was behind the bar. Kelly said that he did not know who was fighting. There was a bunch of them. We get more calls to this hotel than any other in the city. On the street this hotel is called "the slaughter house." Others call it "the tub of blood." On Wednesday, April 3rd, six fellows were charged with disorderly conduct at the Royal, and on April 8th, they were convicted and fined. I have been called there about four times since Mr. Kelly went there." P. C. Newhall said "I was not called to Kelly's this month, but there are a great many more calls to this hotel than any other. I know of two calls I had to the house within three months, not before spoken of.

Jas. O'Keefe, the next witness said that he lived on Lansdowne street. He was on the premises of the Royal on April 17th. He knew little of the row. He was busy at the time building a foundation. He saw a man forcing his way through the door.

Mr. Ben Cushing was working at the Royal on the 17th. He heard a row. He saw a man come out the back, bleeding. He saw King, who was drunk.

Mr. Jos. Stewart, license inspector, said that Mr. Kelly had been in the hotel four months. He hadn't seen any rows. The general reputation of the house is that of a disorderly one.

KING ON THE STAND.

Mr. Patrick King next took the stand. He said, "I am a tool maker. I have boarded at the Royal for three months. The row on the 17th, started in the bar room. Someone shouted for police. I went into the bar. I then saw Cameron. He was slashing around with his knife. I remember the row on the third of April. I haven't seen anything very bad going on at the Royal. Mr. Kelly was always trying to preserve peace.

Mr. Wm. McGee said that he lived in this city. He knew Mr. Kelly. He was present on the third of April when a row occurred. It started in the bar, and Mr. Kelly put the disturbers all out. Everybody who wanted to fight had to get out.

Mr Oscar Hallihan also gave evidence concerning the row on the third of April.

The other witnesses were not called.

CASE DISMISSED.

His Worship said that the rows on April 3rd and 17th, were cases where Mr. Kelly had done what he could to put the fighters out. The first one where a number of fellows came to town, and got drunk, and figured in a fight. The second one was where a man entered the hotel and picked a fight with anyone he could. He dismissed the case.

A STATEMENT.

Mr. Jas. Kelly, the proprietor of the Royal, desired to make the following statement, regarding the row of the 17th inst. It is as follows,—On the occasion of the row with Cameron on the 17th, I was eating my dinner. Someone came and told me about Cameron and Thorndyke. I put Cameron out and told his friend to get out also. Cameron came in again at the front door. I told him to go out or I would have him arrested. Cameron said "You wouldn't have the police come up here would you." I said "Certainly I would. He then stepped back and pulled out his knife. He was drunk, but got no drinks in my house. Cameron threatened to cut me, if I spoke to him again. The police were phoned for. Thorndyke was first. The one attacked Cameron knocked Thorndyke down. Blezard went to raise Thorndyke, and Cameron struck him. King came in and tried to advise the desperate man, but he turned on King and slashed him. Cameron came up to Kelly, who drove him back with a beer bottle. Cameron told me if it took him six months, he would shoot me.

CLEANING THE STREETS AGAIN

Rain Last Night Was Fortunate for the Street Commissioner

After a couple of weeks' delay, caused by the dry, cold weather, Street Commissioner Evans was able to get his men to work on George street again. This road was only scraped once this year, and before the frost was out of the ground the weather became fine and the mud dried up. To-day, however, the gang are giving the sides of the road a thorough cleaning, and it is not expected that there will be any trouble now in keeping it clean. Not only will George street be cleaned, but every street in the city, as long as the roads keep wet so that a hoe can be used. The rain last night was just heavy enough to suit the street commissioner, and he sincerely hopes that the weather will remain stationary for a few days.

Those who need doors will appreciate the chance. In order to do the thing up in good shape they have permanently in charge of the wood work department, Mr. Angus McIntosh and will make frames at low prices for any purchasers of doors bought on above dates. The sale being a special one the terms are spot cash.

Mr. Alfred Welbourn Leaving the City

Mr. Alfred Welbourn, who has been an employee of the Grand Trunk for the past twenty-six years, has severed his connection with that company, and leaves in a few days to accept a good position as foreman of a lifting gang on a new railway line in New Ontario. Mr. Welbourn has been a resident of Peterborough for several years, coming here from Keene, where for a number of years he was foreman of the section gang. He entered the service of the G.T.R. at Foxboro twenty-six years ago and has been with them ever since.

There is no change in the strike situation at Ackerman's. The strikers' places have not yet been filled, although it is said that this will be done as soon as possible.

Signalling Class Had Examinations

Were Conducted at Drill Hall Last Night—A Social Time

The examinations for the members of the signalling class were conducted at the drill hall last night by Sergeant - Instructor McGowan, of Kingston. The exams consisted of practical work, and the answering of questions orally and on paper. The class is composed of about twenty-five members and it was after eleven o'clock before the examinations were over. The results will not be known for several weeks, as the papers have to go to Ottawa and Kingston to be examined.

After the work of the evening was over a jolly, social time was spent in the mess room. A toast to the signalling instructors, Sergeants Crowley McGowan and Lieut. Stroud, was proposed by Capt. Walker and responded to by neat speeches from Lieut. Stroud and Sergeant McGowan. The instructors are all very popular with the members of the class and the officers of the regiment generally.

Lieut. Stroud and Sergeant Crowley left for Kingston at noon to-day.

TWO HOUSES SOLD

Mr. J. E. McIlmoyle, a well known contractor of this city, has disposed of his two fine, brick houses at the corner of Charlotte and St. Joseph's Streets. These houses were built last summer and are fitted up with all modern conveniences. The one on the corner, which is the largest was sold a short while ago to Mr. W. O. Labelle of Bowmanville. Mr. Labelle has accepted a position with the Kingan Hardware Co. and will arrive in the city in a few weeks and take up residence at the corner of Charlotte and St. Joseph's streets. The price paid was in the neighborhood of $3,600. The other house, next to the one on the corner has also been disposed of.

Mr. McIlmoyle has two more houses on Gilmour street, in the course of erection, which when finished will be very fine residences.

Why the Silence of Sir Wilfrid?

Premier Has Nothing to Say on Imperial Defence Scheme

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—It must be a matter of grave misgiving to every Liberal, as well as to every Conservative in this city, that Sir Wilfrid Laurier should have fallen short in their expectations in the Imperial Conference now going on in London.

For years it has been plain that Sir Wilfrid has been fencing regarding Imperial questions. His sphinx-like attitude has been put down to supreme wisdom, and his little utterances made as asides have been given the weight of his real opinion.

Now, however, the whole idea of the man is laid bare. He is dead against the solidity of the Empire, and with his accustomed cunning, he has laid it all at the door of Bourassa and others. It is impossible for anybody to shut his eyes any longer to the fact that Sir Wilfrid is playing to Quebec. The English press may not say much on this matter, not being desirous of offending the French Canadians. Bourassa has, however, turned on Sir Wilfrid, and the cat is now out of the bag. It is Quebec, first, last and all the time with Sir Wilfrid. He relies upon that province for his majority and is making his speeches to suit the French Canadians. He will yet be exposed as the chief stumbling block to the formation of the Empire.

Yours, etc.,
ELECTOR.

Chemong Indian at Welcome To Winner of Marathon Race

Running Deer, an old time runner from the Chemong reserve, was one of the prominent Indians at Toronto to welcome Longboat. Running Deer, as a runner, is well known among the Indians and in his day he had them all beaten. The Toronto News in speaking of the reception at the city hall Toronto, last night said:

"It was a Mafeking multitude of people which awaited Longboat's arrival at City Hall. The building was illuminated from basement to turret. At half past seven about three hundred people were gathered in front of the civic pile. At eight o'clock the number had swelled to a couple of thousand and one hour later there appeared to be one solid mass of people from Terauley street to Yonge street, all impatient for the coming of the Marathon winner.

"It was a night for the small boy. The victories of Longboat, Petch and Kerr are the kind that impress him most. Therefore he mingled in large quantities with the crowds that followed and the crowds that waited.

A CHEERING MULTITUDE.

"On the stairways ascending to the east and west were gathered representatives of the Y.M.C.A. athletic clubs and Boards of Directors, all very much elated and prepared to cheer on the slightest provocation. On one of the front steps sat Thomas Longboat, uncle of the runner, who kissed his young namesake upon the left cheek ere the ceremonies began. Chief Martin, of Brantford, was also there with a bronze countenance done in smiles. On the eastern stairway sat another Indian. He was a little man with a dark face and very black eyes. He said he belonged to the Mud Lake reserve, north of Peterborough, and that his name was Running Deer. He had came to Toronto on purpose to see Longboat. Running Deer is growing old, but he declared that he could run a bit himself once. He sold a portion of his winter's receipts from muskrat skins to make the trip to Toronto.

CAN BE SHAVED WITHOUT A RAZOR

Will the Age of Invention Ever Cease—A New Discovery

London, April 23. — There is consternation among the barbers of England over the invention of a Londoner named Witherington. He has made a paste which removes the beard without the use of a razor, in ten minutes.

The paste makes the hair so brittle that it can be rubbed off clean with a wet sponge. "No skin trouble" is guaranteed, and the performance is simply a part of washing the face upon arising in the morning.

The following advantages are claimed for the paste,—

"No punctilious barber to ask if the razor is sharp enough! No second man waiting to brush your hat, and ask with his manner for a tip! You rub on the paste, wipe it off with the sponge and presto! You go down to coffee and rolls, looking like a man fresh from the hands of the best barber in London. The cost is about one cent a shave—and tip yourself."

Cement Shipped to North West

Lakefield Company Have Dispatched Thirty Car Loads

The Lakefield Portland Cement Co. made a shipment this week of 30 cars of cement to the Northwest by way of Midland. Thirty carloads of cement is a very large order and it was necessary for the G. T. R. to divide into two sections in order to make the trip from there to Lindsay. After that the road was more regular and it was possible to take all the cars together the rest of the way. These thirty cars of cement were delivered in Midland in time to transfer to the boat, which left port on the 24th of this month. The boat will carry the cement to the twin cities on the northern shore of Lake Superior and will be taken by train to different cities throughout the West. This is an example of the work done by the company, who by the quality of their cement, are winning a name for themselves in Ontario, and throughout the whole Dominion.

BUILDING UP HUGHES' PARK

At Corner of Park and Charlotte Streets With Street Scrapings

The little Park at the corner of Charlotte and Park streets, known locally as Hughes' Park, is being fixed up by the city. For years, Mr. J. L. Hughes spent time, labor and money, in an endeavor to beautify that little piece of land at the corner. He had about twenty-five trees planted and they are all doing nicely now. He also sowed grass seed and kept the place watered and the grass cut, and made an attractive spot out of it. But for the past year or two it has been neglected and has run wild. Teamsters and boys have damaged the trees and cut up the lawn.

A couple of weeks ago, the residents of that neighborhood waited upon the council and were successful in getting them to consent to look after it. A small committee of Ald. Phelan and Ald. Tovey were appointed to have the park fixed up and fenced. Today the Street Commissioner is drawing several loads of street scrapings on to the plot of ground to raise it up to the level of the street. Then a few loads of good loam will be spread over the top and grass seed sown. For a year or two, no admittance signs will be put up so as to give the grass a chance to take root, and to give the caretaker an opportunity to get it in shape. After that it will be thrown open to the public.

Cheese Factories to Open Monday

Prospects for Prices Very Good—New Machinery in Many Factories

In all probability the cheese factories throughout this district will all begin operations on Monday next. The milk supply is beginning to pick up, although nothing like it should be. For the past few weeks the factories have been busy putting in new machinery and getting ready for the opening, and as the first sale is on Wednesday, May 15th, it will keep the factories hustling to make a respectable showing. The outlook for prices is splendid and just as good as last year. At Belleville and Brockville last Saturday, the price was 11 1-2 cents, and it will not be lower here.

PROBABILITIES

Northwesterly winds, cloudy to fair and cool. Saturday, north westerly winds and continued cool.

IN STRICT CONFIDENCE.

Women Obtain Mrs. Pinkham's Advice and Help.

She Has Guided Thousands to Health.—How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cured Mrs. Fred Seydel.

Mrs. F. Seydel

It is a great satisfaction for a woman to feel that she can write to another telling her the most private and confidential details about her illness and know that her letter will be seen by a woman only.

Many thousands of cases of female diseases come before Mrs. Pinkham every year, some personally, others by mail. Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years under her direction and since her decease she has been advising sick women free of charge.

Mrs. Pinkham never violates the confidence of women, and every testimonial letter published is done so with the written consent or request of the writer, in order that other sick women may be benefited as she has been.

Mrs. Fred Seydel, of 412 North 54th Street, West Philadelphia, Pa., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"Over a year ago I wrote you a letter asking advice, as I had female ills and could not carry a child to maturity. I received your kind letter of instructions and followed your advice. I am not only a well woman in consequence, but have a beautiful baby girl. I wish every suffering woman in the land would write you for advice, as you have done so much for me."

Just as surely as Mrs. Seydel was cured, will Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cure every woman suffering from any form of female ills.

If you are sick, write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice. It is free and always helpful.

FOUGHT TO THE END.

Man Dragged From Cell to Scaffold and Hanged.

Guntersville, Ala., April 26.—Bob Watts (white) was hanged for murder here yesterday, under tragic circumstances.

He had become possessed of a knife and resisted to the end. Ammonia was thrown into his cell and he was thus overcome and dragged to the scaffold by force, coughing and moaning piteously.

Steel Roof Saved Mill.

Sault Ste. Marie, April 26.—The loss by Wednesday's fire at the Soo Pulp Mills will not exceed $100,000. The pulp grinders were intact and can be replaced when new flooring is laid.

Without the steel roofing, which was built last summer, pulp mills Nos. 1 and 2 would have been gutted, and the Soo would have been without electric light last night. The steel roof allowed the firemen to get on top and they were enabled to reach the fire.

There are 250 men out of work.

Steamer May Be Total Wreck.

Halifax, N.S., April 26.—The Norwegian tramp whaleback steamship Universe, 2,300 tons, from New York in ballast, for Montreal via Louisburg, went ashore at 2 o'clock yesterday morning at Seal Cove Head, Dover Bay, six miles from Canso. The captain, officers and crew, 23 in number, were saved and are now at Canso. The vessel is full of water and will probably be a total wreck. A dense fog prevailed at the time of the accident.

Grand Trunk Employe Killed.

Cobalt, April 26.—F. J. Neff, a Grand Trunk Railway employe, from Black Rock, New York State, was killed at Haileybury yesterday afternoon, while trying to board a freight passing through Haileybury at a rate of six miles an hour.

He fell between two cars, and his head was cut off. Deceased was about forty years of age. The body will be sent to Black Rock for burial.

Miner's Treasurer Decamps.

Sydney, N. S., April 26.—The local police have sent circulars throughout the Dominion, asking for the arrest of John C. McNeil, treasurer of the Miners' relief fund.

McNeil disappeared some time ago, and an examination of his books showed a shortage of $1,000.

The Petawawa Land Grab Discussed in the Commons

Mr. Macdonald Makes Unfounded Charge Against Premier.

Hon. J. P. Whitney Denies Bad Faith In Any Degree—Minister of Militia Did Not Intend Giving Compensation — Confiscated Without Any Notice—Mr. Lemieux on Racial Issues—Delay In Judgments.

Ottawa, April 26.—There were some bitter references in the Commons yesterday morning to Ontario's position in the Petawawa matter.

E. M. Macdonald (Pictou) declared that Premier Whitney less than a year ago had offered the Minister of Militia the tract of 52,000 acres at a nominal rental of $10 a year. The offer hadn't been accepted "because," he said, "the Premier of Ontario had practically said to the Minister of Militia and Defence: 'There are some of my political friends down there that have some timber licenses, and as soon as you settle with my political friends in the County of Renfrew and have given them the amount they are asking, then I will come round and do business with you.'"

Mr. Bourassa yesterday afternoon rebuked Hon. Mr. Lemieux working the racial issue one way in Ontario and the opposite way in Quebec. He criticized the amendment to the address, permitting Manitoba to increase their subsidies every five years, while the other provinces have to wait for the decennial census. He made the point that the address could not be considered unless recommended by His Excellency and reported from the committee of the whole. Hon. Mr. Fielding admitted that he had not adopted the right procedure.

Mr. Bergeron read from Le Nationaliste charging members of the Quebec Legislature with boodling, and dared the Premier (Mr. Gouin) to bring its editor to the Bar of the House. "It is common talk in the City of Quebec," said Mr. Bergeron, "that anything can be carried through the Legislature by the use of money."

Mr. Martin (Con., P. E. I.) protested against the discrimination against P. E. I., and moved an amendment granting also to Prince Edward an extra annual allowance of $100,000 a year for ten years. Mr. McLean (Con., P. E. I.) seconded the amendment, which was defeated.

Mr. Taylor (Leeds) called attention to the failure of Justice Magee to decide his cases. Mr. Aylesworth referred him to the Attorney-General of Ontario. Mr. Taylor then offered an amendment to a pending bill respecting Manitoba, providing that any judge who kept a case after submission for 90 days should have his salary stopped until the case was decided. Mr. Aylesworth opposed the amendment, and Mr. Taylor withdrew it.

The railway subsidies passed, involving at least from $3,560,000 to $7,000,000. The House went into supply and passed a large grist of estimates.

Premier Whitney Explains.

Toronto, April 26.—Premier Whitney made the following statement last evening:

"With reference to the assertions made in the House of Commons Wednesday regarding the Petawawa Camp matter, I desire to say that the Ottawa people must not be allowed to get away from the issue.

"No bad faith can be shown on our part. We were ready to do everything that was asked at any time by the Department of Militia, but insisted that the rights of the licensees and the rights of the Ontario Government in the timber dues should be adjusted and settled before any lease was granted. The Department of Militia decided to refuse this proposition of ours, and, without notice to us of their refusal, assumed to take over or confiscate the lands in question, which are, or were, at any rate, the property of the province.

"If it suits Mr. Fielding in the extremity in which he finds himself, to make charges of bad faith, well and good. I make no counter-charges of bad faith. I simply say that, without a word of warning, and without saying 'By your leave,' the Department of Militia reached out and took our land and our timber, and then practically asked us what we were going to do about it.

No Doubt About It.

"In answer to a question in the House of Commons on the 3rd of April, Sir Frederick Borden stated the position of the department in these words:

"'The Government has not taken the interest of the lumber licensees, and they have, therefore, no claim to compensation. The Ontario Government is not, by the British North America Act, entitled to compensation, and it is not intended to pay that Government any compensation.'

"There is no doubt, therefore, as to what his intentions were, and neither Mr. Aylesworth nor Mr. Fielding can get over this.

Well Enough Now, But—

"A man in Mr. Fielding's place might be engaged in better business than making charges of bad faith, for which he must know he has no foundation. It is all very well for Mr. Aylesworth to say now that they are willing to pay the licensees' claims, and it is all very well for Mr. Fielding to say now, as reported by The Globe, 'If, however, the Government of Ontario thought that they had been badly treated by the Government, they were willing that the procedure should be settled by the Attorney-General of Ontario and the Minister of Justice with regard to deciding the method by which, if the right to compensation existed, that compensation should be settled.'

"These statements by two Ministers cover our whole case. If the Department of Militia had seen fit to use this language, no difficulty could have occurred; but, instead of that, the Minister of Militia took our property without warning, declared that we were not entitled to compensation, and that he would not give us compensation. Here you have the whole matter in a nutshell."

Not Worth Answering.

Mr. Whitney was then asked, "Have you seen the language used by E. M. Macdonald in the House of Commons Wednesday?"

His reply was "Yes."

"Have you any reply to make?"

"Certainly not; no answer whatever."

HOT LARD IN STREAMS

Half a Million Pounds Run From Burning Building.

Fireproof Warehouse Suddenly Turned Into Seething Furnace — Allegheny Firemen Cope With Big Blaze In Big Packing Plant—Ammonia Tanks Explode With Terrific Force—Nobody Was Injured.

Pittsburg, April 26.—One of the most remarkable and spectacular fires seen in this vicinity, started Wednesday night in the William Zoeller Packing Co.'s plants, Spring Garden avenue, Allegheny, opposite this city.

Early yesterday, when the fire was thought to be under control, a large fireproof warehouse, in which was stored 500,000 pounds of lard, suddenly burst into flames. All efforts to extinguish the fire in this department were futile and the firemen finally fastened the iron doors of the building, shutting in the burning lard.

The interior of the building soon became a seething furnace. Spurting from crevices, doors and windows, streams of hot grease ran into a sort of trench hurriedly prepared in an endeavor to prevent the hot fluid from spreading over surrounding territory.

Shortly after the fire was discovered and while thousands of spectators were gathered, a dozen large ammonia tanks exploded with terrific force. There was a panic among the spectators, but no one was injured. That no loss of life attended the fire is considered marvelous.

At 8 o'clock yesterday morning the fire had practically burned itself out. It was said that the loss would reach $300,000, partly covered by insurance.

C. A. Gower of Lansing, Mich., secretary-treasurer of the National Fraternal Congress, gave an address, to which J. A. Paterson, K. C., and F. G. Inwood replied.

Committee reports will be received to-day.

The prisoner got three years on each of the three charges of stabbing, two of the terms to run concurrently. Chambers has a bad record.

KILLED MAN FOR SINGING.

English Pugilist Arraigned On Charge of Murder.

London, April 26.—"Pedlar" Palmer, the English pugilist, who with another man was arrested Wednesday upon suspicion of having caused the death of an unknown man whose body was found in a railroad car coming from Epsom, after the races, was charged at Croyden in the police court with murder. After a passenger on the train had testified that he saw Palmer strike the deceased several blows because he refused to stop singing, the prisoner was remanded.

Carman, Man., April 26.—Charles Hugo, aged 40, was killed in a runaway yesterday morning on the farm of Joseph Russell at Barnsley. RIOTS WERE PUT DOWN.

Trouble Ended At St. Lucia, British West Indies.

St. Thomas, D.W.I., April 26.—Advices received here yesterday from Castries, Island of St. Lucia, British West Indies, where serious rioting was reported to have occurred, indicate that the trouble is ended. Discontented laborers and porters created serious disturbances at Castries during the afternoon of April 23, and business was suspended there Wednesday. During the rioting several persons, including the manager of the Colonial Bank, were injured. The manager's right leg was broken. The Governor of the Windward Islands, Sir Robert Llelwyn, arrived at Castries Wednesday, went through the town and personally enquired into the cause of the disorder, with the result that it was confidently believed that an amicable settlement has been arranged.

ALLIANCE IS THE WORD.

Spanish Paper So Terms Understanding Between Powers.

Madrid, April 26.—The Correspondencia De La Espana says it has diplomatic authority for stating that the effect of the meeting of King Alfonso and King Edward at Cartagena was the perfection of a far-reaching understanding for the purposes of war and peace.

It would have been considered in the last century, according to the paper, an alliance, but in modern diplomatic language it is an entente cordiale.

Everything concerning Morocco was ratified; everything in reference to the general European situation was discussed and the basis was formulated of an agreement which is now in the hands of the diplomatists.

MURDER PREMEDITATED.

Girl Kills Man Because He Was to Wed Another.

Oil City, Pa., April 26.—That Miss Belle Stroup, the Bradford (Pa.) dressmaker, who shot and killed Thaddeus S. Ross in the office of a physician here Wednesday, contemplated the deed, is shown by the fact that she left a will, bequeathing all her property, including oil lands, to her sisters, Mrs. Fred Ehret and Mrs. J. F. Aiken.

She also left a statement saying that Ross had promised to marry her in June next, and the first intimation she had that he did not intend to do so was a newspaper notice of the issuance of a marriage license to Ross and Miss Sampsell of Oil City.

ELECTRIC LIGHTS BAD BEACONS.

Lizard Lighthouse Often Invisible When Other Lights Are Seen.

London, April 26.—The familiar complaint of the unsuitability of electric lamps for lighthouses is again made. At the Government enquiry into the stranding of the steamer Suevic, the marine superintendent of the White Star Line and other nautical witnesses declared that the electric light at the Lizard was sometimes obscured by fog when lights in the houses ashore on the same level were visible.

They contended that electric lamps in lighthouses were not comparable with oil lamps, and said that the former might actually add to the dangers of the coast.

Nurse, Ill, Disappears.

Philadelphia, April 26.—Friends of Miss Eva Haggerty, one of the prettiest nurses in the women's hospital, are greatly worried over her disappearance from the hospital early Wednesday morning.

Two weeks ago Miss Haggerty, who had come here from Brockville, Canada, was taken ill, and Mrs. C. V. Brown, sister, was to have arrived yesterday to take the nurse back to Canada.

The last seen of Miss Haggerty was on Wednesday morning, when she was noticed gathering up her clothing and going into the hallway.

Left Bride At Altar.

Windsor, April 26.—Mrs. Davis of Detroit, a widow, came to Windsor with Dr. George W. Burbanks, formerly of Cincinnati, and intended to be married. Burbanks left her in the waiting room of the electric railway while he went to procure a license. Mrs. Davis waited in vain, for two hours and then told the police her trouble.

She reported that she had given her prospective husband a letter containing over $500 to carry for her.

Rising Nipped In Bud.

Tokio, April 26.—Another threatened rising in Corea is believed to have been nipped in the bud by the prompt action of the Japanese administration.

The plans for the proposed outbreak are reported to have been of a comprehensive character, but owing to the timely discovery of the conspiracy, enabling the authorities to arrest the ringleaders and take steps to overawe their followers, all danger is believed to have been averted.

Canada's Fiscal Policy.

London, April 26.—(C. A. P.)—The Times, commenting on Canada's fiscal negotiations with European countries, says they indicate not only the loss of the fairest opportunity that has yet presented itself for welding the Empire, but the beginning of fresh economic developments, of which The Times cannot lightly predict the end.

Emperor to Receive Peasants.

St. Petersburg, April 26.—The Emperor to-day will receive 20 peasant deputies belonging to the Right party and to the Moderates, who will present him with an address, expressing their desire to work in harmony with the Emperor, and their hope of a speedy introduction of a system of general education.

The Marathon Mystery

A Story of Manhattan

By BURTON E. STEVENSON

Author of "The Holladay Case"

Copyright, 1904, by Henry Holt and Company

Drysdale turned with a start.

"Oh, it's you, is it, Dickie? Where is Grace?"

"Upstairs with my wife."

"Where has she been this evening?"

"She's been down here talking with Tremaine most of the time—but, I say, hold on! What ails the fellow?" he demanded, staring after the other as he bounded up the stairs. "Well, that beats me!"

He was still staring when Tremaine appeared at the landing and came down, a packet of letters in his hand.

"I want to put these in the bag," he said, "so they'll get off by the early mail."

"It's on the rack out there," Delroy replied, and the other went past him into the outer hall. He was back in a moment.

"That's a good evening's work," he said, with a sigh of satisfaction. "But what's the matter? You look as though you'd seen a ghost."

"Drysdale came in just now looking as though he'd seen one, all nerves and raw flesh, and stalked upstairs as mad as a hornet about something."

"Ah," said Tremaine, with just the flicker of an eyelash, "and yet one would have thought that a walk through the silence of the night would calm his nerves. There comes the rain!"

There was a hiss, a flash, and a great crash of thunder split the firmament apart and shook the house to its foundations. They could hear the rain dashing in sheets against the windows.

"That's a storm for sure. Listen to the wind! Drysdale got in just in time. But I never saw him like that before. Something extraordinary must have happened to him. He's been out of humor for a day or two. I wonder, now, if he was caught in that steel crash? By Jove, I did hear him say that he'd bought a block of stock on margin!"

A gleam of triumph indescribable flashed into Tremaine's eyes.

"That may explain it," he said, with studied carelessness.

"Yes—but it doesn't excuse it. If a man can't keep his temper when he loses he hasn't any business to speculate. Hello, who's that?"

Some one was pounding at the outer door. Delroy strode to it and threw back the bolt. It flew open and young Graham staggered rather than walked into the hall, hatless, coatless, soaked with rain, his eyes staring, his face rigid with horror.

"Good heavens, man; what is it?" cried Delroy.

He opened his mouth, but only a low rumbling came from his throat.

"Come!" cried Delroy sharply. "Be a man! What is it?"

By a mighty effort Graham pulled himself together.

"Father's killed!" he whispered hoarsely.

CHAPTER XVII.

FOR a moment no one spoke. Only the boy's labored breathing broke the stillness. He was shivering convulsively, clutching at the hatrack for support.

"It was the lightning, I suppose," said Tremaine at last in a suppressed voice. "I knew that bolt struck somewhere near."

"Lightnin' don't cave a man's head in, does it?" asked the boy doggedly.

Delroy grabbed a raincoat from the rack, and Tremaine caught up another. Across the lawn they sped, under the trees, down to the water front, with young Graham stumbling blindly along behind. The little white boathouse gleamed vivid in the glare of the lightning. They entered and paused uncertainly in the gloom.

"Where is he?" asked Delroy.

"Out there on th' pier," answered Graham brokenly. "Out there where they struck him down."

At the pier end lay a dark, huddled figure. A lightning flash disclosed the staring eyes, the blood stained face.

Delroy, swallowing hard, gripped back his self control.

"We can't leave him out here," he said. "Perhaps there's a spark of life. You take the legs. I'll take the head."

They laid their burden on the cot which the son had occupied and stood for a moment looking down at it. The boy seemed on the verge of collapse. His lips were drawn, his teeth chattering. The horrible sobbing did not stop. Delroy turned to him sharply.

"William," he said, "I want you to show yourself a man. A good deal depends on you. Remember that—remember, too, that with your help we're going to catch the scoundrel who did this."

The boy straightened up with a groan of agony.

"Now, go up to the house and rouse Thomas, but don't alarm any one else. Get him to telephone at once to Babylon for Dr. Wise and for the coroner, and tell them both to get out here as quickly as they can. Do you understand?"

"Yes, sir," answered Graham, and disappeared in the outer darkness.

For some moments the two men stood looking down at the body without speaking. Then Delroy stooped and touched lightly the bloody forehead.

"See," he said, "his head has been beaten in."

"Yes," nodded Tremaine, "the murderer struck boldly from the front. He didn't think it necessary to steal up behind."

"But why didn't Graham defend himself? He was armed. Why did he let him get so near?"

"There's only one possible explanation of that," said Tremaine dryly, "supposing, of course, that Graham didn't fall asleep. He knew the man and thought him a friend. Perhaps they were even talking together at the time the blow was struck."

Delroy's face turned livid, and great beads of sweat broke out across his forehead.

Presently there came the sound of footsteps on the walk, the door opened, and young Graham and Thomas came in.

"Dr. Wise promised t' come at once, sir," said the latter to Delroy, his voice dropped instinctively to a whisper. "He said he'd bring the coroner with him."

Delroy nodded without looking up.

Ten, twenty, thirty minutes passed—thirty centuries during which no one spoke. Then they heard the swift clatter of a horse's hoofs, the whir of wheels, and a buggy pulled up before the door. Thomas had it open on the instant, and the two men walked in.

"What is it, Delroy?" asked one of them. "Nothing serious, I—ah!" he added as his eyes fell upon the cot.

He went to it quickly, the other following; touched the hideous wounds, looked into the eyes, felt the temples.

"He's dead," he said at last; "has been dead two or three hours, I should say. His skull is crushed—fairly beaten in. It's your gardener, Graham, isn't it?"

"Yes," Delroy answered.

The doctor stepped back.

"I turn the case over to you, Heffelbower," he said. "It's in your province now. Mr. Delroy, this is Mr. Heffelbower, the coroner."

Heffelbower bowed. He was a little, stout man, baldheaded and with wide open blue eyes that stared like a doll's. Primarily he was a saloon keeper, but had been elected coroner as a reward for his valuable services to his party. He possessed a certain native shrewdness which fitted him to some extent for the office; also a lack of nerves and a familiarity with crime which might often be of service.

"I presume," he began slowly, "t'at t'is man wasn't killed here in his bed?"

"No," said Delroy, "we found him lying out on the pier yonder. We thought it only common humanity to bring him in, since there might have been a spark of life left."

"Oh, of course," agreed the coroner instantly, visibly impressed by Delroy's presence. "T'at was right. Who found t'e body?"

"His son, there," and Delroy indicated young Graham by a gesture.

"I'll tell everything I know, sir," said William, coming forward eagerly. "I went up t' th' house about 9 o'clock and brought this cot down, intendin' t' turn in here an' relieve father at midnight. Father was settin' out there on th' pier a-smokin' his pipe when I turned in. I went t' sleep almost as soon as I touched th' piller. I don't know how long it was, but after awhile I kind o' woke up an' heard voices a-talkin' out there on th' pier. I got up an' looked out th' winder an' purty soon I saw it was Mr. Drysdale with father."

"Drysdale? Who's he?" asked the coroner.

"He's a frend of mine," spoke up Delroy quickly, "an old friend. He's staying here at the house with us. In fact, he's to marry my wife's sister."

The coroner bowed.

"Very well," he said, turning back to Graham, "you may continue."

"Well," went on the young fellow, "as soon as I saw it was Mr. Drysdale I knowed it was all right, so I went back to bed ag'in. An' I didn't know nothin' more till a great clap o' thunder nearly took th' roof off th' house. I set up in bed, but I couldn't seem t' git awake fer a minute, my head was whirlin' so. Then I got on my feet an' looked out th' winder an' jest then it lightened ag'in an' I seen father layin' there"—

He stopped with a sob that shook him through and through.

"That will do for t'e present," said the coroner kindly. "It seems rather extraordinary," he added, turning to Delroy, "t'at t'is man should have sat out t'ere in t'e rain at t'at time of night. Was he fishing?"

Delroy sprang to his feet with a sudden start.

"Fishing?" he cried. "No! I'd forgotten. He was guarding my wife's necklace."

He threw open the door and ran out on the pier, the others following. At the extreme end a rope was dangling in the water. He reached over and pulled it up. The wire cage was flapping open. The necklace had disappeared.

CHAPTER XVIII.

THE horizon was gray with the coming dawn, but it was still too dark on the pier to see anything distinctly, so they went slowly back to the boathouse, and Heffelbower turned back to make a more detailed examination of the body. "Dr. Wise," he asked, after a moment, "from which direction should you say t'ese blows were struck?"

"From directly in front," answered the doctor promptly.

"But I see he has a pistol at his belt. Why did he not defend himself? Why should he allow himself to be beaten down?"

As he spoke he lifted one of the muscular hands. Then, with a little exclamation of surprise, he bent and examined it more closely.

"Come nearer, gentlemen," he said, his face flushed with excitement. "I want you to witness t'at he has somet'ing between his fingers."

They stooped and looked as he indicated. They could see that the hand clasped tightly some small, dark object.

"Let us see what it is," Heffelbower continued, and bent back the stiffening fingers.

The object fell out into his hand. He held it up in the glare of the light so that all might see. It was a button with a little shred of cloth attached.

"If we can find t'e garment t'at t'is came from," said the coroner triumphantly, turning it over and looking at it, "we shall probably find t'e murderer. It iss a good clew."

He placed the button carefully in his pocketbook and turned to the window.

"I t'ink it iss light enough," he said, "to take a look at t'e scene of t'e crime. I shall t'en return to Babylon."

They went together down the pier to the spot where Graham had fallen. The rain had washed away nearly all the blood stains. His rifle lay on the pier beside the chair in which he had been sitting. The chair was overturned.

"But t'e wind may have done t'at," said the coroner when Delroy pointed out that the overturned chair suggested a struggle, "or maybe he knocked it over when he fell. Let's have a look at t'at little cage."

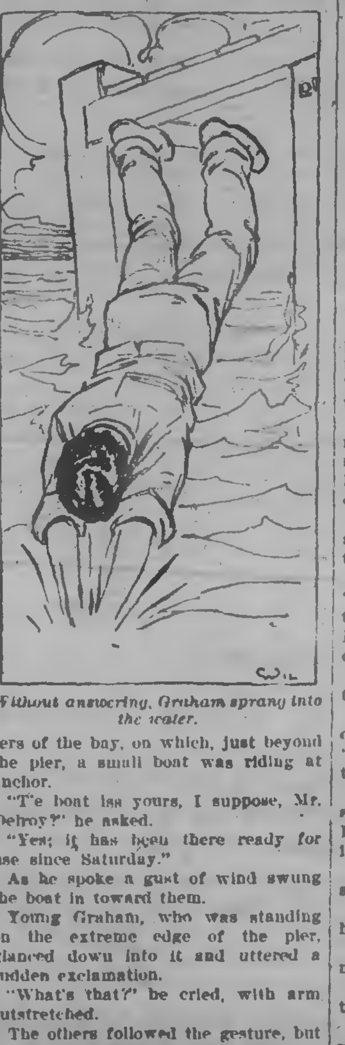
He pulled up the rope. The lid of the cage was open, but it did not seem to be injured.

"Maybe t'e waves proke it open," suggested Heffelbower.

"They couldn't have done that," objected Delroy. "See; here's how it fastened."

He closed the lid and snapped into place three small but very strong hooks, which locked automatically.

Heffelbower opened his lips to say something more; then changed his mind, closed them and turned away with a significant smile. He examined the knots in the rope, the pier, the waters of the bay, on which, just beyond the pier, a small boat was riding at anchor.



Without answering, Graham sprang into the water.

"T'e boat iss yours, I suppose, Mr. Delroy?" he asked.

"Yes; it has been there ready for use since Saturday."

As he spoke a gust of wind swung the boat in toward them.

Young Graham, who was standing on the extreme edge of the pier, glanced down into it and uttered a sudden exclamation.

"What's that?" he cried, with arm outstretched.

The others followed the gesture, but a second gust swung the boat away.

Without answering, Graham sprang into the water and with a few strokes reached the boat. He climbed into it and untied it from the buoy. Then, at the instant another gust of wind came from the ocean, he released his hold. The boat was swept against the pier. He fended her off with the boat hook and made fast.

"This is what I meant," he said, and pointed to a pistol lying at his feet.

They stared down at it, amazed. It was the coroner who spoke first.

"Pass it up," he said.

He turned it over carefully in his hand. It was a fine type of the Smith & Wesson. It was fully loaded. None of the chambers had been discharged.

"Ah," he said, "see t'ere," and he pointed to a clot of blood on the butt. "And, see, here are some initials—J. T. D. Whose are t'ey?"

"They are John Tolbert Drysdale's," answered Delroy in a low voice.

CHAPTER XIX.

FOR a full moment the coroner stood looking down at the pistol in his hand without speaking, but his face hardened and grew stern, so far as lay in the power of a countenance so rubicund.

"I t'ink I shall have to see Mr. Drysdale before I go back to Babylon," he said. "But first let us try to account for t'e presence of t'is pistol in t'at boat."

"How can it be accounted for?" demanded Delroy impatiently. "Good heavens! I tell you Jack Drysdale never killed that man. Perhaps he was boating yesterday. No; he was in New York yesterday—well, Sunday, then—and had the pistol with him and left it in the boat by mistake. How else could it have got there? The murderer wouldn't have put it there."

"Nobody's used th' boat, sir," said William.

"How do you know t'at?" asked the coroner sharply.

"Because, sir, I tied it t' the buoy, an' I know my knot. It's th' same one I jest unfastened."

"Nobody went out except Mr. Drysdale," spoke up Thomas. "I was in th' vestibule till nearly midnight, when Mr. Delroy told me t' go to bed."

"You saw Mr. Drysdale come in?"

"Yes, sir, an' I never saw anybody so worked up an' nervous-like."

"Do you remember what outer garment he wore?"

"He wore his raincoat, sir. I helped him on an' off with it."

"Where are t'e raincoats kept?"

"They usually hang on the rack in th' vestibule, sir. That's Mr. Drysdale's coat that Mr. Delroy has on now."

"Yes," said Delroy, looking down at it; "I didn't notice. I snatched it down in such a hurry"—

He stopped, staring down at the coat, his face suddenly livid.

The others followed his glance.

The top button of the coat was missing. It had evidently been wrenched away with violence, for the cloth was badly torn.

Amid a silence strained, absolute, the coroner took from his pocketbook the button he had found in Graham's hand.

"I believe Mr. Drysdale will find it difficult to explain t'is, gentlemen," he said, his face glowing more and more, and he held against the place the button he had found.

It fitted exactly; the button matched the others on the coat; the shred of cloth was of the same color and material as the remainder of the garment. It was a proof there could be no disputing.

"Let us go up to t'e house and have a talk with Mr. Drysdale," said the coroner.

They followed him in silence from the boathouse and up the broad gravel path.

"Shall I have Drysdale called down?" asked Delroy as they stepped inside.

"No," said the coroner; "I'd prefer to see him in his room."

"Very well," the other acquiesced, and led the way through the still deserted hall and up the stair.

At the top, Tremaine turned to the coroner.

"If you don't mind," he said, "I'll go on to my room. I'm feeling pretty well used up."

The others went on to the next door. Delroy knocked.

"Who's there?" queried Drysdale's voice.

"Open up, Jack," called Delroy. "We've got to see you on some rather important business."

"Important business!" Drysdale repeated, and they heard him cross the room. Then the door was flung open. "Come in—why, what the deuce is all this about, Dickie?"

"Come in and shut the door, Jack," replied Delroy quietly. "This gentleman is Coroner Heffelbower of Babylon. He wishes to ask you a few questions."

Drysdale answered with a stare of amazement, but he stood aside and let them pass into the room.

"I was packing, Dickie," he said. "I've got to go back to New York today, to look after some investments. I'd like to stay, old man, but I really can't"—

Something in the faces of his auditors stopped him, and he changed color.

"Sit down, Mr. Drysdale," said the coroner solemnly, himself taking a chair. "Our business may take some little time. You own a revolver, I believe."

"Yes," said Jack, "a Smith & Wesson. I was just looking for it. When I opened my trunk just now I missed it."

"How long has it been since you saw it?"

"I can't say—two or three days, perhaps."

"Did you have your revolver last night?"

"No; I haven't seen it for a day or two, I tell you."

Atomic Weight of Silver.

One cannot be too often reminded of the fact that in science it is the little things, sometimes the littlest of things, that are frequently of the greatest importance. An instance is furnished by the recent redetermination, upon the invitation of the International committee on atomic weights, of the atomic weight of silver. The work was done by P. A. Guye and G. Ter-Gazian, who after many experiments have concluded that the atomic weight of silver should be expressed by the number 107.89 instead of 107.93, the number heretofore employed. This apparently insignificant change demands a corresponding alteration in the figures representing the atomic weights of many other substances, and by increasing the exactitude of chemical knowledge it may result in future discoveries of great importance.—Youth's Companion.

New Form of Fuel.

Peat contains much water, and in a newly patented process it is pressed with dry cement to form such materials as pipes, building blocks, etc. The water necessary for the hardening of the cement is withdrawn from the peat. This results in close union of the constituent parts, and the product is given great strength and resistance to atmospheric action.

An Anecdote of Shelley.

The poet Shelley tells an amusing story of the influence that language "hard to be understood" exercises on the vulgar mind. Walking near Covent Garden, London, he accidentally jostled against an Irish navvy, who, being in a quarrelsome mood, seemed inclined to attack the poet. A crowd of ragged sympathizers began to gather, when Shelley, calmly facing them, deliberately pronounced:

"I have put my hand into the hamper. I have looked on the sacred barley. I have eaten out of the drum. I have drunk and am well pleased. I have said 'Knox Ompax,' and it is finished."

The effect was magical. The astonished Irishman fell back. His friends began to question him. "What barley?" "Where's the hamper?" "What have you been drinking?" and Shelley walked away unmolested.

Court Chemong is Increasing

May Meet Twice a Month Instead of Monthly

The first meeting of Court Chemong, No. 590, I. O. F., was held in the Sons of England hall last evening and was well attended. Mr W. Bradshaw, organizer, was present, and seven new members were initiated. The new paraphernalia in connection with the degree work has been recieved and was used last night for the first time. The court is growing so rapidly in membership that a discussion arose last evening as to the advisability of holding semi-monthly, instead of monthly meetings.

The matter will be definitely decided at the next meeting.

Will Issue Debentures at $4\frac{1}{2}$ Per Cent This Year

Finance Committee Have Given up Idea of Four Per Cent Debentures—Usual Grant of $500 Made to Horticultural Society for Care of the Parks.

There is no chance of getting debentures for local improvements issued on a four per cent. basis any more. All the sidewalks laid last year will have to be paid at 4 1-2 per cent. at least, and there is some doubt as to whether money can be secured at that. In the West, City Councils find it very difficult to issue debentures at six and seven per cent., and the mayors and aldermen there will not believe the bank managers, when they state that money has to be brought from Ontario to pay the loans. The increasing spirit of speculation and the increased value of real estate combined with many other things attract the attention of the wealthy and they will not put their cash in municipal debentures. This together with the scarcity of gold in the country, is hitting the municipalities very hard.

The finance committee met last night and considered the question of issuing debentures to pay for last year's local improvements, such as sewers and sidewalks. A long discussion followed the mentioning of this point, with the result that the aldermen were convinced that four per cent. debentures were out of the question. A motion was passed requesting Ald. Bradburn and Ald. Morrow to endeavor to place 4 1-2 per cent. debentures at par.

Another motion was passed, asking the City Engineer to adjust the assessment for sidewalks, built as local improvements, last year, to 4 1-2 per cent. The assessment was made out for four per cent., and it will mean several days work to change it to correspond with the rate for the debentures.

CARE OF PARKS.

The usual request was received from the Peterborough Horticultural Society for a grant to aid them in carrying on their work. It has been customary to grant $500 for this purpose and a motion was passed authorizing the City Treasurer to issue his cheque in favor of the society for that amount. In return the society undertakes the care of Central Park and Victoria Park and relieves the city of any further responsibility.

This is one of the best investments the city makes during the year. The two parks referred to have always been beauty spots in the city, and every resident points with pride to them, especially Victoria Park, the superior of which cannot be found in any city in Ontario. It is not large but it has always been exceptionally well cared for and has reflected credit upon the city. Strangers spending a day or so here have found it one of the coolest and most refreshing spots in the neighborhood, and it always leaves a favorable impression.

The Horticultural Society has for years endeavored to get the assistance of the County Council in fixing up the whole property in front of the Court House. A few hundred dollars spent on the hill would add greatly to the beauty of the place. At present the grass grows long, and little can be done to make it attractive, while a couple of hundred dollars could be used to advantages in making terraces.

As far as Central Park is concerned, very little can be done this year, owing to the building operations going on there. The Park proper, however, will be kept up as usual, but not much new work will be done.

Great Mass Meeting To-night In the Grand Opera House

Everything is in Readiness for the Big Liberal-Conservtive Demonstration—Prominent Speakers Will Address the Gathering—Public Cordially Invited—Be on Hand Early.

MR. A. C. BOYCE, M. P., West Algoma.

MR. J. G. H. BERGERON, M. P., Beauharnois, Quebec.

MR. GEO. W. FOWLER, M. P., King's and Albert, N. B.

HON. W. J. HANNA, M. P. P., West Lambton, Provincial Secretary.

The foregoing noted gentlemen will be the speakers at the great political demonstration, to be held in the Grand Opera House this evening at 8 o'clock under the auspices of the Liberal-Conservative Association of West Peterborough.

The theatre will in all likelihood be crowded to the doors. A large number of visitors are coming from outside points, and the gathering will be one of the most enthusiastic and representative ever held in Peterborough.

All should be on hand early.

Ladies are cordially invited to be present. Seats will be especially reserved for them and their escorts.

The speakers need no lengthy introduction to a Peterborough audience. They are well and favorably known and all are splendid platform orators.

Do not fail to attend the big mass meeting in the Grand Opera House this evening.

ANNUAL MEETING.

At seven o'clock in the rooms of the Young Conservative Club, the annual meeting of the association will be held for the election of officers for the ensuing year, and the presentation of reports.

The meeting will be over in ample time to attend the great gathering in the Opera House, the same evening. Every member of the Conservative party should make it a point to be present at seven o'clock tomorrow night in the Young Conservative Club rooms.

Citizens Think Junkmen Should be Given Numbers

So That They Could be Readily Identified in Case of Trouble Arising—Persistency of Some Dealers is Somewhat of a Nuisance.

While admitting the good intentions of the numerous Jews around town who are engaged in the junk business, there are many citizens who would like to see these fellows provided with a number to be placed upon their carts and waggons and with a badge with the number upon it to be worn upon their coat or vest where it could be seen.

Peterborough has become infested with junk dealers during the past two or three months and some people consider them somewhat of a nuisance. Many of those engaged in the business do not understand or speak English to any extent and this is largely where the trouble lies. The junk man calls at a house, gets his eye upon some articles which he thinks are about ready for the junk shop and persists in taking them and offering a small sum of money in payment, although the owner may not want to dispose of the articles in question. The junkman cannot understand English and the householder cannot understand Hebrew and a deadlock is the result.

For instance a junkman called at the house of a well known citizen in the north end a few days ago and got his peepers upon a pair of rubbers which he considered would make profitable junk, so he took possession of them and tendered one or two cents in payment. Now the master of the house has a garden and he aforesaid rubbers come in very useful to him when he goes forth in the evening to stir up the wet earth and plant the good seeds. He expostulated with the junkman, but the latter could not comprehend and it took considerable gesticulating and loud talk before the Jew could be made to realize that the rubbers were not for sale.

This is only a case in point and it is said that there are many of a similar kind. The junkmen do not mean to be offensive, but their lack of knowledge of English sometimes gets them into trouble. Many citizens think that it would be a good thing if each one engaged in the business was provided with a number of his own, to be placed on their carts or waggons and also placed on a badge to be worn some place on their person where it could be seen readily. If this was done the junkman could be readily identified in case of trouble.

Astronomical Committee Met

Arrangements Made for Lecture of Prof. Chant.

The council of the local branch of the Royal Astronomical Society met last night and made arrangements for the next meeting on Friday evening of next week when Prof. Chant, of Toronto, will give an address on solar physics. The meeting promises to be an unusually interesting one and it is expected that there will be a large attendance. Arrangements have been made for a reception to Prof. Chant. He will be met at the station by members of the committee and given a drive around the city.

Sunday Services at Springville

Both the morning and evening services at Springville Methodist church on Sunday will be of a special character. In the morning the text will be the first verse of Psalm, 101, "I will sing of Mercy and of Judgment." This verse was suggested by one of the oldest members of the congregation, who once had charge of the musical part of the service at Springville.

The evening service will be specially for young people and a central section of seats will be reserved for them. Rev. Dr. Marsh will preach an appropriate sermon.

An assistant engineer is to be engaged on the London waterworks.

All Applications Granted But One

Westwood Hotelkeeper Did Not Put His in on Time

The License Commissioners for East Peterborough, met in their office in Havelock on Saturday last, when all the applications for licenses were granted, with the exception of that of Mr. Jerry Heffernan of Westwood, who did not get his in in time. The matter will be referred to the Department and will come up again for consideration at the next meeting of the Commissioners on May 1st.

Bridge Works for Campbellford

Ratepayers Will Vote on By-law to Grant $15,000

A bylaw will be voted on by the ratepayers of Campbellford to lend Dickson Bros., $15,000 for the erection of a building and equipment of a new plant for their bridge works.

The matter was brought to the attention of the Campbellford Town Council, and it was decided to meet the firm and arrange some basis of agreement to submit to the ratepayers.

The Dominion Bank will occupy permanent premises corner of George and Simcoe streets, Monday, April 29th.

Musical Numbers Will be Rendered

At the Big Meeting in the Opera House To-night

At the big political demonstration in the Grand Opera House this evening, a splendid musical programme will be contributed. Songs and instrumental selections will be given. Mr. J. E. Dickenson will contribute a piano solo. The Mandolin Club will be heard in a selection. Mr. McLaren and Mr. Chambers will also give songs while Messrs. Chambers, Greenslade and Paddock will favor the gathering with a trio.

Another Constable is Appointed

Mr. George Meharry Brother of Constable Meharry Joins the Force

Mr. Geo. Meharry, brother of Police Constable Jack Meharry, has been appointed special policeman on the local force. He was sworn in this morning and commenced his duties today at one o'clock.

This appointment is made necessary by the illness of P. C. McGinty. Constable McGinty has been sick a long time now. It is not likely that he will be able to resume his duties for some weeks yet. Mr. Meharry is a young man, well built and strong, and no doubt will make a good policeman. Several applications were received, but Mr. Meharry proved to be the lucky one.

Don't forget the grand carnival at the roller rink, Charlotte street, to-night. For list of prizes and particulars see advertisement.

This shop was formerly owned and run for many years by Mr. John Craig, who disposed of it a few months ago to Mr. Wm. Fitzgerald. New Courts May Be Instituted

Provincial Organizer of Catholic Foresters is in the City

Mr. B. J. Asselin, of Brantford, provincial organizer of the Catholic Order of Foresters, is in the city to-day in the interests of the order. Mr. Asselin will spend four or five days in this vicinity looking up new business. He will visit several towns and villages in the surrounding country to investigate the prospects of opening new courts of the Order. Local members of the Catholic Foresters consider that the field is a good one and Mr Asselin will no doubt meet with success in his labors.

The local Court of Catholic Foresters is in splendid condition.

THEIR LABORS ARE ABOUT OVER

It is expected that the Dominion Parliament, which has been in session since last November, will prorogue to-morrow.

HAS RESIGNED HIS POSITION

Mr. C. C. Forsythe is Leaving St. Andrew's Church

Mr. C. C. Forsythe has resigned his position as organist and choirmaster of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church and has accepted a similar situation in connection with Cambridge street Methodist church at Lindsay. Next Sunday will be the last time Mr. Forsythe will be in charge of the music at St. Andrew's and the following Sunday he will take up his new duties in Lindsay. Mr. Forsythe has been very popular in musical circles in Peterborough and his departure will be learned of with regret.

It is not yet known who will be secured to fill his position at St. Andrew's.

STILL AT WORK

Another well known citizen lost a valuable hound to-day. It is just another victim of the deadly poison which some unknown person is throwing on the streets.

Mrs. Davidson, of Nassau, came into the city to-day. She had a valuable little black spaniel with her, and it narrowly escaped death by poison. As soon as Mrs. Davidson noticed something wrong with the canine she at once took it to Dr. Poole and under his care it soon recovered.

GOT $5,000 DAMAGES.

A GOOD ATTRACTION.

"The King of Tramps," a Yankee Doodle Musical Comedy, which drew a crowded house at the Grand Opera House, Peterborough, on Saturday night of last week, has been booked by Messrs. Lancaster and Dineen, for a one-night stand in Havelock, on Friday, May 10th.

NORWOOD TO CELEBRATE.

The members of the band together with the football and baseball clubs intend holding a celebration on Victoria Day, in Norwood. The program will be somewhat of the character of last year's celebration which was a pronounced success. Committees are being formed to make all necessary arrangements.

PROFITABLE VISIT.

Messrs. Milton Gabert and S. W. Lowry, members of the Peterborough Astronomical Society were in Springville on Wednesday and spent a pleasant few hours with Rev. Dr. Marsh, President of the Society, in specting the various astronomical instruments belonging to him.

A THREAT.

Postmaster Vance has been making maple syrup from his shade tree maples on his lawn, and as yet he has never thought of inviting us to the sugaring off. For fear that he may have forgotten it, we may hint that if he don't realize that we have a sweet tooth we'll make an old-time mid-night raid and boil down ourselves.—Millbrook Reporter.

EAST VICTORIA LICENSES.

The East Victoria License Commissioners met at Fenelon Falls on Tuesday, April 23rd. All the applications for tavern licenses were granted. There are no shop licenses in the district. The only changes from last year are that of W. A. Crandell takes the place of Harvey Thompson for the Rockland House, Bobcaygeon, and George Dettman, that of his father at Kinmount.

CLOSING EXERCISES.

A most interesting event will be the closing exercises in connection with the physical department of the Y.W.C.A., which will take place on the evening of Friday, May 3rd, and will be held in the gymnasium at the Y.M.C.A. There are over one hundred members in this department and it is expected that the majority of these will take part in the closing exercises.

A BAD PRACTICE.

The practice of continually throwing waste paper out the back door or in some convenient place for the most of the winter, leads to trouble in the spring when thaws carry off the snow and ice, and leaves a heap of ill smelling garbage. This is dangerous to health and should be removed at once.

INSPECTED THE BRIDGE.

On Friday afternoon County Engineer Belcher, Warden McNulty, and County Councillor Jos. Johnston inspected the North River bridge in Belmont with a view to moving it some hundred yards south of the present location, and determining the advisability of having the county assume its erection and maintenance.—Havelock Standard.

THE LAKES ARE OPEN.

The cold weather since the first of the month caused the ice to remain in the lakes an unusually long time after it would otherwise have broken up, but it is practically all gone to-day. The opening this year is just six days later than last year and the year before, five days earlier than in 1904 and twenty-five days laterr than in 1903, when the lakes were clear on April 1st.—Fenelon Falls Gazette.

WILL BE DELAYED

The Rev. R. E. Knowles, of Galt, had undertaken to furnish Fleming H. Revell, with the manuscript of a new story, "The Web of Time," for publication in the autumn. The publisher announces that the book will not appear at the time arranged, as Mr. Knowles received such injuries in the G.T.R. accident near Guelph some time ago, that he has discontinued all literary work for a year.

NOTHING DOING

There was nothing doing in police circles this morning, much to the regret of a large crowd who had gathered around the court expecting to hear something startling. Judging from the number of men who attend police court every day, one would think there were a great many out of work. Now that spring is here there ought to be plenty of labor for all.

LAID TO REST.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Charles A. McGrath, who died at her home in Lakefield on Monday, took place from the residence of her father, Joseph L. McCracken, in Norwood, Wednesday afternoon, and was attended by a large number of friends and acquaintances. Service was held in the Church of England, the Rev. E. W. Pickford officiating. Afterwards the remains were conveyed to the Norwood cemetery for interment. The bereaved husband and relatives of the deceased have the sympathy of the community in their deep sorrow.

SEWER PLANS

As a result of their conference with Mr. Willis Chipman, C.E., the Orillia Town Council has engaged that gentleman to prepare plans for a sewerage system. Mr. Chipman undertakes to do this for $300. Should the work be gone on with he will receive a commission of six per cent. on the cost of construction. For this he will provide a supervising engineer and a superintendent of works. Mr. Chipman has had wide experience in connection with sewers, having installed systems in Peterborough, Brantford, Midland, Collingwood, and a score of other Ontario towns.—Packet.

A FIERCE FIRE.

Mr. R. J. Graham, of Belleville, was the loser to the extent of about $300 on Saturday when one of the large camp dwellings situated at Millbridge on the line of the C.O.R., was totally destroyed by fire, including all the contents, consisting of bedding, etc., while the 30 men who occupied the buildings lost all their personal effects. The fire started upstairs presumably from a defective chimney. The men could have saved the contents but they endeavored to put the fire out until they saw it was useless, and they turned their attention to saving the surrounding buildings. Mr. Graham has a large stave and barrel mill there and many men are employed. No damage was done to the mill and the work will go on as formerly. There was a small insurance of $100. A shipment of bedding and cooking utensils has been sent out from Belleville.

Training Ground for Y.M.C.A. Boys

Lot Next to Association Building Will be Fenced in

At the meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Board of Directors last night, the request by a number of the members to have the lot south of the association fenced in and fitted for outdoor athletics was discussed and granted the Board. This will be good news to the boys and young men of the Association, who have long felt the need of an outdoor training ground. The work of putting up the fence will be done by a number of the young men themselves, the lumber and posts to be supplied by the Board. It is felt that this will be a good thing for the association, as it keeps the boys near the building, where they ought to be when training for Y.M.C.A. events. The fence will be erected as soon as possible.

HOW WISE MEN MAKE MONEY VERY FAST
By buying Land in the way of a growing city, you convert your dollar into hundreds and your hundreds into thousands. The more you buy the more money you must make. A friend of mine bought land at $100 per acre 10 miles outside the limits of Chicago and less than 20 years after sold it for $5000 per acre, making $4,900 profit per acre. I offer you Land on "Western Ave." 1 mile outside Peterborough limits and in the way of its most rapid growth, in blocks of 8 lots 50x110 ft. for $75 per lot and only ask you to pay $10 cash and $5 per month. This is your opportunity to convert a few dollars into hundreds. Within a few years these lots will sell for from $300 to $400 each and perhaps for double my estimate. Build a house or I will build one for you, plant your garden and you are on the high road to a rich and happy man. I await your call and will guide you right.

Carnations for Australia First Shipment Ever Made

Mr. H. Potter, of Jordan Bros. Green Houses, Tried the Experiment—Sent 250 Roots of New Varieties to Adelaide, S. A.—Left on S. S. Moana From Vancouver To-day.

An export shipment of carnation roots has been made which will be of the greatest interest to all florists throughout the Dominion. Mr. H. Potter, who is connected with Messrs. Jordan Bros. greenhouses, is the one to make the experiment. He has a friend in Adelaide, South Australia, who is also a florist and is always looking for something new. The Australians have developed a passionate admiration for carnations, but as that flower is not a native of their island continent and as the florists have not been growing them long enough to experiment on new varieties, Mr. Potter undertook to send seven new kinds.

The shipment consists of 25 roots each of three varieties and 50 roots each of four varieties. These were very carefully packed. Only the most healthy roots were chosen and a lot of time was taken and no expense was spared in the operation as the success of the experiment depends largely upon the packing. Not only was the greatest care exercised at this end, but the Dominion Express Co., who are carrying the precious freight, have made special preparations re the heating arrangements.

This is the first shipment of carnations to Australia from any part of Canada, and as the roots will be en route for at least six weeks too much care cannot be exercised. Then all future shipments depend on the success or failure of the first one.

If the carnations carry safely and develop all right when planted in that distant island there will no doubt be a good market there for Canadian flowers. Again if the experiment is successful it will be a big feather in Mr. Potter's cap, as he was the first to venture into the new trade. The flowers left about a week ago and arrived in Vancouver, B.C., yesterday, where they were put on board the steamer Moana, which sailed to-day for Australia.

The florists in Australia will be as greatly interested in this experiment as the florists here. The people are very fond of flowers in that island, as much so as in any part of the world, and anything new is a great drawing card, and if the two hundred and fifty plants survive their temporary death and develop into strong healthy plants the firm receiving them will become famous at once and the demand for the Canadian carnations will be greater than the production for several years.

The florists in Ontario are anxiously awaiting to hear of the arrival of the flowers and will then look forward to the success the growers have.

To Encourage all Britishers To Locate in the Colonies

Emigrants to Be Encouraged to Proceed to the Colonies.

Resolution Passed by Conference In Favor of Keeping Them Within the Empire—Question of Divorce Laws Also Discussed—Canada Was Silent Capital Is Wanted — Naturalization Laws—Child Emigration.

London, April 26.—(C. A. P.)—The following resolution proposed by the Commonwealth Government passed the Imperial Conference yesterday, that it is desirable to encourage British emigrants to proceed to the colonies than to foreign countries and that the Imperial Government be requested to co-operate with any colonies desiring immigrants in assisting suitable persons to emigrate. Premier Deakin dwelt on the urgent need for increased emigration to Australia.

Premier Ward said what New Zealand wanted was emigrants with some capital.

According to official precis Canada took no part in the discussion.

John Burns explained that the Government were considering how far they could adopt the report of the inter-departmental committee, one of whose recommendations was the reorganization of the immigrant information office.

The Government could not exercise any preference between colonies; all they could do was to furnish most of the reliable information possible and leave the intending emigrant to make his own selection. He did not believe in colonization by bodies. Persons thought the present a good opportunity for the colonies to obtain useful artizan colonists, especially in the building trade, and laid stress on the extreme value of child emigration on the lines followed by the late Dr. Barnardo, and welcomed any practical suggestion on the question of uniformity naturalization laws throughout the Empire.

Herbert Gladstone made an explanatory statement respecting the draft of the Imperial naturalization bill, which is before the conference, and spoke regarding the divorce law prevailing in the different colonies on this question. In view of the number of detailed considerations involved it was agreed that the discussion be adjourned

JOHNSTON—DEVINS.

At the old Capner homestead, the residence of Isaac Devins, Esq., reeve of Vaughan, on Wednesday, April the 10th, at 3 o'clock p.m., Charlotte Jane, eldest daughter of Isaac Devins and Charlotte Capner, was united in holy matrimony to the Rev. David Edgerton Johnston, B.D., Methodist minister, of Westwood, Ont., and son of the late John Johnston, Esq., of Toronto Gore. The scene was one of happiness and brilliance, and was graced with the presence of some seventy guests. Everywhere evidences of loving thoughtfulness and good taste were abundant. The ceremony was performed under a handsome arch of evergreens, relieved with orange blossoms, and the knot was tied by the pastor of the bride, Rev. Henry A. Fish. In the dining room, which was beautifully festooned for the occasion, three large tables were replete with all the accessories of a dainty luncheon, and here the guests did ample justice to the good things provided, and heartily gave expression to their congratulations and good wishes.

Edinburgh Street Open to Traffic

Many Loads of Gravel Drawn into the Hollow to Fill it up

Edinburgh street extension is now open and ready for traffic. Last fall the residents of that neighborhood, especially the owners of the new houses which have been erected in that vicinity, agitated to have Edinburgh street extended from George street east to Water street. This work was looked upon with favor, as all the low land had been filled in and several new houses erected on it, so that to-day the old residents would not recognize the place. To open the street, however, entailed considerable expense for filling in the deep gully, and the work was left over until this year. The new Board of Works took hold of the job and had many loads of gravel and other material drawn into it, so that the new portion of the street is in fairly good shape for traffic. It has not, of course, been graded, water-tabled or rolled, but this may be done later in the season.

PILL POUNDERS ELECT OFFICERS

Will Hold "At Home" Thursday Night—Successful Season

An enthusiastic meeting of the Pill Pounders was held last night in Mr. McDermid's drug store. All the members were present. It was decided to give another "At Home" one week from last night in the Forester's Hall. The officers were also elected and resulted as follows,—

Hon.-Pres.—Mr. John Nugent.
President—Mr. R. H. Quinn.
Vice-President—Mr. Max Yelland.
Secretary-Treasurer — Mr. A. J. Tovey.
Executive—Messrs. G. Fitzgerald, A. Mann and W. Huston.

It might also be interesting to note that the Pill Pounders are one of the oldest clubs in the city. They first organized in 1900. The winter of that year was the first winter they played hockey.

The gentlemen who composed the first hockey sextette were Messrs. Lou Best, R. Debarry, W. J. Alexander, Fred O'Connor, Chester Kemp, Ernie Payne and A. J. Tovey. These fellows are now either holding good positions or are conducting businesses of their own.

The Pill Pounders have a splendid hockey team, and have the rare distinction of having never lost a game last winter. There is good fellowship and sociability existing between the druggists of the city that is not so noticeable among other business men. They held their first dance last week and it proved to be one of the most enjoyable social events of the season. During the winter months several enjoyable sleigh drives were also held

The Pill Pounders are one of the foremost social organizations, and are leaders in whatever they undertake.

Their next "At Home" will be looked forward to with much pleasure by a large number of young people

AMUSEMENTS

PAINTING THE TOWN.

The Grand Opera House was filled to the doors last evening to witness the return engagement of the great musical hurrah, "Painting the Town." The production, which is magnificently staged, is brimful of comedy, jokes and amusing situations. The singing is bright and catchy, while the dancing was decidedly clever. The two leading actors, Messrs. Leonard and Halliday, in the parts of "Hogan" and "Brogan," were the merry-makers of the evening and are both well adapted to the Irish role. A feature which is well worth noticing was the singing and dancing of Miss Mazie King. The young lady is graceful and has a fine voice. The descriptive pieces, the ensemble and special numbers were all striking and attractive and greeted by enthusiastic applause. "Painting the Town" is one of the best productions that has been presented to the theatre going public of Peterborough for some time. "The transatlantic four" in their songs and quips were encored again and again. It was a well pleased audience that wended its way home last night after the big musical offering.

After the election officers and the routine business had been completed, Mrs. Baker served dainty refreshments, which were greatly appreciated by the ladies.

The officers for the ensuing year are,—

Vice-President—Mrs. J. H. Smith.

A Mother's Message to Mothers

WHAT ZAM-BUK DID FOR HER CHILD

"If this statement is the means of leading some mother to introduce Zam-Buk to her home, I shall be very glad." So says Mrs. K. Watkins, of 26 Forgue Avenue, Montreal, and continues: "My boy, Walter (9) while attending school, contracted some sores. These spread, and became so bad that some of them on the heel and ankle made it almost impossible for him to walk. I used various ointments but the sores persisted. One day Zam-Buk was recommended, and we got a supply. It seemed to take the soreness out of the place to which it was applied right away, and the wounds began to heal. In about a week's time the sores, which had defied other treatments, were completely healed, and there is now not a trace of sore on his body! I believe Zam-Buk to be the best balm ever produced."

When a mother rubs on to the delicate skin of children a balm or salve, she needs to be as careful as if she were giving a child an internal remedy. Zam-Buk is pure—free from all animal fat and all mineral matter, and may be applied with wonderful benefit even to the skin of young babes. Zam-Buk heals sores, cures eczema, spring skin eruptions, ulcers, ringworm, itch, barber's rash, blood poison, bad leg, salt rheum, abrasions, abscesses, cuts, burns, scalds, and all skin injuries and diseases. Of all stores and druggists at 50 cents, or from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price, 6 boxes for $2.50. Baseball players and athletes find it best embrocation.

IRON RAILING WAS ERECTED

On Walk Between Gibbs Blacksmith Shop and the C.P.R. Tracks

That heavy piece of granolithic walk laid on Hunter street, between Gibbs' blacksmith shop and the C.P.R. tracks last year has been completed. It will be remembered that a deep gully had to be filled in with stone and cement before the walk could be laid, then a wooden barricade was erected to prevent the material falling away. This barricade has now been removed and an iron railing run along the south side of the walk.

A BROKEN PROMISE

Among the measures promised in the speech from the Throne at Ottawa was a bill to amend the election act for the purpose of preventing frauds and corruption at the polls. In his speech on the address Sir Wilfrid Laurier declared that the law must be improved and made more severe, and especially that it must provide severe penalties for the ballot switchers.

Well, the session is now at its close and the severe measure promised by the Government has not appeared. It may be added that the like promise was made last year in the speech from the Throne. Last year also it was broken. The necessity for such a measure and for its enforcement has been made manifest by a long list of election frauds, including,—

The London election conspiracy, partly exposed in the police court of Toronto.

The trick ballot box plot in 1904, to steal the elections of West Hastings, Frontenac, and probably several other constituencies.

The successful attempt to steal the seat for St. James, Montreal, by personation and ballot box stuffing.

The theft of West Huron seat by ballot switching.

The capture of the Brockville seat by the same criminal methods.

The stealing of the West Elgin seat and numerous other constituencies in Ontario Provincial elections by ballot box stuffing, ballot switching, personation of returning officers, Minnie M. expeditions and various other frauds and crimes carried out by a highly organised system with regularly paid employees, some of whom have confessed their crimes, and all of whom were regularly engaged in federal campaigns.

The systematic forging and alteration of electoral lists for Federal elections in Manitoba by which three or four seats were stolen.

The employment of Government officials in Western Provincial elections to falsify election returns, to make up statements of bogus votes at a poll that never was held and stuff the boxes with ballots, all marked by the same man.

The Bilean Way to Health

Stomach and liver complaints and their symptoms—headache, indigestion, constipation, piles, blood impurities, etc.,—cannot be cured by taking drugs which "overdrive" these organs. Yet that is what mere purgatives do! Bileans, on the contrary, help the organs to fulfil their functions. Bileans are composed of pure herbal extracts specially prepared in accordance with a valuable and unvarying formula, which is the sole property of the Bilean Co. They possess a perfectly natural action, and do not cause discomfort, but gently stimulate and regulate all the functions of the stomach, liver and bowels. A splendid spring blood purifier! All stores and druggists at 50c., or from Bilean Co., Toronto, for price.

A LITTLE TOO HASTY.

Plaintiff Settled Case For Less Than Jury Would Have Given.

St. Thomas, Ont., April 26.—At the Spring Assizes before Mr. Justice Anglin and jury the case of Charles Patterson, of Toronto Junction, C.P.R. fireman, who was so terribly scalded and injured in the wreck on Wabash diamond, east of this city, has occupied several days. A great array of expert medical evidence was given by Toronto and London physicians as to permanent extent of Patterson's injuries, who asked $20,000 damages from the Wabash. The jury had been out for four hours when the plaintiff, whose solicitor was out on another case, and without his advice, decided to settle with the Wabash solicitor for $3,400 and pay his own physician's bill, the Wabash to pay all other costs.

It was learned afterwards that the jury had about decided to give plaintiff a verdict of between $7,000 and $8,000 for injuries received.

PLOT TO KILL PRINCE.

Anarchist Found Hiding In Confessional Box, and Arrested.

Brussels, April 26.—An anarchist, armed with a dagger, a loaded revolver and other weapons, was arrested yesterday in a church where Prince Albert of Belgium, nephew of King Leopold, and heir presumptive to the throne, was about to visit.

One of the attendants of the church accidentally discovered the man hidden in a confessional box, locked the door and called the police.

Later three other anarchists, similarly armed, were arrested in the vicinity of the church. Two of the latter admitted that they were French anarchists.

The authorities are convinced that the prisoners were engaged in a plot to assassinate the Prince.

Breaks Smallpox Quarantine.

Windsor, April 26.—Crown Attorney Budd has been notified by Edward Price, health officer for Maidstone Township, that several people near Elmstead, who were quarantined for smallpox, have refused to comply with the regulations and are mingling with their neighbors.

He has been instructed by the crown attorney to use his authority, by which he may have the offenders locked up and guarded by constables.

FALCONER FOR PRESIDENT.

Principal of Halifax College to Be Head of Toronto University.

Toronto, April 26.—Dr. Falconer, principal of Pine Hill College, Halifax, was yesterday chosen by the board of governors as president of Toronto University. He is at present in the Mediterranean, but his acceptance of the position is confidently anticipated.

Dr. Falconer is a Canadian born, and has achieved great scholastic distinction on both sides of the Atlantic. The following statement was made by the board of governors yesterday afternoon:

"Robert A. Falconer, M.A., B.D., D.D., LL.D., Litt. D., of Halifax, has been selected by the board of governors for the presidency of the University of Toronto. The appointment was made at the regular meeting of the board and was entirely unanimous.

"A cablegram was sent to Dr. Falconer at Naples, where he is this week on his way to Greece. It is expected that he will at once return to Halifax in order to meet the board of trustees of Pine Hill College, of which he is principal, after which he will formally announce his decision in the matter of the Toronto appointment. It is believed that he will accept the appointment at an early date."

SLUR ON CANADIAN CATTLE.

If Embargo Is Not Removed, May Abolish Preference.

London, April 26.—(C. A. P.)—Senator Choquette has been talking to an occasional correspondent of The Pall Mall Gazette.

Choquette says the cattle embargo is politically dishonest. It is a slur on Canadian cattle to say they are diseased, and if the British Parliament does not do something towards removing this slur Choquette thinks that, were a motion brought up in the Canadian House to abolish the British preference, it would, in its present humor, give it a majority.

Though Choquette says he has not directly discussed the matter with Laurier, he is of the opinion that Laurier would support such a motion.

CHARGES AGAINST DUNN.

Conduct of Vigilant's Captain to Be Investigated.

Thorold, April 26.—The charges against Captain Dunn, commander of the Government cruiser, Vigilant, will soon be investigated. Mr. H. H. Collier, K. C., of St. Catharines, has been appointed a commission to conduct an enquiry.

The captain is under suspension, pending the investigation. S. J. Inkster, formerly first officer of the Vigilant, accuses Captain Dunn of being a habitual drunkard. The present trouble started when the department, acting on a report from the senior officer, Captain Dunn, that he had become intoxicated while officer on watch, dismissed Inkster.

Crown Counsel Withdraws.

Winnipeg, April 26.—Owing to a disagreement with the court R. A. Bonner, crown counsel in the grain exchange conspiracy cases, has withdrawn, and it was yesterday necessary to adjourn the hearing until May 5.

Judge Phippen said Bonner was subject to discipline by the Law Society.

Prince Eitel Injured.

Berlin, April 26.—Prince Eitel Frederich, Emperor William's second son, fell from his horse during a cavalry drill Wednesday evening on the Boebritz grounds, near Potsdam.

There is no cause to fear serious results.

The House of Commons last night voted $31,000,000 in 60 minutes.

HORSE STUCK IN THE RIVER

North End Grocery Horse Took a Drink and Could Not Get Out Again

One of the deliverymen connected with a north-end grocery store, had an exciting time the other day. He figured on being among the first to drive his horse to the river to water, and he was, but he will not do it again for some time. He was going up Harvey street, and the road runs right into the water, so he drove down to the bank and let the horse drink. But when the driver wanted to continue his journey the animal was unable to get out. One of the town teams working on the extension of Edinburgh street, between Water and George streets, had to be called, and after putting a logging chain on the outfit, pulled it out of the river and up the bank. Fortunately no damage was done to the rig, harness or horse.

CULTIVATING EXPERTNESS.

The Limelight of Publicity Makes a Man Self-Conscious.

When a man takes himself for granted his ego is termed "self-consciousness." The men who make the Semi-ready tailoring have been so long under the light of publicity that the people know all about their system of making men's clothes, by the cultivation of expert labor.

"It takes three years to teach a man who comes to us a journeyman," said the Superintendent of the Semi-ready.

One may look at the joining on the back of a Semi-ready coat collar to see just how expert the workers become when thus divided into sets.

A CLEVER WAIST DESIGN

IN SAILOR OR SHIRT WAIST STYLE

There is a charm about the sailor modes which girls of all ages appreciate. Here is a frock which has the becoming sailor collar and shield without the unbecoming blousing which characterizes the real sailor blouse. If the sailor effect is not desired, these features just mentioned may be omitted and the waist be finished with the deep fanciful yoke and centre box pleats. The tucks in front are stitched in slot seam effect and terminate at the bust line, while those in back continue in regulation style to the belt. The skirt is a seven gored one having tuck-pleats at the side seams and tuck-pleats of gathers in back. The dress is not difficult to make and may be realized in serge, cheviot, mohair or a washing fabric. For the medium size 5 1-2 yards of 44 inch goods are needed.

FOR YOUNG FOLKS

FLITTERMICE.

The Peculiar Habits of These Queer Animals.

Children, do you know that the little flittermice and bats are one and the same? Well, they are, and for four or five months each year during the cold weather they hide away in caves, dark crevices of rocks or deep, snug, hollow places inside trees, and there in their winter quarters they hang, head downward, to the walls, sleeping as the great bears sleep through the winter time.

But when the first warm weather comes, when the sun sends its good cheer even into the caves, crevices and hollows of trees, then Mr. and Mrs. Flittermice and all the little Flittermices awake. "It's time to be getting up," says Mr. Flittermice, stretching himself. "The warm weather is here again."

ON THE WING.

And Mrs. Flittermice calls to her babies, for she is a thoughtful mother, to "come, get on my back and let us be out of here." And how you would laugh could you see those little baby bats catch their sharp, strong little claws into Mamma Bat's furry coat, where they hang on for dear life, as she opens her wings and flies away. And once out under the cover of night their eyes become very bright, for, like the owl, they see only through the dark.

They are very hungry, and it takes a great many gnats and mosquitoes to furnish a meal.

But who would not be hungry after several months of fasting, pray?

I'm sure we would, wouldn't we?—Washington Post.

A BOXING KITTEN.

Its Funny "Fistic" Antics Made a Big Dog "Laugh."

The proprietor of a small store in New York owns a black kitten that cultivates a habit of squatting on its haunches, like a bear or a kangaroo, and then sparring with its forepaws as if it had taken lessons from a pugilist. The Telegram tells how the kitten conquered a big dog.

A gentleman took into the store an enormous black dog, half Newfoundland, half collie, fat, good natured and intelligent. The tiny kitten, instead of bolting at once for shelter, retreated a few paces, sat erect on its hind legs and put its "fists" in an attitude of defiance.

The contrast in size between the two was intensely amusing. It reminded one of Jack the Giant Killer preparing to demolish the giant.

Slowly and without a sign of excitability the huge dog walked as far as his chain would allow him and gazed intently at the kitten and its odd posture. Then, as the comicality of the situation struck him, he turned his head and shoulders around to the spectators, and if animal ever laughed in the world that dog assuredly did so then and there. He neither barked nor growled, but indulged in a low chuckle, while mouth and eyes beamed with merriment.

The Earth's Interior.

It has been found by subterranean boring that the temperature increases about one degree for every fifty-five feet. Water would boil therefore at a depth of less than two miles, and at a depth of thirty miles all known substances would melt. The scientists believe that the interior of the earth is a molten mass. The volcanic discharge of lava, which is nothing but melted earthy matter, goes to confirm this belief, as do also the hot springs that are found in different parts of the world. It has been proposed to make use of the hot water that lies in beds underground by sinking shafts to reach them. Many things even more wonderful than this have been done, and therefore the suggestion does not seem unreasonable.—Chicago News.

Conundrums.

When is a schoolmaster like a man with one eye? When he has a vacancy for a pupil.

Why is a dog's tail like the heart of a tree? Because it is farthest from the bark.

What Tommy Dropped.

"Oh, dear me, isn't dinner served?
  I think you're awful slow!"
And Tommy fumed and fretted till
  His father said: "Oh, ho!
Go pick up what you dropped, my son,
  Before you came inside."
And Tommy quickly ran to look,
  But not a thing he spied.

"That's strange," quoth father, "for I saw
  Two boys with faces bright,
Who talked together at the gate
  In manner most polite.
I heard a voice speak pleasantly,
  Till on the porch it stopped,
And so I thought your manners, Tom,
  Outside the door you'd dropped!"

Big Bowling Tournament Is Now in Full Swing

Nationals Win the Hotel Trophy, With the Orientals Second—Yesterday's Scores in Detail.

The big bowling tournament is in full swing. It opened yesterday afternoon when the Nationals and Orientals of the novice event for hotel teams rolled the Nationals in the early part of the afternoon and the latter between five and six o'clock. The Southerns and Munro's Colts rolled at night. The handsome silver trophy goes to the Nationals, who had a lead of over 200 pins over the Orientals, who were next highest. The Southerns were third and the Colts brought up the procession. Joe Guerin, of the Nationals, made the highest three three string score of the match, 463, his scores being 121, 169 and 173. Ambrose Regan, of the same team made the highest single score, 160. Incidentally it might be stated tat neither of these scores were equalled yesterday. The handsome silver cup which is on exhibition in Mr. C. E. Frost's window, and which is emblematic of the championship of the hotel league, will spend the summer at the National. Manager Lawless has already selected a resting place for the silverware.

The scores in the hotel competition were as follows:—

The tournament is being well conducted and is going to be a great success. The alleys are in good shape and everything is being run in a most orderly manner. Great interest is being taken in the different events and a large number of spectators were present yesterday afternoon and evening. It is not likely that the tournament will conclude until Monday as there are a large number of entries in the singles and doubles. The team competition will be finished to-night when the Farriers, Independents and High Lifes will roll.

Thomas Armstrong Was Relieved of $85—Thief Was Arrested

Mr. B. J. Doak had a case before him on Monday Night, the like of which, fortunately, does not often come up in this part says the Millbrook Reporter. A man named Langstaff, who had been back in the shanties and was visiting in Cavan, south east of here with his brother-in-law, Ben. Olin came to town on Saturday with Olin's rig and going home Thos. Armstrong who lives out in that part rode home with him. After leaving the latter Armstrong started across the field home, when it is alleged that Langstaff followed him and waylaid him and threatened to kill him if he did not give up his money, some $56 which Tommy had in his pocket and which he in his fright, says Langstaff took from him. He came to Millbrook at once and swore out an information, Constables Handley and B. Payer going out for the culprit. Langstaff gave money over to Olin after his arrest, some $90 in all. This is what Olin said at the trial. Langstaff was committed to jail at Cobourg, to stand his trial.

Roller Hockey Team Has Been Organized in Ottawa

And Arrangements Are Being Made for the Organization of a League to Consist of Toronto, Peterborough, Ottawa and Montreal.

Arrangements for the organization of a roller hockey team, or roller polo team, as they are called in some places, are under way in Peterborough. Ottawa has organized, Montreal and Toronto are already in line, and as Peterborough has been asked to enter a league, to be composed of teams from these cities, steps are being taken to organize a team here.

The Ottawa Journal, reporting the organization of the Ottawa team on Wednesday night, says:—

"An Ottawa roller polo team was organized last night at a meeting held for that purpose and several members of the Ottawa hockey team will figure in the line-up. The first game will be played here on May 24th, it being decided to enter the league with Toronto, Montreal and Peterborough.

The meeting was well attended and some speedy hockey players were on hand, including Billy Baird, Hamby, Percy Lesueur and Eddie Roberts. The team will start practice at once, and will wear the same uniform as the Ottawa hockey team, red, white and black. Percy Lesueur will play goal; Billy Baird, point; Chamberlin, cover; and Shore, Roberts and a couple of others on the forward line. Harry and Tommie Smith will likely line up. The teams will likely have their first practice to-night. The following officers were elected:—

President—J. M. Henderson.
Vice-President—F. Hurd.
Secretary-Treasurer—H. Shore.
Executive Committee—H. Shore, J. M. Henderson, M. Chamberlin, W. Baird and P. Lesueur."

The team at Ottawa has secured the rink for practices after the skating is over and 10 o'clock, and have had several work-outs already. The ordinary roller skates are not exactly suited for roller hockey or polo, but a special skate is used for this purpose. The wheels are of aluminum which gives the skate the advantage of being light and also make it possible to stop much more quickly. The players buy their own skates, which can be secured for less than $1 per pair. The rink at Ottawa is supplied free of charge for practices, and when a match takes place the club will receive 60 per cent. of the gate receipts and the rink management 40 per cent. This is the same arrangement as followed during the regular hockey season.

There is no reason why a roller hockey team would not be a success in Peterborough. There would be any amount of material and with a few practices a fast septette could be placed in the league.

THE CITY AND THE VICINITY

MEET TONIGHT.

The Young Men's Club of the George Street Church will meet to-night at eight o'clock, in their rooms.

CARD OF THANKS.

Mrs. Chas. W. Fry, McDonnel-st. takes this means of returning thanks to many sympathizing friends for the kindnesses extended during the illness of her late husband.

A COSTLY TRIAL.

A Cayuga despatch says: Mrs. Perkins will leave Canfield and start a dress making shop in Cayuga. The trial cost the county $3,000. E. F. B. Johnston's fee for defending amounts to $2,500. Medical experts were paid over $700.

GOOD APPOINTMENT.

Bert Skeen, of Baltimore, has been appointed inspector of the Barnardo Home children for the district comprising the territory between Toronto and Montreal and north to Collingwood at a salary of $75 a month and expenses. The appointment is a good one and the young man is well qualified for the position. He is a son of the Rev. Mr. Skeen.—Hastings Star.

CARBOLIC ACID

Uxbridge Journal:—As people sometimes poison themselves with carbolic acid, our local druggists have decided to sell it only in a 5 per cent solution—strong enough for ordinary purposes, but not strong enough to kill. Five per cent. will mean about a pint of water to an ounce of carbolic.

HIGHLY PRAISED

The T. E. Kyle Entertainment Co. played to a full house Friday night, and it is safe to say that there was not one dissatisfied person in the audience. Mr. and Mrs. Kyle seem to have grasped the most important fact for public entertainers, viz., that the audience likes to hear as well as see everything that is going on on the stage. The enunciation of both of them, either in song or sketch, is far above the ordinary. Every number on the programme was well rendered.—Stirling News-Argus.

TRACKMEN GET RAISE.

Beginning on May 1st, the trackmen of the C.P.R. will receive an advance in their wages, which will of course be very acceptable to them. The track foremen will receive $2.15 per day, an advance of 20 cents from the former wages and the men will receive $1.65 per day, which is an advance of 15 cents. This change affects the whole of Canada. But in Western Canada, where the expenses of living are greater, the advances have been 25 and 20 cents, respectively. The higher wage was brought about through the solicitations of the Trackmen's Union, which have been sending deputations to Montreal and Winnipeg for some time. It is stated that this raise in the trackmen's wages will mean a half million dollars extra to these employees of the C.P.R. throughout Canada.

DIVISION COURT.

The regular monthly sitting of the First Division Court today, before His Honor Judge Weller. The docket was a small one.

COMING CONCERT.

The Young Ladies' Mission Band of St. Andrew's Church will hold a concert in St. Andrew's Hall, on Tuesday night next, April 30th.

LADIES' INVITED.

The ladies are particularly requested to attend the big political meeting in the Grand Opera House, this evening. Seats will be reserved for them and their escorts.

MR. COX'S GIFT.

Colborne has a Ladies' Improvement Society. The other day the Hon. Geo. A. Cox sent them a contribution of $50, with an expression of pleasure that his native village is being improved.

APPEAL HEARD

This afternoon the County Judge is hearing an appeal from the decision of Magistrate Dumble in the case against the C.P.R. conductor who was fined for blocking the crossing for more than five minutes.

DRILL SHED TENDERS.

The time for receiving tenders for the erection of the Belleville Drill Shed expired yesterday, but it will be some days before it is known who the successful tenderer is. This is owing to the fact that the new advertisement for tenders was published in Grit papers all over the country, and the tenders have to be transmitted to the Department of Public Works at Ottawa, where they will be opened and awards made.

A CORRECTION.

In the report of the recent lecture of Rev. Dr. Marsh on solar physics the Review stated that the sun was a star of the second magnitude. This should have read, "of the second order." The bluish white stars are of the first order; the yellow stars of the second order, and the red ones of of the third order. The sun is a yellow star, and is therefore of the second order.

WARNING TO FISHERMEN

The Fishery Overseer says that no leniency will be shown those who continue to break the close season fish laws. The close season for pickerel is from April 15th to May 15th, and that for bass from May 15th to June 15th. Woe betide the man who is caught violating the law in respect to fish.

GOOD WAGES.

Farmers have been finding it difficult to get and retain farm help for some time, and judging by the way the spring has opened they are going to find it harder. A group of Scotch and Irish immigrants arrived at Toronto on Saturday, and were offered $26 a month by farmers, but not one would engage at this figure. Possibly they had been led to believe they could have the farm itself if they only ask for it.—Clinton New Era.

Has Taken a Thousand

Zutoo

Always Cured Headache. Never Affected her Heart.

Here is a testimonial from the wife of Doctor W. L. Shurtleff, K.C., of Coaticook, Que., who has taken a thousand Zutoo Tablets (the Japanese Vegetable Headache remedy.)

It should convince any doubting one, that while the tablets cure headache, they do not, like the drug cures, affect the heart, nerves or stomach. No one would or could take such a number if they were not perfectly harmless. Mrs. Shurtleff herself had to discard the drug cures.

Here is what she says:

I have always been a great sufferer from headache, and have taken a great many headache cures. I found that after taking them for a time they caused palpitation of the heart. Three years ago I began using Zutoo. I have likely taken over a thousand tablets. I have never yet felt the least ill-effect from using them and they cure my headaches as quickly as any remedy I ever took.

They are Harmless as Soda.

Gas Plant Sold by the Sheriff

Lindsay's acetylene gas plant, the property of the Lindsay Gas Co., Limited, may now be said to have gone out of existence, says the Post after being inoperative for five or six years. A Lindsay citizen held a mortgage of $700 against the property and back taxes and other claims increased the total by a goodly amount. The property was offered Tuesday last by Sheriff McLennan at public or private sale, but there were no bidders and Bailiff Foster set out to find customers. The stock of iron piping in and about the premises was offered to the local plumbers, but their best offer was only $35, whereupon MacPherson & Co., Peterborough, were communicated with. A representative of the firm came up and fairly jumped at the chance to pick up a carload of good pipe at $110. The building and lot became the property of Mr. Dougal Sinclair at $475, and tanks and other portions of the plant yet to be disposed of, should realize nice sum. The street lamps and piping in the mains were not included in the sheriff's list and should be attached by the town to cover damages for non-performance of contract or overdue taxes.

In fact, there is a suspicion in England that Sir Wilfrid Laurier has something up his sleeve besides his elbow.

TOO TIRED TO STIR!

ARE YOU ONE OF THE WEAK WOMEN
To Become Bright, Happy and Healthy?—Use Ferrozone.

Modern life makes demands on every woman's strength that seem impossible to meet. Only the robust and strong can stand the strain. The weak, with their delicately balanced organisms, must fail. Blood gets thin, it's innutritious. Nerves go to smash, vitality declines, and then follows misery and suffering caused by interference with certain functions upon which the very existence of every female depends.

Don't let your condition grow worse. Check the decline of vital force before it is too late! The one sure remedy is Ferrozone—not a temporary stimulant—but an uplifting nutritive tonic that contains the kind of building material a weak body requires.

FERROZONE revitalizes the system by putting new life into the blood. Not only does it nourish the ordinary blood supply—it does more, it makes new blood, the rich, red kind that denotes health.

Energy is reinforced, strength is steadily and surely rebuilt. Keen appetite, strong nerves, more restful sleep, buoyant feelings, all tell of the enormous good Ferrozone invariably accomplishes. For restoring the weak, the pale, the despondent, there is no treatment so instant and permanent in effect as Ferrozone. A trial proves this. Won't you use Ferrozone yourself? It will surely make you well—its effect is instant.

BUILT UP HER STRENGTH

Mrs. M. E. Etherington, a well known merchant's wife, of Troy, writes: "I am quite willing to give a public testimonial for Ferrozone, believing it to be a tonic of superior excellence, and one that will rapidly build up strength and supply new energy to anyone not feeling well. Last Spring I was in a very poor condition of health. I was nervous, felt tired and completely worn out. No doubt it is quite a common complaint with ladies of my age, but I placed great reliance in Ferrozone, and took it for several weeks. It made me quite strong, and, in fact, I have been in better health ever since. I can heartily recommend Ferrozone."

Ferrozone Assures Good Health!

WARNING! Beware of the substitutor who urges you to accept something "just as good." Only FERROZONE can cure satisfactorily—see you get it, and nothing else. Price 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50 at all reliable dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., or Kingston, Ontario.

ENGLISH TEAM TO SHOOT.

Will Take Part In Dominion Rifle Association Matches.

Ottawa, April 27.—An English rifle team will compete at the D. R. A. matches in September, and it is likely the Palma Trophy match will take place. At the meeting of the Program Committee of the D. R. A. the matter was discussed. The team will be chosen from the Bisley aggregates much in the same way as our Bisley men are selected. The English marksmen will remain over in Ottawa on their way to Australia, where they are entered in the Empire match to be shot in Sydney, N. S. W., in October.

WILL NOT PROSECUTE.

Lord's Day Alliance Up In Arms Against Decision.

Victoria, B. C., April 27.—The Provincial Government, at the close of the session, announced its attitude on the Dominion Lord's Day Act, declining to assent to any prosecutions under the act.

The Lord's Day Alliance is already up in arms, declaring the Dominion had no power to leave it optional with the provinces to enforce the law.

The Government's reply is to go to Ottawa and fight that out in Ottawa.

Montreal Residence Burned.

Montreal, April 27.—The residence of J. N. Greenshields on Peel street was destroyed by fire yesterday morning. None of the family were at home at the time. The fire was discovered by some of the servants, one of whom, a woman named Sarah Shields, had a narrow escape from losing her life in the flames. She jumped to the ground below, but in the fall she broke her leg and sustained other severe injuries.

The interior of the house was completely ruined and the loss is placed at over $50,000.

Train Has Narrow Escape.

St. John, N. B., April 27.—By the merest chance the Maritime Express was saved from being ditched near Rogersville yesterday. A man who saw the northbound train pass noticed that she had broken a rail. The Maritime was following close behind and he rushed back and flagged her. The place is rough with deep cuttings at each side of the track, and the trainmen believe that the whole train would have been ditched had the break not been discovered. The Maritime was crowded with passengers.

Famous Scientist Drowned.

Vienna, April 27.—Prof. Albert Ritter Von Mosetig-Moorhof, the famous surgeon and introducer of iodoform, while walking on the bank of the Danube yesterday, fell in the water, and was drowned. It was at first thought he had committed suicide, but enquiries tend to prove that his death was accidental.

Charged With Manslaughter.

Montreal, April 27.—George Sheard, accused of causing the death of Joseph Gariepy by striking him on the head with a nickle rod, has been bound over by Judge Choquette to stand trial for manslaughter.

The miners and operators have had several meetings at Fernie and a settlement is in sight.

A Burleigh, of Sarnia tunnel, a G.T.R. conductor, was killed in the [illegible] yards last night.

President Roosevelt Opened Big Exposition at Jamestown

The Ter-Centennial Exhibition at Jamestown Inaugurated.

Great Pomp and Ceremony Marked the Function—Naval Review Was An Impressive Sight—Dull Weather Marred Opening—Many Buildings Are Not Ready—British Warships Take Part.

Norfolk, Va., April 27.—The Jamestown Ter-Centennial Exposition — a land and water display such as never before was attempted in this country or on foreign shores—was opened yesterday with that pomp and ceremony which always attend an event where the President of the United States is a central figure and diplomatic representatives of foreign nations, governors of States and like dignitaries are honored guests and participants.

President Roosevelt reviewed from the deck of the yacht-cruiser Mayflower the war vessels anchored in Hampton Roads. He reached Discovery Landing, having been transferred in a naval launch from his yacht, shortly before noon, and amid applause from the thousands gathered to voice their welcome, he was received by the exposition management.

Then followed the program for opening to the public the enterprise commemorating the 300th anniversary of the first English settlement in America.

Salute of 300 Guns.

At sunrise the ceremonies were begun by the United States artillery firing a salute of 300 guns to usher in the day. This was a signal for the trend of humanity to railroad trains, street cars and boat lines, which from that moment poured people into the grounds.

It was some minutes before President Roosevelt could proceed with his address. The people repeatedly gave vent to their enthusiasm. As he pressed the gold button, which formally opened the Exposition, it was the signal for the unfurling of a thousand or more flags on the various buildings. At the same time a signal was given to the warships, and to the garrison at Fort Monroe, and all fired a salute. When the echoes of the last gun died away all of the bands on the Exposition grounds played the "Star Spangled Banner," the troops presenting arms, and all persons present baring their heads.

After the review the naval detachment returned to the vessels and the army detachments went to camp Captain John Smith, the post at the Exposition grounds.

Pressed the Button.

The pressing of a button in connection with the opening of an exposition was not so important a function in itself as has been expected. On account of the unreadiness of the buildings and the grounds, there was little machinery to set in motion, and many of the buildings had not been supplied with flags to be unfurled. The coldest and most backward spring in the annals of Virginia, marked by severe rainstorms in the past month, is responsible for the opening ceremonies being marred by incompleted structures and uninstalled machinery. May 15 has been fixed as the day when the directors hope to be able to open all features of the show.

The day opened cloudy, but by 8 o'clock the sun shone forth and a strong breeze from the southeast soon drove the cloud banks beyond the horizon, leaving a clear sky. The breezes sweeping across Hampton Roads also tempered the heat, which had a tinge of mid-Summer in it by the time the President landed on the Exposition grounds.

President Was Early.

Norfolk, Va., April 27.—The Mayflower, bearing the President and Mrs. Roosevelt and party, arrived at the head of the column of war vessels yesterday morning almost an hour before the usual call for quarters. The American flagship Connecticut, Rear-Admiral Evans commanding, boomed out the first guns of the Presidential salute, the other American ships and the foreign vessels immediately following.

The Mayflower headed toward Norfolk, passing along the outer line of foreign ships, the crews of which were drawn up in close order along the forward and upper decks and superstructure and stood at attention.

The first of the British ships encountered was the Roxburgh, then the Hampshire, and next the Argyll. President Roosevelt was especially interested in the flagship Good Hope; and exchanged personal salutes with Admiral Neville, who stood on the bridge.

The Good Hope, together with the German Imperial flagship Roon, were assigned berths to the right and left of the Connecticut. These three flagships formed a triangle, where the Mayflower at the end of the review dropped anchor. The President received the flag officers of the American and foreign warships, who then proceeded to the Exposition grounds. The President, in a small launch, followed.

TOWN IN HANDS OF MOB

Police Fired and Wounded Several of the Rioters.

Shops In Castries Wrecked—Market Looted and Persons Beaten—Merchants Compelled to Yield to the Demands of the Crowd—Coal Carriers Won Strike—Sugar Estates Burned—All Coaling Stopped.

New York, April 27.—A despatch from Castries, Island of St. Lucia, says:—The speech of the new British Governor having been construed as encouraging to the aspirations of the workmen, the coal carriers organized an agitation for a big advance in wages and struck work. They intimidated all who were willing to work and were joined by the rabble. All coaling was stopped.

There is here only a small police force, inadequate to repress disorder or to protect property. Being pressed by the rioters they fired on the crowd and wounded four persons. The police and special officers were confined to their barracks and the town was left in the hands of the mob. Several shops were wrecked, the market was looted and several persons were beaten.

The general public was not molested. The coal carriers formulated their demands and the merchants were compelled to yield. The advance in wages is considered ruinous, but work has been resumed. Castries is now quiet.

News of the burning and wrecking of sugar estates is now coming from the country. Armed police are preventing rioters coming into the town.

HE WARMED THE DYNAMITE.

Samuel Johnson Blown to Pieces Near Rochester.

Rochester, N. Y., April 27.—Samuel Johnson, aged 56 years, of Millville, was killed by an explosion of dynamite yesterday, his body being blown to pieces. Johnson had been employed blowing up stumps and rocks for various farmers. Yesterday morning he was in a barn warming dynamite for the day's work, when a terrific explosion, which was plainly heard in Medina, occurred, wrecking the barn and setting it on fire. A horse and a cow were blown through the side of the barn and killed. Johnson's body was badly burned in the fire, which destroyed the barn. He leaves a wife and daughter in Lockport.

WROTE "ICHABOD" ON TEMPLE.

Strangers Disfigured Sacred Edifice In London.

London, April 27.—Passers-by were astonished yesterday morning to see the word "Ichabod" (the glory is departed from Israel), in glaring letters 18 inches high, over the portico of the City Temple. It had evidently been written by a skilled hand as the letters were perfectly formed and spaced. Persons not aware of the significance of the word thought that it was merely a new decoration and passed on.

Eventually somebody sufficiently curious found the Temple caretaker and enquired why the word was on the portico. The caretaker, who until then was not aware of its presence, promptly obtained a ladder and washed the letters off.

A subsequent investigation revealed that two well dressed men, with a long ladder, had inscribed the word early in the morning. Nobody interfered with them, it being assumed that they were orthodox Christians, who, saddened by Dr. Campbell's heresy, conceived it to be their duty to fulfil the invocation of the late pastor of the church, Dr. Parker, who on a memorable occasion declaimed from the pulpit of the Temple: "Should it ever come to pass that the great truths of Christ's death and resurrection be denied by any future occupier of the pulpit, or should the fact of His gracious Godhead and Divinity be questioned, may the word Ichabod be written over the doors of the City Temple."

KILLS GIRL IN SUGAR BUSH.

Young German Murders His Sweetheart—Jealousy the Cause.

Parry Sound, April 27.—Frank Varasko shot and killed Renny Supelsea, a 15-year-old girl in a sugar bush near the village of Arnstein, and then committed suicide. Jealousy was the cause.

In a farm house near Arnstein lived an old couple, named Supelsea, a 15-year-old daughter of the husband, and a son of the woman by a former marriage named Frank Varasko.

Varasko had been paying or trying to pay his respects to the girl and was jealous of her speaking to or being seen with any of the other young men of the neighborhood. Varasko and a number of other young men of the place had been drinking rather heavily for some time.

The tragedy occurred at about 5 o'clock Monday evening. The girl was employed in a sugar bush boiling sap. After the finding of the body of the girl search was made for Varasko by C. K. Arthurs, J.P., and Anton Wagner, and his body was found a short distance away in the woods.

The old couple, the father of the girl, and the mother of the young man, were both confined to their beds by illness at the time of the tragedy. The parties are all Germans and members of considerable settlements in that vicinity.

HOPE FOR READJUSTMENT.

Newfoundland Fisheries Under Discussion With Lord Elgin.

St. John's, Nfld., April 27.—The Colonial Government officials here say that Sir Robert Bond's conference in London Wednesday with Lord Elgin regarding the American fisheries question was only the first of a series of discussions, which it is hoped will result in the adjustment of the entire matter.

Premier Bond is in telegraphic communication with his Ministers, who will consider whatever proposals are made to him, and suggest such amendments as seem desirable.

The officials here expect that the negotiations will be protracted, and that a solution of the question will be difficult on account of the firm stand taken by Newfoundland and the conciliatory attitude of the British Cabinet towards the United States.

FOLDING BED NEAR FATAL.

Man and Wife Doubled Up and Near Strangled.

Hamilton, O., April 27.—While two patrolmen were passing the residence of Charles Hunter yesterday they heard, faintly, sounds of distress inside the house. An investigation revealed Mr. and Mrs. Hunter almost strangled and crushed and lacerated within a collapsed folding bed.

The bed had closed like a pair of shears, doubling up the occupants, half-suffocating them, and strifling their cries. They were in great agony, and were with difficulty extricated from the clutches of the bed, where they had been held almost all night.

Most Successful Season Has Been Brought to Close

Work of St. Peter's T.A.S. Literary Society Reviewed—Miss McGrath Read Well-prepared Paper on Some of Shakspeare's Heroines.

An essay of a high degree of literary excellence and a bright musical programme, combined to make the closing meeting of the Ladies' Literary Society of St. Peter's T.A.S. held last evening, a most successful one.

Miss K. McGrath was the essayist of the evening and delighted the audience by the reading of a most interesting essay on "A Few of Shakespeare's Heroines." Miss McGrath introduced her subject by comparing Shakespeare's heroes and heroines. Ruskin says that Shakespeare has no heroes. There is not one heroic figure in all his plays. On the other hand he claims that among all the principal figures in Shakespeare's plays, there is only one weak woman—Ophelia— and three wicked women, Lady Macbeth, Regan and Generel, and he might have added Queen Gertrude of Hamlet and Cymbeline's Queen, for they too play a rather important part in their different places. These are, of course, exceptions to the ordinary laws of life and almost inhuman in their conceptions of wickedness. When we consider that Shakespeare created over one hundred and fifteen female characters, we cannot but appreciate his testimony to the position and character of women in human life.

Beginning with Portia, the most known woman among Shakespeare's characters, a thoroughly superior character, upon whom Shakespeare has not hesitated to heap all the active qualities of which he deprived Antonio Miss McGrath, in beautiful language, gave brief descriptions of a few of Shakespeare's heroines, among them being Portia, wife of Brutus, Lady Macbeth, Cordelia King Lear's faithful daughter, and one of the tenderest of Shakespeare's creations, Imogen, Juliet, Helen, who plays such a [illegible] part in "All's Well that Ends Well," Rosalind, who is probably the most universally known in Shakespeare's comedies, being sprightliness itself, fresh as the morning, sweet as the dew awakened flowers and light as the breeze that plays among them, and Beatrice, who is equally sprightly and witty but more dazzling. Following Miss McGrath then stated that there were many more beautiful pen portraits found in Shakespeare which richly deserve mention but it would be impossible to do them anything like justice in a sketch of this kind.

The essay, which was interspersed throughout with Shakespearean quotations, was of a decidedly intellectual nature and proved to be highly interesting and most instructive.

The essay was prefaced by a musical programme, which was rendered in a pleasing manner and which demonstrated remarkable ability on the part of the performers.

The following was the musical programme, introduced by Miss Kane, who occupied the chair for the evening:—

Instrumental, Miss Picard.
Vocal Solo, Miss Guerin.
Recitation, Miss Mona Sullivan.
Vocal Solo, Miss Josie Clancy.

SEASON'S WORK

Miss L. L. Coleman, acting secretary, presented the following interesting report of the season's work,

Though it may seem like an echo from the past, yet I wish to place before the audience at this, the closing meeting of our Society, a report of the work done by the Society during the past season.

On Oct. 2nd, 1906, a meeting of the Ladies' Literary Society of St. Peter's T.A.S. was held in the Assembly Hall for the purpose of reorganization. The object of this society was to cultivate and stimulate literary power as well as provide elevating entertainment. A great deal of interest was manifested in this meeting and the popular vote raised the following members to the position of officers for the ensuing year, Pres., Miss L. Deannard.

Sec., Miss H. Cahill.
Treas., Miss O'Connell.

Members of Committee, Misses Carveth, Coughlin, Crowley, Coleman, J. Clancy, Deannard, Cahill, Desautel, Fitzgerald, Holmes, Hurley, Heffernan, Lynch and O'Connell.

At a business meeting held a few evenings later, plans were discussed for the literary work of the season. Matters were briskly disposed of and it was decided to hold the literary meetings every second Friday evening. The committee spared no time and pains to make the first meeting a most successful one and their hopes were fully realized.

The meetings have been held regularly throughout the season and have been characterized by a genuine interest and hearty co-operation on the part of the members. They have not only been entertaining, but most educative.

Since the inaugural meeting the Society has enjoyed a continuous and constantly increasing popularity as evidenced by the large and enthusiastic audiences present at each meeting. Excellent essays and bright musical programmes were the characteristic features of these meetings.

The following is a list of the very interesting essays read during the season:

Oct 12th, "Holy Congregation of the Index," by Rev. Dr. O'Brien.
Oct 26th, "French Canadian Life and Literature," by Miss O'Connell.
Nov. 9th, "Shrine of Ste. Anne de Beaupre," by Miss Coleman.
Nov 23rd, "Shrine of Lourdes," by Miss Denocher.
Dec 14th, "Edmund Burke," by Rev. Father Kelly.
Jan 11th, "Venice," by Miss A. Holland.
Jan 25th, "The Lily of Israel," by Miss L. Sullivan.
Feb 7th, "Western Canada," by Miss N. Fitzgerald.
March 1, "Famous English Poets," by Miss Eva Tangney.
March 15th, "The Art of Shakespeare," by Rev. Father Galvin.
April 18th, "The Lily of Quito," by Miss V. Donoghue.
April 26th, "The Heroines of Shakespeare," by Miss K. McGrath.

To those who prepared essays the thanks of the Society are extended in a special manner. They have been the chief features of the literary meetings and always proved to be most interesting and instructive.

The number of tickets disposed of during the season by the members of the committee was two hundred and seventy-seven. The congratulations of the Society are extended to Miss O'Connell and Miss Deannard for having sold the greatest number of tickets, thereby winning the pins presented by the society to those disposing of the greatest number of tickets.

The hearty thanks of the Society are extended to those who contributed so liberally to the musical part of the programme. To them we attribute much of the success of our literary meetings, as the various musical selections rendered gave variety to the programme.

To the editors of our local papers, the Review and Examiner, our thanks are in a special manner due for the unfailing courtesy shown us in our dealings with them. They have contributed not a little to the working out of our plans, by their willing promptness in inserting notices of our meetings, and have manifested a kindly interest in the success of our literary work by the prominence given the fortnightly reports of the essays, lectures, etc.

The success of the Society was due in no small degree to the untiring effort of the officers and members of the committee, while special mention must be made of the highly appreciated assistance of our worthy president, Miss Deannard.

In conclusion, we have but to tender our most hearty thanks to our highly esteemed director, Rev. Dr. O'Brien, who has always worked so zealously and assiduously for the interest of our society. The earnest wish of every member is that he may live long to enjoy many successful seasons of the Literary Society of St. Peter's T.A.S. and that the success which has attended his untiring efforts in the cause of temperance, may continue to increase.

In Case of Emergency.

Regina, Sask, April 27.—In reference to a statement made by Acting Premier Fielding in the House of Commons Thursday, the best authority is given for stating that the detachment of Mounted Police under Inspector Grant, which left here on Wednesday, for Macleod, was sent out on the requisition of the Federal Government, to be on hand in case of an emergency in the strike, and, further, that another detachment will leave the depot division here to-day for the same purpose.

Denied by Foreign Office.

London, April 27.—The British Foreign Office has taken an unusual course in issuing a formal denial of the story printed by the Correspondensia De Espana regarding an understanding between Great Britain and Spain. The Foreign Office declares there is no foundation for the story.

Tunnel Bill Withdrawn.

London, April 27.—The bill introduced in the House of Commons authorizing the construction of a tunnel under the English Channel, from England to France, which aroused strong opposition, has been withdrawn.

Suicide of E. G. Russell.

Vancouver, B.C., April 27.—E. G. Russell, executive agent of the Grand Trunk Pacific in British Columbia committed suicide at Prince Rupert, by shooting himself with a revolver.

"ROTTEN WITH GRAFT"

Mr. Robitaille Denounces Proposal to Give Away $8,000.000

Opposes Grant to Quebec Bridge Company—Calls the Transaction a Fraud and Steal—$700,000 Not Accounted For—Increased Provincial Subsidies—Unpleasant Encounter In the Senate.

Ottawa, April 27.—The House wasted the day in debate. Mr. Barker (Hamilton) delivered an arraignment of the Government respecting electoral fraud.

Mr. Robitaille (Independent Liberal, Quebec) denounced the act to give $8,000,000 to the Quebec Bridge Company. It was a shocking fraud and steal.

Mr. Fielding and Mr. Foster followed, and Dr. Sproule keenly analyzed the recklessness at Quebec.

Mr. Fielding admitted that $700,000 could not be accounted for, but promised more careful supervision hereafter. This did not satisfy Mr. Robitaille, who insisted that the whole scheme was rotten with graft.

Mr. Power (West Quebec) answered Mr. Robitaille with considerable heat, but Mr. Robitaille urged the Government to be careful about giving away this $8,000,000 to the men at Quebec who had only contributed $30,000.

Earl Grey will prorogue Parliament to-day at 3 o'clock. There are 100 bills to receive the royal assent making nearly 200 during the session.

MEN RETURN TO WORK.

Fernie Coal Miners Resume Labor Pending Investigation.

Ottawa, April 27.—When the House of Commons met yesterday morning, Mr. Lemieux announced that the latest telegrams from Fernie indicated that the conference had failed to bring on an agreement between the parties, but the miners have decided to return to work pending the investigation. (Hear, hear.) He said he had received late Thursday night the following telegram from Mr. Mackenzie King.

"Fernie, B. C., April 25.—Different interpretations on yesterday's proposition at conference to-day, consequently failure to agree. Executive Board now holding meeting with Fernie miners to have miners return to work, pending investigation. Will wire result later."

The following telegram was received yesterday morning from Mr. F. H Sherman:

"Fernie, B. C., April 26.—Sessions of week resulted —— owing to misunderstanding of industrial disputes act. District Executive, having failed to agree with operators, have decided to advise miners to resume operations immediately. This advice has been accepted by Fernie men. Have reason to believe that operations will be resumed at all mines in this district as soon as possible. Will refer all our disputes to Investigating Board, believing your Government want to see justice to all parties.—F. H. Sherman."

Mr. Lemieux added that he had received a telegram from Sir William Mulock stating that he would leave for Fernie last night instead of to-day.

MARRIAGE BILL KILLED.

Mr. Borden Condemns Government for Extravagance and Corruption.

Ottawa, April 27.—Messrs. Lavergne of Montmagny, Devlin of Nicolet, Martin of St Mary's, and Devlin of Wright put up a strong opposition during the third reading of the bill to authorize the invalidation of certain marriages of minors. They took the ground that it would be objectionable to Catholics, who were opposed as a matter of conscience to divorce in any shape. Moreover, the bill had been hastily introduced, and little opportunity given for its consideration.

Mr. Devlin of Nicolet made a somewhat vigorous protest against the bill going on, and moved that the committee rise, which would have the effect of setting aside the legislation this session. Mr. Lancaster of Lincoln supported Mr. Devlin's views.

Mr. Brodeur and Dr. Reid, Conservatives, opposed the bill, the latter thinking it unfair of the Ontario Government to ask its passage at this stage. He said it was an outrage for the Federal Government to present it.

The motion that the committee rise then carried, the bill thus being killed.

On motion to go into supply, R. L. Borden moved a strong resolution, condemning the Government for the increased expenditures, equivalent to $22 per head of population, or $110 for every family of five persons. The resolution also made reference to the disclosures in the public accounts committee of improper expenditures, and to electoral corruption that had been established.

Division took place shortly after one o'clock, when Borden's amendment was defeated by 91 to 43, a straight party vote.

Battle In the Senate.

In the Senate last night, there was an unpleasant encounter.

Senator McMullen, in replying to Senator Ferguson's remarks on the provincial subsidies, twitted him with having once resigned from the Senate, only to be defeated for the Commons, and dared him to test public feeling again. He added that Senator Ferguson had not been infallible. From a department over which he had presided in Prince Edward Island there had been a mysterious disappearance, which had never been accounted for Senator Ferguson: That is a slanderous and libelous statement, and I demand that the words be taken down."

Senator McMullen said he had made no statement reflecting on Senator Ferguson, who continued to demand that the words be taken down.

Mr. Speaker said that the expression of Senator McMullen, as far as he had proceeded before being interrupted, semed to contain an insinuation.

Senator McMullen: If it is taken that an insinuation has been made, I withdraw it.

Senator Ferguson said nearly all Senator McMullen's statements were inaccurate. One inaccuracy was that he had resigned from the Senate and had been defeated in a contest in Prince Edward Island.

He promised to have Senator McMullen's and Hon. Mr. Scott's speeches well circulated in Prince Edward Island.

FROM BRITAIN TO CANADA.

Fast Line of Steamers Under Consideration By Sir Wilfrid.

London, April 27.—(C. A. P.)—Premier Laurier's presence in London has been taken advantage of by the promoters of the Blacksod Bay to Halifax route to Canada.

A long conference, the Canadian Associated Press understands, has taken place between Sir Wilfrid and the promoters, during which the Premier enquired minutely regarding the proposal.

It is said the promoters did not receive much substantial sympathy from Laurier, but the C.A.P. is assured on good authority that the project of a fast service, with steamships equal to any New York route, is receiving most earnest consideration, and that possibly before Laurier leaves an important announcement in connection with the establishing of a fast line of steamers to some port in England may be made.

Sir Frederick Borden, interviewed by the Canadian Lloyds declared the premiums required here on St. Lawrence business are too high, in view of the Government's improvements to the St. Lawrence.

A Wellington, New Zealand, despatch says the Attorney-General states there is considerable prospect that, through Premier Laurier and Sir J. Ward a mail service may be arranged via Vancouver.

PREMIERS ENTERTAINED.

Great Banquet Given at National Liberal Club.

London, April 27.—(C. A. P.)—A great banquet was given the Colonial Premiers at the National Liberal Club, at which Earl Carrington presided.

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, Premiers Laurier, Bond, Ward and Botha were present. Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman proposed the toast, "Our Guests," in a felicitous speech, remarking that they had come to advance ideas which, perhaps, might not in all particulars be identified with the Liberal party, but there was no antagonism on that account, and nothing but mutual forbearance and good feeling.

He ventured to say that the conference would bring about a great result, if not in the acceptance of any particular proposal, at least in developing, strengthening and securing the great commonwealth of states to which all belonged.

Sacred Concert Held at Norwood

St. Paul's Choir Delighted Large Audience

A highly successful concert was that which was given last evening in Norwood by St. Paul's choir of this city. It was held in the Presbyterian church of that village and a large number were present and thoroughly enjoyed the excellent programme.

About forty-five members of the choir and a few friends left on a special train last evening for Norwood

Rev Mr. MacLennan occupied the chair and opened the concert with devotional exercises.

The choir was under the capable direction of Mr. John Crane, the programme, which consisted of sacred songs, quartettes and anthems, being as follows;

PART I

Doxology and Prayer, followed by "The Lord's Prayer."—Chanted.

Anthem, "The Son of God Goes Forth to War.—Giebel.

Unaccompanied, "For God So Loved the World.—Stainer.

Solo, "The Ninety and Nine." —Campion, by Miss Helen Davies.

Male quartette, (a) Crossing the Bar.—Herbert (b) When I Survey the Wondrous Cross.—Parks.

Duett, "He Wipes the Tear From Every Eye"—Lee—by Misses Davies and Moore.

Solo "The Gates of Paradise," —Adams—by Mr. M. McIlvoy.

Motet, "By Babylon's Wave." —Gounod.

PART II

Quartette, "Sleep Holy Babe." —Packerd.—by Misses Davies and Moore and Messrs. Bennett and Nelson.

Sanctus and Benedictus from 'Messe Solenelle.—Gounod.

Male quartette, "O Mighty One." —Hebert.

Solo, "And God Shall Wipe Away All Tears."—Sullivan.—by Miss M. Lillian Moore.

Unaccompanied, "Yea, Tho' I Walk.—Sullivan.

Solo, "Jerusalem,"—Parker.
Mr. R. N. Merritt.

Quintette, "Last Night."—Kjerulf. Miss Davies and Male Quartette.

Anthem, "Sing O Heavens".—Tours

God Save the King.

After the concert the choir was entertained to supper by the ladies of the church and a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the choir for their kindness in coming down to Norwood and giving a concert which all had much enjoyed.

Owing to some misunderstanding on the part of the C.P.R. there was no special train ready for the Peterborough people and it was about two o'clock this morning before they arrived home. A car was attached to a freight train to bring them to Peterborough.

Presentation to Rev. Dr. O'Brien On the Eve of His Departure

Ladies' Literary Society Honor Him With Appreciative Address Accompanied by Purse of Gold and Splendid Club Bag—Dr. O'Brien Leaves Next Week on Holiday Trip to Ireland.

The most pleasing feature of last evening's meeting of the Ladies' Literary Society of St. Peter's T. A. S. was the address and presentation of a beautiful club bag with fittings and a purse of gold by the society to Rev. Dr. O'Brien before his departure for Ireland, next week.

The address, expressing the warm esteem and friendship, in which Father O'Brien is deservedly held by the Ladies' Literary Society, was read by Miss E. L. Coleman and the presentation was gracefully made by Miss O'Connell. The Rev. Dr. was completely taken by surprise as he had not anticipated anything of that nature, however, but in his usual happy manner, he made a neat speech in reply to the address, thanking the Ladies' Literary Society for their kind remembrance of him and assuring them that their kindness was fully appreciated.

The following is a copy of the address presented,—

Rev. M. J. O'Brien, D. D., Spiritual Advisor of St. Peter's T. A. S.

Rev. and Dear Father, — We, the members of the Ladies' Literary Society, having heard that you, in the course of a few days will leave for Ireland to enjoy the rest which has been earned by your increasing work and untiring efforts in the interests of the parish at large, and in the welfare of St. Peter's Total Abstinence Society, desire to express our pleasure that you should enjoy the recreation which you have so well deserved. We must heartily and warmly wish you "Bon Voyage" and hope that the trip you contemplate will lack no element of enjoyment or pleasure.

The deep interest which you have at all time manifested in our society your help in planning and carrying out our work, your attendance at our meetings and your words of encouragement and approval have been an incentive to renewed effort on our part.

The noble work, which you are accomplishing in the cause of temperance is we feel sure, to you, its own reward, and as members of The Ladies' Literary Society of St. Peter's T.A.S., we have felt proud that we were allowed to help that great work. Therefore, we are pleased to have an opportunity of expressing to you, our esteem and gratitude.

We pray that Almighty God may continue to bless the work to which you have dedicated your life, and that you may soon return much benefitted by your voyage.

REV. DR. O'BRIEN
Who Was Honored Last Night by Ladies' Literary Society of St. Peter's T.A.S.

In conclusion Rev. Father we ask you to accept this gift.

In enjoying the pleasure of viewing again the emerald hills and vales of Fair Erin, and the many historic sights of that far-famed "Home of Saints and Scholars," may it serve to remind you that you have won many warm friends in Peterborough, who will find their greatest pleasure in wishing you a glad "Welcome Home."

Signed on behalf of the Ladies' Literary Society.

Prof. Alexander Gave Able Address on Great Novelist

The Works of George Eliot Reviewed—Delineation of Character and Inner Life of the People are Among the Most Noticeable Features of Her Books - Some of Her Strong Characteristics.

One of the most enjoyable and instructive addresses that has been given in this city for some time was that which was listened to by a large and appreciative audience in the Y.W.C.A. parlors last evening. The lecture given by Prof. Alexander of Toronto University, was under the auspices of the Saturday Circle, and was a most decided success.

Sheriff Hall was chairman and in a few remarks introduced Prof. Alexander. He spoke of the reading of books, and said that most of the reading that was done by the majority of the people of Ontario was utterly useless. The reading of novels was of no intellectual benefit, except as a relaxation, but good might be even derived from it, provided it was done with active use of the intellectual powers. If novels were read merely for the story, there would be nothing gained, but there is pleasure and culture in the proper reading of the proper sort. Real mental exertion to make comparison with similar incidents in real life, will help and if you really read, you get the power of appreciation.

In contrast to modern novelists George Eliot was notable in that her production was limited, and as she was a most conscientious worker, her books were not the work of months, but of years. Her first novel "Adam Bede" was written when she was 37 years of age. Her first books were much stronger than her later efforts with the exception of "Middlemarch" in which she showed much of her earlier ability. Those of her novels which are best known are, in the order of their writing "Adam Bede," "Mill on the Floss," "Silas Mariner," "Romola," "Felix Holt," "Middlemarch" and "Daniel Deronda."

Prof. Alexander said that with most noted novelists their success lay in depicting the scenes of their life before they reached maturity. Imagination creates nothing without experience and in the case of George Eliot was the most noticeable. Her lineation of character and the inner life of the people was one of the most notable features of her work.

George Eliot (Mary Ann Evans) was the daughter of a sturdy carpenter whose many fine qualities are recognized in her characterizations of Adam Bede and Mr. Garth in Middlemarch. Her life, up to her twentieth year was spent in the country, and the influence of the quiet simple life is with her in the after years, so that her most successful delineations are of country life. She was a woman of extraordinary ability and education and was a brilliant student of French, German and Hebrew. She was also very fond of music and quite talented in that respect. After their removal from the country home to Coventry, her religious views became changed under new influences and she lost all belief in all supernatural religion. Most of her stories present a concrete picture of retired English life, from the people's standpoint, and of the charm of rural England, while in the foreground were the spiritual or moral movements of the inner life of the individual. Her chief power lay in a wonderful power of analyzing character. No writer ever excelled her in this power. The idea she had of the real motive of life was the greatest happiness and pleasure to the greatest number and the greatest sin was selfishness. In all her books there are two contrasting characters, a selfish and unselfish one, such as Arthur and Adam and Dinah and Hetty.

George Eliot believed in life's dominant law that nothing happens by chance. "Whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap." She was a firm believer in the importance of little things and held that no action was so trivial, but it had its results. Great actions are determined by the little ones leading up to it. The influence of environment counts for much and the conditions under which we live. Unintentionally we influence one another. In conclusion Prof. Alexander read a selection from the "Mill on the Floss," that was especially enjoyed by the ladies.

The lecture was listened to with great interest. Mayor McWilliams was present and moved a vote of thanks to the speaker. This was seconded by Mr. F. D. Kerr, and was heartily approved of by all present.

The ladies of the Saturday Circle are to be congratulated on securing this talented lecturer for the evening and many appreciative remarks were made by the delighted audience.

Prof. Alexander is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Matthews, who entertained the members of the circle to supper at their residence, Water street, after the lecture.

Disappearance of Mining Man

Mystery Surrounds Whereabouts of Mr. E. B. Davis

The Madoc Review says:—Many inquiries are being made relative to the disappearance of Mr. E. B. Davis a well known mining man, who has been carrying on operations in the vicinity of Bannockburn until recently. On Feb. 26th he left his hotel, the St. Lawrence Hall, to get on an inspection tour of the Richardson mine at Eldorado, and that was the last seen of him. Before leaving he left with Mr. J. T. Cockram a large diamond, and told him to keep it till his return as he might lose it at the mine. Some letters and other things were also left in his room. Mr. Cockram did not know but he might have gone back to the mines at Bannockburn, but when he made inquiries he was apprised of the fact that he had not gone there. The thought then came that while Mr. Davis was in the Richardson mine he may have in some unaccountable way been drowned in the shaft. Mr. Cockram is very anxious about him, and asks that information regarding the missing man be sent to him at the St. Lawrence Hall, Madoc. There are no reasons why he should have left these parts without a moment's notice as he left all his effects at his mines at Bannockburn. Mr. Davis is a man with sharp features, about six feet tall, about 56 years of age, and his hair is quite gray.

Young Bachelors Enjoyable Dance

Splendid Time at Foresters' Hall Last Night

A most enjoyable dance was given by the young bachelors of the city in the Foresters' hall last night. About fifty couples were in attendance and everyone had a delightful time. Splendid music was supplied on the piano by Mr. Harding, of Scott's Colloseum, and dancing was kept up until 2.30 a.m. Dainty refreshments were served at midnight, the catering being done by Mr. T. H. Hooper, in his usual excellent manner.

The patronesses were Mrs. J. R. Stratton, Mrs. S. D. Hall and Mrs. Roland Denne.

Great credit is due Mr. Hague Sawers and Mr. Byron Green, who had charge of the arrangements for the affair.

HUGHES PARK

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—This so called park is simply the south end of Downy street. It is one of the streets laid down on the original plan of Peterborough and was always used as a public highway until closed of late years without any legal authority. Neither the city nor any individual has any right to so obstruct the King's highway, either for a park or any other purpose whatever without subjecting themselves to the penalties and remedies in such cases made and provided, and amongst others they render themselves liable to be indicted and punished accordingly. Moreover any moneys improperly expended and can be recovered from the individual members of the Council who thus misapply the funds of the city. It would be just as legal to turn George street into a park and shut out traffic. Those driving south on Downie street, upon arriving at Charlotte street would be obliged to make a detour and go zig-zag to Park street and so continue their course southwards.

Yours, etc.,

LISTEN TO THIS.
"City of the Fairest" is the description the Belleville Intelligencer gives of that town. The article says; "Belleville girls are so sweet-tempered and attractive that young men come from all points of the compass to wed them. In some unfortunate places the fairest flowers are often born to blush unseen. Not so in Belleville. Her reputation as a garden for fair girls is so well known, that every young lady, almost as soon as she attains marriageable age, is snapped up"——If Peterborough Council passes that bachelor bylaw the young buds and mature blossoms of Belleville may have the chance of their lives. "Far hills are green," and as the proposed legislation goes to show, the charms of the Peterborough ladies are not calculated to tempt young men into matrimony.—Lindsay Post.

NO ASSISTANTS FOR OVERSEER

Fishery Inspector Has too Large a District

Mr. D. Johnson, fishery overseer for the Otonabee River and Rice Lake, was in the city today and informed a Review representative that he never saw so many maskinonge in Rice Lake before as there are at present. Mr. Johnson was at the lake a few days ago and saw hundreds of 'lunge. "Why, they're as thick as mist," said the overseer, "and the fishing will be great if they are left alone until the close season is over on June 15th."

However, it will be exceedingly difficult for Mr. Johnson to prevent illegal fishing if anyone is inclined to break the law, as his district is too great for one man. Last year he had two assistants, but this season he is not going to have any, owing to the action of the department officials at Toronto.

"Anyone I catch breaking the law" said Mr. Johnson, "will be punished to the full extent of the law."

Get Your Dog Tag Before May 1st.

The last day for securing your dog tags is Wednesday, May 1st. Only three days are left. Up to the time of going to press the city clerk had issued less than 100 and there should be nearly 1,000 dogs in the city. The number of dogs which have died from poison this year will of course make a difference of several dollars to the city's revenue. Still there should be at least 500 or 600 tags sold now. Those who do not get their tags by May 1st will have to accept the consequences.

Work and Worth are Appreciated

St. Joseph Church, Douro, Gave Rev. Father Kelly Purse of $150.

Rev. Father P. J. Kelly, who for the past six months has been curate of St. Joseph's church, Douro, will be attached to the staff of St. Peter's Cathedral.

The parish of Havelock, which has for many years been looked after by Rev. Father Conway, of Norwood, will henceforth come under the direction of St. Peter's Cathedral. Service will be conducted at Havelock every two weeks by one of the Cathedral clergy. Owing to the increased responsibility it has been found necessary to have Rev. Father Kelly return to this city.

During his six months' labors in Douro as assistant to Rev. Father Kielty, Father Kelly was highly esteemed for his faithful work and earnest efforts in promoting the spiritual and moral welfare of the people.

At a meeting held in St. Joseph's hall last night, which was largely attended, Father Kelly was presented with an appreciative and well worded address accompanied by a purse of $150 in money.

Mr. A. Whibbs presided, and the address, which referred in grateful terms to the many excellent qualities of Father Kelly, was read by Mr. Frank Maher, reeve of the township.

The purse was handed over by Rev. P. G. Towns.

The recipient made a happy reply, expressing the pleasure it had afforded him at all times to labor among them. He would never forget the many kindnesses and marks of esteem received from the good people of Douro. He was leaving them with keen regret but hoped to visit them often. He spoke of their devotion and loyalty to the church, and wished them one and all continued prosperity and happiness.

The first, and no doubt the most interesting foot race of the season was run last night on the Y.M.C.A.'s new athletic grounds. The competitors were the president, Mr. Harding, and the secretary, Mr. G. H. Williamson. The president was foxy, and took a head start, but by an extra hard sprint the secretary overtook him, and it is hard to say who would have won out, but the president cut corners and came in ahead after a most exciting contest, and the cheers of the spectators. The time for once around the field was a trifle less than one hour and sixty-one minutes.

Conservative Demonstration in Grand Opera House Attracted Large and Enthusiastic Gathering

Rousing Speeches Delivered by Mr. George W. Fowler, M.P., and Hon. J. W. Hanna, Provincial Secretary—The Extravagance, Broken Pledges and Mal-administration of Laurier Regime Exposed—Mr. Fowler Severely Scores the Partisan Report of the Insurance Commission—Mr. Hanna Reviewed Splendid Record and Legislation of the Whitney Government—How the Interests and Welfare of the Province Have Been Furthered—The School Book Monopoly, the Pulp Wood Concessions and the Timber Limit Scandals of the Ross Administration Contrasted With the Honest and Progressive Policy of Premier Whitney.

The big mass meeting in the Grand Opera House last evening under the auspices of the Liberal-Conservative Association of West Peterborough attracted a large and enthusiastic gathering.

There were many ladies present the balcony being reserved for the fair sex and their escorts. Representative Conservatives were present from nearly every riding in the county and all joined heartily in greeting the eloquent speakers of the evening, Mr. Geo. W. Fowler, M.P., of King's and Albert, N. B., and Hon. W. J. Hanna, provincial secretary.

Mr A. C. Boyce, M.P., West Algoma and Mr. J. G. H. Bergeron, M.P., Beauharnois, Que., were unable to come and at the last moment sent word to the effect that they could not keep their appointment.

The visitors were heard to splendid advantage and both spoke with force and effectiveness. Their remarks were punctuated by frequent outbursts of applause and the reception accorded them certainly did not lack in warmth or cordiality.

Mr. Fowler spoke for over an hour. He referred in pointed terms to maladministration, extravagance, and broken pledges of the Laurier regime and scathingly exposed the various land scandals which the past few months have brought to light. The member for King's and Albert denounced the one-sided and partisan report of the insurance commission, whose sole object, he affirmed, had been to attach wrong doing to certain leading Conservatives, but the effort had proved to be a boomerang and instead of accomplishing the object sought, had resulted in driving Hon. Mr. Emmerson, minister of railways and canals, into private life. Mr. Fowler declared that the feared not open honest criticism, but the insurance commission had essayed to strike below the belt, and for that body he entertained nothing but contempt. He predicted that when the next federal election was brought on, there would be such a revulsion in public feeling throughout Canada that the reign of the iniquitous and reckless Laurier regime would be at an end.

Hon W. J. Hanna, the brilliant and accomplished provincial secretary, proved himself to be a splendid platform sepaker. He ably reviewed the proud record and progressive legislation of the Whitney Government and touched upon the work in various departments, which had been carried out for the good and welfare of the province. He contrasted the present happy and prosperous condition of affairs with the state of things which held full away under the tyrannical and corrupt Ross administration, with its trafficing in pulpwood concessions, timber limits, mining rights, and school book privileges. He spoke of the added revenue to the province, the advanced railway taxation scheme, the increased grants to education, the establishment of Normal schools, the exposure of the school book ring, the lessened cost of text books, the mining taxation measure, the fearless and impartial carrying out of the license regulations abolition of the numbered ballot and other evidences of the fact that the confidence of the people had not been betrayed by Mr Whitney and his colleagues. The splendid results achieved had certainly justified the change which Ontario had made a little over two years ago in the direction of its affairs. The new government had redeemed its promises and had given the province clean, progressive, economical and wise administration.

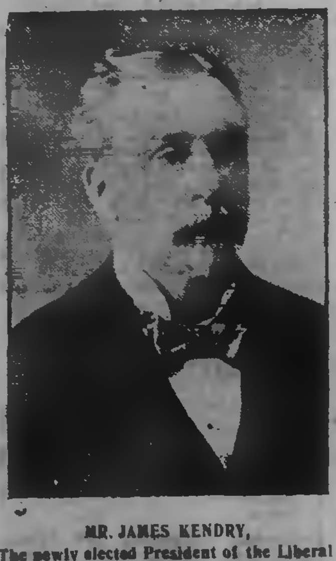
Mr Hanna paid a glowing tribute to the faithful work of Mr. T. E Bradburn, M.P., and the fact that he had been successful in "collaring" one of the new Normal schools for Peterborough. Mr. Hanna's splendid and eloquent address was listened to with the deepest attention

THE MEETING OPENS

The chairman of the evening was Mr James Kendry, ex-M.P., the newly elected president of the Liberal-Conservative Association of West Peterborough. Mr. Kendry made an excellent presiding officer. Associated with him on the platform were Hon. W J. Hanna, provincial secretary, Mr. George W. Fowler, M.P., Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P., Mr. Jas. Stevenson, ex-M.P., Mr. John Carnegie, ex-M.P.P., Lt.-Col. J. W Miller, H. C. Winch, J. A. Sexsmith, of East Peterborough, and others.

The stage was beautifully decorated with palms, ferns and flowers, while at the rear a large Union Jack was suspended. The boxes, which were filled with ladies and their escorts, bore two expressive mottos, "Laurier in London has betrayed us," and "Provincial rights at Petawawa,—no surrender." A good musical programme was rendered during the evening and excellent order prevailed. The young men and older ones too, were out in full force and took the liveliest interest in the proceedings.

In opening the meeting Mr. Kendry stated that he was pleased to see such a large and representative audience gathered together to hear the public questions of the day discussed. There never was a time in the history of Canada when the questions of the day, especially those as regards the Federal House, needed open discussion as at present. He then introduced Mr. Fowler, who, on rising to speak, was received with great applause.



MR. JAMES KENDRY,
The newly elected President of the Liberal Conservative Association.

MR. FOWLER SPEAKS

In commencing his address Mr. Fowler bespoke the pleasure it gave him to be present to address a public meeting in the progressive city of Peterborough. He regretted that Mr. Boyce and Mr. Bergeron were not able to be present, and apologized on their behalf for their absence. In discussing public questions in regard to Federal matters, said Mr. Fowler, the Conservatives of Canada were not able to deal with them in the manner as they had before the Liberals came into power at Ottawa. During the Conservative regime there had been a distinct line of cleavage between the policies of the two parties. The Conservatives had stood for the National Policy, while the Liberals in opposition decried it as unworkable, and detrimental to the best interests of the Canadas. Were their charges based on a good foundation? The Grits were now avowed protectionists and had incorporated into their body and soul the National Policy of the Conservative party. The distinct line of cleavage in the policies of the two parties no longer existed. It was now largely a matter of administration, and in this connection the question narrowed down as to whether the Liberal Government, who for years had denounced the National Policy, were as well fitted and equipped to administer that policy as the men who had framed it, and had been its exponents for years The Conservatives were better qualified to carry this policy to a successful issue. The speaker accused the Government of bungling the tariff in regard to the woolen industry of Canada with the result that the men engaged in this business were laboring under a distinct disadvantage.

LIBERALS HAD ERRED.

Speaking of other matters in which the Liberal party had shown bad judgment in the past, Mr. Fowler referred to their opposition to the Canadian Pacific Railway, when the matter of building this transcontinental road was first brought up in the House. They had opposed the scheme vigorously and had done their utmost to prevent the project from being carried out. The Liberals claimed that the Conservatives had opposed the building of the Grand Trunk Pacific. This was not the case. The Opposition was fully alive to the necessity of a second transcontinental railway to meet the demands of the great and growing Dominion, but they opposed the methods of the Government as regards the means taken to secure this great railway line. Especially was this true as regards the eastern section, where for several miles the new line will parallel the Intercolonial, which could have been made to serve the purpose of the eastern section of the new transcontinental road, with the saving of a large amount of money to the people of Canada

LITTLE DIFFERENCE NOW.

On questions of policy, continued Mr. Fowler, there was little difference between the two parties. It was rather a matter of administration. Here Mr. Fowler touched upon the heavy expenditure of the Laurier Government. When the Grits came into power in 1896 they found the public expenditure of Canada per year about $40,000,000. While in Opposition they had raised a great hue and cry about the expenditure of the Conservatives, and promised, if elected to power, to reduce the same appreciably. Had they done so? Far from it. The present expenditure of the Dominion exceeded over $130,000,000 per annum, or an increase of $90,000,000 since the days of the Conservative regime.

LAND DEALS.

Mr. Fowler then went into detail into such famous cases as the Robbins land deal, Blairmore town site affair, Moncton land deal, Halifax land deal and others of an equally interesting nature. He showed conclusively that in these affairs Liberal members of Parliament and Liberal heelers had been practically handed over large sums of money out of the public treasury, without giving anything in return for same. Friends of the Government had been let in on these deals, and had enriched themselves on the different transactions. The history of each transaction was carefully traced, and several striking incidents were given to show what the Government had acted in order to please its friends rather than to safeguard the interests of the country.

"These little sample bricks I have given you," said Mr. Fowler, "will give you a fair idea of how the public money is being wasted, and when we consider that there are over 4,000 miles of country between Halifax and Vancouver it will be readily seen that the waste runs up into the millions each year." As an example of how the money was being spent Mr. Fowler cited a case in a town in New Brunswick, where a tailor had been appointed to act as inspector on new armories being built there. This man knew nothing about the work connected with the position to which he had been appointed. Yet he was given the preference over many carpenters and masons in the town because he was a Grit worker. This tailor knew nothing about the position he was filling and a practical man, such as a carpenter or mason should have got the job.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUSES.

Later on in his address Mr. Fowler dealt with the large surpluses the Government would have the people believe that they possess. They claim at present a surplus of $23,000,000. "These Liberal spendthrifts would have you believe," said Mr. Fowler, "that they have some mysterious way at Ottawa for making money. Don't you believe it. Every dollar of it is the people's money and comes out of the people's pockets. If they have this big surplus which they boast of, why do they not reduce the rate of taxation? What do they do with this surplus? What becomes of it? Has the national debt been reduced? No. Every year, except one, since Laurier got the reins of power at Ottawa there has been an increase in the national debt. In times of fatness the Government should prepare for the lean years which are sure to come. At Ottawa a few nights ago the House had voted away $31,000,000 in less than ten minutes. Did this look much like saving money?"

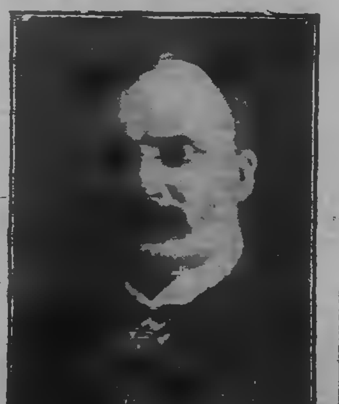
IMMIGRATION.

Mr Fowler then passed on to the immigration policy of the Dominion Government, which he severely criticized. "Immigration," said Mr. Fowler, "is one of the most important matters before the people of Canada to-day. I for one do not state that a wall should be placed around this country to bar out all comers from other hands. Far be it from that, but we should use some common sense in [illegible] those who are going to come and live among us. If we are going to be a united nation, with the same high hopes and ambitions, the same high ideals, and actuated by the same noble spirit we should be careful as to who settles among us. Canada in one respect is divided into two great divisions, the East and the West. Each depends upon the other, and what affects one affects the other. This being the case we of the East should be careful as to who settle on the fertile plains of the West. The Government's object is to boost the population regardless of the quality of the immigration being promoted. Character is more important than numbers. The Government is giving premiums to booking agents in the Old Country of from $2 to $10 per head for every immigrant sent to Canada. The time is past when we need to pay a premium to people to get them to come and settle on the rich plains of the West. Just imagine paying bounties to people to come and get 160 acres of rich land free of charge. Better that the population should increase slowly than that this course should be kept up any longer." The speaker strongly denounced the proposed legislation of the Government to give immigrants a free grant of 320 acres instead of 160, as at present. One of the worst things that could happen would be to have the West divided up into large estates. We must not make the mistake of the Old Country. Let us mark out a path for ourselves and let us have the land divided into small holdings, each one owned by the man who tills it.

INSURANCE.

Mr. Fowler then passed on to the work of the Insurance Commission and in this connection stated that he had a considerable quantity of disrespect and contempt for that body and was not going to fail to make it known on every occasion. When the Commission was appointed it was soon seen from its personnel that it was intended to make political capital out of its work. "I have sometimes been called a hard hitter," said Mr Fowler, "but no one can ever say that I hit below the belt and that's what these people have done." Mr. Fowler gave a detailed statement of his experiences with the Commission before which he appeared in connection with the enquiry into the affairs of the Independent Order of Foresters. The Commission had gone away out of its scope in its endeavors to secure damaging evidence against Conservative members of Parliament, but without success.

In connection with the purchases of lands and timber limits in the West, Mr. Fowler explained that he had in his capacity as a private citizen bought certain of these on the open market and paid the then market price for them. This was what every business man did. The purchases had been made for speculative purposes. If the land advanced in price those who had brought them stood a reasonable chance of making some money; if they depreciated in value they stood to lose. "I didn't buy them for the good of my health," said Mr. Fowler, "My health was good and my nerves steady. It was not necessary for me to go to California to seek renewed health like some other people have done."



HON. W. J. HANNA,
Provincial Secretary.

VACANT SEATS.

"It had been hinted," said Mr Fowler, "at one time that I was afraid to go back to Ottawa and that I would see my finish when I struck Ottawa. Well, sir, if my character is not good enough to let me remain in the House of Commons, then there will be a lot of vacant seats on the other side of the House."

The speaker related the events in the House of Commons that had led up to the rather sensational episode on February 19th of the present year. "I told them," said Mr. Fowler "that if they were going to discuss my private affairs I would discuss theirs, and the Government came to the conclusion that a man's private affairs were not a proper subject for discussion in the House."

"The man who tried to hit Geo. E. Foster and other members of the Conservative party through the Insurance Commission," said Mr. Fowler towards the close of his address, "has a very poor aim. He aimed at Foster and hit Emmerson instead. Mr. Emmerson has been the worst failure as Minister of Railways that has been seen at the head of a department at Ottawa for a long time."

PREDICTED VICTORY.

Mr. Fowler closed by predicting a grand Conservative victory at the next Dominion election. He was confident that the people would declare that the present corrupt Government must go.

Mr. Fowler's speech was punctuated by frequent outbursts of applause.

HON. W. J. HANNA

Hon. W. J. Hanna, provincial secretary, was given a splendid reception. In opening he remarked that he was present because he felt it a pleasure to accept the invitation of Mr. T E. Bradburn. It was the first time that he had visited the people of West Peterborough, who had honored Mr. Bradburn a little over two years ago with their franchise, and he was glad of this opportunity to come. Mr. Hanna spoke very highly of the local member as a representative in the Ontario House. Mr. Bradburn was valuable to the province and to his own constituency, especially.

The Provincial Secretary then paid a high tribute to the ladies present and hoped he would never see the day when the interest of the ladies in political matters would wane. They were valuable to the men in forming their judgment on public questions, and they added a dignity and grace to a meeting which was most enjoyable to the men.

Mr. Hanna took up the work of the Conservative Government which had been in power for two years. "Has the change made two years ago been justified?" That question has not been asked. No one questions the wisdom of the change in 1905. (cheers.) It is the right of the people to ask what remedy did the Conservative party bring about? Mr. Hanna recalled the development of things in this province prior to 1905 and dwelt upon the corruption of the Ross Government for several years before 1898 and up to 1905. He said that had the ballots been properly counted in 1898 the Conservatives would have been returned. In 1902 there was another election and Ross returned with a majority of one. Everyone knows what followed then. The speaker briefly explained what transpired from 1902 to 1905. At that time Mr. Whitney promised that the ballots of the people would be honestly counted if he was returned to power. He was returned to power and with an overwhelming majority. Has he since then carried out that promise? There had been three bye-elections, but there has not been the slightest hint of a suspicion of wrong doing on the part of any member or officer of the Crown. Mr. Whitney had promised to abolish the numbered ballot and the first thing he did when he came into control of the Government was to wipe out that numbered ballot and in future no man can tell how his neighbor votes.

Mr. Whitney promised that the men who had disgraced the province and who had written the blackest pages in the history of Ontario, would be punished. Those men and their dupes as far as possible have been prosecuted. All know that many have had to jump the country and dare not return. He refered to London and the disgraceful practices there during the last election. The perpetrators of these practices have been prosecuted.

NO AID TO RAILWAYS.

The Conservatives in opposition had opposed giving aid to railways in the province. Have they redeemed this pledge? Have there been any money grants or any land grants to railways since Mr. Whitney came into power? There certainly have not.

Then there is the question of railway taxation. Farmers, laborers and all others agitated taxes on the railways for years. The Liberals did tax the railways, but Conservatives promised to take greater action along this line. As a result the railways now paid into the provincial treasury $400,000 and after deducting the expenses connected with the collection of this tax, the cost of the railway commission and a certain amount for the care of the insane, every cent of the money was divided among the municipalities of the province.

Another matter in dispute between the Liberals and Conservatives for years was the disposal of the assets of the province. The assets consist of mineral, timber and pulp wood interests. The Conservatives opposed the Liberal policy of giving away these interests to their own friends. Mr. Whitney advocated putting all concessions up at public auction. Mr. Hanna told of several of the deals the Ross Government put through, from which the people of Ontario received very little in return, and compared them with the action of the Whitney Government since it came into power.

One of the first acts of the Conservative Government was to declare that the time of the Montreal Pulp Mills Co. would not be extended and the syndicate could not live up to its agreement. The result was the negotiations were not put through and the province was not paid one cent. The Whitney Government advertised the Montreal Pulp concessions and sold it for over $300,000 and reserved the timber interests as well. (Cheers).

Then come, said the Provincial Secretary, to the mineral interests and see what the Whitney Government has been doing. There is a marked difference between the policy of the Liberals and that of the Conservatives. The minerals of New Ontario are creating more interest than anything else in the country. The immense wealth of Cobalt was discovered during the Ross regime, and just before the elections of 1905, that country was thrown open to prospectors. Mr. Hanna spoke of the corruption of the Grit heelers in that mineral district and how the friends of Ross were able to get for nothing many of the most valuable sections there. The Conservative party came into power and they claimed that as this new country had been opened up at the expense and for the benefit of the people of the province, it was only right that they should have the benefit of what wealth was left. The Government immediately withdrew all that was left of the mineral land, and as a result the treasury has received over $1,085,000 from Cobalt Lake property, and $178,000 from Kerr Lake, besides having a royalty of 25 per cent. on the output with the mineral rights under the town of Cobalt, and along the route of the Temiskaming Railway. The province has today in the treasury over $1,000,000, which it would not have had under the Liberal Government.

TIMBER LIMITS.

A similar policy has been adopted in connection with the timber limits. Instead of selling timber at $50,000 per square mile, it is sold at $12.50 per thousand stumpage, which means $60,000 per square mile, and instead of granting a perpetual timber license as was the case under the Ross rule, only a fifteen year license is granted.

COMMERCIAL INTERESTS.

Mr. Hanna then took up the commercial position of the province, and pointed out how the Government was diverting the revenue from its assets to the commercial interests. Instead of having deficits as was the case under the late rulers, the revenue today is a million more than the expenditure, and the capital has not suffered.

To rural schools alone the Government is paying $380,000 instead of $120,000, which the Ross Government paid. The Conservatives in opposition said that the public school system was not what it should be. The Ross Government claimed that it was an ideal one, and they paraded it before all the fat stock shows on the continent. That system was merely a stepping stone to a higher education. Mr. Whitney claimed the public schools of this province should be more practical and of more benefit to the great majority of the boys whose mission it is and which mission it fills in freeing thousands from the bondage of dreaded, disgusting, discouraging, distracting catarrh, that cruel, relentless master that is no respecter of persons. How do you know you are in its thrall? Note the symptoms—headache, watery eyes, pains over the eyes, deafness, buzzing in the head, dropping in the throat, offensive breath, dryness in the nostrils—any or all of these symptoms are forerunners of catarrh, and catarrh in the headache stage can be relieved in 10 minutes by Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder and the sufferer may be saved the suffering that comes with the chronic stage and the distress and maybe fatal results when catarrh takes hold on the lung tissues.

Take catarrh in time with this wonderful cure, which, as thousands have said and thousands more could say, "works like magic," and you will have struck the chord that is the keynote to health and happiness.

and girls, and he promised to have it changed. He promised to have the teachers better qualified and fewer studies for the children and to that end the Conservative party has plied itself and there is no doubt the verdict of the people of this province today is that they have been faithful to their pledge and have done good work.

The Government is doing away with the Model Schools and four Normal Schools are being erected, one of which, thanks to Mr. Bradburn will be in Peterborough.

CHEAPER SCHOOL BOOKS.

Mr. Hanna then touched upon the school book question, which had been a source of debate for many years. The Conservative party today finds itself open to make a different contract to that made by the Ross Government. First, a new commission was appointed to investigate the school book question. The result is that the books are found inferior, in quality, excessive in number and exorbitant in price. The commission found that there never was any competition in the contracts awarded by the Ross Government, but that there was an understanding between the three men tendering. This finding is based upon the evidence given by the men publishing the books. The Whitney Government has taken the power to take over the copyrights of these books and the children of the province, will get their books at reasonable cost, and there will be fewer of them.

MORAL WORK.

In conclusion Mr. Hanna touched upon the moral work of the Whitney Government. Prior to the election of the present Government, the officers of the Crown hardly knew their position. Law was not enforced. Things were going on which ruined many young men. Has the Whitney Government made any change in the liquor license law? You all know what has been done. But take the pool room at Toronto Junction and take what was going on at Fort Erie. The attention of the Attorney-General of the Ross Government was drawn to the fact. But there was, he said, a charter given by the Ottawa Government which prevented any action being taken. This went on for years, and the Ross Government dared not move.

Mr. Whitney came into power. What did he do? He took the portfolio of Attorney-General and he had not been there long before something happened. He saw that gambling hell at Toronto Junction. He did not see any boulders in the way, but he gathered the police around him and they raided that place, and 165 young men were caught in broad daylight. The place has been closed as has also the sporting houses at Fort Erie. (Cheers.)

The Provincial Secretary thanked the people for their hearing and expressed the great pleasure of being allowed to address them.

During the evening the Mandolin Club gave a selection that was received with great applause and Mr. McLaren gave a humorous sketch, that made a great hit. Mr. McLaren is a splendid entertainer and he deserved the enthusiastic reception he received. Mr. J. Dickenson gave a fine piano solo.

The meeting closed by singing "God Save the King" and cheers for Hon. Mr. Hanna, Mr Fowler and Mr. Bradburn.

Among those from a distance who attended the Conservative meeting last evening were Messrs. J. C. Grylls, J. R. Fraser, M.D., F. J. Lillicrap, R. C. Strickland, Lakefield, Archie Johnston, of Harvey; Reeve O'Connor, of Ennismore; Mr. George J. Sherry, of Norwood, and others.

Men Want a Tonsorial Artist at Stoney Lake This Summer

While many good things have been recommended for the Stony Lake cottages for this season, few will be granted. But there is one thing which has not been mentioned and which is a real necessity and easy to secure. Moreover, it is a practical business proposition. It has been suggested that the proprietor of Juniper Island store make arrangements for a tonsorial parlor on his island and have a razor and scissor artist there so many days a week or all summer for that matter. The men would patronize such a place almost as regularly as a refreshment booth where ice cold liquids are sold. It is a necessity, too, and a barber could make a good living there all summer. He would also be in a position to have a first class time.

One Teacher Taught for Three Years Without Administering Corporal Punishment

It has been stated by one who recently turned up the discipline books of the Public schools, that in one of the rooms the teacher has not administered corporal punishment for three years. Needless to say this teacher is a young lady with a very sweet, gentle disposition and a fascinating manner. Nevertheless she has a strong personality and the boys and girls are kept under control by means foreign to the teachers of years ago. With all these good qualities on the part of the teacher the pupils also deserve credit. They are evidently of an entirely different temperament to their daddies, who made their school days the most sensational period of their lives.

Christian Scientists Held Annual Business Meeting

Mr. R. J. and Mrs. Todd Elected First and Second Reader, Respectively, for Another Term—Church Has a Clean Balance Sheet and is Making Satisfactory Progress.

The annual business meeting of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, was held last night in the church building 378 Aylmer street. The several reports show the church to be in a very harmonious condition and in good financial standing, all accounts paid up to date and a substantial balance on hand to begin the new year with.

After the business of the year was finished up, the president, Mr. R. J. Todd, addressed the meeting, in part as follows,—

"Beloved brethren, in the great work of Christ, now at the winding up of another year in connection with our work, I wish to thank you all for your hearty co-operation and support in carrying on and upholding the great cause of Christian Science. As you all know, our path has not all been roses, thorns and briars, obstacles have been put in our way by the one evil, trying to overthrow and retard the progress of this little branch of the great mother vine. Knowing this, makes our joy and gratitude to God all the greater, when we find ourselves in health and harmony with a clean balance sheet, as our auditor's reports shows all the demands met and a balance on hand.

"I am sure I voice thoughts of every member when I say, we thank God, 'the giver of every good and perfect gift,' for honoring our feeble efforts, and enabling us to achieve this victory, while the enemy was boasting that we would starve out. I am informed that a certain man, a few days ago said, "I can't see where they get their money to keep going.' This man has not yet learned that God is the infinite source of supply, and to that one source do Christian Scientists look, and depend upon, and do not bow to the wealth of mortal man. "Thus saith the Lord, cursed be the man that trusteth in man and maketh flesh his arm, and whose heart departeth from the Lord. Blessed is the man that trusteth in the Lord, and whose hope the Lord is." Jer. 17, 5-7.

"You will pardon me, I know, if I should trespass on your time, to express a few thoughts in connection with our six years sojourn here.

"As you know, Mrs. Todd and myself have each served our term of three years as First Readers, which is the limit for large churches, where they have ample material to choose from. It is to be remembered, however, that Christian Science is common sense, and we have been told that small church branches have to use common sense, and act to their highest sense, in the best interests of the cause in that locality. Mrs. Eddy says,—"Wisdom in human action, begins with what is nearest right under the circumstances, and thence achieves the absolute." (Miscellaneous Writings, Page 288, line 14.) Again in Science and Health, Page 371, line 21-24, "I would not transform the infant at once into a man—no impossible thing do I ask when urging the claims of Christian Science."

"It is with you to use your best judgment guided by divine mind, in electing your officers. Mrs. Todd myself and family, have done what little we could do. Our term has expired, and we have tendered our resignation to all offices. The way is fully open to you to carry out your wish. To use Paul's words we are ready to depart on the morrow.' I cannot on this occasion refrain from saying a few words with reference to the past six years, and a little hint by way of warning for the future. In reviewing, we perhaps feel a little humiliated that we have not grown more in numbers. However, we have much to rejoice over, in seeing a most wonderful growth, from a metaphysical standpoint. Six years ago, it seemed to take all the courage and grace that you possessed to even mention the name of Christian Science. If you did succeed, you got the thought, if not in words, how we have heard as much about that as we want to know. In many instances it was termed the work of the devil. The press would scarcely publish a word in our favor. Right here I must say, we are much indebted to the press for their kindness. We have two evening daily papers that are without a doubt a credit to our city for the clean, respectable, management. The past opposition was not against Christianity, as taught by Mrs. Eddy, but the wrong impression the public had of it. In some cases caused by false opinions, of those calling themselves Christian Scientists.

We are glad to note that as the honest public get to know what Christian [illegible] posed to it.

I was very much pleased to have the honor recently of meeting with our Ministerial brethren in their monthly association meeting, and enjoyed the pleasure of listening to a paper read on "Christian Science and religion," in which were expressions I did not expect to hear, such as "There is a great deal of truth in it." "I have received good from reading the literature." and "I strongly recommend the study of the literature." I am pleased to tell you that, even during the criticism, there was not an unkind word against Mrs. Eddy or what she teaches, after your humble servant explained that the book they read from was not Christian Science, and what they discredited, so did we, as it is from those who have turned from Mrs. Eddy (if they had ever been with her) and were giving the public their own thought, calling it Christian Science. I am pleased to see that our noble body of Christian ministers are getting to see and feel that we as Christian Scientists are one with them in striving to save mankind from sin, as well as from sickness. And I am sure, as they gain more knowledge of Mrs. Eddy's true character and teaching, they will appreciate it, and wish it God speed. We are delighted to know that our beloved Protestant churches are not opposed to true genuine Christian Science. It is the false literature they oppose, and the false men and women who are led out of a part of their error, relieved of a great deal of their suffering, set partially free by Christian Science, they came in with us for a little while, but finding the standard too high, and the way too narrow for bundles of hypocrisy, deceit and worldliness, they say, we will go over our lessons at home, next they call in an innocent neighbor or two, and have a service of their own, calling it Christian Science, when back of it is malice, hate, revenge, while the tenets of the Christain Science Church call on its adherents to love one another, and to strive to have the mind o Christ.

This is what the Christian church church is opposing, and not the Church of Christ Scientist, as instituted and upheld by Mrs. Eddy. As Mrs. Eddy says, as soon as the orthodox church understands Christian Science, and her teaching, it will love her as she loves it.

It is gratifying to know that the only true Christian Science literature is from the pen of Mrs. Eddy, or through the Publishing Society in Boston, Mass. and that there is a regularly organized church known as "The First Church of Christ Scientist, Boston, Mass." and its branches rapidly spreading over the world, in which are sheltered and fed those who are hungering after righteousness and are true to the order and rules laid down by Mrs. Eddy, where they can find the true "Christian Scientist."

In conclusion, I am pleased to remind you of one fact, for which we have a right to bow in holy reverence to our beloved Father-Mother, God, that the six years I have managed the affairs of this church, I have not had an occasion to read a burial service over one of our members.

Just yesterday I received a letter with $5.00 for treatment of a case last summer, a case of rheumatism, and the doctors said one of the ligaments was broken. The mother had no money to pay until now, and is very happy over her boy being in perfect health. I simply mention this that you may know that our theory is losing none of its healing power.

As Paul says, "Prove all things, hold fast that which is good." "And the God of peace shall be with you."

OFFICERS ELECTED.

The election of officers was then proceeded with.

Mr. R. J. Todd was elected First Reader, and Mrs. Todd Second Reader. They accepted the positions, subject to the approval of the Rev. Mary Baker G. Eddy.

The clerk being instructed to write Mrs. Eddy asking her advise on the action of the members of this branch church in re-electing the former readers. All offices were filled and the meeting closed harmoniously.

GREAT HORSE SHOW

Prospects for This Year's Attraction are Exceptionally Bright

The fact that the winners of prizes of this year's horses at the Canadian National Horse Show to be held in Toronto May 1—2—3—4, will be chosen to represent Ontario at the International Show in London, England, to be held from June 8 to 15, has increased the interest in the Toronto show, as entries and enquiries are coming in from all parts of Ontario, as never represented before. The prize list has also been increased by two cups, to be given by the Harness, Hunters' and Saddle Horses' Society. The work of seating and decorating the new St. Lawrence arena is being rapidly completed. Mr. Wm. J. Robson, travelling representative of Mr. Stewart Houston, the manager of the Horse Show, is in the city today.

A MEMORABLE MEETING

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir.—The Conservatives who worked so hard to make last night's meeting a success, were no doubt pleased with the result. A bumper house greeted Messrs. Hanna and Fowler. It was generally remarked that Hon. Mr. Hanna was amongst the finest speakers ever heard here. His comparison of Grit and Tory rule at Toronto was clear and convincing. It was a great success all around.

Yours, etc.,
TORY.

The Natural Cure For Rheumatism

"Fruit-a-tives" remove from the blood the poison which causes Rheumatism.

Rheumatism means poisoned blood. The kidneys, bowels and skin should rid th system of waste matter. If either of these vital organs become weakened or diseased, the body cannot throw off this waste fast enough.

One of these body poisons is UREA, which is eliminated both by the kidneys and skin. If the skin action is poor—if the kidneys are inflammed—urea stays in the system—is changed into uric acid—carried by the blood to the nerves and joints—and causes Rheumatism.

"Fruit-a-tives" cure Rheumatism because they eliminate urea, by increasing the action of bowels, kidneys and skin.

This is the only possible way in which Rheumatism can be cured to stay cured. And "Fruit-a-tives" is the only remedy in the world that completely eradicates the disease from the system.

"Fruit-a-tives" will cure almost any case of Rheumatism, Sciatica, Neuralgia.

"Fruit-a-tives" are fruit juices in which the natural medicinal action of fruit is many time increased by the process of combining them.

Then tonics and antiseptics are added and the whole made into tablets. 50c. a box—6 for $2.50. At all dealers or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa. 111

Policeman Newhall's Story Was Contradicted by Train Crew

C. P. R. Conductor Barnes Not Guilty of Blocking the Crossing—Appeal From Magistrate Dumble's Decision Heard by His Honor Judge Weller.

For four hours yesterday afternoon his Honor Judge Weller listened to the appeal of the case of the C.P.R. vs. City of Peterborough. This was an appeal against a decision given by Magistrate Dumble some time ago, when he found John Barnes, a freight conductor on the C. P. R. guilty of blocking the crossing on George street for a longer period than five minutes. The police court case resulted from Policeman Newhall timing the freight train, but his Honor reversed the decision and quashed the conviction, saying that he could not accept the policeman's story, in face of the contradictory evidence of the whole train crew.

Mr. Angus McMurchy of Toronto, appeared for the company, and Mayor R. F. McWilliams for the city, instead of the City Solicitor, E. H. D. Hall.

For the prosecution, the evidence given was the same as that heard at the police court. Policeman Newhall was the chief witness. His story was in part that while coming to work on the morning of Thursday, March 21, he noticed a freight train standing across George Street. He first noticed the train as he came around the corner of Lake and George Streets on the street car, he said, and took the time of the delay. It was 7.34 a. m., when he first saw the obstruction to traffic, and the train did not move until 7.40 o'clock, a m., of for six minutes, one whole minute more than the time allowed, and the shunting was not done until two whole minutes after that, or at 7.42 o'clock the train was ready to leave the city.

Arthur Killingbeck, the motorman and R. L. Sarginson, the conductor, on the street car both confirmed the cop's statement that there was a delay, but neither of them could say how long it was.

For the defence the whole train crew gave evidence. Engineer McMerny, First Brakeman J. H. Davidson, Second Brakeman Jas. Pirie, Fireman Jas. Sinclair, Conductor John Barnes and the telegraph operator at the C.P.R. station all told practically the same story. They said that it would not take them more than three minutes to do all the shunting that was done that morning. The train came from the east, stopped on the bridge, left part of the train there and the other part came up past the Quaker Oat's Co.'s switch, then backed down the switch and up onto the main track and back to the cars on the bridge. The train did not stop on the crossing at all, except for the time necessary in reversing the engine which would not be half a minute.

His Honor said he could not throw out the evidence of the whole train crew, and accept that of one policeman and he therefor gave judgment in favor of the company, and quashed the conviction without costs.

Fresh Fish on To-day's Market

Sold at 20c per Half Dozen—Eggs Went at 15c.

"Look at this bunch of fish for 20 cents, the price of a pound of steak." The speaker was a man standing beside a barrel filled with fresh fish and the place was this morning's market. The fish were of the type known as suckers and were fine large fellows. They were being sold at six for 20 cents and were in great demand and the barrel was soon emptied of its contents. A big bundle of fish for 20 cents was more than the average market frequenter could resist and the suckers were disposed of just as rapidly as they could be handed out.

The market was well supplied with the usual commodities and there were few changes in prices. Eggs and butter were the principle offerings inside the market and both were in good demand. Eggs sold at 15c per dozen, while dairy butter changed hands at 26c to 28c per pound. Fowl sold at the usual prices.

There was a plentiful supply of potatoes on hand and sales were made at 85c to 90c per bag. Meat was scarce and sold at the same prices as last week.

The Sanders Concert and Organ Recital comes off on Monday night, 29th 25c.

Street Railway Company's Tracks

At last the street railway company is doing some work on the roadbed between its tracks. For several days two teams were working on McDonnel street, from Park to the boundary and then to Jackson Park. This stretch was possibly the worst in the city. The rails were several inches above the roadbed, and it requires a lot of filling in. Yesterday Mr. Harry Evans, street commissioner, induced the superintendent of the railway to put a couple of loads of fine stone at street corners in the centre of the city where it was really needed. The company has had a car load of fine stone lying in the gas house since last fall and should have been put on the road then instead of waiting so long.

APPEAL DISMISSED

Osgoode Hall reports to-day contain the following of local interest:—Port Hope Brewing and Malting Co. versus Cavanagh.—A. B. Morine, plaintiff, appealed from order of Master in Chambers dismissing a motion to set aside a praecipe order charging solicitors. W. E. Middleton, for defendant, contra. Appeal dismissed with costs without prejudice to any motion being made to a Divisional Court.

Contracts for Trent Canal Will be Granted Very Soon

Ottawa, April 26.—Engineers of the Department of Railways and Canals are now preparing specifications preparatory to calling for tenders for the completion of the southern outlet of the Trent Valley Canal. It is the intention of the department to proceed with the work as speedily as possible. This summer contracts will be let for a considerable portion of the canal. One stretch starting at Trenton will be begun, and work will also be started at the end of the present completed section near Rice Lake. It will probably be two months or so, however, before actual construction work is begun, owing to the necessary delay in advertising for tenders, etc. Engineer Walsh is now making a survey of the suggested northern route via Nottawasaga Bay, instead of by the Severn River as now proposed. As soon as his report is submitted the northern outlet will be promptly and finally decided upon, and the completion of the whole canal pushed with all possible speed.

Grand Carnival at Roller Rink

The Attraction Was Largely Patronized—The Prize Winners

The first fancy dress carnival since the re-opening of the Charlotte street roller rink, was held last evening, and was a decided success.

Despite the numerous other attractions a large crowd was present and judging from the enthusiasm, roller skating has become exceedingly popular in this city. The management deserves great credit for the splendid entertainment provided for its patrons.

A fairly good number were in fancy and comic dress, and many of the costumes were very pretty. Skating contests for ladies and gentlemen skating alone, were features of the programme. The 57th Band was present and furnished excellent music which added greatly to the pleasure of skating.

Messrs. R. M. Glover, F. A. Clarke, and W. E. Wasson very kindly acted as judges, and though their task was by no means an easy one, their decisions won the approval of the crowd.

The contests and winners were as follows,—

Best Dressed Lady, fancy costume—Miss Noma Logan.

Best Dressed Gent in fancy costume—Mr. Jas. White.

Best Dressed Lady, comic costume—Miss V Logan

Best Dressed Gent comic costume—R. O'Brien.

WORSE THAN RUSSIA

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—Having just read the account in your today's paper, "Will deport a lazy immigrant," I am so indignant that there is only one word I can use—brutes. I am really ashamed that such outrageous sentiments could be printed in the English language.

Peterborough Teams Grouped

Both Intermediates and Juniors in Good Districts

There was considerable of a shaking up in the C.L.A. groups at the final meeting of the committee in charge of this work at Toronto last night. The Peterborough intermediates have been placed in a seven team district to consist of Peterborough, Newmarket, Orillia, Beaverton Bradford, Young Torontos and North Ends of Toronto. However, it is now likely that Orillia and Bradford will have teams this year so that will only leave five teams in the group.

The following is the final grouping of the intermediate teams;

No 10.—Peterboro, Talagoos, Newmarket, Orillia Checkers, Beaverton Bradford, Young Toronto, North Ends, Toronto. Convener, Peter McMillan. Meet at Beaverton.

No. 11 —Shamrocks, Toronto Junction, Young Canadas of Woodbridge Excelsiors I., Brampton, Dufferin I., of Orangeville, Maitlands, of Toronto. Convener, T. L. W. Tegart. Meet at Woodbridge.

No. 12.—Aberdeens I. of Markdale, Thistles I., of Dundalk, Dauntless I. of Shelburne, Flesherton. Convener, Dennis Madill. Meet at Dundalk.

No 13.—Markham Black Knights, Cannington, Uxbridge, Lindsay. Convener, Arthur Wilson. Meet at Uxbridge.

No 14. —Madoc, Trenton, Campbellford, Havelock. Convener, W. H Whylock. Meet at Madoc.

The Peterborough Shamrocks, junior, have been placed in the following group;

No 3—Peterboro II., Uxbridge II., Bowmanville, Lindsay, Millbrook, Shamrocks, Oshawa, Ontarios, Port Hope. Convener, H. B. Clemes. Meet at Lindsay.

Mr Ambrose Regan, who is a member of the C.L.A. council, was in attendance.

LACROSSE

Pat McDonough has been heard from again. He has wired Peterborough that he will play in that town. Pat could give an actress a few points in the gentle art of advertising, and a short course in voice culture should make him one of the greatest of pugilists.—Toronto Telegram.

Jewish Service Held Weekly

It may be of interest to Peterborough people to learn that a Jewish service is held here every Saturday morning. There are a large number of Jews in the city who keep Saturday as the Sabbath day.

The service is held in a building at the corner of Bethune and Charlotte streets.

Secure License for Your Dog

Only 137 Tags Have Been Issued so Far.

Only today and tomorrow for the owners of dogs to secure tags for them. There are a large number who have yet to get them, and they should get busy.

This morning only 137 tags had been issued and there are something like one thousand dogs in the city that are taxed. After May 1st, all who have not taken out tags for their canines will be summoned in the police court and will likely have to pay a heavier fine than the price of a tag.

A well known resident of Smith street, said today that there were two dog kennels on that street, which the dog poisoner must surely have forgotten in his rounds. There were about seven dogs in that vicinity, which make such a noise at night, that it is impossible to sleep. He was sure the residents would willingly pay the dog poisoner one dollar per dog if he would give the barkers a dose of poison.

VICTORIA AVE ROAD IS BAD

Farmer Upset a Load of Household Furniture To-day

Victoria avenue will yet be the cause of a heavy damage suit for the city to settle. It is with few exceptions the worst road in the city. This morning a farmer with a big load of household furniture, on his way to Ida, drove up Victoria avenue by mistake, thinking it was Smith street. The result was the waggon got mixed up in the ruts and the load upset. Several articles were broken, while a little girl riding on the load fell off and had a front tooth knocked out as well as being bruised. This road will be graded and filled up this summer.

Young Lady Was Injured by Horse

Miss V. McSweyn, of Ford's millinery department, was injured on Thursday evening last by being knocked down by the delivery horse of J. Buttcliffe & Sons, says the Lindsay Post.

The accident occurred on the corner of Victoria avenue and Wellington street, as Miss McSweyn was going over the crossing. A passing train frightened the animal and it got beyond the control of the driver, and dashed up the avenue. Before the young lady could get out of the animal's path, it struck her, knocking her down.

Beyond several bad bruises and the nervous shock, Miss McSweyn's injuries were not serious.

Miss McSweyn is well known in Peterborough, having visited here on several occasions.

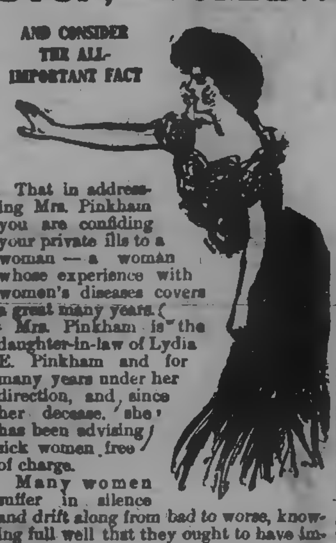
STOP, WOMAN!

AND CONSIDER THE ALL-IMPORTANT FACT



That in addressing Mrs. Pinkham you are confiding your private ills to a woman — a woman whose experience with women's diseases covers a great many years.

Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for many years under her direction, and since her decease, she has been advising sick women free of charge.

Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing full well that they ought to have immediate assistance, but a natural modesty impels them to shrink from exposing themselves to the questions and probable examinations of even their family physician. It is unnecessary. Without money or price you can consult a woman whose knowledge from actual experience is great.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation.

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established the eternal confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken. Out of the vast volume of experience which she has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge that will help your case. She asks nothing in return except your good-will, and her advice has relieved thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.

If you are ill, don't hesitate to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, and write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice.

When a medicine has been successful in restoring to health so many women, you cannot well say, without trying it, "I do not believe it will help me."

HINDOO STUDENTS UNEASY.

Race Hatred Fomented In India, 'Riots Are the Result.

Lahore, British India, April 29.—Rifles and twenty rounds of ball cartridge have been served out to the local volunteers in consequence of signs of marked unrest among the Hindoo student elements.

The publication of inflammatory and seditious articles in the native newspapers, incitng race hatred against the Europeans and demanding native control of the Government of India by means of an elected Parliament, has been followed recently by riots here and elsewhere in the Punjab, and by attacks on Europeans.

Professional and political agitators are now fomenting strikes on the railroads and the government has concluded that it is time to suppress the rioting by forceful means if necessary. The authorities are satisfied that a determined front will speedily end the outward signs of disaffection, especially as they have the unanimous support of the great Mohammedan population, who, at numerous mass meetings, have emphatically condemned the anti-European movement.

Recent events have given a remarkable impulse to enlistment in the volunteers. The recruits include five judges of the supreme court, the director of public instruction, university professors, high Government officials and leading bankers and merchants, all of whom have entered the ranks as privates.

Killed In Prize Ring.

Walsenburg, Colo., April 29.—Thomas Miller, a miner, died Saturday from the effects of a blow on the solar plexus given by Samuel Irons in a prize fight Friday night. Irons was arrested.

Miller's mother became delirious when informed of her son's death, and it is feared the shock may terminate fatally.

POLICE BADLY MAULED.

Have Exciting Time Arresting Man For Theft.

Hamilton, April 29.—Detectives Bleakley and Miller had an exciting time on Saturday afternoon placing Charles Crisp, wanted at Windsor on a charge of theft, under arrest.

They came across their man in a bar room in the M. and M. Hotel, at King William and John streets. There were about fifty men in the bar and when the officers went to make the arrest Crisp's brother and about a dozen others interfered.

There was rough house for a time and the officers were mauled considerably, but came out of the scrap with their men, though they were both scratched and bruised.

Fatal Storm In Texas.

Fort Worth, Tex., April 29.—One village is totally destroyed, extensive damage done to property and crops at other points, and eight lives are known to have been lost as a result of a storm which was general over this state Saturday.

The miners and operators have had several meetings at Fernie and a settlement is in sight.

A Burleigh, of Sarnia tunnel, a G.T.R. conductor, was killed in the London yards last night.

The Price of the Concession; What the Dominion Will Ask

Big Two-Storey Structure at Baltimore Breaks Away.

Cause Is Unknown — Feared Many Workmen Have Perished — Three Bodies Recovered — Eighteen Suffering From Severe Injuries—Collapse Caused Tremendous Wave Six Feet High.

Baltimore, April 29.—With a roar that terrified thousands and a rush that drove a wave six feet high to distant parts of the inner harbor of Baltimore, nearly half of a new pier under construction at Locust Point Saturday broke away from the shore end and plunged into the water.

Three dead bodies have been taken from the wreckage, five men are missing and their bodies are almost certainly beneath the ruins, and eighteen men are suffering from injuries more or less serious.

The dead includes Howard L. Ellender, civil engineer. The missing are laborers.

It is not certain why the catastrophe occurred. The new pier was being built by the Baltimore Bridge Co., and the McLean Contracting Co., for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, and was to have been used by the steamers of the Johnson Line. It was a two-storey structure, 930 feet long, about 500 feet of which was on land.

Plunged Into the Harbor.

The water end was built upon piles, upon which a thick bed of concrete was laid and above this rose the superstructure of steel. The water section of the pier was approaching completion, and was under roof. This section was separated from the land end by a heavy fire wall of masonry. Saturday morning cracklings were heard, and the workmen were called to places of safety. Just as many of them were struggling through the doors in the fire wall, this collapsed, and, with 430 feet of the water end of the pier, plunged into the harbor, carrying a number of men with it. Ellender, the dead civil engineer, who was acting superintendent for the McLean Contracting Co. lost his life in an effort to warn the men of their danger. His body was recovered. Police, firemen and others including Mayor E. Clay Timanus responded quickly to calls for help and everything possible was done to aid the injured and recover the bodies of the dead.

Immigrants Badly Scared.

At the pier adjoining the wrecked structure, was moored the North German Lloyd's steamer Cassel and on board her were a large number of immigrants. The immense wave that followed the plunge of the new pier into the water lifted the Cassel high in the air, dashed her against her pier and was crushed in badly, tore the steamer from her moorings and cast her adrift. The immigrants were for a short time in a state bordering on panic, and two of them jumped overboard, but were rescued. The Neptune line steamer Ripon was also torn from the dock, where she was moored, as was also the Norwegian steamer Fortuna, loaded with steel rails. Her wire hawsers snapped like twine. The harbor is narrow, where the accident occurred, and the wave and its rebound from the opposite shore cast a number of smaller vessels adrift, and caused much confusion for a time.

Have Finished Their Labors; Parliamentary Session Over

Few Were Present at Wind-Up of Session.

Earl Grey's References to Work of Parliament—Question of Provincial Subsidies—Revision of Tariff—His Excellency Refers to Postal Changes, Immigrants and the Labor Legislation.

Ottawa, April 29.—A significant feature of Saturday's prorogation was found in the fact that only 45 people were in the gallery and that only about one-half of the Senators' seats (always gallantly surrendered place aux dames) were occupied by the ladies of the smart set.

Although prorogation was announced for 3, it was 3.55 before His Excellency arrived. He read his speech in both French and English, and, as always, spoke with much musical resonance.

His Excellency said:

"Honorable gentlemen of the Senate; gentlemen of the House of Commons:

"In bringing to a close the third session of the tenth Parliament of Canada, I desire to express to you my thanks for the care and assiduity you have shown in the discharge of your important duties, the results of which are apparent in many important acts which must prove of great benefit to the country.

"I am glad to observe that the fiscal period terminating on the last day of March was, in proportion to its length, the most prosperous in the history of the Dominion, and that the present indications are that the expansion of the country's trade and revenue will continue during the year that we are now entering upon; a fact that is particularly gratifying in view of the important undertakings to which Canada is committed.

"The stream of immigrants entering the Dominion continues yearly to expand, and it is very satisfactory to note that a larger number is coming from the British Isles than in former years. The recent revision of the tariff will, it is believed, meet with the general approval of the trade, removing as it does many inequalities heretofore existing.

The Matter of Subsidies.

"One of the most important of the subjects which have engaged your attention is that of the subsidies and allowances to be paid out of the Dominion treasury to the several provinces. I trust that the proposed changes in the Imperial legislation respecting which you have adopted an address to His Majesty will, if enacted, go far towards removing the grievances of which the Provincial Governments have complained as to the insufficiency of their revenues.

"The substantial aid now offered towards the establishment of cold storage should stimulate the erection of those necessary adjuncts for the preservation of perishable foods.

"I have observed with gratification the passage of an act having for its object the maintenance of industrial peace in all public utilities. This legislation has already been applied with success. It is confidently expected that when the provisions of the act for the settlement of industrial disputes are fully understood both employes and employers will be ready to refer their differences to boards of investigation and conciliation and thus avoid the evils following strikes and lockouts.

Postal Changes.

"The arrangements lately made between the Imperial and Canadian postal departments, providing for a substantial reduction on newspapers and periodicals coming from the United Kingdom, have, I am glad to know been received with much satisfaction as a measure likely to promote a freer communication between the mother country and Canada.

"Gentlemen of the House of Commons, I thank you in His Majesty's name for the liberal supplies you have granted for the public service.

"Honorable gentlemen of the Senate, gentlemen of the House of Commons: In now relieving you from your duties let me express the fervent hope that when we meet again at the next session an equally prosperous condition will prevail throughout Canada, and in the meantime let us not forget to express gratitude to a kind Providence for the many blessings conferred upon our country."

The "Sailor Boy" brand of canned goods are the best that are put up. They never fail to please. Try a few cans.

Lords and Commons.

London, April 29.—According to The Daily Telegraph this Government's plan for dealing with conflicts between the House of Lords and the House of Commons will be a proposal that in cases of disagreement both Houses shall sit and vote together, the majority vote of the combined Houses deciding the dispute.

Sends Out Agitators.

Tangier, April 29.—The bandit Raisuli and the pretender, Bu Hamara, have sent out a number of clever semi-religious agitators to foment a revolt against the Sultan, who is accused of having sold Oudja to France. The crusade is likely to result in widespread rebellion.

Turks Clash With Brigands.

Athens, April 29.—A detachment of Turkish troops and a band of Greek brigands had a sharp fight April 26 near Merihoven in Macedonia. The Turks' ultimately routed the raiders. The Greek chief, seven of his men and twenty Turks were killed.

Lad Fatally Injured.

Brockville, April 29.—Rolland Harper, a lad of eight years, was fatally injured here Saturday, while playing near a derrick. A large bucket, which was being hoisted, fell and struck him on the head.

Bole Holds Seat.

Winnipeg, Man., April 29.—The election petition against D. W. Bole, M.P., for Winnipeg, was dismissed by Judges Richards and Perdue on Saturday.

MIRACULOUS ESCAPE.

Engine Leaps Trestle But Passengers Are Not Injured.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 29.—Two trainmen were killed and one hundred passengers had a thrilling escape from death in a wreck on the Wabash Railroad yesterday when the engine and one passenger coach of westbound train No. 27 left the tracks half a mile west of the Bridgeville Station, near here, and plunged into Chartier's Creek, forty feet below. Scores of people were saved by a circumstance which is now regarded as providential. The dead: Marion Boyd, engineman, Rooks Station; Frank McIsaacs, fireman, Barberton, O. The train was crossing a trestle when without warning the engine suddenly leaped from the rails and shot into the stream underneath, carrying the first coach with it. Luckily all the passengers were in the other coaches.

BURNING OIL COVERS BAY.

Fire On Pier Endangers Lives of Many Workmen.

New York, April 29.—Fire on one of the export piers at the foot of North 12th street, Brooklyn, on Saturday did about $100,000 damage and endangered the lives of several score of workmen, employed in the vicinity. Two men leaped into the bay to escape the flames. They were rescued.

When the fire broke out, the pier contained a large number of boxes of petroleum, and numbers of the employes began throwing cases into the river. As the flames spread they hurried to lighters and were towed out of danger.

Burning oil flowed into the bay, and the fire spread over the water for some distance. One lighter caught fire as the oil spread over the waters, and was partly destroyed. Several persons were slightly injured.

ITALY FAVORS LIMITATION.

Attitudes of Powers At Coming Hague Peace Conference.

Rome, April 29.—The discussion that has been going on concerning the Italian proposition of the limitation of armaments has served in a measure to elucidate the attitudes of the various powers on this subject.

Great Britain, which is the only country to send a Minister of Foreign Affairs to the conference, is in favor of the discussion, and in this she is thoroughly supported by Spain.

Russia, while insisting on the discussion of its own program of April 12, 1906, agrees with Germany and Austria on the question of armament to the point to referring to it in official documents as "An entente," but Russia is favorable to any step that is likely to result in a correct and reasonable solution of the matter.

Germany and Austria do not favor the limitation of armaments; they will, however, permit the presentation of the proposal, although they are not willing to participate in its discussion.

France, there is reason to believe, is of the opinion that here exists international as well as inter-nation reasons against limitation, but she will allow the presentation of the question She has not yet decided whether to participate in the discussion or not.

The situation of Italy is delicate and difficult. The general opinion is in favor of limitation, but Germany has called upon her to fulfil the duties of an ally. There is no desire to have a repetition of the Algeciras incident when rightly or wrongly, Germany accused Italy of having deserted her. Consequently Italy is very much interested in bringing about an understanding on this subject prior to the opening of the conference.

ONLY GOT FEATHERS.

Hamilton Sports Outwit Officers When Raid Was Made.

Hamilton, April 29.—The police have a table and a bunch of chicken feathers carefully locked up at No. 3 police station. That is all they got out of a Sunday morning raid on a shed on West King street, near the brickyards. There was a gang of about 60 in the vicinity of the shed, but they got wind of the coming of the police and got out before the police arrived. The officers captured a table and some other paraphernalia, and some chicken feathers. They regard the find as prima facie evidence that there had been gambling and a chicken fight in progress before their arrival. They failed to secure any names.

LOCOMOTIVE EXPLODES.

Three Trainmen Hurled to Death—Others Injured.

Ofallon, Mo., April 29.—While a freight locomotive on the Wabash road, drawing a caboose, was running at high speed near here Saturday, the boiler of the engine exploded, killing three trainmen, injuring two others seriously and wrecking the locomotive and caboose. Sections of the locomotive demolished the caboose and killed a brakeman. The engineer and firemen were hurled, with parts of the engine and tender, 150 feet from the track. The cause of the explosion is not known.

Rupture In Russ Cabinet.

St. Petersburg, April 29.—The lack of harmony between Premier Stolypin and the reactionary wing of the Cabinet culminated last week in an almost open rupture and a reorganization of the members appears imminent.

Comptroller of the Empire Schwanebach, a reactionary Cabinet member, who has been engaged heart and soul in the campaign for the immediate dissolution of the Duma, has already received an intimation that his resignation was desired. He has, however, appealed to the Emperor, declaring he would resign only on the express command of His Majesty. He still retains his portfolio, although he is no longer admitted to the confidence of the Premier.

The reorganization of the Cabinet, if carried out, would bring no change in policy. The discordant elements would be eliminated and nothing more.

Scant Courtesy to Peasants.

St. Petersburg, April 29.—The deputation of Conservative peasant members of the Lower House of Parliament was received by the Emperor yesterday at Tsarskoe-Selo, and returned in a disappointed mood at the scant ceremony with which they were received.

They were bunched in a big delegation of military men and Constitutional Democrats, and were greeted with the usual perfunctionary expressions of His Majesty's pleasure at meeting his subjects.

The Emperor did not give the spokesman of the peasant delegation an opportunity to deliver the loyal speech which he had prepared.

Angry Mob Fight Workers.

Cleveland, O., April 29.—The first blood was shed Saturday in the trouble between the American Shipbuilding Co. and its striking employes. Three hundred angry men and women waited at the gates for the non-union men to leave. A fight ensued when the workers came out, in which several men were injured, one perhaps fatally. A patrol wagon loaded with police arrived in time to avert a dangerous riot. John Marion, a strikebreaker, the man most seriously injured, was taken to his home. He says he was attacked by several men. He may die.

Must Serve Life Sentence.

Binghamton, N. Y., April 29.—Frank Miner, who was convicted Wednesday of murder in the second degree for the killing of James A. Tobey, on the night of Oct. 24, 1903, was sentenced on Saturday to Auburn prison for life.

Snow Covers Northwest.

St. Paul, April 29.—An inch of snow Saturday covered the Northwest from Lake Michigan to the Dakotas. Colder weather is predicted.

The Public School Board of St. John, N.B., refused to fly the Union Jack over the schools on St. George's Day.

Inconsistency.

"What is inconsistency?" asked the curious one.

"Well," responded the wise one, "it is that spirit which moves a woman whose sleeves stop at the elbow to scold her husband because he hasn't any cuffs on."

The Marathon Mystery

A Story of Manhattan

By BURTON E. STEVENSON
Author of "The Holladay Case"

Copyright, 1904, by Henry Holt and Company

"Iss t'is your revolver?" asked the coroner, producing the weapon.

Drysdale took it and looked at it with an air of astonishment.

"Why, yes," he said. "Where did you get it?"

"And iss t'is your raincoat?"

"Yes; but what"—

"You wore it when you went out last night?"

"Yes; but I insist"—

"Mr. Drysdale," asked the coroner sternly, "for what purpose did you go out last night, and where did you go?"

Drysdale sprang to his feet, his face red with anger.

"Why, you infernal busybody!" he cried. "It's none of your business."

"T'en you refuse to answer?"

"I most certainly do, and I think you'd better go back to Babylon."

"I shall go back in due time, Mr. Drysdale," retorted the coroner in a cool voice, holding up his hand. "Perhaps you have as yet not heard of t'e murder committed here last night and of t'e robbery which accompanied it?"

Drysdale paled suddenly; his hands were trembling.

"Murder!" he repeated blankly. "Robbery!"

"Precisely. Graham, t'e gardener, was murdered last night and Mrs. Delroy's pearl necklace stolen. You were t'e only person who left t'e house. Your revolver was found beside him. T'is button, torn from your coat, was found in his hand. I hope you will now perceive t'e wisdom of giving us a tetailed account of your movements while you were away from t'e house."

Drysdale had listened with a growing pallor. When the coroner had finished he was fairly livid, and he passed his hand helplessly before his eyes. But he did not speak.

"Well?" asked Heffelbower impatiently, after a moment.

Drysdale took down his hand and steadied himself against the back of his chair.

"I have nothing to say," he murmured hoarsely.

"Do you persist in t'at decision?" asked the coroner sharply.

"I certainly do."

"Then," said Heffelbower, rising in his turn, "in t'e name of t'e law, I shall haf to arrest you. Please finish your dressing."

Drysdale was ready in a few moments, and the little party passed out into the hall.

Suddenly from the farther end came the swish of skirts, and Grace Croydon appeared, radiant as the new day. She paused in astonishment as she saw the group. Then she came forward. Her eyes went anxiously from face to face.

"What is it, Richard?" she asked. "What has happened?"

Delroy laughed a mirthless laugh.

"Enough and to spare," he answered. "They're arresting Jack, here, for murder."

"For murder! Oh, why did you kill him?" she cried, turning upon her lover. "Why did you not wait"—

"Kill him!" echoed Delroy. "But he Cecily," I said, touching the great brooch of gold that gleamed at her throat.

She laughed like a pleased child.

"Yes. Are they not pretty, ehe? Let me show you," and, springing from the couch, she ran into her bedroom. In a moment she was back again, a box of inlaid ebony in her hands.

"See!" she cried, and threw back the lid.

Indeed they were worth seeing, and it was not wholly to disarm her suspicions, if she had any, that I lingered over them. At last I came to the piece I wanted.

"Here is a beautiful pin," I said, "an opal in a circle of diamonds," and I held it up to the light. "But see, Cecily, one of the diamonds is missing. Have you lost it?"

"Doudoux lost it," she answered. "He wore it sometimes as a pin for his scarf. Tambou! I was angry when I found it gone. You should have heard me!"

"I have a diamond," I said, getting out my pocketbook, "that might do to replace it. Let us see if it will fit."

I unwrapped the little brilliant and applied it to the break in the circle. Then my heart fell. It was evident in an instant that it had not come from there. It was much smaller than the other stones—differently cut.

"No, it will not do," I stammered at last. "It is too small," and I returned it to my pocket. "I shall have to get you another trinket, Cecily. Good night."

CHAPTER XXI.

IT seemed that my sudden departure had offended Cecily more deeply than I imagined, for when I knocked at her door next evening she told me curtly that she was not feeling well and intended going early to bed. So I went back to my room, rather glad of the chance of an evening to myself.

Besides, Cecily was a good deal like the highly flavored dish—to be fully enjoyed only at intervals. And, too, there was only one point as yet unsettled—where she and Tremaine had been the night of the murder. That, I felt, could be cleared up without much difficulty the first time she received me, which would probably be not later than tomorrow. I had a premonition that that line of inquiry, too, would lead nowhere, that Cecily would prove by a word that neither she nor Tremaine had been anywhere near the Marathon at the hour of the crime. In any event I had plenty of time, and I could spend this evening very profitably in weighing and classifying my discoveries, in getting a fresh start.

As I opened my door I noticed it scraped on the carpet, and an examination showed me that the carpet had come loose along the sill. I stepped to the speaking tube and blew down it.

"Hello!" called up a voice in a moment.

"Is that you, Higgins?"

"Yes, sir."

"This is Mr. Lester. Come up after awhile, will you? I've a little job up here I want you to do."

"All right, sir. Will half an hour do?"

"Oh, yes! Any time this evening."

I got out pipe, tobacco and matches and sat down in my most comfortable chair. I was no longer so discouraged as I had been the evening before. On the whole, I told myself, I had progressed. I had succeeded in forging the chain more tightly about Tremaine, in strengthening it in many places. I could show certainly:

First.—That he knew Thompson and had lied about it.

Second.—That he apparently hated him.

Third.—That he had come to New York on the same boat with him and probably on the same errand.

Fourth.—That Thompson had joined him as soon as released from jail.

On paper, I had to admit, the chain appeared a good deal weaker than I had thought it. There were many gaps; indeed, now that I looked at it, it seemed to consist largely of gaps. Objections to the theory of Tremaine's guilt loomed larger and larger. One of the weightiest was Miss Croydon's attitude toward him. That seemed unexplainable. The man she described as the murderer was quite unlike Tremaine in appearance. Was she, then, shielding him? But why should she do that? Above all, if he were guilty of such a crime, would she have consented to his admission to the Delroy famdidn't, Grace! How can you think such a thing? He could clear himself by telling where he was last night, and he refuses to do it. Maybe he'll tell you."

She turned her searching eyes to her lover's face.

"Where were you last night, Jack?" she asked. "You'll tell me, won't you?"

"Tell you?" he sneered, his eyes blazing with savage anger. "Where was I? You ask me that?"

And with a gesture of fierce contempt he went on down the stair.

CHAPTER XX.

IT was not until the Sunday evening following Tremaine's departure that I found myself alone with Cecily and in a position to begin that conversation from which I hoped so much.

She had arrayed herself in the same garments she had worn the first night I had met her—the gorgeous costume of the belle affranchie, in which she was most at home—but I had grown more accustomed to her and sat down near her without any great bedazzlement. She was lying on the couch engaged in rolling cigarettes with remarkable skill and celerity and had quite a pile on the taboret beside her. I sat and watched the supple fingers and the red, red lips and the dark face changing with every wave of feeling.

"My friend," she said suddenly, turning to me with intent gaze, "do you know where doudoux has gone?"

"No," I answered; "he did not tell me. He said only that his business was calling him away."

"Business! Ohe! And you believe that?"

"Why shouldn't I believe it, Cecily?"

"If it were merely business he could have taken me along. Tambou! He is growing weary of me; I annoy him; I can see it. It was, of course, inevitable. Soon he will be sending me away. Ohe!" And she stretched her arms above her head with that gesture I had seen before. "Ah, well, d'amour, de rires et d'oublis!" And she laughed, but I fancied there was a sob beneath the laughter. "At least I shall be again at St. Pierre."

Suddenly there came a soft hissing from the little cage over the radiator.

"Ah, I must feed Fe Fe; she is calling me!" she cried, and she sprang up, ran to the next room and came back with a little wine in a glass.

I stood and watched her without being greatly impressed. Fe Fe seemed very harmless and lethargic—evidently the climate of New York, even though mellowed by the radiator, did not agree with her.

"Of course Tremaine will go back with you," I assured her. I was wondering if she really suspected his intention.

"No; he will not," she said decidedly. "But," she added, with an electric flash of the eyes, "he may come in time."

I lighted another cigarette.

"Where did you meet him, Cecily?"

"He came to St. Pierre three, four years ago. He saw me one day standing at the door of my house in the Rue Peysette."

"Do you know where he came from?"

"No; it mattered nothing to me."

"He never talked about his past?"

"His past? No, no. What was it to us? We had a pretty, pretty place at Fond-Corre. Tambou! I wish I was there now!"

"You were happy there?"

"Yes—except for the times doudoux was in his black spells."

"His black spells?"

"Yes—oh, then every one ran from him—even I. He was terrible—raving and cursing M'seur Johnson."

STRONG SERMON ON TEMPERANCE

Rev. Dr. Crothers Dealt With Subject in Masterly Manner

A strong sermon in the interests of temperance was preached in the George street Methodist church last night by Rev. Dr. Crothers. Yesterday was Temperance and Moral Reform Sunday in the Methodist church and in every church in the Dominion sermons in the interests of this work were preached. Dr. Crothers dealt with the temperance phase of the question and his sermon was one of the ablest on this subject heard in Peterborough for some time. He dealt with the question in a dispassionate, logical manner, and every statement made was based on good authority.

The song service, which was a feature of last night's worship, was very pleasing and added greatly to the service.

Rev Dr. Crothers' text was the 7th verse of the 4th chapter of Zechariah; "Who are thou, O great mountain? before Zerubbabel thou shalt become a plain; and he shall bring forth the headstone thereof, with shoutings, crying grace, grace, unto it."

In commencing his discourse the reverend gentleman pointed out the appropriateness of the text in connection with the fight against intemperance. The traffic in strong drink might be compared to a mountain which impeded the progress of those who were working for the betterment of the world. Before Zerubbabel, however, the mountain had become a plain and the speaker predicted that in a similar manner the obstacle of intemperance would yet be surmounded by those who were fighting against the evil.

Dr. Crothers then referred to the many encouraging features of the struggle against the liquor traffic. One of these was the large decrease in the number of hotel licenses in the province of Ontario. During the past fifteen years they had been cut down by one half. There were other hopeful signs, including a change in public opinion toward the liquor traffic. By the average citizen it was now regarded as a curse to the country and that no one was benefitted by its existence.

The speaker then took up the evil done by intemperance under three headings; 1.—It destroys our substance. 2.—The damage to the home. 3.—How the individual is injured. Details were gone into as to money expended in different countries in buying spirituous liquors. Millions of dollars were wasted in this way that in many cases were sadly needed for other purposes. In speaking of intemperance as it affects the individual, Dr. Crothers characterized the statement that liquor would leave you alone if you left it alone as one of the most damnable lies ever coined in the devil's mint. In closing he made a strong appeal to the large congregation present to keep up the fight against the enemy with renewed hope and vigor and that victory would be theirs at last.

The musical programme other than the usual hymns, was as follows;

Anthem, Magnificat, Choir.
Solo, "The Gates of Dawn," Mr. Mitchell.
Anthem, Choir.
Solo, "Come Unto Me," Mr. Freeland

The anthems were splendidly rendered the solo parts being very acceptably taken by Miss E. Chasty. Mr. Freeland and Mr. Mitchell were both in fine voice and were listened to with great pleasure.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH

The following meetings will be held at St. Luke's church during this week.

Tonight at 7.30 a short meeting of the Girls' Auxiliary will take place; also a meeting of the Bible Class at the same hour, to make definite arrangements for the annual Bible Class excursion.

The adjourned vestry meeting will be held tonight at eight o'clock. The secretaries of the various societies are requested to read their reports of their year's work.

The Brotherhood of St. Andrew will meet tomorrow night at eight o'clock.

The W. A. meets on Thursday at 2.30 and the Mission Band on Friday at 4.15.

Rev J. H. Teney, rector of Christ church, Omemee, preached at St. Luke's church yesterday. His sermon at the morning service was on "The Incarnation of the Son of God" and at the evening service on "The Atonement." Rev. E. A. Langfeldt was not well enough to preach but took some part in both the morning and evening services.

EXCURSION WILL BE CONSIDERED

A joint meeting of the members of St Peter's Court, Catholic Order of Foresters, and the local division of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, will be held on Wednesday evening to make arrangements for the annual excursion, which will likely be held in July. Last year the joint excursion of the Foresters and Hibernians was a great success and it will be conducted similarly this year.

Male Choir Led Singing—Address to Young Men

The members of the male choir, who wore surplices, led the singing of the hymns and, in addition, sang three independent numbers, "Loyalty to Christ," and "Hes Knocking, which were sung as choruses and a quartette and chorus, "Cling a Little Longer," those singing in the quartette being Messrs. Prest, Clarke, Harmer and LeBar.

SPECIAL SERMON.

The sermon, too, was of a special character. It was preached by the pastor, and was directed especially to the young men, upon whom, he said, the responsibility for the salvation of the church—if it was to be saved—rested.

The story on which the sermon was based was that of Benaiah, who, the text stated, went down and slew a lion in the pit in time of snow.

COURAGE NEEDED.

The quality of courage, as exemplified in the hero of the story, was emphasized, and its importance to the young man of today was pointed out. Moral courage was referred to as a quality possessed by too few modern young men, in spite of the fact, that the present time is one when men of moral courage are greatly in demand. The speaker stated that the best positions in the world — and by best positions he meant the best in the best sense, were going begging for young men to fill them. A Y. M.C.A. Secretary had informed him that there were 300 positions in that branch of work unfilled because the men were not available. Last year the Methodist Church had found it necessary to send a man to England to secure fifty young men for work in the Canadian Northwest, and in Ontario the same scarcity was being felt. In this district there was one station in which no Methodist services are being held, because the man could not be secured. The greater opportunities for making money in other callings was given as the cause, why comparatively few young men were taking up the work of the ministry.

There is, he remarked, no scarcity of young men; the trouble is that they are all on a level—or nearly so—they are content to stay down.

HEROES DYING OUT.

The speakers opinion was that heroes are dying out, and as evidence referred to the early days of Methodism, when closely following the pioneer settlers of Canada, there came the men with the saddle bags—the itinerant Methodist preachers — who cheerfully took whatever fell to their lot and thought little or nothing of the pecuniary reward for their work.

"We, today," said he, "are made of softer mould, and those following us are softer still.

Upon the young men, he declared, devolved the responsibility for stamping out the evils of intemperance and social impurity; and to them the world looked for the salvation of the church, if it was to be saved.

Bishop Scollard is Visting Here

Preached Splendid Sermon at St. Peter's Cathedral

His Lordship Bishop Scollard of the diocese of Sault Ste. Marie, who has been the guest of His Lordship Bishop O'Connor for the past few days, celebrated mass at St. Peter's cathedral at 9.15 yesterday morning and at 10.30 o'clock, preached a practical sermon from the gospel of the day. His Lordship was listened to by a large congregation, who were greatly pleased to hear their beloved bishop again.

BISHOP SCOLLARD,
Of the Diocese of Sault Ste. Marie, who is visiting in the city.

Bishop Scollard had been visiting at Ottawa and Kingston, previous to coming to Peterborough, where he has spent the past few days. He went to Ennismore today and will leave shortly for his diocese at Sault Ste. Marie.

The different parishes in the "Soo" diocese have made great progress since His Lordship was appointed bishop there. The work of the church is going ahead satisfactorily in all departments.

BIRTH

O'NEILL.—At Peterborough, on Sunday, April 21st, 1907, to Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert O'Neill, 138 Park street, a daughter.

OBITUARY

MRS. DEAN.

Mrs. Ann Bogart Dean, widow of the late Judge Dean, of Lindsay, Ont., died suddenly from heart failure in her apartments at the Elliott house about 12.30 this morning. The deceased had been in ill-health for some time and had been staying with her son-in-law and her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Tait, at the hotel. Mr. Curtis Bogart of Belleville, is her brother and she was highly esteemed by many friends in Toronto and elsewhere.—Mail and Empire.

ALFRED J. BELCHER, C.E.

The death occurred last evening, at his residence, on Stewart street, of Mr. Alfred J. Belcher, C.E., after a lingering illness.

The deceased was born in Cork, Ireland, and was fifty-two years of age. He was a son of the late Samuel Belcher, Esq., architect and civil engineer, of Cork. He was educated at Queen's University, in Cork, and while there was captain of the University Rowing Club. He came to Canada in 1873. Mr. Belcher was many years ago captain and stroke of the famous crew of the Peterborough Rowing Club, which landed many a victory. He was an engineer on the C.P.R. Crow's Nest extension, and, while laboring in the west, contracted typhoid fever. Later on he had a bad attack of pneumonia, which undermined his health.

Mr Belcher's career as a civil engineer was extensive. He was engaged for some time on important works in San Francisco, and went over the Trent Canal route many years ago in company with M Stark, government engineer at the time of the resuscitation of the scheme

Of late years he had been in failing health and generally spent the summer at Chemong Park. He had many friends and his death will be widely mourned. Mr. Belcher leaves a widow (a sister of Mossom and Wm Boyd, of Bobcaygeon) and one son, Beaufort.

Messrs. John E. Belcher, county engineer, and Mr. Samuel Belcher, C. E., of this city, are brothers. Mrs. Church, who resides in Ireland, is the sole surviving sister.

The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, from the family residence, Stewart street, to the Little Lake cemetery.

Don't forget the Irish Evening under the uspices of the Ladies' Literary Society in the T.A.S. Hall to-morrow (Tuesday) evening. Good programme.

Family Had Difficulty in Getting Out of Burning House

One Woman Had to Jump From Upstairs Window—House on Townsend Street Occupied by George Vanzant Destroyed Last Night.

As the result of a fire which broke out about 1.30 o'clock last night, the residence on Townsend street, occupied by Mr. Geo. Vanzant, was completely gutted. The loss is about $1,500, partially coverde by insurance.

The occupants of the house escaped with considerable difficulty. The fire had made much headway before being noticed and some of those in the house had to make a hasty exit in their night clothes. Mrs. Vanzant had to jump out of an upstairs window, in order to make her escape.

The building, being a frame one, burned with great rapidity, and although the brigade was on hand in good time, the streams of water poured into the flames did not have much effect. A piano, two dressers, a bed, and a couple of chairs were all that were saved from the ruins.

The cause of the fire is a mystery to the family. When they retired, there was a little fire in a box stove, but how it caused the house to become ignited, they cannot understand. The flames were burning fiercely before it was discovered that anything was wrong, and then considerable difficulty was experienced in sending in an alarm. A neighbor ran to one of the alarm boxes in the vicinity, but he could not get it to work properly and he had to run all the way to the C.P.R. station before he could notify the fire hall by telephone. The firemen responded as quickly as possible and did good work when they arrived on the scene, especially in connection with the saving of the piano and other furniture. In addition to all his belongings, Mr. Vanzant lost $100 in cash, which was in the drawer of a dresser upstairs. The money was the proceeds of the sale of a colt which Mr. Vanzant had disposed of last week.

The house was owned by Mr. John Haggart, the well known auctioneer and his loss is partially covered by insurance. Mr. Vanzant had no insurance on his furniture.

It was fortunate that the night was calm, for had a wind been blowing, great difficulty would have been experienced in preventing the fire from spreading to other houses in the vicinity, as they are nearly all frame structures, and would have become ignited very easily.

The fire was the centre of attraction for a large number of people, everyone in the neighborhood being on hand.

Mr Vanzant is employed at the C.G.E works and his loss is a very heavy one.

Colonization Road Making Ready to Start in County

Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M. P. P., and G. W. Bennett Laid Out the Work in Galway, Cavendish and Harvey—Overseers are Appointed and Money is Allotted—Notes by the Way.

The work of rebuilding new and repairing old colonization roads in the northern and eastern parts of the County of Peterborough is being rapidly arranged. Messrs. T. E. Bradburn, M. P. P., and Geo. W Bennett were through the township of Galway, Cavendish, and North and South Harvey, last week, laying out the different sections. They held conferences with representatives of the above named townships in reference to alloting the money. Mr. Bradburn induced the Legislature to grant last session for the improvement of roads. As a result the overseers have been appointed; their share of the money allotted, and the roads selected for improvement. The work last year was done very systematically and very thoroughly, and the money was all spent on the roads and the results can be seen by anyone who has been through the country before, and who goes through it now. The same policy is being adopted again this year, and Superintendent Bennett will endeavor to see how much road can be built, as it was for that purpose, the money was voted.

The inspection has not yet been completed and Mr. Bennett will go out again in a few days and lay out the rest of the work, after consulting with the township councils, and get the different gangs started.

While in the back country, Messrs. Badburn and Bennett visited a maple sugar camp. They report the business in full swing and the output this year will be larger than ever. The run of sap has been the best for years and the farmers are well pleased with the prospects. The country has dried up very well; the roads are in pretty good shape, and the spring seeding is well under way. The late season has damaged the clover somewhat, but with favorable weather now it is thought that the hay will catch up again

The rivers, said Mr. Bennett, are all open and the river drivers have started the logs down. The ice went out of Cameron Lake on Thursday, all the other lakes are all ful yet. At Kinmount everything is prospering. The saw mill, stave factory and cheese factory are all running full blast and the people are happy.

Labor Conditions in Peterboro'; March Was Very Active Month

Many Buildings Left Unfinished Are Now Under Construction Again—All Industrial Establishments Were Busy—Many Orders Received by C. G. E. Works.

Ald. W. J. Johnston, local correspondent for the Labor Gazette, sends the following encouraging report from Peterborough for the month of March:—

The month of March has been exceptionally active, the weather being very mild. Many buildings left unfinished from last year are now under construction again. All trades were busy, and when the frost is out of the ground, general building operations will be resumed. It is not expected that as many houses will be erected this year as last, but with the larger building, including armouries, Collegiate Institute, North Ward Public school, and the Roman Catholic church, that are projected, it is anticipated that every class of workmen will be busy. The large transformer building of the Canadian General Electric Company will be rapidly pushed to completion. Drilling and blasting for the deepening of the river bed in the channel east of the Quaker Oats Company's building is under way. The Public Works department of the city had a busy month keeping waterways open. Street cleaning work was in full progress. Banking was active, and wholesale and retail trade in all lines was good.

The carpenters are asking that their minimum rate be increased from 25 cents to 27 1-2 an hour; bricklayers, from 30 to 40 cents, and builders' laborers' from $2.25 to $2.50 per nine hour day. It is not yet settled that these changes will be granted. There were no strikes or lockouts reported.

CONDITIONS OF LOCAL INDUSTRIES.

Agriculture.—The marketing of all kinds of produce has been in progress. Many farmers were busy making maple syrup.

Lumbering.—Active conditions prevailed. The several sawmills were making preparations for a large season's cut while waiting for the ice to go out of the river.

Manufacturing.—All industrial establishments were more or less busily engaged. The development of the Canadian General Electric Company has been remarkable, every year seeing buildings added to its already extensive plant. Over 1000 workpeople employed in its various departments. This compan fills orders for elect- This company fills orders for electrical machines and supplies to firms in various parts of the globe. It built and delivered last year 1,000 street car motors, and has now on hand orders for 1,000 more. This firm is also supplying transformers and motors for the Lakefield Cement Company's plant, which is starting a branch industry in the city of Montreal. The Canadian Canners Company, Limited, will operate the Port Hope factory this season. Arrangements for a supply of raw materials are being made with the farmers and gardeners. Work on the Cavan swamp drain has been started; a large number of workmen will be employed. The Cavendish Lumber Company has 25,000,000 feet of lumber out and ready to drive to its mills. Two small industries have started in to cut lath out of pine slabs. Laths have advnaced very much in price lately, and are scarce. These small factories will get all they can do, and will relieve the scarcity.

Mining.—Operations were quiet.

Railroad employment.—All systems of transportation were busy handling the heavy traffic.

CONDITION OF PARTICULAR TRADES.

Building.—Carpenters, joiners, lathers, plasterers, painters, decorators, and plumbers were active. Bricklayers, masons, gas and steamfitters, and builders' laborers were comparatively dull.

Metal, Engineering and Shipbuilding.—All were either busy or active, excepting bicycle workers, who were somewhat dull.

Woodworking and Furnishing.—Active conditions prevailed in all branches, with varnishers and polishers very busy.

Printing.—These trades were exceptionally active.

Clothing.—Active conditions prevailed in all lines.

Food and Tobacco Preparations.—Employment was active. Ice cutters and drivers were slack towards the end of the month.

Leather.—Employment was active.

Miscellaneous.—Activity prevailed in every branch.

Transport.—Busy conditions prevailed. Street railway men were active, and teamsters somewhat inactive.

Unskilled—Employment was somewhat dull.

DISTRICT NOTES.

Work of all kinds in the district was somewhat active. General stores, blacksmiths' shops, saw and flour mills were doing a good business. Wood sawing for summer use was giving employment to a number of men. Meetings of dairymen in the several townships are being held with the object of making preparations for the season's work. A scarcity of farm help is reported in the district.

Lakefield.—The Lakefield Cement Company has purchased a large tract of land for supplying clay to its factory; it is also installing a plant for operating the same.

Hastings.—The Peterborough Radiator Company has resumed operations and expects to have its building ready soon.

The movement in Lindsay will be pursued in a systematic manner and after much careful forethought.—Lindsay Post.

Many Oddfellows Attended Service

Annual Church Parade of the Order to All Saints'

The annual church parade of the members of Otonabee Lodge, No. 13, and Peterborough Lodge, I.O.O.F., was held last evening to All Saints' church, when the rector, Rev. Wm. Major, preached an eloquent and impressive sermon to the brethren.

Col. J. W. Miller acted as marshall, and the brethren—nearly 200 strong—marched from their hall, corner of George and Hunter street, down George street to Charlotte, along Charlotte to Rubidge, to the church, where they occupied the central pews of the edifice. The service was a bright and hearty one, and the occasion was the commemoration of the 88th anniversary of the founding of Oddfellowship in America.

Rev Mr. Major took as his text the 24th, 25th and 26th verses of the 11th chapter of Hebrews; "By faith Moses, when he had come to years, refused to be called the son Pharaoh's daughter, choosing rather to suffer affliction with the people of God than to enjoy the pleasures of sin for a season; esteeming the reproach of Christ greater riches than the treasures of Egypt, for he had respect unto the recompense of the reward."

In opening his sermon, the rector on behalf of the congregation of All Saints' and himself, extended a hearty welcome to the Oddfellows. That Order is the handmaiden of religion and virtue and its object is the same as that of the work for the upbuilding of man has been carried on with no small degree of success. Today there are two lodges with very large memberships and their influence in the community is wonderful.

The ritual of Oddfellowism is now published in fourteen different languages in all parts of the world. The only countries where the Order is not found is in the Latin countries where it is under the ban of the Roman Catholic church, an honor which it shares with A. F. & A. M. Nevertheless the growth of the Order and its influence for good is today increasing more rapidly than ever.

Continuing Rev. Mr. Major said that he understood that the principal teaching of Oddfellowism was self-sacrifice, and that the members keep constantly before them the life of Moses. They hold Moses the greatest example of self-sacrifice, and in this they are perfectly right, providing they make one exception, viz., Jesus Christ. Then the rector of All Saints' gave a brief account of the early life of Moses from the time he was snatched from the basket in the bulrushes until he was forty years of age, when in the words of the text, he refused to be called the son of Pharaoh's daughter, choosing rather to suffer affliction with the people.

church of Christ, viz., to give a proper enunciation of the word of Jesus of Nazareth. The Oddfellows, as an Order, are doing a grand work, Christian in its nature, and praiseworthy in its performance. They visit the sick, relieve the suffering, bury the dead, and aid the distressed.

For eighty-eight years the Oddfellows have been in existence on this side of the Atlantic Ocean, the first lodge being organized on April 26, 1819, by five Oddfellows, who had gone to the United States from the Old Country. They banded themselves together and called their lodge Washington Lodge. This little Order set out on an unknown sea, none of its members having any idea, what was to be the result of that first meeting. But year by year the society has developed and expanded until today the fraternity has a membership of one and a half millions and an income of over eight million dollars, more than $6,500,000 is paid out to widows and orphans and in maintaining charitable institutions.

In Peterborough the Oddfellows have been organized for 61 years. The first lodge was Otonabee No. 13, which was installed in March, 1846 During all those years a great

Travelling by "Special" Train

St. Paul's Church Choir Would Not Care to Repeat the Experience

St. Paul's church choir journeyed Norwood on Friday night by "special" train and returned by the same means.

The choirmaster and choristers would not care to have the experience repeated and are complaining bitterly at the service furnished by the C.P.R.

All arrangements were made for a special train, the cost being $38 for fifty persons. It was supposed the choir would be given a coach and engine and taken direct to the neighboring village and back after the concert. But no such luck.

The choir leader in speaking of the trip today said "when we got down to the C.P.R. station at 7 o'clock the so called special train was a passenger coach attached to a big freight train. We were to have reached Norwood at 7.30 so that the ladies would have plenty time of time to don their caps and gowns in order that the concert in the Presbyterian church might begin promptly at 8 o'clock. Instead we were landed there at 8.15 and had to get out of the car several hundred yards from the station platform, carrying our grips over the ties to the platform and finally we landed at the church. Everything had to be done hastily and the concert began exactly ten minutes to nine, the people having been kept waiting nearly an hour, through no fault of ours. Well! after the concert we found, on returning to the station, that our coach had been sidetracked, that we were to be hitched to another freight train and so brought home. The coach was cold, there being no heat whatever. We started at midnight and the freight train, after several stops, finally got here at twelve o'clock and left us on the bridge over the Otonabee river while the engine was detached and took on water. We were on the bridge fully twenty minutes before the coach was moved up to the station. We landed there exactly at two o'clock in the morning, thankful to reach home at last. We do not care to repeat the experience and delay. We paid the C.P.R. $38 for the service. Why railway companies will send an engine to Omemee to bring down a carload of freight for $9 or $10, and yet we paid four times that amount and got a service exactly as I have outlined."

The members of the choir do not blame the local C.P.R. city ticket agent for the service believing that he did all in his power to secure a special train, but they do find serious fault and offer strong criticism at the transportation means furnished by the company.

Livery Business Is Prosperous

Many New Horses and Rigs Added to the Barns—Demand for Rigs is Great

The livery business in Peterborough is most progressive and up-to-date. Every year the different liverymen add new horses and new rigs to their barns, and vie with each other to see who can turn out the largest number of handsome and modern outfits. This season will see more expensive and comfortable rigs and a much better class of horses for hire than ever before. The fact of the matter is the demand for livery rigs has so rapidly increased, and especially for the better class, that the owners of stables are compelled to invest more money. The young men of the city have plenty of money; they are all working and getting their wages regularly, and they like driving as a pleasure, and they want the best outfit they can get.

It has been previously announced that McCollum Bros., liverymen, intend to sell off their entire stable and to refill it with new horses. This has been accomplished, and now they have the finest lot of drivers that can be found in any livery stable in Ontario. The animals are all young, full of life and good roadsters, and they make a good appearance on the street. At the same time, all the rigs in the barn have been at the paint and repair shop and are in the best of condition. To the large number on hand has been added three handsome rubber tired buggies of the three-quarter size, the best that the McLaughlin Carriage Co. makes. These rigs were put on the road yesterday for the first time and are modern livery rigs.

Peterborough Man Vividly Describes Awful Scene of Recent Earthquake in Jamaica

Rev. F. J. Scott, Former Pastor of Murray Street Baptist Church, Drove Over the Stricken City of Kingston—Not One House in Miles Escaped Damage—How British Rule Promptly Restored Perfect Order—Other Incidents of His Trip to Bolivia, South America, Graphically Told—Journey Was a Long but Pleasant One—Party All in Good Health.

Rev. F. J. Scott, former pastor of the Murray street Baptist church, who left in January last for Bolivia, South America, to engage in mission work, has written a lengthy letter to the Review describing his trip to the extreme South and the incidents of the journey.

Mr Scott's many friends in Peterborough will be pleased to learn that he has arrived at his destination in company with Mrs. Scott, and son, and that they are enjoying good health.

Under date of March 18th, 1907, Mr. Scott writes from Oruro, Bolivia, as follows:—

To the Editor of the Review.

Allow me through the columns of your paper, to apprise my friends in Peterborough and vicinity of the safe arrival in Oruro, Bolivia, South America, of my wife and son, and myself. Our trip was in many respects pleasant, but was exceptionably long, wearisome and trying. We were six weeks one day and some hours en route. We found in some places the tropical heat very oppressive. In the six weeks' trip we tested every kind of climate. Such changes are supposed to be somewhat trying on the constitution, though we were not seriously affected.

We left New York on Jan. 31st. Our first sight of land was the West Indies. It seemed very strange to find ourselves in a few days in a warm climate, where on deck or on land we were welcoming every breeze. We thought of the place far north called Peterborough, where the people were shovelling coal and snow. By a strange perversity of nature, when we are too warm we think we would rather be too cold, and when we are too cold we think we would rather be too warm.

GLAMOUR OF THE TROPICS.

We found the tropical West Indies very interesting. There is a glamour about the tropics that impresses a stranger greatly. The golden sunlight, the balmy air, the luxuriant and variegated vegetation, the stately palms, the golden fruits—oranges, bananas, etc., which in northern climes we prize so highly—the mountains as they appeared in Cuba and Jamaica, all these combined to produce a charm to which we gladly yielded ourselves captives. At night we passed the ever-to-be-renowned San Salvador, where Columbus made his initial landing. At the very point where it is supposed he and his men landed there is a revolving light. As we beheld that light and realized the importance of that discovery, and the history that has flowed from it; as we let imagination run forward to the future to behold ages yet unborn, influenced by that discovery, and backward to realize the emotional experiences of Columbus, strange emotions surged thorough our hearts. But some men have a humor that expresses itself even on very serious occasions. There was on board an editor from Detroit (are editors always funny?) and said he, "Columbus took this as a serious thing, but now they are making light of it." Cuba was beautiful to behold, and we felt glad to see the land, which has taken such a prominent place in the world's notice of late years.

SCENE OF EARTHQUAKE.

Our first stop was at Port Antonio, Jamaica, perhaps the most beautiful place we saw on the entire trip. A beautiful bay is there surrounded on three sides by mountains. Tropical vegetation is very conspicuous, and the whole scene is entrancing. We feared the boat, which usually stops at Kingston, would not, on this trip, on account of the earthquake, but our fears were not realized, and in due time we reached the port of Kingston. Its surroundings are grand and charming. The bay affords the only really good view in Jamaica; therefore Kingston must be rebuilt. Back of the city are the mountains, which both from within and without the city are very majestic and picturesque. Tropical vegetation abounds in the place. We arrived there Saturday evening before dark and stayed till Sunday afternoon. So we had ample time to view the city, which had been so sorely stricken 11 days before. We drove over much of the city—a city of 50,000 people—and not one house in our miles of drive did we see undamaged by the earthquake. The fire swept over part of the ruins, and made the destruction seem more complete, but the city was ruined anyway by the earthquake. It shook the country for miles around. I understand that the only houses in the entire city that were undamaged were the miserable huts of some negroes, huts that were of no commercial or aesthetic value. As we saw vast edifices, and every edifice shaken and seriously damaged, we realized the great force the earthquake must have had. Some that at first sight appeared intact, were found on closer approach to be shattered beyond repair, the front standing, but the sides and back down. We saw that some strange freaks were performed. Sometimes the outside walls were down, exposing to view the interior of the rooms in comparative order. Sometimes the rooms were in the greatest disorder, tables overturned and chairs broken, another evidence of the force of the quake. A gentleman told me that, four times I think it was, the quakes knocked him down as he was in the middle of the street. Our only wonder was that more people had not been killed. We felt that the Providence that had caused the earthquake had bounded its destruction. We saw the homeless crowds in improvised hovels, in parks, etc., and we thought that while tropical climes have their fascinations, northern climes as e.g., our fair Canada, are free from such dreadful cataclysms.

ORDER PROMPTLY RESTORED.

One thing that remains to be referred to is the promptness with which order is restored. Though the Governor, whom I had the pleasure of seeing, may have erred in his treatment of the U. S. Admiral, British rule promptly restored perfect order. Late at night I walked the ruined streets with two other men, and there was no sign of the slightest disorder in the city. Only soldiers would occasionally demand name or business. In all our travel we have felt the advantage and honor of belonging to the Empire, whose prestige and good and honorable name in foreign lands, are no dream but palpable realities.

THE TOWN OF COLON.

Leaving Jamaica, the black man's island, we crossed the Carribean Sea, and came to Colon, at the Isthmus—a dirty negro town. We then took train on the Panama R. R. and crossed a distance of fifty miles to Panama on the Pacific Coast. Here, as at Colon, we found ourselves in a foreign land. Panama is a better, brighter city than Colon, though it too is dirty and quaint. It is Spanish in speech and character, and tropical in heat. Here we had to stay some days before we could get a Pacific boat. Crossing the isthmus we saw the great works on the Panama Canal, which will mean so much to the commerce of the world. In Kingston, we felt ourselves in a socially and morally inferior climate, and at the isthmus, where we were out of British territory, the inferiority of the civilization was very evident — painfully so.

A TEDIOUS TRIP.

Taking steamer we went down the west coast of South America, from Panama, the trip was very tedious. The boat stopped at many ports. This was how so much time was consumed. The delays were very trying. At Guayaquil, Equador, where the climate was almost insufferably hot, and where yellow fever was raging, and millions of mosquitos biting, we had to stay for some days. All down this coast we realized ourselves to be amid foreign surroundings. The English language was a comparative rarity in Panama, and down the coast. On board, Mrs. Scott was the only English-speaking lady. Some commercial men of different nationalities had learned English for commercial purposes.

REV. F. J. SCOTT,

Former Pastor of Murray Street Church, who has reached Bolivia to engage in missionary work.

The western coast of South America, so far as we voyaged was in general, very uninviting to the eye. It was rugged, but almost totally barren. However, by a strange irony this same barren coast produces the great bulk of the fertilizing material of the world. The absence of rain enables the promoters of the industry to prepare the nitrate, which farmers sow to enrich their lands. Along the coast of Chili there are a few places very picturesque. Small towns nestled at the water's edge, while immediately behind them rose percipitiously, mountains thousands of feet high. At last we reached our final port Autofagasta, a busy, commercial place, but quaint, primitive in many respects to the extreme, dirty, barren, sandy, and with a crude populace in general. Here we had to wait two nights and a day for a train inland into Bolivia. At Autofagasta, and throughout all the foreign part of the trip, we had considerable anxiety and difficulty at times, because we did not know the Spanish language. There was considerable red tape to observe, and much business to be done in respect to our baggage. We generally were able to find someone who knew both English and Spanish to assist us, but nevertheless the difficulties were great, for the inferiority of the civilization of this continent does not always reassure one as to the safety of one's baggage, at least.

A RAILWAY RIDE

At last we began our inland journey. The railroad was narrow guage, and the cars somewhat after the order form of North American cars. We travelled during the day, and had to put up at towns at night. Though we were rising most of the time in altitude the first part of the three day's inland journey was oppressively hot. The country through which we passed was almost entirely barren. We crossed vast plains, and came repeatedly into the immediate vicinity of snow-capped peaks. Nevertheless the same barren country represents vast wealth. We passed rich lakes of borax, and vast hills where it was evident, even to the unskilled in mining enterprises that there was great wealth in copper. We saw extensive mining plants—or plants for the preparation of nitrate. Bolivia, especially, I believe of South American countries, is rich in minerals. I wish I could describe the wierd towns and strange hotels at which we stayed. The towns were quite barren of vegetation, streets dirty, houses low—and all after one pattern. The second day we reached the highest point on the road. At this point—at the very point—many get the mountain sickness. I will not say whether any of us were affected here or not, but on we pushed, and the next day at 6.30 p.m., we reached our destination — Oruro, the high, treeless, barren town of 15,000 people. Were people ever glad to reach their destination? Then we were.

IT IS A GREAT LAND.

Our impression of South America is that potentially it is a great land. It is known as the land of tomorrow. It needs much development, however, commercially, educationally, politically, and religiously. Foreigners are needed here to improve every one of these departments of life. Missionaries in all these departments are needed. The native character will not of itself rise to achieve rapid development. In the hopefulness of the country, it is called the "land of tomorrow," but in a more worthy sense it may be so-called, for the representative native always says, "tomorrow" manana, and that spirit of inactivity, indifference, procrastination is inimical to rapid progress. Foreigners are seeing the advantages here and are coming in increasing numbers. They will teach the native a more excellent way.

DESCRIPTION OF THE PEOPLE.

Notwithstanding, this "tomorrow" spirit, just referred to, there is in general much native industriousness in the country. The people are mostly Indians and Half-Breeds (Spanish and Indian). They are mentally not an inferior people, that is, their natural mentality is not inferior. The Indians are more industrious than those of North America and keep their farms and work in the mines. They are descendants of the famous Incas, whose civilization before Columbus' discovery, was higher than the Indian civilization of today. We saw many Indians on the way inland, and grieved for their evidently abject condition. Centuries of oppression have made them sad wrecks. There is much squalor in the land. Indians and half-breeds constitute the great mass of population in all the cities, I think. They know little of sanitary precautions. Their homes are often the filthiest hovels, and their persons are no better than their homes. As one walks the streets and enters the markets, the filth, vulgarity and indecency of the people are often unpleasantly obtrusive. Their dresses are very crude, in keeping with their general manner of life. They are exceedingly ignorant, and very superstitious. Marriage is often considered an unnecessary form to permit a man and woman to live together. The vast majority of people in the land are illegitimate. Stealing is very prevalent. Lies are more often told than the truth. The moral and religious condition of the country is rotten to the very core, and positively defies anything like an adequate pen description. It must have to be seen and known to be realized. What above all things the people need is the gospel of Jesus Christ, which can wash them from the guilt and save them from the power of sin. Material improvements will then follow the more important spiritual improvements.

Politically, the country is in a better state than it was a few years ago. Revolutions have been a bane to the land, but the Government is more stable of late. Progressive laws have been passed, encouragement given to railroads and education; liberty of worship has been granted, and in many respects the legislators of Bolivia are showing an awakened and progressive spirit.

We might add that there is in Bolivia the so-called "Upper Class." This class is in many ways greatly superior to the class I have described, and that constitutes the great mass of the population. The better class of people are educated, and have all attained to some refinement. Unfortunately they are greatly in the minority.

STOOD JOURNEY WELL.

Mrs. Scott and I are grateful that we and our infant son of now 8 months, stood the journey well. We intend to stay in Oruro some months with our pioneer missionary to this country, Rev. A. B. Reekie, until we learn the language. Then we expect to go to some other city. Mr. Reekie has a school here, and does much gospel work in and out of it. He has secured a large property on a hill overlooking the city, an ideal spot for an educational institution. For residence, and as a site for a college, this is no doubt the best location in the city. Here we are living in the college building. Any way we look, the scene is beautiful. The whole city is in view, with distant plains and mountains. The only thing we miss in the way of beauty of landscape is the beautiful vegetation of home. But the air is very exhilarating, the climate salubrious for the majority of people, and the sunshine is very tenacious and resplendant. The climate is temperate, and so far we have not suffered at all, either from heat or cold. The winter at Oruro is a little cooler than at this season of the year, but even then, the weather is not severe. The natives never burn fuel to heat their homes.

KINDNESS APPRECIATED

Have I imposed upon your space, Mr. Editor? I have dared to do so, believing that you and your readers would be interested in learning of the conditions I have described. Kindness was shown us in Peterborough, and we felt we were not presuming in believing that personal interest would not find this account too long. We have the kindest remembrances of Peterborough, and of the church we labored with, and of friends, and in all our future days, these remembrances will prove to us a joy and strength.

Yours truly,
FREEMAN J. SCOTT.

Lived Outdoors for First Time

Ideal Spring Weather Sunday—Thousands Walked, Drove and Went to Church

For one full day the weather was ideal of a Canadian spring, and yesterday for the first time during 1907, the people of this good old city were able to indulge in the fresh air and warm sunshine without feeling the chill of winter, which has so predominated the month of April. To say that the people did not enjoy it, and both inwardly and outwardly express their joy, would be far from the truth. All day, and late into the evening, hundreds of young men, young ladies and older men and older ladies, took advantage of the pleasures of spring.

The air was warm, the sun shone brightly all day, the sky was a clear blue, unobstructed by clouds, while the roads were dry and in splendid condition. The ground in the parks and on the lawns, too, was comparatively dry and there was no wind to disturb the dust and carry it along the roads in distressing clouds, as was the case on previous Sundays. Nature seemed to have put forth its best efforts to make life upon earth happy and worth the living and the whole populace lifted up its voice in thanksgiving.

Hundreds, it might fairly be said, were out of doors yesterday, and for as long a time as possible. The streets were filled all day and evening with pedestrians; the parks and the picturesque highways surrounding the city attracted, for the first time this year, hundreds of young people, while the beautiful drives over the hills was enjoyed by many. There was not a livery rig in the city to be had. All were ordered before Saturday night and as many more could have been rented on Sunday. A large number of private citizens, possessing their own horse and buggy, took a spin into the country, and around the city, glad to be free once more of the stuffy monotony of the fireside, and the easy chair or parlor sofa.

But the people of Peterborough did not give themselves up to pleasures of the world entirely. There are, in a great majority, too loyal to the teachings of Christ and the church. The services yesterday in all the churches were very largely attended. From early morning until the last congregation was dispersed at night, great crowds could be seen going to and from worship, and the act assisted largely in the enjoyment of the day.

Had Menagerie in His Stomach

Seized With Coughing Fit Port Hope Man Ejected a Reptile

The Port Hope Guide says, — Mr. Thos. Hill, Ontario Street, had an experience the other night, which he does not wish repeated. Thomas had been sick for some time, and during the night, when in the act of vomiting, something became lodged in his throat. He was unable to raise it and finally extracted it with his fingers. It was a reptile of some description, and to his surprise it was living. A large bulb had formed upon it, and in taking it out, this broke. The discharge from this brought on another spell of vomiting, and Mr. Hill was very sick for the next couple of days. He is able to be about again, but is looking rather shaky.

KILLED BY FALL OF WALL.

Four Dead and Eighteen Injured At Chrome, N. Y.

New York, April 29.—Four men were instantly killed, three others were badly injured, and 15 others were more or less seriously hurt by the collapse of a brick wall at the De La Mar Copper Works, at Chrome, N. Y., Saturday.

The victims were all Hungarians. The settlement is chiefly composed of foreigners, and following the falling of the wall there was a wild rush to the vicinity and something like a riot resulted. When the frenzied men and women found they would not be admitted within the walls of the works they stoned the small guard and threatened vengeance. Most of the colony have members of their families working for the company.

Miners Still Entombed.

Johnstown, Pa., April 29.—Despite the fact that 12 large pumps have been in operation for two days at mine No. 27 of the Berwind White Co. at Foustwell, where seven men have been imprisoned since Friday by a flood of water from abandoned workings, so little progress has been made the miners may not be reached until too late to save their lives. All day yesterday the tappings on the compressed air pipes continued. The rescuing party is greatly puzzled over the manner in which these taps are given. Invariably the number is seven.

Possibly these frequent earthquakes are caused by the earth's spasmodic efforts to warm itself up a little

IT IS TO LAUGH

Our critical contemporary, the Examiner, went to the length of accusing Conservatives of having omitted the usual cheers for the King at Friday night's great meeting. The charge is framed in panel so as to catch the public eye the more effectively. That this misrepresentation is deliberate we are unable to deny, since the political editor, the news editor and the office boy were all there. They know that Mr. Kendry, the chairman, announced that the National Anthem would be sung, and it was sung with enthusiasm and sincerity. In the face of this the statement of the Examiner is very far fetched, and many of the vast audience who heard that the Examiner had made the accusation were disgusted, if not amazed. The last year has witnessed lamentations on the part of our contemporary that excel those of Jeremiah in volume, if not in literary character. Councils, School Boards, Ministerial Associations have all been the target for their wanton fusilade, but immunity has encouraged boldness, hence their last charge, that of disloyalty, has caused the public to laugh. The Review would warn our contemporary against being laughed to death. It is a possible contingency if its ways are not mended.

A POLICEMAN'S HOLIDAY

Neither law or custom appears to ensure to the policemen a holiday, or one clear twenty-four hours' rest out of the seven days of the week. Usually the public in its corporate capacity is an ideal employer, but in the case of the policemen there is a striking exception to the rule. This is all the more strange in view of the very apparent desirability of giving policemen an opportunity once a week of leaving their beat for a time long enough to allow their attention to be distracted from the associations upon which it is their first duty to bestow their attention. The beaten track which they of necessity have to follow brings them daily into contact with the criminal class of the population. What can be more important than that these officers, who take their lives in their hands for our protection, should be given some chance of shaking off their depressing associations. Yet the public, or their representatives, compel them, day in and day out, without the customary holiday, to lend their whole time and energies, to the necessary but disagreeable duties or watching, detecting and punishing criminals.

In almost every other vocation twenty-four clear hours per week off duty is customary and so it should be with the police officer. For his own sake and that of the community he should be encouraged to get into closer touch with the moral and educational forces of the community. Give him the opportunity, one day in the week to look for the better and nobler things of life and to live an ordinary life instead of requiring that he should keep is mind fastened continuously upon the vices and crimes that degrade and in the war against which he is society's champion.—Mon. Herald.

LEFT MATERIAL ON THE STREET

J. S. Richardson Fined for Violation of City By-law

There was just a short session at the police court this morning.

J. S. Richardson was fined two dollars to be paid in ten days for violating bylaw, 395. Mr. Richardson has had building material lying on the road in front of his premises on Dalhousie Street, for the past six months, thus blocking the way.

The bylaw allows only a week to clear it away after it has been left there.

Mr. Richardson said he had no other place to put the material. His Worship said that the bylaw must be enforced, and he therefore imposed the above mentioned fine.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORK IN WEST

Forward Movement of the Ontario Association—What is Needed?

The Ontario Sunday School Association, of which Mr. R. W. Clarke, of Millbrook, is president, is appealing for funds to carry on the work with greater efficiency in the growing provinces of the West.

Mr John Gilchrist, of Toronto, a former resident of Peterborough, and also a former elder in St. Paul's church, who is a member of the executive council of the Association, was in the city yesterday in the interest of the forward movement. He delivered a short, but stirring address yesterday morning in St. Paul's church, calling attention to the greatness and urgency of the work.

A primary secretary was required for Ontario and the services of a secretary and primary secretary for the provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and British Columbia. The sum of $4,000 would be required for the work in the west, the provinces guaranteeing to pay all expenses

It is probable that Miss Williamson, formerly of this city, now of Moosejaw, will be appointed to the position of primary secretary in the west, an office for which she is particularly well fitted.

PROJECTS PLANNED BUT DEFERRED.

For years the Association has had two secretaries, Mr. J. A. Jackson, B.A., general secretary, and Mr Thomas Yellowlees, extension secretary. Two years ago a teacher training secretary was added, the present appointee being Mr. H. W. Brown, B.A.

A primary secretaryship has also been felt to be desirable and it came under serious consideration about two months ago, but the project had to be laid aside for lack of funds.

For four years there has been periodically under discussion the establishment of an official organ, by which the efficiency of the Association's work would be greatly increased, but as the committee estimated that it would not for some time be quite self-supporting, it, too was kept in abeyance.

During July, 1906, a Summer School for Teacher Training was operated by the Association in Toronto for 12 days. It was a splendid success in everything but patronage. Its expenses had been guaranteed by a fund of about $600, subscribed by friends. These were assessed 50 per cent. Many expressed their appreciation of the work by paying 100 per cent., and some of the students volunteered double fees. The testimony to the value of the school was emphatic, but it seemed, undesirable, if it could be avoided, to again ask for subscriptions to a guarantee fund.

Such was the situation when the report to the convention at Kingston was ready.

A CALL FROM THE WEST.

Then came a call from young associations in British Columbia and Alberta, and scattered workers in Saskatchewan, where there is no provincial organization, for a field worker to be furnished them, friends in Ontario paying his salary, and they caring for his expenses. For the Ontario Association to honor such a request, even to the extent of introducing its bearer, Rev. Mr. Merritt, International Field Worker, to wealthy friends of the Association seemed like putting further away the realization of its own cherished and deferred projects. But the call was that of a familiar voice. It was of our own kith and kin, sons and daughters, brothers and sisters of Ontario families, struggling with long distances, sparse settlements, lack of organization, ultra commercial spirit, and the chilling influence of loose Western notions and looser Asiatic civilization. And so the messenger was introduced to Toronto friends of large financial ability. Several of these offered to co-operate, provided the scheme could be worked through the Ontario Association.

A CHALLENGE AND A BRILLIANT EXAMPLE

That being reported to the Chairman of the Executive, he discussed the matter with Mr. Chester D. Massey, one of the gentlemen referred to. Mr. Merritt had told Mr. Massey of having been present in the Pennsylvania State Convention, when they raised $20,000 for their state work for the year, one gentleman subscribing $5,000 and another $2,000 towards it. Mr. Massey suggested to the chairman that the Association prepare a budget, embracing all it desired to accomplish, get all possible from the constituency and then come to Toronto and said he, "If Pennsylvania can raise $20,000 a year for its state work, I think we in Ontario ought to be able to raise a few thousands."

Thus encouraged, the Committee prepared its budget, embracing the Field Worker for the West, a primary secretary, an official organ, and the continuance of the Summer School, involving altogether an advance of over $4,000 on ordinary outlay.

PROGRESS THUS FAR

The subscriptions toward the advance when the convention closed aggregated about $1,200. Almost immediately afterward several large ones were received, two of them of $300 each, and the canvass since has resulted, up to the time of publication of this second edition of the leaflet, in bringing the total up to about 65 per cent. of the amount aimed at. Nearly all of this has come from individual friends of the work

A CHIC LITTLE GOWN

Some of the simplest frocks intended for small folks' wear are the smartest and one which is especially to be recommended is shown. The gown consists of a tucked blouse and an attached tucked skirt which are not difficult to fashion and sure to prove becoming. The dress is one suited to development in a wide variety of washing fabrics and cloths, while pongee is liked by many mothers for such gowns. The dress launders excellently and retains its good style as long as it lasts. The closing is made in back, the broad shouldered effect gained by the tucks being very modish. The medium size calls for 3 1-8 yards of 30 inch material.

4179.—Seven sizes, 4 to 10 years.

The price of this pattern is ten cents.

Leave your order and 10 cents at the REVIEW OFFICE and pattern will be sent you by mail.

A CLEVER WAIST DESIGN.

The woman who seeks for individuality in her blouses will appreciate the design sketched. The material used is linen, but a Rajah or silk would serve as well. When closely considered, the waist is very simple yet its effect is charmingly unique. The front has the duchess closing lined with groups of buttons. The fulness provided for the front and sleeve puff is held in two forward and two backward turning pleats which terminate in a point where the material is slot-seamed to the shoulder and wrist. The sleeves may be completed at the elbow if shorter length is desired. For the medium size 3 3-4 yards of 27 inch material are needed.

6843.—Six sizes, 32 to 42 inches bust measure.

The price of this pattern is 10 cents.

PRICE OF CONCESSION

Canada May Demand Free Port In Alaska From U. S.

Foreign Secretary to Confer With Sir Wilfrid Laurier On United States Questions—Canadian Negotiations Giving Trouble—Secretary Root Has Widely Different Views—Must Buy Out Sealers.

London, April 29.—Foreign Secretary Grey is taking advantage of the presence of the Colonial Premiers in London to obtain the first-hand views of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir Robert Bond on the questions pending between the United States and Canada and Newfoundland respectively.

The Secretary already has had one conference with Sir Robert, but it was largely taken up with the discussion of the modus vivendi, which the United States and Great Britain signed to cover the last fishing season, and to which the Newfoundland Premier strenuously objected on the ground of "interference with the rights of the colony."

Against Interference.

Further interviews will occur, looking to the permanent settlement of the fisheries dispute. It is recognized that this is not easy of accomplishment, as there is a strong sentiment against any interference of the Imperial Government with the affairs of the colonies.

The Canadian negotiations are giving the Foreign Secretary even more trouble than those in which Newfoundland is interested, but every effort will be put forth to bring about an agreement. Premier Laurier has been too busy thus far with the Imperial Conference and special engagements to discuss questions with the Foreign Office, but he has made an appointment with the Foreign Secretary for the coming week when the whole matter will be gone over.

Sir Wilfrid expressed to the Associated Press his satisfaction with the hands in which the negotiations were left, and spoke hopefully of the outcome, but from other sources it was learned that there are wide differences of views between United States Secretary of State Root and the Canadians.

Demand Compensation.

In almost every case the Canadians demand some national compensation in return for what they are asked to concede. As an example, to give up pelagic sealing they not only ask the United States to buy out the sealers, but also want a further concession from the United States, which might take the form of a port in Alaska to give traders an entry into the Canadian Yukon district without passing through American territory.

At a dinner of the National Liberal Club, Sir Robert Bond took the occasion to again protest against the modus vivendi, repeating what he said in the Legislature before his departure from Newfoundland.

LAURIER IS RESPONSIBLE.

Canadian Premier Killed the Imperial Council Idea.

London, April 29.—The Saturday Review says the proposal of an imperial council has been killed by Premier Laurier with the help of Gen. Botha.

The Spectator says the abandonment of an imperial council was largely due to the line taken by Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Mr. Haldane, referring to the conference proposals, thought they had made a step forward towards the organization of a scientific force for the defence of the Empire as a whole.

The Pall Mall Gazette hopes Premier Bond's appeal for Newfoundland will not go unconsidered amid the greater issues of the Premiers' visit.

Dr. Charles Harriss is to be admitted to the Worshipful Co. of Musicians on Tuesday.

Charge Against Minister.

Cayuga, April 29.—The Methodist Church in this town will be the scene of a big trial on Tuesday. The judge will be Rev. R. G. Elliott, of Waterloo, president of the Hamilton conference, and five pastors of this district will constitute the jurors. The main defendant is Rev. J. H. Dyke, the pastor of the church, and against him there are half a dozen charges. Alex. Mitchell, one of the church officials, laid the charges. Rev. Mr. Dyke, in turn, has laid a charge against Rev. Mr. Mathers, Hagersville, the district president. The charges against Rev. Mr. Dyke are defamation of character, falsehood, deceit, mal-administration, indiscreet and disorderly conduct in the church.

Traveler In Trouble.

Toronto, April 29.—J. J. Cummings, a Montreal cigar traveler, was arrested on Saturday night by Detective Tipton, on a warrant from Berlin, Ont., charging him with fraud.

Cummings, it is alleged, undertook to sell a quantity of wine on commission for Weiner Bros. of Berlin. He advised the firm to the effect that he had sold two casks to an Ottawa firm. Weiner Bros. sent him a cheque covering the amount of the commission. When called on for payment, the Ottawa firm denied any knowledge of the transaction.

Cummings will be taken to Berlin to-day.

Mysterious Disappearance.

Belleville, April 29.—E. B. Davis, a well-known mining man, who has been carrying on operations in North Hastings, has disappeared. Some time ago he left Madoc for the Bannockburn mines, and before going gave a valuable diamond to James Cockram, proprietor of the St. Lawrence Hall, to keep for him. Since then he has not been seen. It is feared he has met with foul play.

Famine Acute In Armenia.

St. Petersburg, April 29.—A despatch received here from Tiflis says that the famine is acute in Turkish Armenia, and that hundreds of peasants are dying of actual starvation.

A four-track tunnel twenty-two miles long under Lake Michigan, connecting Gary, Ind., with Chicago, is proposed.

Six Inches of Snow at Bancroft; Bessemer Iron Mine Working

Shipping two and Three Cars of Ore per Day to the Sault Smelter—Owner Was Offered $2,000,000 and Refused it—Sixty Thousand Telephone Poles Taken Out by the Settlers.

It was a rare and not a pleasant experience for the settlers and residents in the country back of this city, to have to wade through nearly half a foot of snow on the 24th of April. But that is what the good people of Bancroft and vicinity had to do last Wednesday. All that night the snow fell heavier than at any time during the winter and had it not been for warm sun the farmers might have thought that they were in for another winter. Ald. Arthur Stevenson, Crown Timber Agent, was in the city Saturday and Sunday after spending a week calling at different points along the route of the Central Ontario railroad. He said that when he got up Thursday morning about four o'clock there was fully five inches of snow on the ground. He was unpleasantly surprised as he was not prepared for winter and only had ordinary rubbers over his shoes and they were of very little use as the snow was very wet and as he proceeded along the road it rapidly melted. As a result of the storm the roads are in a very bad condition again and traffic is handicapped. But with fine weather it should not be long before the dust flies.

At one point where the Crown Timber Agent stopped there were 60,000 cedar telegraph poles, the result of the settlers' labors during the winter. These poles were piled up along the road and extended over an area of several acres. They have been sold to agents of telephone and telegraph companies and they will be shipped out to different points as rapidly as possible.

The Bessemer Iron mine in the township of Mayo, Hastings county, is very busy. Two and three carloads of ore are shipped daily to Sault Ste. Marie smelter, and the mine is one of the most profitable in Ontario. It is owned by Mr. H. C. Farum and has only been in operation some six or eight months. The ore is worth about $13 a ton or $100 a car, and the Sault works has contracted for as much as the mine can turn out. Last year a spur from the Central Ontario railway was completed into the mine, so that shipping is now very easy. It is stated that Mr. Farum was offered $2,000,000 for the mine and that he refused. This is the only mine in this district which has been operated with any profit.

The Eldorado Copper mine has been closed, and the men were all idle last week. When it will be started up again is not known.

Ald. Stevenson left again today on another tour through the back country.

Rev. Dr. O'Brien Honored by Members of St. Peter's T.A.S.

Presented With a Purse of $250 and Appreciative Address at Regular Meeting Yesterday.

Rev. Dr. O'Brien, spiritual advisor of St. Peter's T.A.S., was honored by the Society yesterday when, at the regular meeting, he was presented with a purse of $250, accompanied by an appreciative address. There was a large attendance of the members, who had gathered to do honor to their beloved spiritual advisor, who leaves tomorrow on a trip to Ireland, where he will spend several weeks. The presentation was made by Mr. D. Cushing, president of the Society, who read the following address;

To Rev. M. J. O'Brien, D.D., Spiritual Advisor of St. Peter's T. A.S.

Dear Reverend Father,

We, the members of St. Peter's T.A.S. having learned that you are about to depart from our midst for a short time on a voyage to Ireland, feel that it would not be consistent with the deep love and esteem which we entertain towards you, if we allowed you to go without showing in some way our appreciation of your untiring efforts and zeal in our behalf. It is, however, gratifying to us to know that your stay will be but temporary, and our earnest desire is that your voyage will be, not only one of pleasure, but will also be productive of renewed health and vigor, to enable you to continue the great work you are accomplishing in our midst. It is with feelings of gratitude that we recall the care and assiduity with which you have labored on behalf of the Total Abstinence Society in your efforts to vanquish that dread demon of intemperance, heretofore so prevalent. The active interest you have taken in every member of the society, the advice and direction you, with pleasure, afforded us at all times, and the enthusiasm your untiring energy infused into our work, have been to us a tower of strength and encouragement in our endeavors to succeed.

The foundation you have laid will go down to future generations as a lasting memorial to your relentless zeal, and the prayers of the many wives and families, rescued from untold misery and sorrow, will ascend to the throne of God in your behalf and we pray that God may grant you length of years and health of mind and body, to labor in His holy vineyard for the souls of Christ, and to advance the cause of temperance.

It is, therefore, our earnest desire that the good seed which you have planted, will continue to grow so that when the trumpet shall sound and God's elect shall rise, we may join you in singing with the angels a happy "Gloria in Excelsis Deo."

We feel assured, Reverend Father, that any praises we may bestow upon you, are inadequate to convey an impression of the good you have done amongst us, and we therefore, ask you to accept the accompanying purse, which we are pleased to present you, as a small token of our affection and regard for you, and to remind you that your numerous friends in Peterborough will be anxiously awaiting your safe return from the beloved Ireland beyond the seas.

Signed on behalf of the Society.

Dr. O'Brien made a suitable response, thanking the members heartily for their great kindness and good wishes. He hoped to do even better work for the T.A.S. when he came back from his trip to the Green Isle.

Mr. Thos. E. Shea and Company

Arrived in the City and Will Play "The Bells" and 'Napoleon the Great'

Thos. E. Shea and company, who will appear at the Grand Opera House to-night in "The Bells," that play which made Sir Henry Irving famous, arrived in the city this morning. They brought with them a whole carload of scenery and costumes. To-morrow night Mr. Shea will appear in "Napoleon the Great." He is one of the best known and most clever character actors in America. He has been induced to come to Peterborough at great expense, as his time is fully occupied in large cities. The local people should avail themselves of the opportunity of seeing these two good plays, the like of which is seldom seen in the Grand Opera House here. The plan for both nights is now open and the seats are selling rapidly.

HORSE BROKE MAN'S ANKLE

Harry Cammons, the well known Warsaw blacksmith, had the misfortune to have his ankle broken a few days ago. He was preparing to shoe a horse when the animal became fractious and reared up and came down on Mr. Cammons's foot, breaking the ankle.

Mr. Cammons will be unable to work for some time as a result of the accident.

PERSONAL

Mr. R. N. Jolliffe, of Toronto, is in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Best, of Toronto, spent Sunday in Peterborough.

W. A. Buchanan, publisher of the Lethbridge, Alta., Herald, has been appointed the first provincial librarian of Alberta. He will have the task of organizing not only the provincial library but the free library system of the Province. Before going west, Mr. Buchanan was associated with newspapers in Peterborough, Toronto, and St. Thomas, having been city editor of the Toronto Telegram, and managing director of the St. Thomas Journal. He is a son of Rev. Wm. Buchanan of Gravenhurst, and a nephew of Rev. T. C. Buchanan, superintendent of missions in Alberta. He has an important task on his hands in the new office to which he has been appointed.

Baseball Score Cards Given Free at the Review Office

The Review is prepared to publish scores by innings together with the batteries of all amateur baseball games, and score by quarters with the line-up of all lacrosse matches played by Peterborough teams in this city or elsewhere the approaching season. No matter of how little importance the game may be, if the score is authentic it will be printed by the Review.

Scores must be sent in on the day on which the games are played. They may be mailed to the sporting editor or left in the main office, thus assuring their publication the following day. Be sure that the scores are absolutely correct with names properly spelled, and figures clean and correctly totalled.

Secretaries of all leagues and clubs are requested to send to the Sporting Editor the names of the members of their teams, schedules of games and such items of interest as they deem worthy of publication. Communications may be sent as often as desired, and will receive prompt attention.

The Review has on hand a supply of score cards to record runs by innings, hits, errors, batteries and the features of the game. The cards can be procured by club captains and secretaries at any time, free of charge.

Call at this office and as many as required will be furnished gratis. Every club in the city should secure a supply. Junior teams will be given them just as gladly as their elders.

This Colt Should Travel Lively

Horse fanciers in the vicinity of Warsaw are much interested in a colt that has recently been foaled by a mare belonging to Mr. Robert Crowe. The youngster is sired by Directum owned by Elmhurst Bros., of Keene, and the sire of Harry Direct, and several other fast ones. The Warsaw colt is a splendid one, and should prove very fast when developed.

Next Month Will be Very Stormy

Rev. Iri R. Hicks Promises Some Lively Weather for the Month of Flowers

The weather prognostications for May as outlined by Rev. Iri R. Hicks, predict the probability of "many and heavy storms." This, he says, applys to all sections of the country. We are promised rain, wind and thunderstorms from the 1st to the 3rd. From that date till the 6th there is to be unseasonable cold in extreme northern sections, with possible sleet and snow, sending a cool wave over most parts of the country. Along about the 9th we are told to expect high temperature and thunderstorms. Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, the 12th, 13th and 14th, are named as dates of severe storm probabilities, with warm, humid atmosphere, low barometer and southerly winds. About the 20th a probable cycle of rain, wind and thunder storms may make things uninteresting. The outlook for Victoria Day, May 24th, is not very encouraging for Canadians, presaging "probable danger" and destructive hail storms with sudden revulsion from extreme warmth to unseasonable cold. From this on to the end of the month the outlook presented is a prolonged spell of threatening stormy weather.

However, despite the continuous bad weather performance we are threatened with the Reviews ventures to predict that we'll have many beautiful sun shining days that Prof. Hicks seems to have overlooked.

Has Purchased a Black Pacer

Bert McCollum Has a Fast Driver for His Own Use

The list of fast horses in the city has been increased by one. Mr. Bert. McCollum, of McCollum Bros., has purchased a handsome black pacer from McKay Bros., of Orillia, and he will use it for his own driving. The horse is only six years old and can do a mile in .30 or less, although it has no mark, and if Mr. McCollum decided to put him on the track, he can enter in any class. The animal arrived in Lindsay yesterday by freight, and was driven to Peterborough, arriving here last night.

A NARROW ESCAPE

With his canoe caught on a stump and upset, and his feet fast under the seat, Fishery Inspector Bradshaw was in a perilous plight last evening, says the Lindsay Post. He was accompanied by Inspector Watson of Caesarea, and was coming up the river near Green Bay, when their canoe run on a stump and turned over. Basil Newton, of McLennan & Co.'s hardware staff, was not far distant, and saw the occurrence. He immediately came to their assistance and pulled Mr. Watson out of the water, but Mr. Bradshaw was caught fast and could not be removed. Frank Bushnell, A. Touchburn, J. Dickson and others, on shore were notified and succeeded in rescuing the now nearly exhausted man. The two drenched and dripping men were hurried to a nearby muskrat hunters' camp, where they remained all night.

The Situation at Fernie; The Miners Refuse to Work

What is the Truth About Western Coal Strike?

Despatch Says Men Will Not Return—Ottawa Differs—Testing New Labor Act—How Miners Voted—Serious Situation—Not Jails Enough to Hold the Strikers—Reports of Fuel Famine.

Fernie, B.C., April 30.—The miners, by a referendum vote, have refused to return to work, pending the meeting of the board of arbitration. It is significant that at Fernie, where Mackenzie King explained the law to the miners, the vote was unanimously in favor of returning to work at the old scale until the board can complete its investigations and render a verdict. Mr. King says this shows clearly that if the other camps could understand clearly the effect of the new law they would return to work. The vote was as follows:

Fernie, unanimous for return to work.

Lundbrek, 39 to 19 in favor of resumption of work pending investigation.

Michel, 111 to 67 against.
Colsman, 63 to 74 against.
Frank, 64 to 14 against.
Hillcrest, 22 to 5 against.
Lille, 97 to 7 against.
Bellevue, unanimous against.
Bankhead, 120 to 7 against.
Canmore, 101 to 3 against.

A serious situation is at hand. The labor men themselves seem unable to figure out the situation, and it seems that the leaders are unable to control the men. The whole question is one of faith, and the difficulty now is to do more than outline the fact that there was a breach of agreement somewhere. President Sherman says the men were afraid to go back to work without an agreement, and they had no confidence in the new legislation.

The question of armed men is freely discussed, and miners are angry on account of statements as to enforcement of law by the use of armed troops or the Northwest Mounted Police.

How to Enforce Law.

The next question turns on the enforcement of the law. More than three thousand men are on strike, though they claim to have quit as individuals. They are anxious to learn the attitude the Government will now assume. There is much excitement over rumors of using the mounted police. The authorities are in no position to arrest three thousand men, and the jails are inadequate if the men refused to pay the fines.

The feeling is general that the new law will be given a severe test.

Reports of fuel famine are very general.

What the Government Thinks.

Ottawa, April 30.—The Government has had no advices since Saturday as to the conditions in the western coal fields, but enquiry at the Department of Labor elicits the information that the striking miners were expected to return to work with the exception of those employed by the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company at Michel.

Big Brewery Was Destroyed; Costly Blaze in Queen City

Fire at Toronto Destroys $200,000 Worth of Property.

Cause of Blaze Is Unknown—Originated In Old Elevator—Spread With Great Rapidity Till Five Buildings Were Alight—Firemen Hampered by Dense Smoke—Danger From Gasoline Tanks—No Lives Lost.

Toronto, April 30.—Fire swept the buildings of the Davies Brewing Co., at Queen street and the Don Esplanade this morning. The loss may reach $200,000.

Those who suffer loss are:
The Davies Brewing Co., $80,000.
The Ontario Storage Co., $40,000.
The Dustless Method Cleaning Co., $5,000.
The Crown Bottling Works, $5,000.
John Dick, owner of a portion of the buildings, $30,000.

The blaze originated in the old elevator of the brewery, now occupied by the Ontario Storage Co. The cause is unknown.

At 12.30 a.m. P. C. Hawthorne saw flames coming from the roof of the building, a two-storey brick structure, and he pulled an alarm from box 217.

General Alarm.

Chief Thompson was one of the first to arrive and promptly sent in a call for reinforcements, the firemen from Bay, Queen, Yonge street and Rose avenue stations responding.

There was a dense smoke, and the fire was hard to get at.

At 1.30 John Dick, who owns the building, warned the firemen to beware of the east wall, which, he said, was in danger of collapsing.

A few minutes later the blaze got into the malthouse of the brewery, and in less than an hour the roof had fallen in.

It was feared that the storage department would ignite.

A corrugated iron building, occupied by the Dustless Method Cleaning Company, was badly damaged. Two tanks of gasoline were in the building, and made the task of the firemen very dangerous.

A building occupied by the Crown Bottling Works was scorched. Arthur H. Davies is proprietor.

The Davies Brewing Company includes Arthur H. and Franklin J. Davies. They estimate the loss to the malthouse at $60,000 on contents and $20,000 on building. The storage warehouse is valued at $60,000.

The building occupied by the Storage company is owned by John Dick, and was valued at $30,000, and fully insured.

John H. King is proprietor of the Storage Company.

Three horses were taken from a stable which was threatened.

The residence of A. H. Davies, on River street, was in the danger zone, and the contents were removed.

Firemen Hampered.

The structure of the buildings, with few doors and windows, greatly handicapped the firemen in getting at the blaze. The storage building was beyond saving when the firemen reached the spot, and the attack of the sheets of flame on the surrounding buildings could not be resisted.

The engines from Berkeley, Lombard and Bay streets were in commission, and a good water pressure was the result.

GRAFT IN OLD LONDON.

Municipal Officials Appear In Criminal Court For Bribery.

London, April 30.—The first trial here in a long time of municipal officials for receiving bribes began yesterday, when six members of the West Ham (an eastern suburb of London) board of guardians and four workhouse and infirmary officials appeared in the dock of the criminal court, charged with accepting money for awarding contracts for coal and other supplies, and, for appointing minor officials.

The sums involved are comparatively small. It is charged, for instance, that a doctor paid $500 for a hospital appointment.

Attorney-General Walton and three assistants are prosecuting the officials, who are defended by a large array of counsel.

The dead man is Horace Tussel, a passenger. Among the injured is William Reynolds, another passenger of Watertown, and the engineer and fireman.

Murder and Suicide.

Philadelphia, April 30.—Because she said she would rather die than marry him, Martha Corian, aged 22 years, a German servant girl, was shot and killed almost instantly here yesterday by Franz Andrewskty. The murderer turned the revolver upon himself.

Family Has Narrow Escape.

Cornwall, April 30.—Fire destroyed the residence of John Kennedy, Tinkess crossing, a couple of miles west of Cornwall, on Sunday morning. The family had a narrow escape, the whole building being on fire when they awoke at 4 a. m.

Sir Charles Is Returning.

London, April 30.—Sir Charles Tupper sails for Canada on Aug. 9.

LOCAL OPTION BYLAWS.

Quashing Not to Take Place on Mere Technicalities.

Toronto, April 30.—It is reported that the Government has under consideration a definite policy to be pursued in the case of the quashing on mere technicalities of local option bylaws carried in the older sections of the province by the necessary three-fifths majority or more. In respect to New Ontario the veto power contained in the license act gives all the necessary authority required by the Government to deal with the situation. As to the older portions of the province, the situation is not so clear. One report yesterday was in effect that the Government would overcome the difficulty by flatly declining to approve of licenses issued by Boards of Commissioners where the bylaws were quashed on technicalities, provided that the evidence was clear that no improper or wilfully wrong acts could be shown.

Premier Whitney practically confirmed the report that the matter was under consideration when in answer to questions by the newspapermen he said yesterday morning:

"As far as possible some standard should be set beyond which technical objections would not prevail. I am quite satisfied that the judges would welcome something of that kind, and I shall be glad indeed if the Government can aid in bringing about some such standard."

NO CALL FOR PREFERENCE.

Because, Says Australian, Colonies Will More Than Supply Empire.

London, April 30.—(C. A. P.)—Pulsford, an Australian Senator, has issued, in connection with the meeting of the Colonial Conference, a lengthy memorandum upon the question of the preference containing a statement of the economic position as it affects the colonies. Pulsford argues that the demand for a preference cannot be justified in view of the fact that the production of the colonies in nearly all food and natural products will, in a short time, be in excess of the consuming capacity of the Empire.

The Duke of Connaught yesterday gave a private luncheon to the Colonial Premiers and ladies at Clarence House, St. James' Palace. Later there was a reception, and a large number were present.

SIR WILFRID MAY GO.

Will Visit the Transvaal If It Is at All Possible.

London, April 30.—(C. A. P.)—The Canadian Associated Press understands that Sir Wilfrid Laurier promised, if he found it possible he would accept Gen. Botha's invitation to visit the Transvaal, but when Sir Wilfrid extended a like invitation to the Transvaal Premier, Gen. Botha replied that it would not be possible for him to leave the Transvaal again for some years.

Sir Wilfrid has accepted an invitation of the London Gaelic Society to a Scottish concert to be given in honor of the Colonial Premiers on May 11.

The freedom of the city will be presented to Sir Robert Bond on Wednesday morning at Guild Hall.

CROSS ATLANTIC IN A DAY.

Aerial Navigation to Shorten Voyage to Twenty Hours.

London, April 30.—Dr. Alexander Graham-Bell said Sunday night that it was only a question of a brief period when the progress of aerial navigation would make it possible to have dinner in America and breakfast the next morning in Europe, covering the distance across the Atlantic in considerably less than twenty hours.

"My expectation," said Dr. Bell, "is that an airship will be perfected capable of making 150 to 200 miles an hour. My opinion, however, is that the next step in aerial flight will take the form of such improvements as will make possible the creation of aerial battleships."

Appointment Was Not Made.

Ottawa, April 30.—At the session of the Ontario Legislature which closed last week an act was passed dividing the judicial district of Nipissing into two parts, with a judge for each. The statute of the Ontario Legislature on the subject, however, only reached Ottawa on Thursday or Friday last, and there was not time to put the matter through before prorogation, and the appointment accordingly will have to stand over till next session.

Anticipate Agrarian Troubles.

St. Petersburg, April 30.—Agrarian troubles are anticipated in the near future. The Governors of the Provinces of Vyatka and Tambov and several other provinces have asked that Cossacks be quartered in the villages which are the centres of the agitation, as they fear the rural guards will sympathize with the peasants and refuse to suppress disorders.

Theft From Stock Farm.

London, Ont., April 30.—Richard Evans was arrested Sunday night by Detectives Egleton and Nichol charged with stealing a horse valued at $250 from the stock farm of Ald. Stoddard, of Buffalo. The farm is located in Nissouri, and it is stated that Evans went there on Saturday night and stole the horse.

Admires Canada's Way.

London, April 30.—(C. A. P.)—Sir Francis Channing, M. P., has an informative article on "Agricultural Education" in the May number of the Fortnightly Review. The manner in which Canadians have applied themselves to the furtherance of agricultural education has Sir Francis' greatest admiration.

Escaped In Night Clothes.

Peterboro, April 30.—The residence of George Vanzant, Townsend street, was destroyed by fire early yesterday morning. The loss will be $2,000, partially insured. The residents escaped in their night clothes. Mr. Vanzant lost $100 in cash, which was in a dresser upstairs.

The election petition against D. W Bole, M. P., of Winnipeg, has been dismissed.

Child Directs His Attention to Room in Flames—Mother and Children Unconscious on the Floor—Rescuer Falls Insensible on Sidewalk—Police Nearly Suffocated In Blaze at Tenement House.

New York, April 30.—Five women and children overcome by smoke were carried yesterday from a blazing tenement house at No. 12 McKinney street, Brooklyn, by policemen who were themselves almost suffocated in their act of heroism. And a little girl proved herself a real heroine.

Policeman Gallagher heard a boy crying out an alarm, but was unable to learn the cause until he had soothed the child. As he turned in an alarm, Gallagher directed the boy to run to the Fulton street police station, telling him to get the reserves to the scene as quickly as possible.

As Gallagher ran toward the house, a little girl was waving her hands frantically from a window on the second floor. Flames were bursting from the third floor. Policemen Green and Denny dashed upstairs, broke open the door, and saw Mrs. Mary Page, with a two-year-old girl baby in her arms, unconscious on the floor. A few feet away lay William, seven years old, and Teddy, five. The little child at the window was Hannah, nine years old. Denny picked up the mother and child and staggered to the street with them in his arms. Green turned to Hannah.

"Take the others. I'll follow you," the child said resolutely.

She clung to his coat tails as he went downstairs with the other children in his arms. They were all scorched pretty badly, for the flames had reached the second floor and quickly gutted it, as had been the case on the third floor. Denny fell unconscious when he reached the sidewalk.

Dr. Prentice, from the Brooklyn Hospital, resuscitated mother, children and policeman.

After the fire had been extinguished Gallagher went up to the rooms of Mrs. Page and recovered a purse containing $140. Then Mrs. Hannah Dolan sent him up for hers and he brought it back. It contained $800 in scorched bills.

THE EMMERSON CASE.

Writ Has Been Served On The Fredericton Times.

Fredericton, N.B., April 30.—James H. Crockett, managing director and editor of The Fredericton Gleaner, was on Saturday served by Sheriff Sterling with a writ issued by the supreme court at the suit of Hon. H. R. Emmerson, for $25,000 damages, on account of the publication of an article charging the ex-Minister of Railways with immoral conduct. The advocates acting for Mr. Emmerson are Hon. Dr. Pugsley, Premier and Attorney-General, and J. H. Barry, K.C., of this city. It is also said that Mr. Emmerson will institute criminal proceedings against the same party.

COLLISION NEAR WHITBY.

One Man May Die, and Another Is Seriously Injured.

Whitby, April 30.—A freight train from the north on Sunday night ran into the rear car of a number, which had been switched too far on to the northern division main line. Brakeman Farrell of Lindsay had a leg broken in two places and his head badly injured, and it is reported he may die. He was removed to Lindsay. Engineer McCutcheon of Lindsay had a leg badly cut. The property damage was slight.

Cloudburst Causes Flood.

Oklahoma City, Okla., April 30.—A cloudburst over Capitol Hill, a suburb of this city, just south of the Canadian River, flooded that place. Seven persons are missing, and believed to be drowned. Many persons encamped on the lowlands near the river were caught unawares, and had but little time to make their escape. The river is bank-full, and it will be some time before it can be determined whether any lives really were lost. There was another heavy rainfall yesterday, which caused the river to rise higher, endangering property in the lowlands.

Chain Trust Will Build Big Plant at Walkerville, Ont.

New York, April 30.—Another United States corporation is about to enter the Canadian manufacturing field so as to escape the Dominion tariff, the Standard Chain Co., known as the "Chain Trust," having decided to build an extensive plant at Walkerville, Ont. The Standard Chain Co., Limited, will operate the new works, which are to be constructed at a cost of $200,000.

Bridge Across Straits.

St. John, N. B., April 30.—N. J. Butler, Deputy Minister of Railways, has not, but will, prepare plans this summer for a bridge across the straits, thoroughly satisfied that the scheme is practical. Captain Joseph Read, M. P. P., Summerside, who from years of experience as marine and shipping master, differs, and says a northwest gale would sweep cars into the ocean, as at Souris breakwater. The entire island is excited, and the supporters of the modern tunnel scheme are ardently at work to connect the troublesome six and one-quarter miles.

Considering this winter's, and the last few months' difficulties in reaching the island, plans of any magnitude will be attempted to better conditions.

Three Babes Found In River.

Chicago, April 30.—A despatch from Elgin, Ills., says: While fishing in Fox River yesterday, Stephen Boras hooked a bundle of clothing which he pulled ashore and found to contain the bodies of three infants, two boys and a girl.

Coroner Norton is of the opinion that the bodies may have been hurled from a passing train. The clothing found with them was of fine quality, but had no marks.

Poured Acid On Boy.

Lethbridge, Alta., April 30.—John Cunningham, a boy of ten years, was maltreated by Norman Steward and Joseph Kakis, employes of W. Whitney, the liveryman. The men got the youngster in a stable and poured carbolic acid on his body. Alarmed by his cries, they then applied water, which increased the pain. They were locked up.

Trainman Killed.

Oswego, N.Y., April 30.—Carlton Meyers, a trainman, was killed, and Thomas Bracken and William Coy, also trainmen, were seriously injured yesterday when an engine and seven loaded cars on the N.Y.C. Railroad ran into an open switch here.

Cattle Poisoning.

Toronto, April 30.—Provincial Detective Rogers left for Caledon Township, in Peel County, yesterday morning, where he is to continue an investigation into some alleged cases of poisoning cattle.

Hit By Elevator.

Toronto, April 30.—A serious accident occurred in The Saturday Night Building yesterday afternoon. A boy named Charles Pitcher, who lives at 23 Morse street, and is employed in The Saturday Night composing-room, was lounging on the third floor. He had his head bent over the safety wire trellis watching the operations of the elevator. As it came up the weights descended, catching him on the back of the head, and causing a gash almost from ear to ear and laying bare the skull.

He was taken to St. Michael's Hospital.

A similar case was only discharged from that institution in the morning.

Snow In Saskatchewan.

Lumsden, Sask., April 30.—Severely cold weather prevails here. The flood in the Qu'Appelle Valley is passed. All the streams emptying into the Qu'Appelle have fallen. It was eight above zero at nine last night. The sloughs west of the town are filled, and the river is ten feet below the high water mark of 1904. There was a big snowstorm yesterday morning.

Mail Carrier's Trial.

Springfield, Mo., April 30.—The trial of Garland Moore, the mail-carrier, who, in December last, at Boise d'Arc, near here, shot and killed Clara Vest, a young society woman, because she had spurned his attentions, was begun here yesterday.

Shot Dead In His Cabin.

Vancouver, B. C., April 30.—News was received yesterday morning of the murder at Kemano of J. A. Pocklington. He was found in his cabin shot through the head. He was first cousin to Lord Curzon, and the Duke of Portland was his godfather.

MUSIC AND THE DRAMA

THE BELLS.

Peterborough theatre goers were afforded a decided treat last night when Mr. Thos. E. Shea, America's leading character actor, and his distinguished company, presented Sir Henry Irving's famous play, "The Bells." There were a few empty seats in the house, but there were not many. However, there should not have been any vacant chairs at all, as the performance was one of the best ever given in Peterborough.

Mr. Shea certainly deserves the title of America's leading character actor. His work last night cannot be described as anything else than superb, and numerous curtain calls at the close of each act testified to the appreciation of the large audience. His support was splendid throughout. Every member of the large company is an artist, and a weak spot could not be detected anywhere.

"The Bells" is a powerful drama, constructed along somewhat different lines from the ordinary play. It has a strong moral, too, showing in a manner that nothing else could do, that a guilty conscience inflicts man's most terrible punishment, and that, though the wrong done may escape the justice of the law, the punishment of conscience beats him down. The story of "The Bells" hinges upon a murder committed by a poor and otherwise honest man, in order that he might secure the necessary funds to send his wife and child, who are ill, to another climate so that their lives may be saved. The Jew is murdered by Mathias, the beloved of the village, this role being essayed by Mr. Shea, but though he gains wealth as a result of the act, he cannot drive away the haunting memory of his crime, the voice of conscience racks his brain, and at last drives him to death just in time to save him from the awful punishment for his deed, as a mesmerist has discovered that Mathias is the guilty one. In the role of Mathias Mr. Shea gave a wonderfully realistic portrayal of that part. His delineation of that difficult character was magnificent and won the warmest applause. The support was excellent throughout. Spencer Charters as Father Walter, and John E. Gilbert as Hans, two village characters, furnished an abundance of comedy, and so good were they that a smile was sufficient to make the audience laugh. It was all exceedingly natural, in fact in none of the roles was there any striving for effect. The other members of the company were all splendid and above criticism.

The scene in act 4, the last, where the mesmerist fed Mathias to confess the murder of the Polish Jew, was very striking. It was enhanced in this respect by the tragic death of the old man just as the curtain lowered for the last time.

To-night Mr. Shea and his company will present the great military spectacle, "Napoleon the Great." There will no doubt be a crowded house, as there is every assurance of the performance being a splendid one. The presentation of this great military drama entails the use of several loads of scenery. Incidently it might be mentioned that the scenic effects last night were excellent, especially the storm scene in acts one and two.

Mr. Robt. McCollum is in Cuba; Owns 400 Acres of Good Land

It will be good news for the many friends of Mr. Robert McCollum, who left on April 11th for Cuba, to know that he arrived at his destination safely and that he had a splendid trip. In a letter to his brother, Mr. Bert McCollum, which was received yesterday, he said that he arrived on Thursday, the 19th, and had enjoyed every mile of the trip. The weather had been fine and he was comfortable.

Mr. McCollum went to Cuba to look after some real estate which he has purchased there, and in speaking of this, he said he was agreeably surprised. He has 400 acres in one of the best sections of the island and he bought it right. It is equal, he says, in actual value to the best land in California, which sells at $500 per acre, and he is delighted with his investment. The American Tobacco Trust last year grew 100 acres of tobacco, under cheese cloth not far from his estate, and they made a mint of money out of it, and he has ever hope of making a little money also.

In writing of the people, Mr. McCollum says they are very slow. They use oxen nearly altogether for ploughing, and those animals move so slowly that often it is necessary to stop and watch closely to see if they are making progress at all. To plough one furrow a quarter of a mile long, takes forty minutes. The next letter promises to give further details of the country and the land, and Mr. McCollum's friends will await with interest its arrival.

Another Wreck at Whitby Siding

Driver Elmhirst and Brakeman Farrell Were Injured

On Sunday evening at nine o'clock, a double-header freight from Lindsay crashed into a car lying "foul" on a siding at Whitby, says the Lindsay Post.

David Farrell, the front brakeman, was on the engine, and was badly injured. His leg was broken in two places above the knee and his head badly cut. He is in the Ross hospital at present. Phillip Elmhirst, driver, of one of the engines, had his foot gashed, and a couple of stitches were necessary to close the wound.

The two engines—No. 272 and 229—were badly wrecked, the cabs being torn off. The train was in charge of Conductor A. Claton, of town. Harry Wilson was the driver of the other engine, and was uninjured.

The freight left Lindsay at six o'clock. At Whitby a main line train was on the siding to allow the freight to pass. The siding could only accommodate 27 cars and there were 29 on the train, thus leaving one foul. It is not yet known whether it was through the negligence of employees, or whether others had been tampering with the cars, that they were left in this condition. An engine was dispatched from Lindsay, and returned this morning about 9 o'clock with the wrecked engines and the injured man. Farrell was taken to the Ross hospital where he is progressing favorably. His home is at Stirling, and he had been in town only about two weeks, boarding at Mrs. Hill's, Lindsay street. He is young, unmarried, and has been on the road but a short time. It will be some time before he recovers. Mr. Elmhirst resides on Cambridge-st south, is married, and has a family. His injury is not serious.

Hugh Fulton, a locomotive engineer, secured a verdict at St. Thomas for $3,000 against the M. C. R. R. for injuries.

Who Pays for Street Scrapings? Raised a Tempest in a Teapot

Chairman of the Board of Works Claims He has a Bill of $45.00 Against the Special Committee Looking After the Park at the Corner of Park and Charlotte Streets.

Fixing up Hughes' Park at the corner of Park and Charlotte-sts., is causing the chairman of the Board of Works to ruffle his feathers. His department, when cleaning the streets last week, was requested to draw a few loads of material onto this propery. The street commissioner did so, and now the chairman of the committee is trying to collect the sum of $45 from the special committee.

It will be remembered that a week ago Ald. Tovey, Leary and Phelan were appointed a special committee to fix up the little park and they were authorized to spend $50 on the work. That sum was to include raising the park several inches, raking it over, seeding it down and fencing it, as well as looking after it all summer.

The committee, wishing to make the $50 go as far as possible, got the Board of Works to draw a few loads of street scrapings on. It was claimed that it would cost that department no more to draw the stuff down there than it would to any other place, and it was not expected that the Board of Works would charge anything for it, as the scrapings from the streets had to be disposed of anyway.

The fencing will cost at least $35, and probably $45, and this does not leave much for levelling and seeding and caretaking. Ald. Leary at the council meeting, asked that the amount allowed be increased to $60. It was at this time Ald. Duncan put in his claim for $45 for carting material. He and Ald. Leary had a warm argument for several minutes. The chairman of the Board of Works was asked to state on what grounds he based his claim and also to state how much more it cost to draw the material to the park than it would have to the usual dumping ground. This latter question he could not answer, as he had not figured it out.

Then Ald. Wilson, a member of the Board of Works, took a hand in the discussion and said that, as far as he was concerned, the special committee was perfectly welcome to the street scrapings. The controversy was closed without any further action being taken, except that Ald. Leary's request for an additional $10 was passed.

New Normal School Here Will Soon be Under Way

Trees Are Being Cut Down to Make Way for the Foundation Which Will be Commenced Monday—Contractor Whitham Here To-day.

The ground has been broken for the new Normal School in Dixon Park and, barring unforeseen interruptions, the work will now be rushed to completion. Mr. S. H. Whitham, of Brantford, the contractor for the four new Normal schools at Peterborough, Stratford, North Bay and Hamilton, was in the city today and this afternoon a gang of men were set at work to clear away the trees and make the necessary preparations for commencing the foundation. It is expected that everything will be in shape for beginning this part of the work on Monday of next week.

The school will be built on the elevated portion of the park toward the south side. There are a number of trees growing upon the hill and several of these will have to be cut down to make way for the new structure. This location is much more desirable from every point of view than the one down in the hollow of the park further to the west. The location on the hill is much prettier and it will be much easier to secure good drainage, etc.

CHANGE IN PLANS

Mr. Whitham has been notified by the Government at Toronto that it has been decided to make a change in the material to be used for certain construction work of the new Normal Schools. At first the plans provided for the walls being built entirely of stock brick, which is the ordinary brick used for building purposes. It has been decided, however, to have the outer tier all around the building built of pressed brick, which will be a great improvement, the pressed brick being much more desirable and of better appearance. The pressed brick required will be shipped here from Toronto, while the ordinary brick required will be secured from the well known local brick makers, Curtis Bros.

THE SUPERINTENDENT

The work of building the Normal School here will be superintended by Mr. Wm. Whitham, of Brantford, a nephew of Mr. S. H. Whitham. He will arrive here Monday and will remain permanently until the work is completed. Mr. Whitham, the contractor, will be here once a week while the building is in progress. He will be a busy man for the next seven or eight months as he will have to spend a day each week at Stratford, North Bay and Hamilton. He will have to travel over 1200 miles each week in order to visit the four places where the Normal Schools are being built.

AT OTHER PLACES

Excellent progress is being made on the building at Stratford. The foundation has been completed and the brick work is about to be started. At Hamilton the foundation is nearly finished and the work is being rushed as rapidly as possible. Ground will be broken at North Bay in a few days. Mr. Whitham left for there this evening to consult with the civic officials in regard to several matters in connection with the building.

Mr. Whitham strikes one as being a hustler and the public of Peterborough can expect to see the new educational institution becoming a reality as rapidly as possible.

Present Situation at Healey Falls

Mr. Culverwell Explains Certain Matters Relating Thereto

Mr. J. A. Culverwell, managing director of the Northumberland-Durham Power Co., has written a second letter to the Toronto Telegram on the Healey Falls water power which, however, that paper refuses to publish. The letter is as follows:—

To the Editor of the Telegram.

Dear Sir,—Referring to your article in your issue of the 15th inst., the tenor of which cannot help but show inspiration by Mr. Beck, chairman of the Hydro-Electric Commission, or Mr. C. B. Smith, its chief engineer, and recent commissioner—let me ask, was the Hydro-Electric Power Commission appointed for the purpose of diverting the public attention from the movement of public ownership of public utilities? I fear Mr. Whitney must feel discouraged from the result thus far, not on account of any fault of his own, as he has been a consistent advocate of public ownership or regulation of power rates in its proper meaning, but from the manner in which Mr. Beck has conducted his campaign and particularly in condoning the actions of Mr. C. B. Smith, the chief engineer, in his private power operations while a commissioner.

Mr. Beck could take no better course to promote public distrust of the Government policy. While enjoying the confidence of the Government and the Commission and having access to inside information as to intended undertakings of those doing business with the Commission, Mr. Smith did not hesitate to quietly become president of a rival power concern operating contrary to the policy of the Commission.

Last summer the Northumberland-Durham Power Co., Limited, who own portions of the Healey Rapids, procured a lease of a larger portion of the Healey Rapids from the Ontario Government. This lease contains every safeguard that the Cabinet thought necessary to protect public interest, and to compel the company to furnish power on the lines of Mr. Whitney's Power policy, including regulation of rates. Our company accepted the lease with those conditions and informed the Commission of their entire engineering plans and business programme. The lease bound the company to commence work in four months.

In order to utilize the water power, it was necessary to acquire fifty-six acres of waste, rocky Crown lands, extending from a point one chain back from the river banks.

Although this land was valued in the department at one dollar per acre, for some mysterious reason the company was blocked from securing the patent of this land for over four months and eventually was caused, by a politician, to pay twenty dollars per acre to a mere squatter. This the company paid, and the four months being up, they asked a reasonable extension, being backed up by a large deputation, affiliated with both political parties, from five ridings. But what happens. After the Government led the company to believe they would secure an extension, Mr. Beck and Mr. Smith appear on the scene and boldly announce at Kingston, Belleville and other places where the company intend transmitting the power and were busily engaged in organization work, that the lease renewal will be blocked. Now who gave them power to decide this matter?

What do we find—Mr. Smith looms up as president of a private company, the Northumberland Paper and Electric Co., seeking to close contracts for power with large factory consumers in Belleville and other towns, quite regardless of his duties to public ownership—and that too in such quantities, viz., for contracts of over 3000 h.p. each, that could only be supplied by "scooping" in the Healey Rapids power for which the lease was being withheld from The Northumberland-Durham Power Co. As a matter of fact their private power has only one thousand horse power available for transmission—another large portion of the same power having been purchased by the writer.

When Mr. Beck is appealed to, he supports Mr. Smith, so therefore must assume the responsibility for any censure his party may suffer for this prostitution of public ownership principles and double dealing with the public.

I would be sorry to believe that Mr. Beck would try to profit personally by such tactics, but judging from his actions, what is one to think? We are sorry indeed to have to reply to an inspired newspaper article which glosses over Mr. Beck's and Mr. Smith's defections, but the statements were too serious for us to wait for action of the Cabinet, to whom written charges have been made by our company against the chairman of the Hydro-Electric Commission and Mr. Smith. It would have been better for Mr. Beck to have made his answer to his Cabinet, which I happen to know is expected of him. In conclusion let me express our appreciation of the courtesy and fair play accorded to our company and several assisting municipal deputations from twelve and more municipalities by the Hon. Frank Cochrane, Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines, now travelling abroad.

Adopt the Same Policy.

London, April 30.—(C. A. P.)—When the Imperial Conference opens for the discussion of preference on Tuesday, it is stated that the Premiers from Australia and Cape Colony will press their resolutions with vigor, while Laurier and Botha will take the line that it is not for the colonies to dictate a policy to the Imperial Government no more than for the latter to dictate a policy to the colonies.

The Imperial Government will, of course, adopt a nonpossumus attitude in the debate, which will probably extend over more than one sitting. In fact it is anticipated that at the present rate of progress the conference cannot conclude before another fortnight elapses. The keenest interest continues to be manifested in the question here, and appeals are being made from all quarters for publicity.

To the fact that the Premiers have accepted an invitation to luncheon from John Redmond, some signification is attached.

EXPECTORATING ON SIDEWALKS

Must be Stopped—By-law Being Prepared—Anti Dog By-law Next

Spitting on the streets in the city must be stopped and offenders will be prosecuted if they persist in this filthy habit. In every up-to-date town and city, anti-spitting bylaws are enforced, and people have abided by the bylaw without giving the officers any trouble. Expectorating on the sidewalk, in street cars, in doorways, or in public places is an ungentlemanly act, at best, and once attention is drawn to the fact, all self-respecting men will stop it. The main object of the provision is to abolish the habit so many men have of standing in doorways, on street corners, or around the post office, or in other public places and turning the sidewalk into a regular cesspool.

It is with the professional street corner loafers, the police will have the most trouble, but after a few have paid fines, the others will take a lesson and endeavor to break themselves of this objectionable habit.

The matter was introduced at the council meeting last night, and Ald. Leary moved that the City Solicitor be instructed to prepare a bylaw for this purpose, and present it at the next meeting of the Council.

While the anti-spitting bylaw was being discussed some one also suggested that another bylaw, preventing dogs running at large be prepared. This is another matter, which will be taken up in the very near future.

In the new premises we expect to have enlarged facilities for handling all departments.

OBITUARY

MRS. WM. CHRISTIE.

There passed away on Monday in Douro township a lady, well-known and highly respected, in the person of Mrs. Christie, relict of the late William Christie. The deceased had been in poor health for a year or more. She was about 60 years of age, and leaves one daughter, Mary, residing at home to mourn her loss. The deceased's maiden name was McManus. Martin McManus of Peterborough and Anthony of Douro, are brothers, while Mrs. D O'Shea of Douro, is a sister.

MRS AARON ROSE.

The Port Perry Star says;

We are extremely sorry to record the death of Mrs. Lucinda Fitchett Ross, wife of the late Aaron Ross, of Port Perry. For some time Mrs. Ross had been ailing, but not until recently was her condition considered at all serious. A slight operation was performed successfully in Toronto. Her advanced age, however, militated against her recovery, and on Saturday evening, April 20, she was afflicted with heart failure. She did not rally, but gradually sank, succumbing early Monday morning, April 22. Thus has passed from our midst one of the oldest residents of the township of Reach. Mrs. Ross was one of those meek, quiet and reticent natures. Her domestic virtues were well known. A large family survives her, viz., Mr. Robt. Ross, manager of the Dominion Bank, Lindsay; Mr. Wm. Ross, ex-M.P., of Port Perry; Mr. Jas. A. Ross, Port Perry; Mrs. (Rev.) D. C. Hossack, Toronto; Mr. Chas. A. Ross, assistant manager of Dominion Bank, Toronto; Mr. Frederick Ross, Springfield, Mass.; Dr. J. F Rose, Toronto, and Mrs. Matthew McIndoo, Fresno, Cal.

MRS. WM. MAHONEY.

An old and very highly respected resident of Ennismore passed away last evening in the person of Mrs. Wm. Mahoney. The deceased had been ill for some time. She was eighty years of age and was born in county Cork, Ireland. Her maiden name was Ellen Cree. She was married in Syracuse, where she lived for a number of years, previous to moving to Ennismore. She had resided in Ennismore for 48 years.

Besides her husband, three sons and three daughters are left to mourn her loss. The sons are Messrs. Patrick, of Chicago, and John and James of Ennismore. The daughters are Mrs. R. Torpey, of Otonabee, and Misses Kate and Maggie, residing at home.

The funeral will take place tomorrow morning at nine o'clock to St. Martin's church, Ennismore, and thence to St. Martin's cemetery for interment.

Fred Trim, of Malahide township must pay Ida Beara $300 damages for breach of promise.

Frederick G. Cox Died Suddenly At His Toronto Home Last Night

One of Peterborough's Sons Fell a Victim to Pneumonia When He Was on the High Road to Success—Was Second Son of Senator Cox and Held Several Responsible Positions.

The many friends and relatives in this city were grieved to learn this morning of the untimely death of Mr. F. G. Cox, of Toronto, son of Hon. Senator Cox, and a native of Peterborough. When the news of his serious illness was announced in the city great anxiety was displayed by all those who knew him so well when he lived here, and many enquiries were made during the day as to his condition. His death will be a severe blow to his father and to him is extended the heartfelt sympathy of the community.

Mr. W. G. Morrow, a cousin of deceased left this morning for Toronto, where he will remain until after the funeral, the time for which has not yet been fixed.

A Toronto paper contains the following;

Mr. Frederick G. Cox, vice president of the Central Canada Loan & Savings Company, and second son of Hon Senator Cox, passed away at his home, 47 Queen's Parkk, at 12.30 this morning. For several days he had been unwell, but on Saturday night he developed pneumonia. There were no alarming symptoms, however till yesterday afternoon, when he took a sudden turn for the worse. After a consultation of doctors, called by the attending physician, Dr J. L Davison, it was reported that there was no chance for recovery. Hon Mr. Cox and the other members of his family were at the bedside when the end came. Notice of the funeral arrangements will be announced later.

The late Mr. Frederick G. Cox was born forty years ago in Peterborough, where he was educated, subsequently coming to Toronto with his father some eighteen years ago. From the organization of the Imperial Life Assurance Company in October, 1897, until January of this year he was its managing director, retiring to become president of the Provident Investment & Mortgage Company. Mr. Cox was closely associated with the Central Canada Loan and Savings Company, of which he was vice president. He was also a director of the Toronto Savings & Loan Co., of Peterborough. Mr. Cox was a great lover of horses and an ardent yachtsman, having been at one time part owner of the Canada. He was a member of the Toronto Hunt, of the Royal Canadian Yacht Club, the Toronto Club and the Masonic Order. In religion he was a Methodist having been connected with Sherbourne street church for some years. Besides his widow, a daughter of the late Dr. Swann, of Woodstock, and his father, Hon. Mr Cox, he is survived by two brothers, Messrs. E. W. Cox, vice president and general manager of the Canada Life Assurance Co.; and H. C. Cox, manager for Eastern Ontario of the Canada Life and two sisters, Mrs. A. E. Ames, and Mrs. A. L. Davis, both of Toronto. Mr. W. G. Morrow and the Misses Morrow, of Peterborough, are cousins of deceased. Mrs. Ames is at present in New York in a very critical condition and too ill to be removed to her home on Sherbourne street here. She has been in poor health for about a year.

The Liquidator Won His Appeal Against Local Master's Decision

Peterborough Cold Storage Co's Affairs in Court of Appeal—Directors Held Liable to Make Good as Damages Any Sums Required in the Winding Up.

Osgoode Hall notes published at Toronto to-day contains the following:—Before Boyd, C. Re Peterborough Cold Storage Co.—Judgment (H.) on appeal by the liquidator of the company in winding up proceedings from order or decision of local Master at Peterborough. The letters patent for this company, issured on November 13th, 1903, incorporating the original subscribers to the memorandum of agreement and such others as should become subscribers for stock therein. Subsequent stock was applied for and obtained by other shareholders upon the terms of paying a deposit of 25 per cent of the par value of the stock, and an agreement to pay a further sum of 25 per cent. upon allotment. The original corporators avoided making such payment of 25 per cent., and took steps to get rid of the bulk of their stock by transferring to persons of little or no substance, not a great while before the company's insolvency. This transfer of stock by the directors en bloc was impeached upon this appeal. Held, that the position taken by the appellant was well founded, viz., that the directors were incapacitated from making the transfers while yet the 25 per cent. representing the first payment on the shares was an outstanding liability. The transaction is within the mischief guarded against by sec. 30 of R.S.O. ch. 191. The transaction cannot be upheld. There was a violation of duty on the part of the directors, a breach of trust, which renders them liable to make good, as damages any sums which in the winding up may be required, and which cannot be made good by the ostensible transferees, who are to be called upon in the first instance. The liquidator's costs of the appeal to be paid by the respondents. R. E. Wood (Peterborough), and W. E. Middleton for the liquidator. D. O'Connell (Peterborough), for the respondents.

Three Shots Were Fired at President Roosevelt's Yacht

Special to the Review.

Norfolk, Va., April 3.—It is stated here today that a motor boat with two, or perhaps more men in it, a very swift craft, dashed by the President's yacht on Saturday night up the James River while the Roosevelt party was on a cruise, and that three shots were fired at the yacht.

The shots came from a rifle. Local authorities know or appear to know nothing of the matter. The secret service men and the crew of the President's yacht were sworn to secrecy. The information was secured from one of the crew.

Brantford Regiment Cannot Come to Peterboro', May 24th

Lieut.-Col. Miller received word from Brantford today that the Dufferin Rifles, of that city, would be unable to accept the invitation of the 57th Regiment, of this city, to visit Peterborough on May 24th. The letter was from the commanding officer of the regiment and did not go into particulars, merely stating that the Dufferins regretted that it would be unable for them to visit Peterborough, and thanking the Rangers for their kind invitation.

As a result of the Dufferins being unable to come and the Grenadiers of Toronto, going to Collingwood, the military demonstration which it had been proposed to hold on Victoria Day, is off.

It will likely be decided at to-night's meeting of the 57th Regiment where the annual trip will be this year. Invitations have been received from Brockville, Kingston, Cobourg and St. Catharines. It is said that either St. Catharines or Brockville will be chosen.

Splendid Reports Were Presented

At the Meeting of Charlotte St. Epworth League

The Epworth League of Charlotte Street Methodist Church met last evening.

On account of the disagreeable evening only a few members were present. The president of the league Mr. G. F. Horsely occupied the chair. The election of officers, which was to have taken place last night, was postponed until next Monday.

WEDDING BELLS

CLARKE—COVERT

A very pretty wedding of local interest was solemnized in Colborne this afternoon, when Miss M. Covert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Covert, of Warkworth, Ont., became the bride of Mr. Harry W. Clarke, son of Mr. Frank Clarke, of this city. The ceremony was performed in the presence of about twenty-five guests, including those from Chicago, Belleville, Cobourg and Peterborough. The happy young couple will spend a few days in Toronto and Niagara Falls, before returning to Peterborough, where they will take up their residence. Many friends here will express hearty congratulations and best wishes.

ALLEN—CLARKE

The marriage took place this morning at St. Peter's cathedral of Miss Amelia Clarke and Mr. James Allen. Miss Margaret Allen was bridesmaid, and Mr. Ed. Scully was best man. Rev. Father Galvin performed the ceremony, after which the bridal party drove to the residence of Mr. E. J. McCarthy, Hunter Street, in whose family, the bride has lived for a number of years, where a dainty wedding breakfast was served. The happy young couple, left on the 8.25 G. T. R. train for Toronto and Niagara Falls. On their return they will reside on McDonnel street, city.

DUFFUS SULLIVAN

The marriage of two popular young people in the persons of Miss Gertrude Sullivan, daughter of Mr. Michael Sullivan, 839 George Street, and Mr. Jos. Duffus, son of Mr. Jas. Duffus of Otonabee, took place at St. Peter's cathedral this morning. The ceremony took place at six o'clock and was performed by Rev. Father Leary. The bride, who was prettily costumed, was assisted by Miss Maud Leahy, and the groom was ably supported by Mr. J. Gorham.

After the ceremony a dainty wedding breakfast was partaken of at the home of the bride, after which the happy couple left on the 8.20 G.T.R. train for Chicago, and other western points, where a two weeks' honeymoon will be spent. At Chicago they will be the guest of the bride's sister, Mrs. J. Reegan. Mr. and Mrs. Duffus were the recipients of a large number of presents, an evidence of their popularity. The bride has a host of friends in the city and the groom is also very popular.

On their return they will reside in Peterborough.

WILSON-HIGGINS

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. E. Kemp, Douro, was the scene of a very pretty wedding last night, at which Mr. George William Cooper Wilson, was married to Miss Harriet Higgins. The bride is a recent arrival from England and is a cousin of Mr. E. Kemp, while the groom, also from England is a cousin of Mrs. Kemp. Rev. E. A. Langfeldt officiated at the ceremony. May Day Will See No Labor Troubles

Tomorrow will be May Day and as far as can be learned there will be no labor troubles in Peterborough. In several branches of labor increased wages will go into effect, the carpenters being one of the trades to be benefitted in this way. Slight advances have also been made in several other trades and, as a rule, contentment reigns among the laboring classes.

Delightful Recital at George Street

Mr. Herbert Saunders Proved Himself a Very Clever Organist

It was unfortunate that the inclement weather, together with counter attractions, mitigated against the attendance at the organ recital and concert in the George street Methodist church last evening.

Those who were privileged to attend were amply repaid, in the excellent programme provided.

It is a notable, but regrettable fact, that an organ recital does not meet with popular favor in Peterborough, but a programme such as was presented by Mr. Herbert Sanders, of Truro, England, last evening, could not fail to please those whose taste runs in the popular vein, while there was sufficient of the good things from organ classic lore, to please the most fastidious.

Mr Sanders is an all-round, capable exponent of the king of instruments. He possesses every factor that goes to bring out the best in the number being presented. His technique is of a high order, his work on the pedal board, clean, crisp and certain, while his registration showed an intimate knowledge of orchestral effect. But withal he is broad in his conception, and does not descend to trickery to gain effect. His programme comprised compositions by Hoffman, Faulkes, Grison, Lemmens and Guilmant, and an excellent Postlude in A by himself, in which he showed himself to be a composer of merit.

In the accompaniments to the various solos, Mr. Sanders proved himself an adept in the art, which is not usual with the solo organist.

The vocal artists of the evening were Miss Helen Davies and Mr. Norman Jolliffe.

Miss Davies excelled herself in her chosen numbers, "Crossing the Bar," "Abide With Me," by Davies and Gounod's "O Divine Redeemer." Miss Davies' ability as a singer is recognized here and needs no comment, but work and study are apparent to any musical observer and her singing last night was characterized by excellent method and intuitive conception, her rendition of the 'Gounod' song being a feature of the programme.

Mr. Jolliffe is always a favorite here and his selections last night showed off his fine voice to a marked degree. He sang "King David's Lament," "Star of Eve," from Tannhauser, and a stirring patriotic song by Lavallie, "Oh, Canada! Our Fathers Land of Old." In all these he did himself ample justice.

The choir gave a bright rendering of Page's march anthem, "From Egypt's Bondage Come."

Miss Reesor, whose name appeared on the programme was unable to be present on account of illness.

Altogether the concert was a musical treat of a high order.

The programme was as follows;

a. Scherzo... ....Hoffman
b. Postlude in A flat... ....Herbert Sanders
Mr. Herbert Sanders.
"From Egypt's Bondage Come"........ ....Page

PURE WATER.

A couple of weeks ago, Dr. G. A. Dickinson, medical health officer, sent a sample of the town water to Toronto for analysis, and on Saturday a report of the same was received The water, through not infected with intestinal bacteria, shows a slight chemical pollution. This, of course, amounts to nothing, and probably there is never a sample of water analyzed, which does not show chemical pollution.—Port Hope Guide

FELL IN WATER.

Lawrence Hendrie, a young man who is engaged at the Standard Ideal, Port Hope, met with a very painful accident on Saturday morning. He was hurrying over to work about seven o'clock, and when near the west harbor, he tripped and fell, going headlong into the water. In falling he struck his elbow on a projecting timber, causing a complicated fracture of the elbow joint and dislocation Fortunately the water was shallow, being about only two feet deep, and Mr. Hendrie managed to scramble up on dock.—Port Hope Guide.

NAVIGATION OPENED.

Numbers of yachts were flown to the Point, yesterday, and report the weather to have been fine, says the Lindsay Post. A couple of launches left for the Point, Saturday afternoon, a few hours after the owners heard the large block of ice, blocking the channel at the mouth of the river, had broken up. The main part of the lake, has been free for nearly a week, and boats have been trying to make Lindsay from Bobcaygeon for some days, but up to Saturday the way had been blocked by this single field of ice. Great piles of snow-white, glistening ice were seen at different spots along the shore, and hundreds of pretty white gulls still rested about the lake, before going farther north. Ducks also are abundant, many of them being quite large.

ROMAINE ST. SEWER AGAIN

Ald. Phelan Asks for an Official Statement From City Engineer

Ald Phelan intends to clean up the Romaine street sewer controversy which has been carried on for some time by those who are opposed to the day labor system. Very few people have any idea what they are talking about when they start to discuss this particular piece of sewer, and they usually know less when they get through. The aldermen have had a partial report from the city engineer and some of them have had a verbal report. But to give a correct report at the present time is impossible because the sewer is not ready for use and no one is making any bones about it.

The argument used from time to time by the anti-day-labor-men is that the sewer has cost a great deal more than it would have had the contractors done the work. They also endeavor to create a panic by such statements as, that the pipes are full of quicksand; that the joints are improperly made; that the sewer has no fall; that it will never be of any use, and that the pupils in the new King Edward school will forever be subject, to fever, etc.

Only those laboring under the effects of a brainstorm could make use of such argumnets. The cost of the sewer is not yet known, although the engineer freely admits that it will be a little more than his tender. As for being more than the contractors would have charged, the city officials claim it is nonsense because the contractor would have had a big bill for extras. The pipes did have some sand in them, but it was not quicksand and the sewer is now practically all cleared out The joints were properly made and more than a pail full of cement was used on each joint. There is fall sufficient for all purposes for which the sewer will be used and by the time the people are ready to use it the sewer will be in good working order.

Ald. Phelan intends to have these things proven by an official statement from the city engineer, including every detail, and he had the following motion passed;

Moved by Ald. Phelan and Ald. Bradburn, that the city engineer be instructed to make a report to this council upon the condition of the sewer on Romaine street, and stating whether it is in a fit condition for use or not, and also showing the exact cost of the same up to date, showing all material, and damage to hose, etc.

Do not fail to see "Courtship Under Difficulties" at St Andrew's Hall this evening. Splendid programme. Admission 15 cents.

ITALIAN FELL OFF HAND CAR

At Indian River and Was Badly Cut About Head and Face

Grecco Creazzeano, an Italian, aged 28 years is now in St. Joseph's hospital, suffering from several cuts and bruises. He was employed under Foreman George Spicer, ballasting the C. P. R. track, near Indian River. They were returning last night to the camp at Indian River, from the west. There were several men on the hand car when by some means Creazzeano fell off. He alighted on his head on the edge of a tie, and received a nasty gash on the forehead over the eye. His face is also badly cut and his hands bruised. Dr. J. W. Gray, the C. P. R. physician, was summoned to Indian River, and had the injured laborer, removed to St. Joseph's hospital. It required a dozen stitches to close the wound on the head. The injured man is progressing favorably.

WORTHY OF AID

Family in North End of City is in Reduced Circumstances.

The Review learned today on reliable authority that a family residing on north Water street, just opposite the old Hilliard homestead, is in need and is in every way worthy of assistance.

The family consists of the father, Charles Creswell, the mother and five young children. The father has been seriously ill for several weeks. A contractor, who has been helping the family, said today that the husband was a hard working, industrious sober man, but has been sick so long now that the family are in reduced circumstances and worthy in every way of aid from those who may be charitably inclined.

SKETCH OF THE LIFE OF LYDIA E. PINKHAM

And a True Story of How the Vegetable Compound Had Its Birth and How the "Panic of '73" Caused It to be Offered for Public Sale in Drug Stores.

This remarkable woman, whose maiden name was Estes, was born in Lynn, Mass., February 9th, 1819, coming from a good old Quaker family. For some years she taught school, and became known as a woman of an alert and investigating mind, an earnest seeker after knowledge, and above all, possessed of a wonderfully sympathetic nature.

Yours for Health
Lydia E. Pinkham

In 1843 she married Isaac Pinkham, a builder and real estate operator, and their early married life was marked by prosperity and happiness. They had four children, three sons and a daughter.

In those good old fashioned days it was common for mothers to make their own home medicines from roots and herbs, nature's own remedies—calling in a physician only in specially urgent cases. By tradition and experience many of them gained a wonderful knowledge of the curative properties of the various roots and herbs.

Mrs. Pinkham took a great interest in the study of roots and herbs, their characteristics and power over disease. She maintained that just as nature so bountifully provides in the harvest-fields and orchards vegetable foods of all kinds; so, if we but take the pains to find them, in the roots and herbs of the field there are remedies expressly designed to cure the various ills and weaknesses of the body, and it was her pleasure to search these out, and prepare simple and effective medicines for her own family and friends.

Chief of these was a rare combination of the choicest medicinal roots and herbs found best adapted for the cure of the ills and weaknesses peculiar to the female sex, and Lydia E. Pinkham's friends and neighbors learned that her compound relieved and cured and it became quite popular among them.

All this so far was done freely, without money and without price as a labor of love.

But in 1873 the financial crisis struck Lynn. Its length and severity were too much for the large real estate interests of the Pinkham family, as this class of business suffered most from fearful depression, so when the Centennial year dawned it found their property swept away. Some other source of income had to be found.

At this point Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was made known to the world.

The three sons and the daughter, with their mother, combined forces to restore the family fortune. They argued that the medicine which was so good for their woman friends and neighbors was equally good for the women of the whole world.

The Pinkhams had no money, and little credit. Their first laboratory was the kitchen, where roots and herbs were steeped on the stove, gradually filling a gross of bottles. Then came the question of selling it, for always before they had given it away freely. They hired a job printer to run off some pamphlets setting forth the merits of the medicine, now called Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and these were distributed by the Pinkham sons in Boston, New York, and Brooklyn.

The wonderful curative properties of the medicine were, to a great extent, self-advertising, for whoever used it recommended it to others, and the demand gradually increased.

In 1877, by combined efforts the family had saved enough money to commence newspaper advertising and from that time the growth and success of the enterprise were assured, until to-day Lydia E. Pinkham and her Vegetable Compound have become household words everywhere, and many tons of roots and herbs are used annually in its manufacture.

Lydia E. Pinkham herself did not live to see the great success of this work. She passed to her reward years ago, but not till she had provided means for continuing her work as effectively as she could have done it herself.

During her long and eventful experience she was ever methodical in her work and she was always careful to preserve a record of every case that came to her attention. The case of every sick woman who applied to her for advice—and there were thousands—received careful study and the details, including symptoms, treatment and results were recorded for future reference, and to-day these records, together with hundreds of thousands made since, are available to sick women the world over, and represent a vast collaboration of information regarding the treatment of woman's ills, which for authenticity and accuracy can hardly be equaled in any library in the world.

With Lydia E. Pinkham worked her daughter-in-law, the present Mrs. Pinkham. She was carefully instructed in all her hard-won knowledge, and for years she assisted her in her vast correspondence.

To her hands naturally fell the direction of the work when its originator passed away. For nearly twenty-five years she has continued it, and nothing in the work shows when the first Lydia E. Pinkham dropped her pen, and the present Mrs. Pinkham, now the mother of a large family, took it up. With woman assistants, some as capable as herself, the present Mrs. Pinkham continues this great work, and probably from the office of no other person have so many women been advised how to regain health. Sick women, this advice is "Yours for Health" freely given if you only write to ask for it.

Such is the history of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound: made from simple roots and herbs; the one great medicine for women's ailments, and the fitting monument to the noble woman whose name it bears.

Reading Contest Was the Feature

Of Open Meeting of Philomathean Society Last Night—The Prize Winners

An open meeting of the Philomathean Society of the Collegiate Institute was held last evening in the Y.M.C.A. hall. A large number of people were present and enjoyed an interesting programme, the chief feature of which was the reading competition in which there were eight contestants. Three prizes were donated for this contest.

The first prize, five dollars, donated by Mr. Wm. Pringle, goes to Miss Lillian Dean, the second, a prize of three dollars, the gift of Magistrate Edmison, goes to Miss G. Yenney, and the third prize, two dollars, donated by two old boys of the school, Messrs. C. G. Graham and R M. Glover, was won by Miss Minnie Ellis.

Mr. F. Brown, president of the society, occupied the chair. In his opening remarks he referred to the object of the society, which was the development of literary and musical tastes. It was also to train its members in speaking in public. The chairman remarked that they had had oratorical and elocutionary contests ,but this was the first reading contest. He then called on Miss Gertrude Yenney for the first reading

Miss Yenney's selection was a humorous one, and her clear reading of it created much amusement.

A well rendered piano solo was next given by Miss Katherine Burnett.

Miss May Merrell then followed with a reading of a portion of "Ben Hur." Miss Maggie Edwards also gave an interesting reading. Both were well received.

A scene from "Alice in Wonderland" entitled a "Mad Tea Party" was one of the most pleasing numbers on the programme. This was exceedingly well put on by Misses M. Burnett, Lillian Dean, Grace Todd and Jean Campbell, each one taking their different parts most acceptably.

Miss Mabel Young and Miss Minnie Ellis, contestants in the competition then gave their readings, Miss Ellis 'selection being "The Death of Little Nell."

A violin solo was given by Miss Lenore Sanderson, and was much enjoyed.

The humorous selection, 'The First Christmas Carol,' was well read by Miss Lillian Dean ,and created much laughter.

The last of the contestants was Miss Jean Campbell, who took as her selection, the first chapter of "The History of Tom Payne."

A violin duett by Misses K. Wallis and M. Burnett, was next given.

The judges, Mr. D. Walker and Mrs. R. F. McWilliams then retired. While the judges were out Principal Fessenden presented the Nicholls scholarship prizes. To the one obtaining the highest aggregated number of marks in the senior teachers and honor matriculation examinations, a prize of $50 is given each year. Miss Emma Kells was the winner of the scholarship and was presented with $50 in gold last evening. Scholarships of $15 are presented to the ones obtaining the highest aggregated number of marks in the junior teachers' and matriculation examinations. Messrs Wm. Harvey and Bruce Ingham won these prizes.

Mr. Duncan Walker, in giving the decisions of the judges ,said that it had been no easy matter to judge this contest. A profitable time had been spent in listening to the readings and it reflected great credit on the readers. The judges had classified them as good, better and best. They had based their decisions on first ,the selection. In this matter they had no fault to find. Secondly, on the expression, and the impression it left on its hearers. Also on the articulation and pronunciation of the reader. Mr. Walker then gave the above mentioned decisions and Mrs. R. F. McWilliams presented the prizes .Mr. Walker also referred to the donaters of the gifts, who, he said, took such a deep interest in the work of the society.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the judges for their kindness in acting .The resolution was moved by Mr. A. Munro and seconded by Mr. H. Conroy.

The singing of the National Anthem closed a pleasant and profitable evening.

Italians Must Pay Poll Tax; Solicitor to Advise Council

On How Best to Collect the One Dollar Tax—All Non-Tax Paying Men to Pay Poll Tax—Fire Escape By-law Discussed—Market Pig Pens Must be Cleaned.

The committee of the whole council decided at the meeting last night to collect the poll tax from Italians and all other men entitled to pay such tax. Ald. Morgan brought the matter up. At first the aldermen suggested that a license fee of $10 be placed on Italians working in the city. This, however, met with such disfavor that before bringing it up at the council meeting it was modified to such an extent that Italians will only be asked to pay the regular poll tax.

The committee of the whole also took up the question of providing fire escapes on all buildings where ten or more people gather and which do not come under the Factories Act, and a bylaw is being prepared by the city solicitor and it will be passed at the next meeting of the council.

Ald Morgan introduced the question of a poll tax on the Italians. He pointed out that those men come here and enjoy all the rights and priveleges of the city, and they should, he said, pay a poll tax of a dollar or more. They pay nothing now and they should be compelled to go to the city treasurer or the tax collector and pay their tax and get a receipt. This receipt will enable him to get a position on the street work.

Ald Duncan said that the only way to get over the difficulty was for the foreman on each gang to keep that out of their wages. This is being done in many other cities and it has proved very successful.

Ald Johnston sugegsted that it be necessary for all poll tax, Italians or anyone else, to be paid within thirty days after a certain day.

On motion of Ald. Morgan and Duncan the city solicitor was instructed to advise the committee as to the proper way for collecting the poll tax.

The members present were Mayor McWilliams, Ald. Leary, Bradburn, Johnston, Duncan, Elliott, Wilson. McIntyre, Morgan and Phelan.

FIRE ESCAPES

The next matter taken up was the fire esape bylaw which had been up several times before and referred to the committee of the whole. A revised bylaw was submitted which made several changes. These were considered for more than half an hour and it was finally decided that the only change to make in the original bylaw was to permit ladders to be put down a lean-to, where such exists.

The city solicitor was then instructed to make the change and he will draft a new bylaw for the next meeting night.

CLEAN PIG PENS

Ald Bradburn brought up the matter of the pig pens on the market square. The stench from them on Monday was disgraceful. They are either, he said, not kept clean, or else the hogs are allowed to stay in them too long. The council was unanimous in this matter and a motion was passed authorizing the property committee to see that the pens are kept thoroughly clean. The property committee will instruct the sanitary inspector to look after it.

The property committee will also see that the market building and stairway are cleaned regularly.

Dominion Bank Now Occupies Its Palatial New Quarters

Premises are Elaborately and Artistically Fitted Up—Every Modern Improvement and Beautiful Decorative Scheme That Taste Can Suggest Have Been Carried Out in the New Home of the Institution.

The Dominion Bank yesterday moved into its handsome, attractive and superb new offices at the corner of George and Simcoe streets.

The premises are among the finest and most elaborately fitted up of any in Canada. There is every convenience for the public and both the lady and gentleman patrons of this popular and progressive institution, have everything afforded for their comfort. that heart can wish or taste dictate. Outside the walls are of Indiana limestone, while numerous windows give splendid light. But striking and pleasing as is the exterior effect, it is not to be compared with the ornate and elegant interior decorations and fittings. The floor is of Vermont white marble. The wainscotting is of Alps green (An American marble) panelled with Seanna and Covananza marble (from Italy). The marble is surmounted by copper grill work. The ensemble effect is decidedly original and chaste. The walls and ceilings are finished in light buff. There is very little woodwork seen in the interior—the desks and tables only, and they are of weathered oak.

To the left of the George street entrance is the private and also the outer office of the energetic manager, Mr. John Crane. Here every convenience possible is installed, there being private telephone communication with both receiving and paying tellers and also electric push buttons to call any clerk in the office. The buttons and telephones are within easy reach. To the right, enclosed by a marble and brass partition, prettily curtained, is the ladies' waiting room. Here are chairs and tables and everything in the nature of cosy and attractive surroundings.

MR. JOHN CRANE

Manager of the Local Branch of Dominion Bank.

A stairway descends to the ladies' toilet room and lavatory.

At the rear of the main corridor, is the entrance to the basement. Downstairs are the steel, safety deposit vaults where private papers may be kept, and also a private room for examining the same. This is a feature of the bank's equipment which its patrons will appreciate. Adjoining is the gentleman's lavatory, then comes the cloak room, next is the board room, a large and well lighted apartment.

The dimensions of the bank's premises are 85 by 24 1-2 feet, and two floors are entirely occupied — the basement and the ground floor. In the main corridor, there are three tables and several chairs, as well as two wall desks—all of weathered oak —for the accommodation of the public. The tables and desks are all provided with plate glass tops.

Artificially, the new home of the bank is lighted by brass colonial fixtures on the walls, while over the counters there are four brass chain drop electroliers, the lamps being enclosed in large, frosted globes.

On entering, as already stated, the manager's office is on the left, then come the following apartments —accountant, loans, tellers, ledger, and the different clerks.

There is a fine large rear entrance to the bank and at the front and back are heavy iron doors. At the rear is located a splendid Goldie & McCulloch steel safe fitted with time locks and all the latest devices.

At the front there will be an artistic bronze sign "The Dominion Bank.", while on each pillar on Simcoe street, there will be a bronze tablet with the name of the bank in raised letters. These tablets are very expensive and will add greatly to the fine exterior appearance of the institution

The fittings and furnishings of the Dominion Bank are so out of the ordinary, so novel and so impressive, that they must be seen to be fully appreciated. No newspaper reference can do them adequate justice.

The architects of the bank were Carriere and Hastings of New York city, the work being carried out under the personal direction of their associate architect, Mr. Eustace A. Bird of Toronto. The contractor was Mr. John L. Webb of Toronto. The desks, woodwork, etc., were supplied by the Canadian Office and School Furniture Co., of Preston, while the safety vault and vault fittings were supplied by the Office Specialty Co. of Toronto. Messrs. Alexander & Miller, Peterborough, carried out the electric work in admirable style. All the labor was done by Peterborough workmen, and a better job has never been executed in the city.

The vestibules at the front and rear are all marble—in fact the interior of the premises bears a striking resemblance to a marble palace

Since the Dominion Bank, opened its doors in Peterborough on October 17th last, under the management of Mr. Crane, it has done a large business, which is daily increasing in volume. Mr. Crane has surrounded himself with a courteous and capable staff, all of whom, like the progressive manager, have the bank's interest and welfare thoroughly at heart.

The Dominion Bank, which was incorporated in 1871, has about sixty branches in different parts of Canada. Its authorized capital is $5,000,000 and its assets are $49,694,379. The Dominion is a wideawake and excellently administered financial institution, and the business in Peterborough bids fair to keep pace with the advancement, and expansion of this thriving and go-ahead centre.

When Ice Broke up at Chemong

Record for Last Twenty-five Years—An Interesting Study

A week ago Monday the ice in Chemong Lake broke up. This was somewhat later than last year or the year before.

Mr. J. N. Tedford has kept a record of dates of the ice breaking for the past twenty-four years.

It is interesting to note that in the year 1885, noted in Canada as the year of the Reil Rebellion in the Northwest the ice did not leave the lake until May 2nd, and that year there was scarcely any seeding done before the 5th of May. On the 28th of April about four inches of snow fell that year, when the spring was a particularly backward one. This was the latest opening of spring during the whole 25 years.

The earliest opening of the lake on record by Mr. Tedford, was in 1878, when the ice went out on March 23, and a great many of the farmers were plowing at this date, seeding being general about April 5th.

The record of dates, as kept by Mr. Tedford is as follows,—

1907, on April 22nd.
1906, on April 14th.
1905, on April 17th.
1904, on April 28th.
1903, on March 28th.
1902, on April 6th.
1901, on April 17th.
1900, on April 23rd.
1899, on April 26th.
1898, on March 28th.
1897, on April 19th.
1896, on April 21st.
1895, on April 23rd.
1894, on April 26th.
1893, on April 23rd.
1892, on April 10th.
1891, on April 22nd.
1890, on April 16th.
1889, on April 15th.
1888, on April 28th.
1887, on April 28th.
1886, on April 21st.
1885, on May 2nd.
1884, on April 20th.
1883, on April 20th.

THE JUNE DESIGNER

We note with interest the appearance in the June Designer of stories by Ann O'Hagan, and Isabel Gordon Curtis, while the continued sketch, "Economy Farm" by Miles Bradford the author of "Aarlotta and I," still amuses and instructs the young farmer, and interests all who know either more or less than he about farming.

But The Designer never forgets its purpose of being a magazine of practical use about the house, both for the women and men of the family. It makes no strain after either facts of fiction aimed to startle its readers, but with conservative enterprise constantly offers articles of every day use in running the house and the family, and in improving the present condition of both.

Many of the summer frocks pictured and described are graceful and pretty beyond the average. The "Graduation Gowns" are seasonable and have the unusual quality of being simple as well as pretty.

Mary Kilsyth, a regular contributor to the Designer has a timely article on "The Verandahs of the Day." It helps in a very good work —that of making people who have country houses, realize how much comfort and room they are doing without when they have no adequate verandahs to step out upon.

The Designer for June has endless suggestions that one might begin by using today.

THE COAL SITUATION

While a highly speculative palaver is going on at Westminster, an actual danger of the most serious kind threatens us here, says Goldwin Smith, in the Farmer's Sun. It seems intolerable that the country, or any part of it, should be left any longer exposed, as it is now, to a coal famine, as the consequence of a strike. Here is a genuine case of public utility, and not only of public utility, but of public life or death. Not much apparently is to be hoped from the operation of the Act for the prevention of strikes. The word of the Act appeals open to easy invasion; it seems already to have been evaded; and if it were possible to prevent the men from quitting the work it would not be possible to prevent them from scamping it, as they have been doing in New Zealand. The Government ought surely to lose no time in assuming control over the mines. Parliament ought hardly to rise without seeing that this is done. The interference of American labor "bosses" is surely an international offence. These men have shown that the depression of our industries is a matter of indifference if it is not welcome to them, by maintaining against us the alien labor law when the politicians seemed to be willing to let it drop. They cripple our printing trade by refusing copyright to books printed here. Yet they are allowed to interfere in our industrial disputes, to organize strikes among us, and to negotiate with our Government in matters vital to our interest, almost as if they were a sovereign power.

THE MONEY MARKET

There are certain classes in the community who are always in need of money. It is only on occasion that merchants, manufacturers, capitalists and bankers are actually "hard up." Yet such is the case at the present time. There are men worth hundreds of thousands of dollars, who are going about saying "I was never so pressed for ready money in all my life."

The trouble is due chiefly to the rapid expansion of the country, but also to several definite causes, says the Canadian Courier. There is fifty million dollars' worth of wheat in the West awaiting shipment to Liverpool. It cannot be moved until navigation opens, which will not occur for a few days yet. Again, the lumber cut this year has been very large, the winter having been so steady. The men come out of the camps about May 1st, and must be paid in cash; in addition, the lumbermen require advances on their unmarketed product. The recent slump in the stock market has added its influence by locking up considerable extra cash.

The Canadian bank statement for March shows an increase in "loans" of seventeen million dollars. The figure reached, $579,000,000 has never been exceeded in Canada's financial history. The loans outside of the country, that is in New York, decreased only one million, so that the banks must have been getting the extra money from special sources. It was not from deposits, as these decreased about seven millions.

The situation is quite serious for many institutions. Development will be hampered and there will be room for rejoicing if some of the weaker firms are not forced to the wall. It is a time for business men to act conservatively.

JUST A RUNAWAY

The following is a description of a Havelock runaway.—

A fiery horse stood on the road,
With a shaky rig behind;
A baby carriage on the walk,
With the horse's head in line.

The wind was blowing hard,
From the west and from the north
And when it struck the carriage,
That go-cart did go forth.

And as it was said before,
The horse was right in front,
And into that wild animal,
It went with an awful shunt.

The horse looked at the carriage,
And with a fearful jump,
It started the wheels a-turning,
Put the waggon on the bump.

'Twas just one second after,
The carriage struck the horse,
That it was going down the road,
Exerting all its force.

A telegraph pole on the roadside,
That had magnetic force,
Attracted the waggon to it,
Took off a wheel, of course.

The sudden jerk of the wheel going off,
Aroused the horse still more;
And with one runner not intact,
Along the road it tore.

The horse went even faster
Than a race-horse in a race;
'Twould make a trotter sigh for shame,
To see his 1.10 pace.

Now tearing down a lane,
At last it reached a fence;
And seeing it could not go on,
It turned with an awful wrench.

The waggon flew through air,
Like a bullet from a gun;
And a wheel lodged in a fence post
And stopped it's further run.

But the horse with great excitement,
And playfulness of a colt,
Stood up in the harness,
And made a fearful bolt.

That bursted every stitch of thread
That harness did contain;
And with a bounce for freedom,
It started down the lane.

And now that it was free,
Homeward it did go,
And though it moved more slowly,
'Twas anything but slow.

At last it reached its home,
And slackened up its pace,
And soon was chained in safety,
For ever a disgrace.

And after that whenever
It was let stand around;
Its owner saw for sure,
That it was tied up sound.

Of Interest to Local Dairymen

Date of Eastern Ontario Fat Stock, Dairy and Poultry Show is Changed

At a meeting of the directors of the Eastern Ontario Fat Stock, Dairy and Poultry Show, held in the Grand Union Hotel, Ottawa, on the evening of April 18th, it was decided to change the date of holding the said show, from the 1st week in March to the 3rd week in January.

A special effort is to be made to induce dairymen to enter their cows for competition in the different classes for milch cows. It is hoped that a very large entry may be secured since liberal prizes are being offered and the increasing importance of the dairy industry in Eastern Canada, (east of Peterborough) becomes daily more evident.

Such breeders or dairymen as may have stock good enough to enter this competition would do well to bear the date in mind, when making preparations. Entries will be received from Quebec.

Big Elk's Head on Exhibition

In Storey & Leary's Store—Shot by Mr. Reg Orr in Manitoba

The flour and feed store of Messrs. Storey and Leary on Water street, contains a very large elk's head. This handsome head was received last Saturday by Mr. Leary from Mr. Reg. R. Orr of Manitoba. Mr. Orr is an old Peterborough boy, who has many friends here, and who left only a few years ago, for the west where he took up farming, and has done exceedingly well. He shot the elk himself in the woods in the north-western corner of the prairie province. The result of that particular hunt was two elk. One head was stuffed out west, but both were shipped to Mr. Leary, and the second is being mounted by Mr. Ricome.

The one hanging in the store is very valuable. The horns measure six feet long exactly, and four feet four inches wide, and has six prongs on each horn.

Was Convicted on Three Charges

On Friday last Mr. Hogan, a hotel-keeper at Actinolite, was charged before Mr. Joseph James, J. P., with three violations of the liquor act. The evidence showed that the accused had sold liquor during prohibited hours on three different occasions, and a conviction in each case was recorded. The fines and costs imposed amounted to over $100.

Unknown Evangelists Have Departed From Havelock

All Money, Which They Did Not Need to Live on, Sent Away to Missions—Village Enters Lacrosse Team in Intermediate C. L. A.—Rev. E. A. Camp Takes a Holiday—Visitors in Village.

Special to the Review.

Havelock, April 29.—The evangelists who for the past month have been holding revival services in the churches and school houses in the vicinity of Havelock have left for parts unknown where they will still continue to preach the gospel to the sinful ones. They have worked at whatever they could get while in this neighborhood and the farmers with whom they stayed would not take anything for their keep and so all money which they did not need to live on they sent away to the missions. They believe that a person should not hoard up money, but all unneedful money should be given either to the poor or for missionary purposes. Thus their belief is that everyone should be on equal basis in this world and that the rich should use their money in helping out the poor, instead of building large mansions, living on the best in the land and over running the poor and needful.

Rev. A. E. Camp, pastor of the Presbyterian church here, left last week for a two month's visit to the Pacific coast. On Sunday Rev. Mr. Denike, of Campbellford, conducted the services.

LACROSSE TEAM.

Havelock has entered a lacrosse team in the intermediate C.L.A. this year. At a meeting in Toronto last week they were placed in group 14, with Madoc, Trenton and Campbellford. The convenor is Mr. W. H. Whytock and the place of meeting Madoc.

SERVICES AT HAVELOCK.

Rev. Father Conway, of Norwood, who has had charge of the Havelock parish for several years, has been forced to give it up through advancing age. Rev. Father Kelly, of Douro, who for the past six months has been curate and assistant to Rev. Father Keilty, but who will in the future be attached to the cathedral staff in Peterborough, will take charge of this parish.

By-law Prohibiting Merchants Displaying Goods on the Streets

Was Laid Over for Another Week—Deputation of Merchants Attended Council Meeting—Several Committee Reports—By-laws Get a Third Reading

The sign by-law stands over for one more week, as does also the by-law which prohibits merchants displaying their goods on the streets. Ald. Elliott introduced a by-law which was to amend the box by-law and the street obstruction by-law, the latter clause being the one objected to. The alderman was not aware what he was introducing until he read it over, and then he refused to continue, and recommended that it go back to the committee of the whole to be considered.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The following communications were received and read.

From M. C. Kowaleski, Donegal-st., complaining about the disgraceful condition of the road there. He asked that it be repaired at once, as he thought he and the other residents in that neighborhood paid sufficient taxes to be given a road and a sidewalk.

From the Bell Telephone Company asking for permission to erect poles—three on east side of Babb's lane and five on Homewood avenue.

From the Peterborough Cereal Co. and Bank of Montreal asking for a granolithic walk on Simcoe street to the Cereal Co.'s mills.

A large deputation of merchants were present at the council meeting for the purpose of taking up the sign by-law again, but it was not a feature of this meeting by any means. The chief thing was the by-law preventing the use of the streets for display purposes.

All the members of the committee had addressed the council at the last meeting, except Mr. Sam Jordan, of Jordan Bros., and therefore, there was nothing new to add.

Mr. Sam Jordan was allowed to address the Council, and he said that he had been in business on George street for ten years. Every year he had to display plants outside his store, and if he was not allowed to do so he would lose a great deal, as many of these plants would turn yellow and be worthless if kept inside for more than a few years. He said that all the room he needed was about twelve or eighteen inches in front of his window.

Ald. Elliott said he strongly objected to that clause which prohibits merchants hanging out goods outside their doors. He wanted to have the whole by-law taken up in committee of the whole again.

Ald. Wilson and Ald. Bradburn moved that the by-law be referred back to the committee of the whole.—Carried.

MANUFACTURERS' COMMITTEE.

The Manufacturers' Committee reported as follows;—

That the by-law to aid the Rapid Tool Co. be given its third reading and that the city solicitor be instructed to prepare such agreement and declaration as may be necessary to authorize the payment of the Company of the amount of the bonus granted to them under the by-law, and that upon the solicitor reporting that the necessary papers have been signed, the amount be paid to the Company.

PROPERTY COMMITTEE

The Property Committee reported as follows:—

1. That the ground floor of the present fire hall be utilized for offices for the Tax Collector, City Engineer and other officials.

2. That the chairman be authorized to have the band stand in Victoria Park painted.

3. That the Sanitary Inspector be authorized to procure and have posted 100 posters notifying all persons that all yards and premises must be cleaned before May 15th.

DICKSON CO. SEWER.

The Special Committee appointed in in regard to a method for providing sewerage for the property of the Dickson Company on Harvey, Waterford and Dublin streets, beg leave to report that we have visited the property and conferred with a committee of the Board of Health and the city engineer in regard to the matter. We cannot recommend allowing the Dickson Company to run sewerage into the river, and as nothing can be done in the way of providing a sewer for the property until such a time as a new outfall sewer is built on Aylmer street, at a lower depth than the present one, so that a sewer can be built from the corner of Harvey and Dublin streets west along Dublin street to connect with a new outfall sewer, the only recommendation your committee can make is that owners of the property be allowed to use cess-pools, but that they must first obtain permission and authority from the local Board of Health and the construction of the cess pools to be under the supervision of the said Board.

Reports were also read from the Committee of the Whole Council and the Board of Works.

BY-LAWS PASSED

By-law No. —— was a by-law providing for aid for the Rapid Tool Co.—Held over.

By-law No. 1900 was a by-law providing a grant of $350 to the Peterborough Horticultural Society.

By-law No. 1300 was a by-law amending a by-law regulating the size of bread.

By-law No. 1301 was a by-law defining the sewer area in the city.

By-law No. 1302 was a by-law to lay out a new street called Walsh street with a width of less than 66 feet.

By-law No. 1303 was a bylaw providing for the construction of sewers and sidewalks as local improvements.

By-law No. 1304 was a by-law to provide for the construction of a main sewer on the G.T.R. right-of-way from Smith street to Aylmer street.

By-law No. 1305 was a bylaw authorizing the construction of certain granolithic sidewalks as local improvements.

Meyer Coben, of Hamilton, a junk dealer, has been committed for trial on a charge of having received 600 pounds of brass knowing it to have been stolen from the G. T.R.

ON CANADA ROUTE.

24-Knot Boats Will Run In Near Future.

London, April 30.—(C. A. P.)—The Canadian Associated Press yesterday had undoubted authority to state that the fast Atlantic service which has been so long in contemplation will in the very near future be an accomplished fact. There is to be a 24-knot service across the Atlantic and a fast service on the Pacific, cutting down the time to such an extent that the route will practically command business. It is regarded as the greatest Imperial project approached for many years, making, as it does, the route from the Mother Country and Canada to Eastern countries the world's thoroughfare. It is very well understood here that Lord Strathcona and Clifford Sifton have devoted a great deal of time and consideration to the matter, and will probably, if an agreement is reached with the Government's consent, undertake to make the necessary arrangements to carry the enterprise into effect. There will be then no more need of addressing letters to Canada via New York.

It is believed that the project will have the endorsement of the conference. It will no doubt involve a heavy subsidy from Canada, and no doubt Great Britain will participate equally.

YOUNG CHILD VICTIM.

Little Girl Assaulted and Murdered By Her Uncle.

Bennington, Vt., April 30.—News was brought here yesterday of an unusually atrocious crime in North Bennington Sunday night, the victim of the tragedy, a child less than 4 years old, having been criminally assaulted and then murdered.

The victim of the crime was Ethel Mahan, the daughter of Jerman Mahan, a carpenter. The alleged assailant and murderer is Alfred Mahan, 23 years old, a brother of the child's father, who had volunteered to accompany the little girl from a pond where her father was fishing, to her home.

When the fishing party returned home there was no trace of the little Ethel. Search was made, and in a clump of bushes the body was found with the throat horribly cut and bearing other evidence of fiendish maltreatment.

Alfred Mahan, who is said by the authorities to have been the last person seen with her, was arrested.

Conservatives Get Busy.

Montreal, April 30.—It is understood that R. L. Borden and leading followers in Parliament will hold a series of political gatherings throughout the country during the present season, and that before the House again meets both the Upper and Lower Provinces will have been visited by the Conservative leader and his chief lieutenants. It is also stated that particular attention will be given to the special sections of the Province of Quebec and five districts of Montreal. Three Rivers and Quebec as well as the Eastern Townships, will hear the Conservative chieftain, with Messrs. F. D. Monk, M. P., J. G. H. Bergeron, M. P.; T. Chase Casgrain, ex-M. P.; Hon. Thomas Chapais, Hon. L. P. Pelletier, L. T. Marechal, together with such English speakers as Messrs. Rufus M. Pope, ex-M. P.; H. B. Ames, M. P., and others.

$75,000 Ransom Paid.

Constantinople, April 30.—Seventy-five thousand dollars was the ransom paid for the release of Robert Abbot, the son of a prominent British subject residing at Salenika, who was kidnapped from his father's garden March 24, and eventually liberated when the demands of his abductors had been conceded. The brigands originally demanded $100,000. The British Government will insist that the ransom be repaid by the Turkish Government.

Strike of Leather Workers At B. F. Ackerman, Son & Co.

Is Still Unsettled and May be Extended to Other Branches if Demands of the Union are not Met—Harness Makers Reply to the Firm's Statements

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—In reply to the statement made by B. F. Ackerman, Son & Co. in the Examiner, under date of April 23rd, re the Leather Workers' strike we must take exception to some of his expressions, which are incorrect. Mr. Ackerman states that the average wages paid to union men were $9.60 per week, which is true; he also states that the new pay sheet, which he submitted to the union would average $10.40, in addition to giving them an extra hour at the firm's expense which we did not demand. This statement is not correct. The pay sheet as presented by Mr. Ackerman only averaged $10.34 per week (big wages for skilled mechanics). Mr. Ackerman also charges the union with accepting men who were not competent journeyman harnessmakers. In reply we say that we have not got a man in our union, who has served an apprenticeship of less than three years, and according to Mr. Ackerman's statement the majority of them have served their apprenticeship in his factory and if they are not competent mechanics, who is to blame? We say the firm is because when they take an apprentice in to learn the trade they put him to work at one part of the trade, where they can make the most money out of him and do not teach him the full trade. These conditions we are striving to alter.

The firm also states that they will not submit to their pay roll being arranged in Kansas City. This statement is an untruth, as Kansas City has nothing to do with the scale of wages. The firm also state that their competent non-union men average $12.00 per week. We challenge the firm to produce their books and prove this. The firm also state they intend increasing the average to $13.00 per week. If those non-union men receive an increase, we hope they will place the credit for it where it belongs—to the efforts of the union. The firm also states that a few years ago they had employed from ten to fifteen apprentices. In reply we say that any firm with a factory the size of B. F. Ackerman, Son & Co., should be ashamed to admit it. This firm did not admit though that at that time they had to give some of them a box to stand on in order that they might reach the bench.

The firm also states that the union sent a helper on their committee to treat for higher wages. This we claim is an absolute untruth, as we have no helpers in our union. The firm further asks the solving of the help question for them, as the journeymen harnessmakers are leaving the trade faster than the union will allow them to make new men. This statement is also incorrect, as we can prove that inside of one year, 1,500 journeymen harnessmakers quit the trade, because the wages paid were so low that they could not make a living at harnessmaking. As soon as the manufacturers pay decent wages they will be able to get all the journeymen they want.

The statement made by the firm that the men may be ordered out at any time from Kansas City, is also an untruth, and without foundation.

In concluding we want to say that the wages paid at the present time, run from $7.50 to $12 per week.

Mr. Geo. Shipman, International 4th Vice-President, and Canadian Representative is in the city, and is considering the advisability of further extending the strike in the factory if the demands of the union are not complied with in a few days.

What Will be Required of the Letter Carriers in Peterboro'

Mr. H. Merrick of Kingston, post office inspector, was in the city for three days last week, inspecting the local office.

It is expected that arrangements will soon be made in Peterborough, for the street delivery of mail matter, the Government having placed an appropriation in the estimates this year for such a purpose in all cities of 10,000 inhabitants, and over, who do not have a street delivery.

It is believed when the service is inaugurated in Peterborough, there will be a delivery of mail by the letter carriers to every house inside the corporation limits once a day, and to all places in the central portion of the city, twice a day. It will require six mail carriers to cover the territory. The central part of the city, where letters will be delivered twice a day will be bounded by Dublin street on the north, Dalhousie on the south, Bethune on the west, and the two of Water street on the east.

In order to give one mail delivery to all parts once a day, and to the central portion as above outlined, twice a day it will necessitate each letter carrier walking fourteen miles daily. No small distance in itself, and, at the same time he will have to carry heavy loads of letters, papers and parcels.

Are You Moving on the Morrow?

Many Peterborough Families Changing Place of Abode

Are you moving to-morrow?

Perhaps you may not, but there are many in Peterborough who are going into new houses on May 1st, and, as a result the men who handle the big vans will be kept on the jump tomorrow. The local cartage companies have many engagements to fill and several families even shifted their place of abode through the down pour of rain to-day. But the rush will be to-morrow and the weather will likely be, according to the probs, anything but favorable for moving furniture around. At any rate there will be a plentiful supply of mud for the men engaged in moving to get their feet into and carry it into the house. But such things are to be expected at moving times and its no use kicking. That will only make the mud fly worse.

Closing Meeting Held Last Night

St. John's Young People Arrange for Tennis Season

The closing meeting of the season of the Young People's society of St. John's church was held last evening in the school room. On account of the unfavorable weather there was only a small attendance.

The president, Mr. Jos. Bell, occupied the chair. The only business transacted last night was the arranging for the tennis season of the club, which will open on May 24th. Miss Lily Wesley and Messrs. Jos. Bull and M. Drysdale were appointed a committee to make the arrangements for the grounds.

Oronhyatekha is Buried in Cement

To adequately protect the body of Dr. Oronhyatekha, late Supreme Chief Ranger of the Independent Order of Foresters, extraordinary precautions have been taken. Round the shell enclosing the corpse is a two foot wall of cement concrete, the ratio being three parts hard cement to one part concrete. A piece of rock 6 to 8 inches wide, covers the casket, and a layer of cement of corresponding thickness with the casket's walls covers the whole.

The remains have been sealed, as it was reported to the Executive Council of the I. O. F. that medical students sought the head of the late Supreme Chief for examination. Three young men have actually frequently been seen at midnight in Deseronto cemetery, who are suspected of sinister designs on the corpse. The grave has been so sealed and constructed as to render any further attempt at snatching the body, liable to instant detection.

Created Racket on Hunter St.

Mr. and Mrs. Rickards Ordered to Leave Their Present Quarters

Wm. Richards was the sole occupant of the prisoner's box at the police court this morning. He was charged with creating a disturbance on Hunter street last evening. He pleaded that the disturbance was in a house which he paid rent for, and not on the public highway.

Mrs. H. Kerr, the complainant, said that she had let some rooms of her house to Mr. and Mrs. Richards for a few days until they could get another dwelling. They had now been in the house four weeks despite the fact that they had been ordered out on several occasions. Last evening both of them were drunk and were fighting. The noise was so loud that it brought the neighbors out to see what was wrong.

His Worship after ordering Richards to vacate the house at once, said that he would reserve judgment for a week.

Just at this point Mrs. Richards made her appearance in the court and judging from the way she went on she was not over her spree of the night before. She had brought her husband a cap, who, in his excitement, last night had gone off without one. When asked where they came from she replied from Campbellcroft. "It is a pity you didn't stay there," remarked Chief Roszel, and the talkative lady replied "that she wished she had, and never gone near the old house." As the court room was clearing she came back with all sorts of threats to the chief and policemen and created much amusement by her loud conversation. After considerable pulling by her husband and having been warned to stop talking or she would be locked up, she was finally got down to the sidewalk. She then went at her husband for not wearing his cap, shouting to him "Put on your cap." The aged dame finally became quiet and she and her husband walked peaceably up the street followed by a large mob, who were anxious to see the finish of the fracas.

ONLY DIFFERENT

Running a newspaper is just like running a hotel only different. When a man goes into a hotel and finds something on the table which does not suit him, he does not raise cain with the landlord and tell him to stop his hotel. Well, hardly. He sets that dish to one side and wades into the many dishes that suit him. It is different with some newspaper readers. They find an article occasionally that does not suit them exactly and without stopping to think it may please hundreds of other readers, make a grand stand play and tell the editor how his paper should be run and what should be put into it and what would have been better left out, that certain statements were too strong and too personal and while the statements were perfectly true they should have been left out. But such people are becoming fewer every year.

St. Luke's Church Vestry Meeting

Encouraging Reports Presented at Last Night's Meeting

The adjourned vestry meeting of St. Luke's Church was held last night. In spite of the inclement weather a fair congregational representation was present. After devotional exercises, the auditor's presented their report on the finances, which were in a very good condition, the total receipts from all sources amounting to about $3,200. The missionary contributions from the church amounted to $375. The various reports from the different societies manifested excellent work done. The Woman's Auxiliary raised about $200 for missionary purposes, and sent two bales of clothing, etc., to the missionary field. It was decided to build a granolithic sidewalk from the gate to the rectory, payment for which was guaranteed by the Bible Class.

Hearty votes of thanks were passed to the organizations of the church for their excellent work.

The meeting adjourned, the benediction being said by the rector.

A full attendance of all those interested in lawn bowling is requested.

BASEBALL

THE YOUNG FINANCIER

Have you been "hit up" yet? In other words, has the small, ragged urchin with innocent blue eyes been around to the store or office with an officious looking document on which a request for a substantial donation is typewritten. The money is to be devoted for the advancement of athletics, so the youthful leader informs you. The Sluggers, the Knockers, or the Stars, are in financial difficulties. No use putting him off, for he is a persistent, enterprising little fellow, and he will be always on your heels with his eternal subscription list until you cash in. You can't dodge him.

LOCAL HUNTER SHOT AN EAGLE

Mr Clifford Chapman, of this city, was out shooting on Saturday afternoon and was exceedingly fortunate, making an extraordinary shot. He was in the vicinity of Lily Lake. As he was walking along, on the lookout for any kind of game that he could get, he noticed among the bushes on the shore of the lake, a large bird. Mr. Chapman, who is a crack shot, was successful in putting an end to the feathered creature. On drawing nearer to his victim he found that it was an eagle. It measured five feet from tip to tip. This is a rather rare bird in these parts, very few being seen around here. Mr. Chapman feels quite elated over the success attending his afternoon's shoot. He intends having this rare species of bird mounted.

Local Bowlers Defeat Toronto

Interesting Games at Majestic Alleys Last Night

Two teams of Toronto bowlers came to Peterborough last night and rolled against two local quintettes at the Majestic alleys, Water street. The home bowlers won out by 36 pins after two closely contested matches that were witnessed by a large number of spectators. The Pleasure club, Peterborough, rolled against the Brunswicks, Toronto, and won out by 121 pins, and the Merchants of Peterborough, clashed with the High Rollers, Toronto, and went under by 85 pins, leaving Peterborough 36 pins to the good. The scoring throughout was uniformly good, although not as high as made by some of the teams in the tournament here last week.

W. McIlroy had the highest total score, 472, while F. Whitcroft had the best single, 189, and was second in the total with 462, just 10 pins behind McIlroy. Whitcroft has only recently taken to the balls and pins, but he has developed rapidly and has been doing consistent bowling for time. The Toronto men found the alleys a little strange at first, but were doing well towards the finish. They left for home this morning, having enjoyed their outing here very much.

Mr Croyland Yokome's song hit, "The Flower of Japan," is being sung every evening at the Colloseum by the musical director of that popular place of amusement, Mr A. E. Harding. This pretty vocal number is well suited to Mr. Harding's voice and is being heard with delight by the large number of patrons who visit the Colloseum. "The Flower of Japan," with its pretty music and catchy chorus, is becoming very popular in Peterborough and elsewhere.

LARDER LAKE GOLD

Blue Bell Pushing Ahead

New Liskeard, Ont., April 26th.—The Larder Lake stampede still continues and is growing from day to day. Excitement runs high owing to the statements and reports from mining engineers and miners coming out of the wonderful finds and strikes made in that district.

The Blue Bell Company started two large crews of men from here today with complete outfits for establishing camps and commencing active development, preparatory to installing twelve stamp mills upon their properties, which are reported to be marvellously rich. It is claimed this company will be the first to send out gold and that the results will astonish the outside world. 1d

Promised Her Witch Sent Her Relative

Brantford, April 30.—An Indian by the name of A. Garlow, is in the bad graces of the reserve, because of a joke he is said to have played on a fellow Indian, S C Hill. Mrs. Hill had fits. Garlow treated her. One afternoon so the story goes, he informed his patient that the fits were caused by a witch. He left a bottle of medicine, telling her that it would bring the witch to her door at 8 p.m. Then if all be true that's said, he went to Peter Hill's and told Peter to call on the sick woman about eight o'clock as she wished to know if the Christian Aid Society could render her any assistance. Peter obeyed. He was met at the door by the husband and a big stick. Now he knows what it feels like to be a witch. The whole household joined in the attack and the visitor was badly beaten before he could proclaim his identity and make explanation. The Hills then united in a search for Garlow but he was not to be found. Now they threaten to arrest him for false pretences.

New Fire Fighting Apparatus To be Purchased for Fire Hall

Fire, Water and Light Committee Has $3,200 Left Out of the Appropriation of $25,000—New Hook and Ladder Wagon, Chemical and Hose Wagon etc.—Fire Hall to be Opened in a Couple of Weeks.

What new fire fighting appliances will be purchased? is the question now occupying the attention of the Fire, Water and Light Committee. Of the bylaw for $25,000, passed by the people a year ago, about $3,200 remains to be expended. The committee has provided the fire hall, the fire engine, and the electric fire alarm, and there are still several things to be secured, such as hose, hook and ladder waggon, and combined chemical and hose waggon. The exact cost of these is not yet known but the Chairman and the Chief of the Brigade will make enquiries.

Chief Rutherford said that Maltese Cross Rubber Hose should be secured especially for street purposes, to save wear and tear on present fire hose in flushing sewers. Mr. Rutherford also reported that the department have now some 3,000 feet of effective fire hose, which is not up to standard requirements.

He advised that the department needed a No. 4, Seagrave hook and ladder waggon with a set of ladders, the longest to be 54 feet in length, be purchased at say, $1,200 to $1,400; 400 feet rubber hose at $1 a foot; a combined chemical and hose waggon, which he thought could be built in town for $625 or $650.

It was also advocated that yearly supply of 400 feet of hose should be supplied to keep up the standard requirements in fire hose. This is necessary to replace the natural wear and tear in fire hose. This item of course does not come out of the bylaw appropriation.

The furnishing of the hall is estimated at approximately $400.

The Mayor moved, seconded by Ald Morgan, that the chairman of the Committee, and Fire Chief Rutherford be authorized to report as to what equipment can be procured for $2,500. Carried.

FIRE HALL OPENING.

The new fire hall will be opened with general festivities, comprising refreshments, a musical entertainment in the evening, followed by a dance, the hall to be open to visitors all day.

Ald. Johnston offered that the hall will be opened about the middle of May.

The committee will go into this matter in detail before the next meeting.

The men on duty at the fire hall will be uniformed.

Chief Rutherford reported that the firemen had not been supplied with uniforms for thirteen years.

The foreman will report as to the condition of the fire hall men's uniforms.

TROUT SEASON OPENED TO-DAY

Parties Started Early for Millbrook and Springville

Today, May 1st, is the opening of the trout season and early this morning the fishermen started off for the Cavanville creek, where the finny creatures are supposed to abound. One crowd went to Millbrook and another drove to Springville with the intention of gratifying their piscatorial inclinations.

A year or two ago a bunch of well known rod and line enthusiasts went to Hastings to try their luck in a private pond. There were eight in the party and they paid $1 each for the privilege of fishing. After sitting on the cold, damp ground for many hours, they started home with six small trout and heavy hearts.

Husband Was Traitor and Woman Committed Suicide

Tragic Story of Russian Woman Revolutionist.

Plotted to Betray His Wife—Her Accidental Discovery—Opened Letter Which Showed She Was to Be Handed Over to Police—Had Already Been Imprisoned Two Years—Treachery Led to Suicide.

St. Petersburg, May 1.—The funeral yesterday of Mme. Madezhda Baradina, a well-known revolutionist, who committed suicide abroad, aroused the greatest interest in revolutionary circles on account of her romantic history.

Mme. Baradina was the daughter of a rich manufacturer, of good social position, and left her home to engage in the revolutionary propaganda. She was sent to Kiev, where she was arrested and imprisoned for two years, being released in October, 1905, on condition that she went abroad, where she met M. Baradina, who was known as an energetic member of the organization, and married him.

A few days ago Mme. Baradina accidentally opened a letter showing that her husband was a traitor, who had successfully planned the arrest of an important group of terrorists and even proposed to bring his wife back to Russia, in order to deliver her into the hands of the police. The police advised him to delay the latter step in order to avert suspicion.

Mme. Baradina, after reading the letter, took poison. Her body was brought to St. Petersburg and was interred here yesterday, the coffin being buried under wreaths of crimson flowers.

AFRAID TO REPORT DOUMA.

Russian Papers Guarded In Accounts of Parliament.

St. Petersburg, May 1.—With the exception of the Novoe Vremya, which holds itself outside of the ordinary press restrictions, not one of the morning papers yesterday ventured to report Monday's debate on the Government's recruiting bill in the Lower House of Parliament, fearing suspension, and in their accounts of the executive session of the House referred only guardedly to the conflict between the House and the Government.

The Rech organ of the Constitutional Democrats, summarizing the work of the Lower House up to the present, says:—"In spite of enormous difficulties and much friction, the Douma has made considerable progress, having organized fifteen committees to handle the principal problems of social reconstruction. A number of projects are ready for presentation to the House, including reforms of the courts, providing for the inviolability of the person, and several financial laws which will be taken up immediately after the Easter recess, while a measure providing for religious liberty and other laws will be reported at the end of May."

President Golovin is quoted by the Stovo yesterday as saying:—"The conditions are now so changed that there is no prospect of an early dissolution of Parliament, and there is ground to hope that the Lower House will display creative activity resulting in the enactment of the necessary reforms."

The Rossia, Ministerial, remarks:—"The Douma is daily losing authority in the eyes of the people, owing to the absence of a working majority, but there is an under current of hope that the Constitutional Democrats will be able to create a safe majority and redeem the situation. The greatest danger to the Douma is considered to be the possibility that the reactionists in the Cabinet after Monday night's conflict between the Government and the House, may appeal over Premier Stolypin's head directly to his Majesty, on the ground of well known devotion of the army to the Emperor, the Reactionists being encouraged by the failure of M. Stolypin to compel the retirement of M. Von Schwanebach, the Comptroller of the Empire and Reactionary member of the Cabinet, who has been working hard in the campaign for the immediate dissolution of Parliament."

Trouble Expected At Warsaw.

Warsaw, Russia, May 1.—The employes of the street railroads, the printers, bakers and factory employes have decided to stop work on May Day, and the authorities are taking energetic steps to forestall expected disorders. The police are making wholesale arrests of socialists and detachments of Cossacks will patrol the streets, day and night, until there is no further danger of trouble.

Forty thousand troops are collected in and around Warsaw. The police have notified the storekeepers that they will be fined $1,500 unless their stores are opened to-day, and the socialists have issued a counterblast, promising to dynamite the shops unless they are closed. A majority of the merchants expect to close their places of business, asserting that the police are unable to protect them.

Head of Hospital Arrested.

Simperlo, Russia, May 1.—Dr. Archangelsky, in charge of the hospital here, has been arrested. JUROR TOOK LIBERTY.

Visited Scene of Crime and Trial May Be Stopped.

New York, May 1.—The trial of Anissia Louisede Massey, the so-called baroness, who is charged with the murder of Gustav Simon, a shirt waist manufacturer, was interrupted yesterday at the request of Assistant District Attorney Ely, who announced that he intended to make as investigation before proceedings begun.

This action is the result of a visit which Geo. W. Guernsey, one of the jurors, paid to the scene of the shooting without the knowledge of the court or his associates on the jury.

When Mr. Guernsey revealed the fact in court on Monday that he had looked over the scene of the shooting of Simon, the court and the prosecuting officers were considerably disturbed, and told him he should not have done so. As a result of his visit the trial, which has been in progress for several days, may be called off, or possibly it may be agreed to send the entire jury to the scene under escort.

The Dominion Exhibition.

Ottawa, May 1.—A deputation from Sherbrooke, Que., waited on Hon. Mr. Fisher has consented to open the exhibition, and His Excellency Earl Grey will attend.

He leaves a widow and two sons.

FATAL FREIGHT WRECK

Engine Plunged Through Bridge West of Schreiber.

Another Bad Accident on the North Shore — Three Trainmen Killed—Cars Also Went Into Chasm—Traffic Tied Up for Hours—Injured Are All Doing Well—Names of the Dead.

Fort William, May 1.—Another serious accident occurred on the Canadian Pacific Railway about 75 miles east of here Monday night, in which three employes lost their lives.

The dead are: William Fixture, engineer; E. J. Veaudry, fireman; Vallancourt, brakeman.

The train was the second section of No. 120, regular freight, and left here, eastbound, at 5.30 on Monday.

The accident happened at Fire Hill, a small station east of Nipigon, the bridge over a small creek being washed out, and the engine plunged into the opening, going at regulation speed.

The bodies of the fireman and brakeman were probably buried under the engine.

The body of the engineer, William Fixture of Schreiber, was found yesterday, but bodies of the fireman and brakeman are still in the wreck. Fixture leaves a widow, but no children. He has been a resident of Schreiber for 22 years, and was making preparations to abandon railroading and take up a farm in the West. The three injured are progressing favorably.

JAP MINERS STRIKE.

Many Are Hurt In Collisions With the Police.

Japanese Minister Denies Report.

Tokio, May 1.—The Minister of Marine denies the report that Japan has ordered a 21,000 ton battleship in England. He said such a step would not be necessary, as the works at Kure and Yokosuka were capable of constructing larger ships than the preceding two launched there, if it was considered advisable.

To Fight Lord's Day Act.

Brockville, May 1.—There is a snarl between the Lord's Day Alliance and the Prescott Transfer Co. over the running of the Sunday ferry between that place and Ogdensburg, N. Y., which is said to be contrary to the new Lord's Day Act. The company maintains its right to run boats in connection with the New York Central regular trains, and will contest their rights in the courts, if necessary. It is the intention to try to abolish the Sunday ferry entirely.

Uncle Held for Murder.

Bennington, Vt., May 1.—An inquest into the death of Ethel Mahan, the four-year-old daughter of Norman Mahan, who was murdered Sunday, was held yesterday.

Death was caused by a cut in the throat.

Alfred Mahan, the child's uncle, who is under arrest charged with the murder, denies all knowledge of the child's death.

Summons Were No Good.

Ottawa, May 1.—All the summons in the case of the Buckingham fatal riot charges were yesterday morning declared void. They were issued without a seal being affixed thereon. This technical objection was brought up Monday and Judge Talbot now declared the service null and void under Quebec laws. The strikers are therefore released under this ruling.

New York, May 1.—While coming down the Hudson River during a dense fog yesterday the steamer C. W. Morse of the People's Line, crashed into and sank the New York Central freight boat Propellor No. 4.

Rossland, B. C., May 1.—Granby, Dominion and the B. C. Copper Co.'s smelters and mines closed down Monday evening owing to the shortage of fuel. They will remain closed down for a period of two weeks, even if the coal strike is settled. This will throw about 3,000 men out of employment.

Stove Factory Burned.

Lorain, O., May 1.—Fire of unknown origin Monday night destroyed the plant of the National Stove Company. The loss is estimated at $200,000. Four hundred men are made idle by the fire.

Missionary's Life in Far North By the Right Rev. Bishop Reeves

What it Involves to be a Bishop in Mackenzie River and Athabasca—A Glimpse at the Work in That Country—Clergy for the Field.

The Right Reverend Bishop Reeves, of the Diocese of Mackenzie River, is spending a few days in the city, and is a guest at the residence of Mr. George Grisdale, Charles-st. He is returning to his home at Athabasca Landing after an absence of a couple of weeks, in addition to the time spent in travelling in eastern Canada. He attended the semi-annual meeting of the board of management of the Missionary Society of the Church of England in Canada, which was held in the city of Hamilton, Ont., on the 11th inst. On the following Sunday April 14th, he ordained two men for the diocese of Mackenzie river, also three others, two for Rupert's Land and one for Nova Scotia. The names of the first two are: A. L. Vale and H. L. Day; those for the diocese of Rupert's Land are: Messrs. Purdie and Griggs; and the one for the diocese of Nova Scotia is Mr. Beverley. All have been students at Wycliffe college. The ordination took place at the Church of the Redeemer, Toronto, the rector of which, Rev. Mr. James, preached the sermon.

A NORTHWEST VETERAN.

Bishop Reeves is a veteran in church service in this country, having come here thirty-eight years ago when Winnipeg was a very small place, and there was scarcely any settlement beyond. Nearly all this time he has spent in the north and most of it within the two dioceses over which he has charge, and the greater part in Mackenzie River diocese at Fort Simpson. In the diocese of Athabasca he had his home at Fort Chipewyan on Athabasca lake. Since taking the oversight of the two dioceses three years ago his lordship has resided at Athabasca Landing, which is just on the southern border of both, and is the most convenient point for communication, both with all the interior missions, and with the world without, having a post office and a telegraph station.

Athabasca Landing Bishop Reeves regards as likely to become an important place, being the gateway to the whole of the Peace River, Mackenzie, and Athabasca districts, through which all traffic must pass. Railway communication will, he confidently expects, be established in the near future; but he fears, in view of declaration that the Canadian Northern company, will not do any more extension work this year, that the delay will be longer than has been hoped.

To reach Athabasca Landing from Edmonton a journey of 100 miles by stage must be taken; a stage runs weekly, in summer twice a week.

A VARIED TRAVELLING RECORD.

Asked about his extensive travelling, his lordship mentioned that the territory under his jurisdiction embraces about 800,000 square miles, and constitutes about one-seventh or one-eighth of the whole Dominion. Within the last twelve months he has travelled 300 miles in a York boat, 100 miles in a freight waggon, 300 miles in the Peace River steamer, was towed 300 miles down the Peace river by steam tug to Chipewyan, helped to paddle his own canoe 400 miles, travelled about 2,500 miles by steamer on the Mackenzie river, 300 miles in the Athabasca steamer, and over 250 miles in a scow, rode his own horses over 100 miles, and drove them over 600 miles. To this may be added extensive railway travelling, including two trips east and return within the twelve months of some 8,000 or 9,000 miles.

The population of the Mackenzie river diocese is composed almost entirely of Indians and Eskimos to the number of 5,000 and a few fur traders and missionaries. His lordship visits throughout his diocese in alternate years, not being able to cover the whole field annually. In the Mackenzie river diocese he has confirmed within the last year nearly fifty young people, Indians; has baptized one Eskimo adult, and has administered the Lord's supper to nearly 100 communicants. He teaches the Eskimos, who number about 500, through interpreters. As almost every Indian tribe has a different dialect, much of the work has to be done among them also through interpreters, and it is often difficult to secure competent and suitable men who understand the languages requiring to be used. In conversation many of the people are reached by means of a jargon which is not serviceable for religious services or preaching. The bishop preaches and conducts services himself in the Slavic language.

In the Mackenzie river diocese his lordship has six white and one native clergymen, including two just ordained. These occupy all the posts at present established, but his lordship would like to open others if the men and the money were available.

In the Athabasca diocese there are ten clergymen, besides school teachers and lay helpers. The population includes about 5,000 natives and whites, the latter increasing in number, and likely to continue growing as the Peace River country is opened. The bishop has heard from one source of fifty families, and from another of two hundred families, chiefly Americans, who are going in this year.

After reaching his home at Athabasca Landing, Bishop Reeve will shortly leave for the Peace river to visit the missions, and will be absent most of the summer. He expects to meet his clergymen and other helpers at Lesser Slave lake, where the diocesan synod meeting is to be held in July. He leaves for the northwest this morning.—Manitoba Free Press.

FLASK OF WHISKEY WAS VALUABLE

Handled by Three Lindsay Citizens it Netted the Town $55

Three liquor cases were heard at the police court Monday, all arising from the one incident, says the Lindsay Post. J. G. Corran induced Edward Hartley to buy liquor for him. He gave Hartley a drink, when Abe Warren, who was standing near, could not resist the temptation and grabbed the flask, drinking most of its contents.

For procuring liquor after a notice had been served on him forbidding him to procure it, Corran was fined $20 and costs. For securing it for him, Hartley was "taxed" $25. For drinking it with notices against him, Abe Warren paid $10 and costs.

Quebec Pulp Wood Goes Across Border

Canadians Should Build Mills to Turn Out Finished Article

The Department of Agriculture of the United States, issues through the Forestry Service Division bulletins and circulars which are filled with interesting and extremely valuable information. It is unfortunate for the province of Quebec that these publications are not available for general distribution, says the Montreal Gazette.

In the province of Ontario the wisdom of developing a large industrial population is well understood and she is accomplishing this by preventing the free exportation of her valuable assets of raw materials. The policy has resulted in enormous investments of fixed capital with a corresponding growth of busy population.

The Forestry Division has gone exhaustively into the question of pulp wood consumption in the United States, bordering on Quebec, and into which most of the pulp wood goes which comes from Quebec. This has been accomplished through personal touch with the mills, for the reason that the Dominion blue book gives only values, leaving you to guess the quantities. The department of commerce at Washington, is however, now giving quantities as well as values. These four states, namely, Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont and New York—produce over two-thirds of all the pulp produced in the United States, and to do this required, in 1905, nearly thirteen hundred million feet of timber and of this enormous quantity the province of Quebec contributed nearly 30 per cent. They tell us that in the six years including 1905, the increase in the shipment of spruce pulp wood from Canada has been 83 per cent. They estimate that the quantity of pulp wood produced in these four states was less in 1906 than in 1905, and that each succeeding year will show a diminution. Couple this, if you please, with the increased annual demand and the quantity they expect to get from Canada assumes startling proportions. For example—When they get the figures for 1906, they expect they will show one million cords from Canada, and that 1907 will show one and one-half million, and that in 1910 it will be nearer three millions of cords than two million cords.

In 1905 the state of New Hampshire used seventy per cent. of Quebec's wood in the manufacture of its pulp—last year still more, and each succeeding year will show a greater ratio, provided Canada continues to encourage capitalists and laboring people to go to the States, and furnish them with free raw material where they can build mills cheaper than they can in Canada, and get to market without paying any duty and less freight. Consider that the entire cut of spruce into lumber in 1905, in the four states named, converted into cords, was less than a million and a quarter cords. In other words, without the aid of Canada, the entire cut of spruce for all purposes in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont and New York for 1907 would not suffice to provide the necessary raw material for its pulp mills.

If Canadians were to begin now to build mills to convert the raw material sent out of the country into the manufactured article, it would be about 1910 when they would be running, and it would mean an investment of fifty to seventy-five million dollars and an increase in population of one hundred and seventy-five to two hundred thousand. In fact, there would be immigration from the States into Quebec as well as to Manitoba.

Any who express doubt as to the correctness of these statements have only to study the statistics issued from the Department of Forestry at Washington to verify them.

Only a few days ago a new ocean going tug was launched at Portland, Maine, and the fleet of barges are to follow, and for what? To bring Canadian pulp wood to a Maine mill, which has just exhausted it home supply. Nor is this all. A few days ago another concern leased for a term of years a wharf which is to have a rail connected and to engage solely in handling Canadian pulp wood. A few weeks ago the writer talked with the representative of a large pulp company located in the State of New York. He was in Canada looking at a large tract of spruce. He said they needed it in their business, but they had no idea of doing any building in Canada.

Then, again, an extremely significant transaction of recent date, in which a large mill in the state of Wisconsin has found it to its advantage to come to the province of Quebec for pulp wood, and has already contracted a large quantity to be received during the ensuing season.

CONSTRUCTING FIREPROOF OUTBUILDINGS.

Serious efforts have recently been made, to reduce the frightful loss from lightning and fire on Canadian farms. And they have been wholly successful, not only in securing a thoroughly lightning and fireproof construction, but also in bringing the price down to, and even below, that of the old-time board and shingle barn.

The new plan is to use corrugated galvanized sheets for roofing and siding barns and all outbuildings. These sheets are very rigid, and make a perfectly strong construction when used over very light framework. No sheeting boards are used at all—only light purlin strips being necessary.

Such buildings are now becoming very common, and users everywhere affirm that "Acorn Quality" Corrugated Galvanized Sheets, manufactured by the Metal Shingle & Siding Co., Limited, of Preston, Ont., is the most satisfactory material known for the purpose. They are so heavily galvanized that they easily outlast a generation and never need repairs. The firm above mentioned will gladly send to inquirers their interesting literature about "Acorn Quality" Corrugated Galvanized Sheets, and give names of users in all parts of Canada. 46

BATTERY DRILL WAS POSTPONED

Owing to the illness of Sergeant Major Fee, the initial drill of the 24th Field Battery, which was to have been held last night at the Ashburnham drill hall, had to be postponed. The sergeant major is not seriously ill, however, and it is expected that the battery will have a workout in the near future. The boys are anxious to get into line and are enthusiastic regarding the prospects for the coming season.

6839.—A CHICK COAT IN BROADCLOTH.

Now and then one sees a garment which though plain, even to severity, has an air of elegance which places it in a class by itself. Few realize what the seasons are for his condition of affairs and the artist will tell you that it is the lines and contours which render it out of class with all mediocrities. There has been much favor bestowed upon close-fitting jackets with cutaway fronts and these are seen in all degrees of extravagance. A very attractive coat of this style in moderate outline is sketched and will not fail to please the woman who likes to suggest the best of the modes in her season's gowning. The fronts are double-breasted the buttons being arranged so as to suggest the tapering waist. The back is closely gored so as to assure a perfect fit. The sleeves are the regulation mutton leg and very smart. Velvet collar and cuffs are optional. The new fabrics may any of them be suitable to this style of coat, broadcloth, cheviot, panama and serge being suggested. Two lengths of coat are provided for in the pattern and the most becoming one should be chosen. For the medium size 2 3-4 yards of 54 inch material are needed for the longer outline.

6839.—Sizes 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure.

The price of this pattern is 10c.

SHOT WHILE FLEEING

Man Fatally Wounded While Resisting Arrest.

Running Fight With the Police—Desperate Action of Suspected Murderer—Empties Two Revolvers at Constables—Chased Over Roofs and Down Fire Escape—Finally Taken to Hospital Where He Dies.

New York, May 1.—In a running pistol fight with a dozen policemen yesterday, Thomas Donahue of Harlem, whom the police had sought on a charge of murder, was shot and mortally wounded after he had emptied two revolvers at the policemen. Since March 23, when "Buck" Hanlon was shot to death in East 102nd street, the police had been searching for Donahue on suspicion that he fired the fatal shot. Early yesterday it was learned that he was hiding in an upper Third Avenue tenement, and a police sergeant, with a dozen men, was sent to arrest him. When the house had been reached two policemen approached the lower entrance and rapped for admittance. The reply was a bullet, which shattered the glass in the door and buried itself in the opposite wall.

In another instant the two policemen had hurled themselves through the door and into a room where Donahue with a revolver in either hand was in the act of climbing through a window to the fire escape. As the policemen burst into the room the hunted man turned and sent two bullets toward his would-be captors before he sprang through the window and dashed up the fire escape to the roof of the house. Running across several roofs, Donahue slid down a fire escape on the other side of the building and dashed away through back yards and over fences, exchanging shots with his pursuers almost at every turn. None of the bullets took effect until Donahue was forced to expose his whole body in climbing over a shed, and then a bullet from a policeman's revolver struck him in the shoulder and brought him tumbling back into the yard. When the officers pounced upon him both his revolvers were empty. The prisoner walked to the police station under guard, but there he collapsed and a police surgeon who examined him said that the bullet had pierced his lung. He was taken to the hospital, where he expired.

RHODES' DREAM OF EMPIRE.

Eventual Recovery of United States by England.

London, May 1.—The Standard yesterday morning says that among the aspirations in the will of Cecil Rhodes to which Earl Grey, Governor-General of Canada, referred in his speech at the National Arbitration and Peace Congress banquet in New York, April 17, were the ultimate recovery of the United States by Great Britain, British occupation of the whole of Africa and South America and of the seaboard of China and Japan.

Church Trial a Fiasco.

Cayuga, May 1.—The church trial at Cayuga ends in a fiasco. The trial of Rev. J. H. Dyke on some six charges laid by Mr. Alex. Mitchell was blocked at its outset on a technicality—the omissions of dates from the charges. The board of trial then set itself to find a means of settlement which was arrived at after considerable delay. A retraction was drawn up and signed by each party, and will be read in the pulpit of the churches of the circuit on Sunday, May 12. Till then the wording of the retraction is to be kept strictly private.

The Western Coal Strike.

Ottawa, May 1.—The western coal strike seems likely to be settled. The Minister of Labor yesterday received a telegram from Mackenzie King, stating that the outstanding points of an agreement has been arrived at between operators and the executive of the Mine Workers' Association. The latter strongly recommends it to the men, who will have a referendum vote on the question on Thursday. In the meantime the board of arbitration have commenced and to-day stands adjourned.

Could Not Spare Steamers.

London, May 1.—It is learned that during a recent visit to England a high official of the G. T. R. opened up negotiations with the White Star Steamship Co. with the object of securing three of their largest steamers for service between Liverpool and Montreal, but the negotiations fell through owing to the company being unable to spare the steamers.

Eighteen Buildings Burn.

Leesville, La., May 1.—Fire started yesterday in the Regal Hotel and spread rapidly, destroying 18 buildings, in which were located 25 business firms, including the First National Bank and the Leesville National Bank. Loss estimated at $100,000, with insurance of about $50,000. The origin of the fire is unknown.

One Person Still Missing.

Oklahoma City, Okla., May 1.—The North Canadian River and Lightning Creek are receding rapidly, and the flood situation in this vicinity was greatly improved yesterday. But one person remains unaccounted for. Forty families on capital hill, across from Oklahoma City, are homeless. The loss is estimated at $100,000.

Farmer Killed By Lightning.

Windsor, May 1.—Adolphe Labute of Tecumseh was killed by a stroke of lightning. He was opening his barn door to render shelter for a passing teamster, when the bolt of death struck him.

Palmer Guilty of Manslaughter.

London, May 1.—A coroner's jury yesterday found Pedlar Palmer, the English pugilist, guilty of manslaughter in causing the death of Robert Cheat, a gashouse stoker, of Deptford, April 24.

Sir P. G. Julyon, who served in Canada in 1837, as a volunteer, is dead in England, aged ninety.

PETERBORO' MAN MAKES AN OFFER

To Encourge Factories in the Limestone City

The following letter, which explains itself, appears in The Kingston Whig dated from Peterborough:

Having seen in the papers from time to time of Kingston's desire for factories, and in fact anything to advance the city and citizens' interest, let me have a few words to say to the people. It costs as much, if not more to induce an outside factory to go to your city, than the cost of organizing a new one. Then why not the merchants and citizens in general invest in stock in co-operate companies the same amount they would pay in extra taxes and go ahead with their own factories. One will find wherever one goes that a city is just what its population makes it; therefore, if it wants to go ahead it must depend on its own people for success.

One subject I have read considerable about, the taking of power from Healey's Falls, one hundred and fifty miles. Well it makes one laugh when a city like Kingston talks of such a scheme, with a better water power actually kicking her back door, waiting to be harnessed, one that would furnish the city with electric power for all her wants and pay for itself in the saving of fuel alone in six or seven years.

If the citizens want factories and are willing to form stock companies or co-operative companies, I am willing to go in with them and place my models, of which I have over one hundred in all kinds, against what capital they can furnish. Yours truly,

JOHN McGILL, M.E., M.M.S.

JOHN NUGENT

WEDDING BELLS

GIBSON—GUTHRIE

The home of Mrs. John Guthrie, 308 Aylmer street, was the scene of a very pretty wedding last evening, when her third daughter, Miss Annie E. G., became the bride of Mr. Arthur J. Gibson, of Regina, Saskatchewan. Mr. Gibson is the junior partner of the firm of Wilson and Gibson, of that city.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. G. Potter, pastor of St. Andrew's church, in the presence of a large number of invited guests. The bride was given away by her mother and looked charming in a dress of white crepe de chene, with trimmings of allover lace. She carried a bouquet of bridal roses and lilies-of-the-valley. The bridesmaid was Miss V. Guthrie, sister of the bride, and Mr. C. M. Blewett ably supported the groom. Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Miss Florence Kitney. After the ceremony Miss Minnie Kitney sang, "The voice that breath'd o'er Eden."

After the nuptial knot had been tied a sumptuous repast was served and hearty congratulations bestowed upon the bride and groom. Many beautiful and costly presents were received by the bride, among them being a handsome cabinet of china, of 109 pieces, from the groom. The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was a beautiful ring.

Mr and Mrs. Gibson leave this evening for their new home in Regina, followed by the good wishes of a host of friends.

CLARKE—WARHAM

A very quiet, but pretty wedding was solemnized last evening at 7.30 in the Charlotte street Methodist church, when Miss Ada, eldest daughter of Mrs. G Wareham, was united in marriage to Mr. Wm. Henry Clarke, of Springville, son of Mr Wm. Clarke, of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H M. Manning, in the presence of only the immediate friends and relatives of the contracting parties. The bride and groom were unattended.

After the ceremony the bridal party drove to the home of the bride, 479 Aylmer street, where a sumptuous wedding repast was served and hearty congratulations bestowed upon the bride and groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarke will reside in Springville.

A RELIC OF DAYS THAT ARE PAST

An Old Key Handed into the Review Office To-day

An interesting relic of bygone days was handed in to the Review office today in the shape of a large brass key which a local business man recently found while rummaging among some boxes that had remained undisturbed for years, in the rear of his store. Attached to the key was a tag with the following written upon it,—"The key to Mr. P. Crowley's house on George street, opposite the old Boswell brewery, near Mr. Aaron Comstock's."

Old residents will remember the location referred to, but the passage of time has greatly changed that part of the city. The key must be quite a number of years old.

Death of Peterborough Man Recalls Awful Railway Wreck

Which Occurred at Shannonville, Near Belleville, in 1872—Thirty-eight of the Dead Were Employees of the Late R. N. Roddy of This City, Who Had Contract for Construction of Telegraph Line.

Mr. R. N. Roddy, a well-known resident of Peterborough, was buried there on April 25th, says the Belleville Ontario. This event recalls the fact that most of the victims of the terrible Shannonville disaster, on the Grand Trunk in June, 1872, in which 75 people were injured, and 38 died, were employees of Mr. Roddy, they having been employed by him in building a new telegraph line. It was that terrible fatality, which led to the establishment of the Belleville hospital.

The accident, which occurred to the midnight express, east bound, while running down the grade, about a mile east of Shannonville, was caused by the forward or guiding wheel on the right hand side of the truck under the engine, striking some obstruction, which knocked small chips out of the flange, which was left over about two feet of the circumference, toothed like a saw, but irregularly. The train, which was running fast, oscillated considerably, and the toothed wheel, catching on the rail, mounted it. The wheel ran on top of the rail for about one hundred yards and then dropped on the outside, upon the ends of the ties, gradually inclining to the right or south side of the track, and a short distance further on, the engine ran down a six foot embankment. It turned partially around, about sidewise to the track, and the door of the second-class car striking the safety valve, the superheated steam rushed into the car with the frightful result above stated, many of the victims inhaling the steam and dying of internal scalding. Mr. Griffin, the engineer, died at his post after reversing the engine. The fireman lost a leg. The victims were mostly French-Canadians, and they were tenderly cared for by the ladies of Belleville.

Minister of Railways and Telephones of Manitoba

Visited Peterborough and Inspected the Canadian Machine Telephone System—Has Returned From Extended Trip Through the States—Left Last Night for Toronto.

Hon. J. H. Howdon, of Winnipeg, Minister of Railways and Telephones, in the Manitoba Legislature, was in the city yesterday, inspecting the working of the Canadian Machine Telephone System. Mr. Howden has been on an extended trip through the United States, where he visited the most important cities. He was in Montreal a few days ago, and was on his way to Toronto, and stopped off here Monday night. He had never seen the Canadian Machine Telephone before, although he had heard a great deal about it.

The Minister of Telephones for Manitoba, was taken in charge by Mr. R. Neil, president of the Company, and by Mr. Lorimer, the inventor of the system. He was shown the central apparatus and had it explained to him. He sat around the central station for hours, watching the apparently complicated, yet very simple system. He asked a number of questions, but expressed no opinions.

It is well known that Manitoba has undertaken big things in the way of public ownership, and while the Government is not yet prepared to open negotiations with any telephone company, Mr. Howden is gathering together as much information as he possibly can, and will be in a position to advise his Government. After spending the day here, he left on the evening train for Toronto, and in a few days will return to Winnipeg.

Must be Able to Shoot To Draw Efficiency Pay

Important Paragraph in the General Orders of Militia Department for 1907—Local Regiment is Affected

Although the 57th regiment has no ranges to practice shooting, the members of the corps must show efficiency with the rifle before they can draw their efficiency pay. This is one of the stipulations of the Militia Department for 1907, which contains the following paragraph in reference to this matter.—

"In the case of cavalry and infantry units without range accommodation, their qualification for efficiency pay shall, in all cases, (except those exempted by previous articles) be the ability to make a 50 per cent. score with gallery ammunition at 25 and 50 yards."

Those exempted by previous articles of the regulations are—Sergeant Major, Bandmasters, Quartermaster Sergeants, Sergeant Drummers, Orderly-room Sergeants, Paymaster Sergeants, Pioneer Sergeants, Bandsmen, Grooms (3 per regiment), Cooks, (1 per company).

This is a new regulation and will affect the local regiment as there are now no ranges at Peterborough. As a result arrangements will have to be made towards providing a gallery rifle range, in order that the members of the regiment may qualify. The rifle committee will meet on Tuesday evening to make the necessary arrangements. It is likely that a rifle range will be fitted up in the drill hall where the men will have a chance to shoot.

It is not likely that any members of the regiment will fail to qualify as it should not be a difficult matter to make a 50 per cent. score at 25 and 50 yards.

Quaker Oats Co. Sustained Loss in Big Toronto Fire

Cereal Goods to the Value of About $10,000 Destroyed —Total Loss From Conflagration Estimated at $210,000

As a result of a fire which broke out in the Ontario Storage and Cartage Company's warehouse, west of the Don and north of Queen street, Toronto, on Tuesday night, the Quaker Oats Company sustained loss of goods to the extent of about $10,000. The goods destroyed consisted of Quaker Oats and other cereal products of the company that were stored in the warehouse destroyed.

Enquiry at the local branch of the company elicited the information that the loss would be mostly covered by insurance, although the local officials could give no definite information on this point as the company has an insurance department in connection with the head office in Chicago, that looks after this phase of the companies operations.

Describing the fire a Toronto despatch says:—Over a score of firms are interested in the loss, estimated at about $210,000, caused by the fire which broke out at midnight Tuesday, in the warehouse of the Ontario Storage and Cartage Company, in the rear of the old Don brewery, immediately west of the Don and north of Queen street. So far as can be ascertained, over seventy-five per cent. of the loss is covered by insurance. The storage building and the adjoining structure, all of which was formerly occupied by the Don Brewery Company, was owned by John Dick & Company, Limited, who purchased it four years ago.

The flames were concentrated in the rear part of the structure, the dimensions of which are about 200 feet by 140 feet and six stories high. The Storage Company occupied what was formerly the malt house, a building 120 feet by 140 feet, while the kiln house, where the bulk of the brewery machinery is located, is situated in the exact centre of the buildings, and was leased by the Davies Brewing Company. Beyond the kiln house the fire did not penetrate, and the offices and other large departments in connection with the brewery are not damaged. While the walls of the kiln house are intact, they are so badly damaged and the interior gutted to such an extent that Chief Thompson says the whole structure may have to come down.

The building occupied by the Ontario Storage and Cartage Company is a total loss. About two o'clock the eastern wall fell out, and completely wrecked the machine shop of the Smart Bag Company.

The warehouse of the Ontario Storage Company was practically the base of supplies for a large number of Toronto's wholesale house. The building has been completely ruined, portions of the bare walls alone remaining. At noon to-day firemen were still pouring water into the smouldering mass which now represents the contents, and which were of such bulk as to fill, even in their ruined state, a depth of almost two stories of the building.

MR. BORDEN TO REST

Ottawa, April 30.—For the present, Mr. R. L. Borden, leader of the Opposition, will take a brief holiday, after the arduous duties of the session but during the summer and autumn he will attend a series of political picnics.

Conductor Turnbull of Dauphin, Man., was killed by getting his foot caught in a frog.

Budget of News From Norwood

Livery Business Sold—Cheese Making Season—Finlay's Factory is Busy

Norwood, April 30.

Rain has been falling almost steadily since last night at nine o'clock. At 4 p.m. today the weather cleared with a decided fall in the temperature. The rain was preceded by a severe electric storm.

SOLD HIS BUSINESS.

Mr. John Weir, who sold his livery last week, is contemplating embarking in a similar business in Havelock. He is anxious to buy out one of the livery barns there, but otherwise will open up a new business.

Mrs W. H. Tucker is seriously ill at her home, Spring street. On account of the alarming symptoms in connection with her illness, the absent members of her family, viz., Ivison, Belleville, and Cecil, Winnipeg, were summoned. Her condition this week is, however, reported somewhat improved. But she is by no means out of danger.

CHEESE MAKING.

Messrs. Bass and Wheatley have commenced their season's make of cheese at Killarney Dairy.

The local lodge of Free Masons held an "At Home" in the town hall on Monday night. The function was a decided success, and the Knights of of the Square and Compass maintained their reputation as entertainers. A large number of the members of the fraternity, with their friends, spent a most enjoyable evening.

UNION PICNIC.

A representative of one of the navigation companies, with headquarters in Peterborough, was in the village a few days ago, trying to arrange with the local Sunday schools for an excursion early in the summer. It is likely a union excursion will be held some time in June.

CHANGES HANDS.

Mr. Thos. Burkell has purchased from Mr. I. Puffer his house and lot containing about seven acres, north of the village and is at present engaged in setting out strawberry and other small fruit bushes. Mr. Burkell will conduct a market garden, which, on account of its nearness to the village, will be a great convenience to the people of Norwood.

Mr I. Puffer has leased Mr. Hugh Robb's farm north of the C.P.R. station.

TO MAKE HUBS.

Messrs. John Finlay & Son are making preparations to commence the manufacturing of hubs from the elms piled up in their yards by the farmers of the surrounding country last winter. The quantity of elm brought in last winter was on account of the good roads larger than any previous year, and will give employment to a large number of men for the most of the summer.

A VALUABLE COW.

One of our highly respected citizens, whose word can be relied upon, has a Jersey cow, which he claims yielded $100 worth of butter last year. This is a pretty good record, and we would like to hear of one better.

Customs Returns for April Show a Big Increase

The increase in the customs returns for the month of April this year at the local port of entry show an increase of $4,064.48 over the receipts for the corresponding month of 1906. The figures are as follows:—

April, 1907	$35,183.66
April, 1906	31,119.18
Increase	$ 4,064.48

The steady increase in the customs returns is a good indication of the commercial development of the city. The local staff is kept on the jump and their duties are becoming heavier all the time.

COLLAR MAKERS MAY ALSO STRIKE

No Settlement Yet in Connection With Trouble at Ackerman's

The strike at the harness establishment of B. F. Ackerman, Son & Company, is still unsettled. Mr. Geo. Shipman, of Toronto, fourth vice-president of the International United Brotherhood of Leather Workers, on Horse Goods, is in the city, endeavoring to arrive at a settlement, but it does not look as if his mission was going to be a success.

It is stated that the members of the Collar Makers Union will be ordered out on strike if the company does not accede to the demands of the Union Harness Makers.

Horses Needed for the Battery

The officers of the 24th Field Battery, which goes into camp at Petawawa, on June 17th, are looking for suitable horses for their two weeks at camp, and would be pleased to get into communication with farmers and others who have horses they could spare for a fortnight. One dollar per day will be paid for suitable mounts for the two weeks they will be required. The animals are furnished with plenty of good forage while at camp, and there is a veterinary surgeon on hand at all times, to see that they are well looked after. They are inspected on the return from camp, and any injury to the animals will be made good by the government.

Those having horses they could give for the two weeks required can secure all information by calling on Veterinary Lieutenant Blanchard.

LICENSES FOR BARTENDERS

License Inspector Stewart has issued licenses to the bartenders of the city. They cost two dollars each and must be procured before the men behind the bar can produce the goods. The inspector took care that only those whose reputation was good secured the tags.

Notwithstanding that only a very few hockey matches were played last season the Port Hope Skating and Curling Rink Co. had a most successful year, and have been able to declare a five per cent. dividend.

CEMETERY IMPROVEMENTS.

The directors of the Little Lake Cemetery Co. will hold their annual "spring" meeting on the grounds early next week when the improvements to be made during the summer will be decided upon.

DEGREE OF HUMILITY.

Cyzicus Sanctorium, No. 14, O.O.H. and P., held a regular meeting and "moon feast" last night. There was a good attendance. Four candidates were initiated. The local sanctorium is in a flourishing condition.

NO INFECTIOUS DISEASES.

Dr. Bingham, medical health officer, reports that there are no cases of infectious diseases in the city at present, the last card being taken down to-day. This is an unusually good showing for this season of the year.

PECULIAR ACCIDENT.

A singular accident happened at Claremont, on the C.P.R., one day last week. A freight train was going east, and when a little west of Claremont, a cattle car loaded with ties, situated in the centre of the train, jumped the track and went over the embankment into a farmer's field. The train came together again, coupled up, and went on without stopping.

NORTHERN NAVIGATION.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Spofford, who have been residing at Sturgeon Point for the last six weeks, came to town on the Steamer Kathleen yesterday afternoon and spent the night here. Mr. Spofford reports that a gasoline yacht might have made the trip from the Point to Fenelon Falls two weeks ago, and that navigation practically opened a week ago today all over Sturgeon Lake but for the fact that a large sheet became wedged in the stumps across the mouths of both channels of the Lindsay river.—Lindsay Post.

GIRLS CLIMBING ROOFS;

A new kind of freak fad has developed among the school girls and boys of St. Catharines. It is the high initial fad, the object of the youngsters being to print their initials in hte highest possible places. To accomplish this end house and barn roofs are scaled, the girls displaying quite as much agility in getting onto the roof of a barn as the boys and in some cases they essay heights, which many a boy will not tackle. The new fad seems to have gotten a hold in all the public schools, and marbles and jacks, the usual spring pastimes, have been ruthlessly thrown aside for the nonce.

AN ABLE PAPER

Miss Florence Scott, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Scott, read a paper before the Baptist Young People's Union of Murray street church on Monday night last, which was much much appreciated. The paper was prepared by Mrs. (Dr.) Scott, who was unable to be present owing to illness. At the last moment Miss Florence Scott volunteered to read her mother's paper, which she did in an excellent manner. The subject, which was thoughtfully and earnestly treated, was "What Separates us from God?"

THE S. A. BAND.

The members of the Salvation Army band will be commissioned at the S. A. barracks tomorrow evening. The annual ceremony will doubtless be witnessed by a large number of citizens.

TRUE BLUES MEET.

A big meeting of Loyal True Blue Lodge, No. 240, will be held this evening on Simcoe street. This meeting will give the final decision of the regalia to be adopted by the local lodge. It is expected the lodge will have several initiations and confer the degrees on those who have been waiting for the mysteries connected with them. All applications that have been in and have been found favorable will no doubt be dealt with tonight. A large number of initiations will take place. All members of the True Blue lodges are cordially invited to be present.

A COMPLIMENT.

Speaking of "Queen Zephra" which was recently produced in Belleville under the direction of Mr. H. J. Booth the Intelligencer says; "All thing considered, it is doubtful if anything nearly as good was ever put on by amateurs in this city. It is safe to say that everyone who went was very agreeably disappointed. This was a case where you did not need to make allowances for amateurs. That the manager must have a wonderful capacity for detail was very apparent. And, without at all meaning to indulge in indiscriminate taffy-throwing it is extremely doubtful if, in many places the size of Belleville, she could have found a caste so excellently suited to his wants, from either a histrionic, musical or terpsichorean point of view.

McDONOUGH HAS ARRIVED

"Pat" McDonough, the lacrosse artist, who has been much in the limelight of late, on account of being claimed for the season by a half score of clubs, arrived in Peterborough today at noon, and will handle a gutted stick here this season. McDonough came to this city from Beaverton, and a wireless message from that place states that the management of the "Checkers" and many of the citizens of that burg, are feeling bad because the great home player saw fit to transfer his place of abode to the home of the lift lock and Quaker Oats. Pat will be a tower of strength to the local team, who will go down to practice at once. He had arranged, several weeks ago to play in Peterborough this season, and was just putting in time at Beaverton until the sward was green and the lacrosse players were cavorting on it again.

"TIM ALERT" ON MICHIGAN CIRCUIT

Wm. McLaughlin, the well known American horseman who is training a string of fast ones at the Detroit Agricultural Park, has made a handsome offer to Mr. Chas. Martin, of this city to secure Tim Alert for this season's racing on the Michigan circuit and at other race meets in that part of the U.S.

It will be remembered that Mr. McLaughlin had charge of Tim Alert last year and by careful training cut down his record from 2.23 1-4 to 13 1-4. The Peterborough horse proved the surprise of the season on the Michigan circuit last year, winning handily on numerous occasions and carrying off the bulk of the prize money.

In his letter to Mr. Martin, Mr. McLaughlin states that he is confident he can reduce Tim Alert's mark from 2.13 1-4 to 2.05. He has made a handsome offer to Mr. Martin for the use of his horse. Mr. Martin is considering the proposition and there is a probability that the local horse will again display his speed on the Michigan tracks.

CITY LEAGUE MEETING.

A meeting of all base ball enthusiasts is called for tonight at 8 o'clock at The Oriental hotel parlors. The meeting is for the organization of a city baseball league, and it is urgent that all teams wishing to enter be represented.

TO PLAY MAY 24th.

Secretary R. J. Menzies, of the Wideawakes informs us that he has completed arrangements with the fast Sellers-Gough team of Toronto, for a game here on May 24th. The Sellers-Gough team play clever ball, and defeated St. Michael's just recently.—Lindsay Post.

LEADS THE LEAGUE.

Clarence Currie, once the idol of the Toronto fans, but now with Buffalo, was knocked out of the box by his one-time fellow players on Monday. Toronto won by 8 runs to 5 and lead the Eastern League with three wins and no losses. Big Jack Thoney was the star of the Canadian outfit, and the way he landed on the ball made the fans sit up and stare. His fielding was very fast also. Four hits and two runs were his record for the game.

"KING KEL" GOOD.

Manager Kelly of the Torontos, is bound to have his bunch of Maple Leafs win if he has to knuckle down and do the needful himself. No, you don't catch Kelly pulling grass, instead, he's banging out singles, doubles and three baggers and pulling down the high ones at first base. In the recent Rochester-Toronto game, when the Maple Leafs won by 2 to 1, he secured three of the six hits, and drove in the winning two runs with two out in the eighth. Moffitt handed Rochester its only run on a wild pitch and a mess of a slow grounder.

Retail Merchants' Association Elected New Lot of Officers

Executive Committee Authorized to Make Arrangements for the Big Banquet to be Held Soon—Meeting Held in the Y.M.C.A. Parlors.

The Retail Merchant's Association will hold a banquet in the near future, which is destined to re-unite the merchants of the city, and to increase the strength of the association. In many other cities and towns this association is a very active body, and a great deal of good has been accomplished. There is no reason why it should not be the same here. It is certain no city in Ontario needs the influence of a united body like it is needed here, and in no city could it do more good.

For some time the association has been dead with only a momentary struggle once in a long time when something cropped up, which personally affected some of the merchants. The result has been that the members have drifted apart. Many of them are not even aware that they are members. This condition of affairs the new officers and executive committee intend to reverse and they hope that during the present year, the Peterborough branch will be one of the most active in the province.

The annual meeting of the association was held in the Y.M.C.A. parlors last night, when a fair attendance turned out. No doubt there would have been many more present had not the press been informed that the meeting was for Thursday of last week, and allowed to publish it for that date, without being told of the change.

President R. Fair occupied the chair, and after the reading of the minutes he outlined the work which had been done last year. By the association. He also spoke of the benefits to be derived from affiliation with the Provincial Society.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

The following officers for the ensuing year were then elected,—

President—C. B. Routley.

Vice-President—J. H. Connal.

Secretary—Jas. R. Bell.

Treasurer—Walter Oke.

Executive Committee, with officers—R. Fair, H. LeBrun, R. G. Kingan, Jas. Laing, Jas. Lynch, C. N. Brown, J. D. Craig, T. C. Elliott, R. McWhinnie, Thos. Barrie, F. J. R. Mitchell, W. Adamson, Dickson Hall.

THE BANQUET.

The question of holding a big Retail Merchants' banquet, in the very near future was brought up for discussion. Mr. Jas. H. Connal, who was one of the originators of the idea, spoke at some length outlining the chief objects. His views have already appeared in these columns and are briefly, to bring the members of the association together to become better acquainted with each other; to increase the interest in the work; to increase the membership, and to start the ball rolling for a successful and active organization. He spoke very strongly upon the matter and succeeded in rousing the other merchants present to a state of enthused interest.

Messrs. Walter Oke, R. Fair, W. B. McGill, the south end grocer, also spoke to the question, and it appears that all the merchants are in favor of the move.

Some one suggested that an excursion be run during the summer. This was not considered, as it would not obtain the results desired. At the banquet, several rousing speeches will be made by outside men, and a good programme will be run off.

After discussing this proposition for some time the executive committee was instructed to take the matter in hand and to carry the banquet through. They have full authority to arrange the place and date, the speakers and the programme.

Fire, Water and Light Committee Up Against Light Proposition

Peterborough Light and Power Company Gave Notice of its Inability to Continue Open Arc Lighting System—Machines Are Not Made Now—Firemen's Wages are Increased.

The question of changing the system of street lighting is once more before the Fire, Water and Light committee and it looks very much like a demand for prompt action. Mr. J. H. Larmonth, manager of the Peterborough Light and Power company, has informed the committee that the company can allow the city only a few more street lamps of the open arc style and that if more than that number is required the closed arc will have to be used.

This is the same argument advanced by the company last year when the Fire Water and Light committee spent so much time discussing the pros and cons and finally refused the company permission to make the change on the grounds that the company wanted too much for what they were giving.

Mr. Larmonth said should any more street lamps be required the closed lamps would have to be installed. This means that on a circuit where several additional lights are demanded that particular circuit would have to be renewed to provide for a closed lamp circuit of 40 lamps. The company's manager would not commit himself to change one circuit without changing all the circuits. He also pointed out that the machines for open arc lamps are not made to-day; they are only to be found in junk shops. Should any one of the present machines burn out, it is altogether probable that the company would be unable to furnish light through their inability to renew said machine.

This matter was left for consideration at another meeting.

INCREASED WAGES.

The committee also decided to increase the pay of the permanent staff in the fire hall as follows:—

Ald. Duncan moved, seconded by Ald. Morgan,—That the two drivers in the fire hall be given an increase of $50 a year.—Carried.

The salary of Sam Wainwright will be increased $35 a year as engineer of the fire department, and pressure will be brought to bear on the Board of Works and Property committee to grant a proportionate increase for the work he does for those departments. Wainwright's salary is made up from three sources as follows: from Fire, Water and Light committee for duty as engineer in fire hall; from Property committee for heating of city buildings; from Board of Works for work with steam roller.

Those present were Ald. Johnston, in the chair, Ald. Duncan and McIntyre and Mayor McWilliams.

MANY ATTENDED BENEFIT CONCERT

Successful Function at George Street Church Last Evening

The benefit concert under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of George street church held in the Sunday school hall last evening proved to be a most successful function. Despite the disagreeable weather a large number were in attendance and as a result of their efforts the ladies will add considerably to their finances. Under the circumstances the attendance was particularly gratifying and the society is to be congratulated on the success achieved.

Rev. Dr. Crothers occupied the chair and introduced the programme in a short address in which he referred to the good work the Ladies' Aid was doing and the laudatory objects they had in view. The programme was an excellent one and was greatly enjoyed by the large number in attendance. A piano solo in which was displayed much brilliancy, was rendered by Miss Georgina Gumpricht, and vocal solos were splendidly given by Miss Clara Belleghem, Miss Irene Mowry and Miss Muriel Crothers. The Misses Chasty were heard to advantage in a vocal duet. Recitations were given by Mr. David Moore, Miss Greta LeBar and Miss Eva Stevenson. Mr. Moore's selections were masterly efforts and were greatly enjoyed. Greta LeBar and Eva Stevenson are two clever young people and are always heard with pleasure, and never more so than last night. Miss Wilhelmina Gumphriot contributed a piano solo in her usual finished manner which was received with much enthusiasm. A violin solo by Miss Crothers was another pleasing feature and the National Anthem brought the programme to a close.

During the intermission between the first and second parts of the programme, dainty boxes of good candy were disposed of by a number of little people. The boxes met a ready sale in the hands of the young vendors and added considerably to the receipts.

Excellent Concert Held Last Evening

By Mission Band of St. Andrew's—A Splendid Programme

A most successful entertainment was that which was held last evening in St. Andrew's hall, under the auspices of the Young Ladies' Mission Band of that church. A large number were present and thoroughly enjoyed the excellent programme provided. The success of the concert was largely due to the untiring efforts of Miss D. Langford, president of the society. During the intermission candy was disposed of, the candy booth was in charge of Misses R. Langford, M. Edmison and E. Kerr.

Mr. Frank Pakenham occupied the chair most acceptably. After a few opening remarks, congratulating the members of the Mission Band on the splendid work achieved in the cause of missions, he introduced the following excellent programme:—

PART I.

Instrumental Solo—Miss Janet Titterson.

Song—Miss Hunter.

Recitation—Miss Grace Evans.

Recitation—Miss Maud Titterson.

Song—Miss Bella King.

Piano Solo—Miss M. Pringle.

Vocal Duet—Miss Anderson and Mr. Mackie

Song—Miss May Laing.

Dialogue—"Courtship Under Difficulties."

Song—Mr. Mackie.

Recitation—Miss M. Titterson.

Vocal Solo—Mrs. W. R. F. Davidson.

PART II.

Selection—Mandolin Club.

Humorous Entertainment — By Young Ladies' Mission Band.

The different numbers were all well received and many were encored. The new song, "The Flower of Japan," was sung by Miss Hunter, and was loudly applauded.

Miss Maud Titterson, the young elocutionist, who is always a favorite with Peterborough audiences, was forced to respond to an encore. Mr. Duncan Campbell, who was to have sang, was prevented from doing so through illness.

After the concert those who had contributed to the programme were entertained to supper by the young ladies of the Mission Band.

Peculiar Position of Buffalo Man

Makes Some Uncalled-for and Selfish Assertions as to Trent Canal

A Buffalo resident by the name of James McClive, is very anxious to see the Welland Canal enlarged. He has written a letter to Mr. W. M. German, Grit M.P. for Welland in favor of the project. This man McClive is so anxious to have his pet scheme carried out that he finds it necessary to do some "knocking" and he declares the Trent Valley Canal to be a "colossal mistake." He asserts in his antipathy to the scheme, that if the Trent canal is built, it will mean the abandonment of the Welland canal altogether. As to this, the final decision rests with the Dominion Government, but it is certain that the completion of the Trent canal is going ahead. Contracts for the finishing of this great inland waterway are now being called for and a sum of nearly $800,000 has been placed in the estimates for improvements and extension of the work. When it comes to saying nasty things about the Trent canal, Mr. McClive evidently does not know what he is talking about, or else his utterances are prompted solely by jealousy, selfishness and narrowmindedness. Here are the views of McClive as furnished by a contemporary.

The enlargement of the Welland canal is the theme of a long letter of protest which James McClive, a prominent business man of Buffalo, has addressed to W. M. German, M.P., for Welland. Mr. McClive characterizes the building of the Trent Valley canal, as proposed, a colossal mistake, and urges that the Welland Canal be enlarged sufficiently to accommodate the largest vessel afloat. He says in part; "We note that preparations have been begun and structural steel work is being laid down in Port Colborne for the construction of a great $2,000,0000 elevator, to be there erected for lightering purposes, to accommodate the incapacity of the present Welland canal. We presume that Mr. German, M.P., claims to be the great-grandfather of the effort, now being set forth, which I challenge as a huge mistake by the Dominion government; piloted by the Dominion member of the county of Welland. Long ago thirty-five boards of trade throughout the Dominion of Canada, which number has no doubt, since been increased largely, by petition urged the Laurier administration to at once begin operations to enlarge the Welland canal to a capacity capable of accomodating not only the largest vessels that now float on the great lakes, but form a reasonable conjecture of what may be required through the expansion of trade in the next twenty years.

"The present Welland canal should be enlarged at once so that no lighterage plants shall be necessary at the entrance to the canal, and in order that the great body of grain from the Canadian west and the northern states be satisfactorily handled in unbroken cargoes. The Welland canal should be made 250 feet wide and at least twenty-five feet deep, with locks 800 feet long and wide enough to lock up or down two at a time of the largest vessels afloat."

Mr. McClive speaks of the great advantages commercially which would accrue to the Niagara peninsula, predicting that the tract of country between Port Colborne and Port Dalhousie, would be a hive of industry, and in time to come this would be the greatest grain route in the world. He contends that if the Trent Valley canal, which the Laurier government proposes to build at a cost of $100,000,000, it will mean the abandonment of the Welland canal altogether.

Regiment Had Excellent Drill

First Marchout Next Tuesday Evening—Military News of Interest

Considering the state of the weather the 57th Regiment had a good turnout at their weekly drill last night. The total parade strength was 222 which was highly gratifying to the officers. Over an hour was spent in squad and arm drill in the drill hall as the cold and dampness precluded any outside work. Everything was done neatly and smartly and much benefit was derived from the workout.

The orders read contained the interesting announcement that the first marchout of the season will be held next Tuesday night. Both bands will be on parade and it is expected that the regiment will muster full strength. The route of parade will be published later.

Provision is also made for a class for recruits which will be held every Thursday evening at eight o'clock until further orders. The class will be in charge of Sergeant Major Brittain and will meet for the first time tomorrow night.

The following were the orders read;

Board of Works Annual Tour

Aldermen Driving Around the City all Day in a Big Bus

At half past eight o'clock this morning the Board of Works committee with the mayor, city engineer, city clerk, and a few of the aldermen, left the city hall on their annual tour of inspection of the city streets. The city's representatives were loaded into a big bus and drove all day over the roads. Probably no better idea of the condition of the streets could be had than by a drive in such a rig, and the aldermen will discover, no doubt, many sections where a large amount of money is required. A report will be presented at the next meeting of the committee and then plans for the year's work can be made.

AMUSEMENTS

NAPOLEON THE GREAT

The great historical play, "Napoleon the Great" was produced before a fair sized audience at the Grand Opera House last night by Thomas E. Shea and his talented company. The play is from the pen of Mr Channing Pollock and was written especially for Mr. Shea. The drama deals with the chief events in the life of the famous general from his return from Egypt to Waterloo. The production is a stirring, active and realistic military one, while the scenic investiture is grand and impressive. The old house on the borders of Waterloo, the mound on the famous battle field, the Austrian commander's headquarters at Marengo, the reception and ante rooms at Napoleon's palace and many other scenes are shown. Mr. Shea, in a most faithful earnest and conscientious portrayal of Napoleon, scored a decided success and won curtain call after curtain call. He gave a vivid picture of how inordinate ambition in the sacrifice of home and family ties and all true happiness results in the downfall of the wooer of pomp and power and the applause of the people. Miss Charlotte Burkett as Madame Josephine the Empress, and Miss Alice Endres, as Duchess Guiche, a scheming and treacherous Royalist, were particularly effective in their roles. The production gave splendid satisfaction and a return engagement of Mr. Shea and his able company is ardently hoped for at no distant date.

PROFESSIONAL CRIMINAL

A bill before the New York State Legislature proposes to give convicts upon the fourth conviction for a felony practically a life sentence, the feeling being that when a man has sinned three times he is beyond the reach of reformation and that the State should take some effective means of removing him from places where he will be tempted to committ some other crime. The number of prisoners to whom the new law would apply is surprising. Thus Superintendent Collins, of the state department of prisons, testified that there were in the Clinton state prison no less than 150 persistent, professional criminals whose sentences aggregate 2,145 years and whose arrest and detention have cost the state of New York about $561,000. It would be a good thing if the state were able to relieve itself of the burden of maintaining those 150 criminals. But what is going to be done with them? The New York bill in question would subject them to the jurisdiction of the commission of paroled prisoners, which would have power to parole them. The efficacy of parole as a means of reformation is not satisfactory. Probably as good a method of relief would be to provide a special place of detention for these proven offenders, in which incarceration would be looked forward to with great dread, a prison where the many comforts now given prisoners would be entirely lacking and whose occupants would daily be allowed to feel that they are pariahs, put away for the good of society. Fear of incarceration in such a place might make some of the professionals good.

PEN POINTS

May Day!

Are you moving today?

Next Friday will be Arbor Day.

At last the month of May is here and soon all the lovers of nature will be gathering May flowers.

The Retail Merchants are to hold a banquet. How would it do for the grocers and confectioners to supply the viands and have their fellow business men pass judgment on the quality.

How would it do to have the amendment of the overhead sign bylaw and the formal opening of the new fire station brought about on the same date. Both have been delayed for weeks and weeks—from one cause and another—but everything comes to him who waits.

The disgusting habit in Peterborough, of expectorating on the sidewalks, cannot be checked too soon or too effectively. The anti spitting bylaw should not only be passed, but it should be rigidly enforced. It is a measure which will receive the hearty support of all right-minded and clean living citizens.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier is reported as saying in London that he opposed the designation of the Colonial Conference as the Imperial Council because he feared what Mr. Bourassa, whom he designated as a "firebrand," would do. Before he went to London, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in the correspondence with the Colonial Office, gave another reason for his position, and one more creditable to his good sense. He seems in London to have seen a chance to get a long distance kick at a man who has caused him much worry, and in contemplating it, forgot alike his statesmanship and his good manners. —Montreal Gazette.

Will Canada ever connect Prince Edward Island by a tunnel with the mainland? The scheme is now being agitated again. In 1892, surveys and soundings were made and recently Government engineers announced that the work was feasible, that there were no insurmountable engineering difficulties in the way. The tunnel proposed by the survey of 1892 would be seven and a half miles long, and would reach a depth of 150 feet below the water level. The official estimate of cost was about $15,000,000. Other estimates range from $9,000,000 to $400,000,000. A lot of money to keep the Island Province in good humor.

Our country correspondents are requested to write briefly and to the point in preparing their accounts of quiet weddings; they may, however consider themselves at perfect liberty to spread themselves in giving details of any uproarious weddings that may occur to break the monotony in their respective neighborhoods. We further wish them to remember that a groom attired in conventional black, is sufficiently covered without any description of his dress, but a groom married in tar and feathers, is worthy of special rates and a full column with headlines. If the happy couple then depart they should be permitted to go without saying, but should they begin to pull hair before the minister has got out of hearing we want all the particulars. If the table groans, let it groan; but if any of the guests choke to death on the 'collation,' it will be a serious matter with our special correspondents, if they do not get complete and early returns. What we want is news that is news.

"The meanest man" is an Omaha man. Nathan Breeze brought suit against a widow named Bolz to recover a debt of $110. He had loaned her the amount named, and at a later date $25 additional. This latter amount she repaid promptly, but the never had been able to collect the larger amount. The widow admitted borrowing and that she had not returned the $110, and then it looked like she had no sort of a defence. Oh, but she did have a defence—at least she thought she did. It was this: At the time the $110 was due she had offered to pay it, and her creditor had said: "Never mind that; just give me a kiss and that will settle it." Blushingly she admitted that she had given the kiss, and that she had thought the debt cancelled. She was surprised beyond measure when he demanded the money. But her defence wouldn't hold. The court held that a kiss would not pay a money debt of $110. Then she was surprised again. The court went a little further, and said that while she must pay the money she could compel the creditor to return that which she had given in settlement. She wouldn't even consider it, and now she and every other woman will agree that Omaha has the boss mean man.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness, caused by Catarrh, that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

MR. CAMPBELL HONORED

A complimentary dinner was tendered by the Canadian General Electric and Canada Foundry Companies to Mr. J. W. Campbell in the banqueting hall at the King Edward hotel Thursday evening, says the Toronto News. Mr. Campbell, who has been associated with the companies the past 15 years in the capacity of manager of contract sales, leaves for Calgary shortly to fill the position of managing director of the Alberta Portland Cement Company with head quarters at Calgary, Alta. The companies to show the appreciation which they have of Mr. Campbell, not only tendered him the banquet, but presented him with a very handsome cheque. There was also presented to him on behalf of his old friends connected with the companies a gold watch.

All Saints' school house was well filled last evening, with an appreciative audience, when the Boys' Club gave a highly enjoyable concert. Lively Runaway on Hunter St.

A lively runaway occurred on Hunter street, yesterday afternoon, when Mr. F. R. J. MacPherson's horse ran away. It took fright on the Hunter street bridge and proceeded west at a lively rate. At the corner of George and Hunter streets, the driver, a boy, had to turn the animal sharply, in order to avoid running into a lady who was wheeling a baby carriage. The horse fell on the street and broke the shaft of the delivery rig. Otherwise very little damage was done.

Annual Meeting of Bowling Club

Will be Held in Dominion Bank Chambers To-night

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling club will be held this evening in the Dominion Bank Chambers, at 8 o'clock when the election of officers and the presentation of prizes won during the past year will take place. A full attendance of all those interested in lawn bowling is requested.

Officers' Class May be Formed

It is probable that an officers' class will be formed in connection with the 57th regiment, in order that those who desire may qualify for higher rank in the service. The matter will be discussed at a meeting of the officers of the corps next Tuesday evening, and if there are a sufficient number desirous of qualifying for higher positions the class will be formed.

Bicycle Business Is Very Brisk

People are Buying and Leasing Wheels in Large Numbers

Mr. F. R. J. MacPherson reports that the bicycle business is very brisk at present. On Saturday he sold no less than five wheels, showing that there is a revival in wheeling. Among the purchasers were Messrs. R. P. Kennedy, W. G. Morrow, Thos. Rehill, and J. Welsh. Mr. MacPherson also conducts a first-class bicycle livery and on Sunday last, he states that over thirty bicycles were leased for the day. The roads were in good condition and the sport was greatly enjoyed. Mr. MacPherson has established a first-class repair shop in connection with his bicycle business.

No Decision as to the Annual Trip

Nothing has yet been decided regarding the annual trip of the 57th regiment. No decision has been reached by the committee in charge of the matter. Kingston, Brockville, Cobourg and St. Catharines are under consideration, and the committee is investigating the accommodation at each of these places and securing all the information possible. It is likely that there will be some announcement made at the next drill on Tuesday night.

Arnoldi Letters to G.R.R. Cockburn

Wrote Several Times Urging His Client to Settle Up at Once

The Toronto Star says:

George R. R. Cockburn, defendant in the suit brought by Frank Arnoldi, K.C., to recover $7,500 in a motion before the Master in Chambers at Osgoode Hall, "demands the days and times on which the plaintiff acted for and on behalf of the defendant and the time occupied on such days; (a) in reference to the criminal proceedings against the defendant referred to in paragraph four of the statement of claim; (b) in connection with the other proceeding referred to in said paragraph four."

The defendant also asks a list of the parties interviewed by Mr. Arnoldi, the dates on which they were interviewed, and the length of time occupied. He also wants to know the details of the time occupied by Mr. Arnoldi in performing the services alleged to be of the value of $7,500.

The bill for disbursements during the trial, submitted by Mr. Arnoldi is as follows:

Nov. 20.—Re Glasgow Bank case, paid for copy History of trial of Directors...	$ 2.50
Feb. 4, Paid Mr. Pope his disbursement for witness' lunch...	2.00
Feb. 5, Paid for copies Col. Denison's judgment...	1.20
Feb. 11, Re Yarmouth Bank case paid Harris, Henry and Cahan, charges obtaining information...	15.10
Feb. 21, Paid J. K. Niven for obtaining information...	6.00
Paid money order for Mr. Pope for extra expense of Mr. Chenowith...	2.28
Postage...	.50
	$28.58

Mr. Cockburn paid this bill with a cheque for $29.

On March 4th Mr. Arnoldi wrote Mr. Cockburn, as follows:

"Permit me to draw your attention to the fact that you have omitted to send me the cheque asked for in my letter of the 25th ult. I have now to request the cheque not later than tomorrow the 5th inst. I am not willing to wait and you have no reasonable ground for asking me to do so. You know from me that the amount of my fee was named at less than I was entitled to ask out of personal consideration for yourself. I am free to say that if you do not care to acknowledge any consideration in this respect I am prepared to withdraw my account and send you another at a higher and proper figure."

On March 5th, Mr. Arnoldi wrote to F. E. Hodgins, K.C., who had been retained by Mr. Cockburn to dispute Mr. Arnoldi's bill, as follows, "I will render my bill for $10,000, and collect it, if I do not receive today a cheque for amount rendered."

On March 5th Mr. Arnoldi wrote "I ... convinced that any action of mine adverse to Mr. Cockburn will be a very grave matter for him ... Even now I am standing between him and a very grave danger. In a recent interview I endeavored to convey to Mr. Cockburn a clear idea of the danger in which he stood, and impressed upon him the necessity for maintaining the most absolute silence on the subject, I trust he has maintained it."

MAY TEACH AGRICULTURE

Lindsay and Other Boards of Education Apply for Grant.

The High schools at Lindsay, Napanee, Dutton, Collingwood, Galt and Kemptville have already applied to the Provincial Legislature for a share of the grant to be given for the establishment of agricultural classes, and the sum of $6,000 has been apportioned. The Education department will probably ask the Agricultural department to select the schools to be ordered according to location so as to cover every section of the province.

The regulations governing this innovation will be issued in a few days. The accommodations required will include a laboratory, school gardens, arboretum and experimental plots.

The first year's work will include agricultural physics, keeping records of the weather, average temperatures, rainfall, lightning accidents, etc. Soil physics, chemistry, agricultural botany, horticulture, field husbandry, poultry, farm carpentry, farm arithmetic and bookkeeping, etc.

The second year course will deal with soils, farm crops, forestry, plant diseases, economic insects, laying out of a farm, plant breeding, manual training, fertilizing, animal physiology, milk testing, etc.

A full estimate of the cost of equipment will be included in the regulations.

PRESIDENT GETS BOMB.

Guatemala's Ruler Has Narrow Escape From Assassination.

Guatemala City, Guatemala, May 1.—President Estrada Cabrerada of Guatemala narrowly escaped assassination yesterday.

He left his private residence at 7.30 in the morning for his customary drive, accompanied by his staff. On arriving in front of some houses on Seventh avenue, between 16th and 17th streets, an explosion, at first supposed to have been caused by a bomb, occurred, killing the horses attached to the president's carriage, wounding the coachman and injuring several staff officers, including Gen. Orellana, the chief of staff.

The president, who was not injured, displayed great presence of mind. Alighting from the carriage he inspected the surroundings and then returned on foot to his residence.

An inspection of the scene showed that the explosion had not been caused by a bomb, but by a mine. The conspirators dug a tunnel from one of the houses mentioned, rented by a man named Bafaol Bodil, placed explosives under the roadway and connected them by a wire with a battery in Bodil's house, and from there caused the explosion.

Many suspects have been arrested, but it is not known whether the would-be assassins have been taken into custody.

The president has received many congratulatory messages on his escape.

Peace prevails throughout Guatemala, and the Government officials say they have the situation well under control.

LAURIER IS SATISFIED.

Australia Premier Asks For Preferential Treatment.

London, May 1.—The Imperial Conference yesterday took up the question of tariff preference. Several of the members of the British Cabinet were present, in addition to the Earl of Elgin, the Colonial Secretary, who presided. The latter expressed the hope that a harmonious feeling would prevail during the discussions of this subject.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier explained the position of Canada, saying that she was content to adhere to the resolutions of 1902.

Alfred Deakin, the Australian Premier, submitted a resolution asking, on behalf of the commonwealth, preferential treatment by the United Kingdom to colonial products and manufacturers. He spoke for two hours, during which he dwelt on the "dumping" by foreign countries of commodities into Australia, especially referring to agricultural implements from the United States, and against which, he said, protective measures had been taken. Mr. Deakin had not concluded when the conference adjourned.

FOUR YEARS FOR FORGERY.

John H. Mitchell Sentenced to the Penitentiary.

Toronto, May 1.—John H. Mitchell, the alleged partner of Dr. George H. Foster, was sent to the penitentiary for four years Monday by Magistrate Denison on two charges of theft and two charges of forgery.

Mitchell forged the name of a Miss Caldwell to a note which he gave Dr. Foster as part of the proceeds of the sale of a safe. He also acknowledged forging the name N. MacKay to a note for $40, and two straight thefts of money from Foster.

Mitchell's wife and sister were present when he was led away. He had been in trouble before, but got off by making restitution.

THE TWO KINGS MEET.

Rulers of Italy and England Have a Conversation.

Rome, May 1.—King Edward while passing outside of Rome on his way to London yesterday was met by King Victor Emmanuel at a country station. Their Majesties remained in conversation for about 15 minutes. The courteous action of the Italian King in leaving Rome to say good-bye to the British ruler is considered to be further evidence of the cordial feelings existing between the two sovereigns and as a desire to emphasize the good relations between Italy and Great Britain.

Leopold's Bluff.

Paris, May 1.—King Leopold's visit to Paris in a moment of political crisis in Belgium, and His Majesty's lengthy conferences with President Fullieres, Minister of Foreign Affairs Pichon and Premier Clemenceau, have given rise to considerable gossip.

The prevailing impression appears to be that the King intends to make a feint by offering the Congo Free State to France, for the purpose of coercing the Belgian Parliament into complying with his wishes.

British Delegation to The Hague.

London, May 1.—With the appointment of Lieut.-Gen. Sir Edmund Richeles, military member of the Governor-General council of India, as military expert, Capt. Charles Langdale Ottley, director of naval intelligence, as naval expert, and a large staff of attaches included, among whom is Lieut.-Col. Henry Yarde-Buller, military attache to the Northern European courts, the British delegation to the peace conference at The Hague is now complete.

Forgery In Third Degree.

New York, May 1.—Jacob Frank, an agent for the New York Life Insurance Co. in this city, was arrested yesterday, charged with forgery in the third degree, in connection with the recent election of directors of the company. The specific case upon which Frank was arrested was the alleged forgery of the name of Erhardt Gerhardt, a policyholder, insured by Frank's agency.

LETTER WAS A MISTAKE.

Winston Churchill Makes Statement on Swettenham Affair.

London, May 1.—In giving a definite final refusal to furnish the House with further correspondence exchanged between the ex-governor of Jamaica, Sir Alexander Swettenham, and the Colonial Office, the Under-Secretary for the Colonies, Mr. Churchill, stated in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon that the only point upon which fault was officially found with Sir Alexander was in regard to the propriety of his letter to Rear-Admiral Davis.

The propriety of the governor's action in dispensing with the services of the American naval contingent was never called into question, and therefore to set forth the governor's reasons for so doing would not serve any useful purpose, but rather the reverse.

Mr. Churchill was asked to publish Rear-Admiral Davis' letter to Rear-Admiral Evans in regard to the Swettenham incident, which, the questioners intimated, entirely exonerated Swettenham from the charge of having quarreled with Davis, but the Under-Secretary pointed out it obviously was not within the province of the British Government to publish letters exchanged between officers of the United States navy.

STROMBOLI'S ERUPTION.

Damage Done to Whole Island—The Vineyards Destroyed.

Messina, Sicily, May 1.—Some of the inhabitants of the Island of Stromboli, who have escaped from there and reached this city, describe the eruption of the Stromboli volcano as terrific.

They thought the mountain was about to open and that all the people would be swallowed up or thrown into the sea. The detonations are deafening.

Red, burning stones, ashes and cinders were thrown up and about a thousand feet over the top of the volcano, which is 3,040 feet above the level of the sea, an immense, dark umbrella-shaped cloud formed.

The industrious population of the island, numbering about 2,000 persons, had with great efforts gradually cultivated the sides of the volcano up to the crater, chiefly by the plantation of vineyards, but the eruption has entirely destroyed everything within a radius of 1,500 feet of the crater and has seriously damaged the rest of the island.

PE-RU-NA RELIEVES AFTER-EFFECTS OF LA GRIPPE.

La Grippe Sows the Seed of Chronic Catarrh, Indigestion, Nervous Prostration and a Host of Ailments Too Numerous to Mention.

PERUNA is a remedy for the after-effects of la grippe.

Nearly every person who has had the grip during the past winter finds himself left with some chronic catarrhal condition more or less intolerable.

It may be a hacking cough, or a tired, all-worn-out feeling.

Sometimes indigestion appears and hangs on in spite of all remedies.

A short course of Peruna removes all these symptoms and puts the patient right again.

We have a multitude of testimonials along this line.

La Grippe Leaves a Case of Systemic Catarrh.

Judge Horatio J. Goss, Hartwell, Ga., writes:

"Some five or six years ago I had a very severe spell of grip which left me with systemic catarrh.

"A friend advised me to try your Peruna, which I did, and was immediately benefited.

"The third bottle completed the cure."

Holds Pe-ru-na in High Esteem.

Miss Ernestine Durocher, 3611 Notre Dame, St. Henri, Montreal, Can., writes:

"During several years I experienced much inconvenience on account of weakness and heart trouble.

"The best doctors treated me, but without success.

"A year ago I commenced to take Peruna.

"I persevered with it regularly and a change took place more rapidly than I expected. To-day I am entirely cured.

"I hold Peruna in the highest esteem and I am always ready to speak a good word in its favor. I owe my cure to Peruna."

"Pe-ru-na Was Recommended by One of My Friends."

Mr. N. Beauchamp, 126 rue Notre Dame, Lachine, P. Q., writes:

"I tried the famous remedy, Peruna, which was recommended to me by one of my friends, R. Pilon.

"I have not been without this valuable remedy for seven months, and now I see that I am entirely cured.

"Formerly, on lying down I was unable to breathe through my nose and I never passed a day without headache.

"To-day I experience none of these symptoms and this is due to Peruna."

MR. J. A. GOYER.

Mr. J. A. Goyer, president La Pharmacie Latonilise, 1069 Berri St., Montreal, Can., writes:

"I can highly recommend your inestimable preparation, Peruna, to all those who suffer from the bad after-effects of la grippe.

"Two bottles of Peruna have brought to me a complete cure of that sickness, and it has acted as the best tonic for the system that I have ever experienced."

Head and Stomach Were Affected by Catarrh.

Miss Olivine Perrault, 527½ rue Albert, Montreal, Can., writes;

"I write you a word to congratulate you on your famous remedy, Peruna. I tried other remedies, but my cold did not get any better, and I feared I was becoming consumptive.

"The condition of my head and stomach was very annoying. I had coughed day and night for three months, as the result of a cold which I had contracted from sudden change of temperature.

"My brother advised me to try Peruna and I did so, for he was cured by Peruna. I took it regularly and improved steadily. I have now taken three bottles of it and am completely cured."

Baseball Score Cards Given Free at the Review Office

The Review is prepared to publish scores by innings together with the batteries of all amateur baseball games, and score by quarters with the line-up of all lacrosse matches, played by Peterborough teams in this city or elsewhere the approaching season. No matter of how little importance the game may be, if the score is authentic it will be printed by the Review.

Scores must be sent in on the day on which the games are played. They may be mailed to the sporting editor or left in the main office, thus assuring their publication the following day. Be sure that the scores are absolutely correct with names properly spelled, and figures clean and correctly totalled.

Secretaries of all leagues and clubs are requested to send to the Sporting Editor the names of the members of their teams, schedules of games and such items of interest as they deem worthy of publication. Communications may be sent as often as desired, and will receive prompt attention.

The Happenings in Lakefield

Cricket is Booming—Mr. Darcy's Hotel Opened—Visitors in Village

Lakefield, May 1.—The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Stubler will be sorry to learn of the great bereavement they have sustained in the loss of their infant daughter, who died somewhat suddenly from pneumonia on Sunday morning last.

Mr. D'Eyncourt Strickland, of Pembroke, and Mr. Walter Strickland, jr., of Toronto, paid a short visit to Lakefield at the latter end of last week.

Mrs. Chamberlain, who has been living in Toronto for some time past, arrived in the village on Tuesday, accompanied by Mrs. Mills, of Glasgow, Scotland.

THE HAPPY PAYMASTER.

The announcement in the English papers of the recent death of Mr. Thos. Beecham, the founder of the great pill manufacturing firm, brings to mind the little quatrain that was either invented by some wag or was actually used as an advertisement by the manufacturers of the famous globules "worth a guinea a box:"

"Hark! the herald angels sing,
Beecham's pills are just the thing;
Peace on earth and mercy mild,
Two for man and one for child."

This is somewhat in the same vein as the quatrain said to have been composed by William, Emperor of Germany, and sent to his wife on the capitulation at Sedan. Translated into English it ran as follows:—

Oh, thank the Lord, my dear Augustus,
We've had another awful buster,
Ten thousand Frenchmen gone below.
Praise God from whom all blessings flow."

Rev. Mr. Creighton, of Lindsay, Ont., father of Rev. W. J. Creighton, was the preacher at both services at St. John's church on Sunday last.

CRICKET MATCH.

An invitation from T.C.S., Port Hope, for a friendly cricket match at the school on Wednesday, May 15th, will result in a team from Lakefield trying conclusions with the School eleven. Last year Lakefield met with a Waterloo. This year our team hopes to make a better showing, having been reinforced by recent arrivals from the Old Sod.

Rev. W. J. Creighton, was in Bobcaygeon last week, assisting at the funeral of one of his old parishioners.

The Conservative rally in Peterborough last week called several old war horses of the party from their rustic seclusion in Lakefield.

Cricket is booming at The Grove, under the able coaching of Messrs. Allen and Pratt.

Mr. George Guillett, of Cobourg, was in the village on Saturday last en route to his residence at Stony Lake. He was accompanied by his cousin, Mr. Levi Payne.

Mr. and Mrs. Botterell were in Peterborough on Saturday.

Mr. Hazen and Mrs. Ritchie, of Peterborough, were in the village on Sunday last, and were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hilliard, at "Cowley."

That the Board of Trade is by no means in a decadent condition, is shown by the generous grant in the supplementary estimates towards a dock for the village. This grant was very largely obtained by the energetic efforts of the officers of the Board of Trade.

LOST UMBRELLAS.

A gentleman who has already lost seventeen umbrellas during a stay of seven years in Lakefield, through aberration of memory on the part of himself and other people, begs us to state that if the person who unkindly exchanged umbrellas in a certain store in the village on Thursday last, will return same, no questions will be asked. No kick would have been forthcoming if the one left in its place had been of equal value, but the gentleman's umbrella only had three holes in it, and the one now in his possession has twelve.

NEW HOTEL OPENS.

Mr. Darcy's hotel is now open to the public and presents an attractive appearance, externally and internally. Mr. Darcy is an old hotel man, and may be trusted to cater to the entire satisfaction of all who favor them with their patronage.

The Young's Point cheese factory opened for the season on Wednesday, May 15th. Mr. Wilson reports prospects for the season most encouraging.

Rev. G. O. Smith, professor of classics in Toronto University, is the guest of Rev. W. H. MacKenzie at "The Grove."

Ridpath Bros. are busy preparing for the opening of their new stationery department.

Messrs. McLaren and Patrick, recent arrivals from England, are guests at the Lakefield House.

NO LICENSES WILL BE ISSUED

Where Local Option By-laws Have Been Quashed

A Toronto despatch says:—The Government has definitely decided that liquor licenses shall not be issued in municipalities where local option by-laws carried by the required majority have been quashed on technicalities. This was made clear in the following statement made by Premier Whitney at the close of the Cabinet meeting yesterday.

"It would seem that, so far as Older Ontario is concerned, the Government has not the power to forbid the issuing of licenses, the power of issuing or refusing resting with the commissioners. Instructions have, however, been sent to the commissioners in every one of the municipalities where local option by-laws having been passed, have been set aside by the courts for technical reasons, instructing them that the Government desires that no licenses be issued for the coming year."

This will mean that no hotel license will be issued in Asphodel township, where the local option by-law was recently quashed on a technicality.

Drunken Visitor Arrested To-day

This afternoon shortly after two o'clock P.C. Newhall and P.C. Geo. Meharry, were called to the G.T.R. station where they found an elderly woman lying helplessly drunk in the waiting room. Reid's express waggon was pressed into service and the inebriated female was driven to the police station where she will have an opportunity to sober up. She got off the noon train. The woman had her valise with her. It is said that she comes from Omemee. She was too intoxicated to tell her name, but what seemed to worry her most was the fact that her husband might hear of her spree.

Threatened to Commit Suicide

Drunken Man Attempted to Throw Himself into the Otonabee

Matthew Edwards, of Otonabee, caused considerable excitement this morning by threatening to throw himself over the Hunter street bridge into the Otonabee river. Edwards came to the city this morning, and it was not long before he was pretty well under the influence of liquor. He was crossing the bridge when he became so entranced with the beauty of the waters of the Otonabee that he decided to have a swim. He was leaning over the railing, ready to make the plunge, when a gentleman passing by caught him and held him until Chief Roszel arrived. The chief took him to the police station where he will have an opportunity of sleeping off the booze. He remarked at the police station that he was only fooling and had never intended to commit suicide. It was fortunate that the drunken man was noticed in time, or undoubtedly it would have been a case of suicide.

He will appear before His Worship Magistrate Dumble to-morrow morning.

Better Books in Public Schools

Government Will Take Steps to Ensure This

Another important step will be taken almost immediately by the Ontario Government, says the Mail & Empire, with a view to solving the problem of securing school books at a reasonable cost to the people of the province. An advertisement will be published calling for tenders for the printing of Public school readers of all grades. This is the second step of the Administration in the direction of facilitating the free publication of text-books of a better quality and at a lower price than at present, in accordance with the report of the Text-Book Commission. At the last session of the Legislature, a measure was passed, which, with the inauguration of free competition by introducing the plan of calling for tenders, will tend to prevent the formation of any such school book ring as was the cause of complaint in the past. This legislation declares that the right to publish any copy-righted selections in Public school readers is vested in the Department of Education, which may grant to any firm the privilege of including them in its text-books. In the past the department was able to permit anyone to print readers, but the parties entering the business would then find an insuperable obstacle in the fact that copyrights were in the hands of other publishers. These latter would refuse to authorize their use, and the would-be school book publisher was prevented from becoming a competitor in the business. This situation has been relieved and now the Government is taking another step in the direction of free competition.

Orangeman Lies in Catholic Grave

Brother Protests and is Anxious to Have the Body Exhumed

New Westminster, B. C., April 30.—The body of James Harten, who died as the result of injuries received while walking along the C.P.R. track having been struck by a passing train may be exhumed from its resting place in the Roman Catholic cemetery, and reburied in Protestant ground. It is understood that a brother of the deceased, who arrived in the city after the funeral had taken place, strongly objects to the body resting in a Roman Catholic cemetery, as the deceased had always been a Protestant and belonged to the Orange order.

While lying in St. Mary's hospital, James Harten was visited several times by Rev. J. S. Henderson, the last visit being paid on Thursday. On the following day death claimed the injured man. Mr. Henderson was not notified that the man was dying and consequently did not call to see him. Father O'Boyle, who administered the last sacraments according to the rites of the Catholic Church, did so at the request of the dying man, who was quite conscious and understood perfectly well that he was being attended by a Catholic priest. He also expressed the desire to be buried as a Catholic, which was accordingly done.

Mr. W. G. Brownlee Gets Good Position

Mr. W. G. Brownlee, who for some time has been superintendent of the middle division of the Grand Trunk Railway, with headquarters at Toronto has been appointed general transportation manager, with office at Montreal. Mr. U. E. Gillen, assistant superintendent at London, will succeed Mr. Brownlee on the middle division, and Mr. A. J. Nixon, trainmaster at Stratford, will take Mr. Gillen's place at London. Mr. C. G. Bowker, assistant trainmaster at Stratford, will take the position vacated by Mr. Nixon.

Mining Man is Still Missing

Nothing has yet been heard of Mr. B. B. Davis, the missing mining man whose disappearance in North Hastings was noted on Saturday last. Mr. Cockram, of Madoc, was in the city yesterday, says the Belleville Intelligencer, and says that, so far, he has heard nothing of Mr. Davis. It is feared now, that when the missing man was in the Richardson mine he may have been drowned in the shaft. He has now been missing for over two months, since February 26th.

It is said by those who knew him that Davis was one of the best known mining men in Canada, and when he arrived in North Hastings last fall, said he intended to make good, what he had lost during the gold excitement in the county 35 years ago. He came in from the north in January last with rich samples of gold quartz but was reticent as to where the discovery was made and at present no one knows where he discovered them. He was a practical mining engineer and a graduate of Canadian, United States and French mining schools. During his recent visit he was continually talking of the great future of mining in this county, and his sudden disappearance is very mystifying. He is a bachelor and often spoke of having a sister, but no one knows where she is.

Hamilton Herald.

The report for the year 1906 of the provincial inspector of public libraries is an interesting document. It contains photographic views of some two dozen public library buildings, almost all of them recently erected and all handsome and substantial structures.

We confess to a feeling of humiliation in glancing through the report, and finding that in all but one or two cases these public buildings have been erected through the bounty of an alien—Andrew Carnegie. It speaks little for the public spirit of the citizens of so many Ontario towns that they neglected to establish free public libraries until they could make use of the money of a stranger for that purpose.

How much money Mr. Carnegie has spent in providing public library buildings for Ontario people is not mentioned in the report; but the sum must be very close to a million dollars—perhaps it exceeds the million. Here is the list of Carnegie libraries, of which detailed descriptions are supplied in the annual report, together with the sums contributed by Mr. Carnegie to erect the buildings, the whole cost of erection of each case having been defrayed by him:

Toronto	$275,000
Ottawa	100,000
Brantford	35,000
Windsor	27,000
St. Thomas	27,000
St. Catharines	25,000
Berlin	24,000
Guelph	24,000
Galt	23,000
Sarnia	20,000
Chatham	19,000
Brockville	17,000
Stratford	15,000
Collingwood	14,500
Lindsay	13,500
Smith's Falls	11,000
Waterloo	10,000
St. Mary's	10,000
Goderich	10,000
Cornwall	7,000
	$707,500

In addition, to these twenty cities and towns, numerous other smaller places have received library aid from Mr. Carnegie. How many the report does not say, but it mentions the following places as having benefited by his bounty last year. Dresden, $8,000; Milton, $5,000; Perth $10,000; Picton $12,000; Bracebridge $10,000; Gravenhurst $7,000; Oshawa $12,000; Wallaceburg $11,500; Kincardine $3,000; Hanover $10,000; Orangeville, additional, $2,500; in all, $88,000 for the year 1906 alone.

The congregation of St. Peter's Roman Catholic Cathedral, London, Ont. will erect a parish hall to cost about $15,000.

Mr. E. S. Hopkins on the Way to His Cottage

Mr. E. S. Hopkins, of Roxbury, Mass., who is known as one of the earliest of the summer inhabitants at Stony Lake and as one of the last to leave the Kawartha regions, is in the city today on his way to his summer cottage at Mount Julian, where he will remain until the leaves commence to fall next autumn.

Mr Hopkins is a little later in going back the lakes than he was last year. Last spring he took possession of his cottage on April 27th and did not vacate it until November 15th. He will likely be the first to open a cottage at the lakes this season

THE YORK LOAN TO BE WOUND UP

New Act Will Facilitate Liquidation Proceedings.

A Toronto despatch says:—With the passing by the Dominion Parliament of the amendment to the insolvency act the York Loan liquidation will likely come up before the courts in a few days, when the liquidator will ask for the necessary instructions. Fully 114,000 claims were filed, and these may roughly be divided into about thirty classes. These classes arise because of changes in the certificates and other causes. Then there are certain of the claimants who have classed themselves as preference shareholders, and a decision has to be given on their claims. The winding-up act as it was before the amendment act was passed did not provide machinery for such cases as the York Loan, although ample for all ordinary cases. Under the old act notices had to be served personally in most cases where the claim was to be disputed, and each shareholder, also had the right to have his or her own solicitor appear, who might also require notice, so that with the very best intentions by all concerned the delay under the old act would have been almost interminable, and the expense very heavy. Now, however, the courts, after careful consideration, will arrange for the legal representation of each class, and, of course, may decide that two or more classes may be united in the legal representation.

It is likely that the liquidator will go before Referee McLean on an early date and ask that the necessary appointment of counsel for the class of claims to be taken up first shall be made and all the necessary notices given. By the new arrangement the creditors will gain considerably and as far as it is possible to expedite such a complicated winding up as the York Loan it will be expedited. There cannot be, however, very great speed until the rights of every shareholder have been fully inquired into and placed beyond all doubt.

No such complicated winding-up has ever before been undertaken in Canada, so that there were no precedents to guide the liquidator, and no decision of the courts to guide the legal advisers as to the course of proceedure. The courts are now instructed how to proceed, and there does not appear to be any probability that a legal battle will arise on any of the many complicated points still to be dealt with before all is clear sailing for the final settlement of the York Loan affair.

A legal gentleman who has been frequently engaged in winding up business says the shareholders will save from $150,000 to $200,000 in legal and other expenses under the new act as compared with the cost under the old system.

W. A. MEMBERS IN CONVENTION

Annual Meeting Being Held in Toronto

Several delegates from the Woman's Auxiliaries of St. John's, All Saints' and St. Luke's churches are in Toronto attending the annual convention. The following report of the first day's proceedings has been taken from the Mail and Empire:—

The annual convention of the Womens' Auxiliary to Anglican missions opened in St. James' Cathedral yesterday morning. Holy Communion was celebrated by his Grace the Archbishop of Toronto, assisted by Ven. Archdeacon Sweeny, Canon Welch, Canon Cayley, Canon Macnab, Canon Abbott Canon Dixon, Rural Dean Morley of Brantford, and Rev. McLean Ballard.

Adjournment was then made to Guild Hall, McGill street, where the first afternoon session and balloting for nomination of officers was held.

According to Secretary Miss Fannie Jones, seven new senior branches have been formed during the year, making a total of 172 branches, the full membership (senior) being 5,8?1. This includes 333 life members, 14 of whom were added this year. Treasurer's report gives the total receipts as $4,696.96. Dorcas Society secretary's report shows 173 bales and 628 quilts sent on to Northwest; total amount received $5,469.03. Parochial missionary collections amounted to $4,592.82.

Following upon the reports of the various secretaries, the president, Miss Tilley, addressed the meeting, giving a careful summary of the events of the past year, many of them being very interesting and encouraging. A report from Matsumoto, Japan, spoke of the hard times at present existing there, and deplored the great lack of revenue among Japanese. The remainder of the afternoon was then devoted to letters from absent members having reference to mission work.

In the evening the junior branches of the Women's Auxiliary met in Guild Hall, when Miss Cartwright, first vice-president of the Diocesan Board, occupied the chair. Several interesting addresses were heard during the course of the proceedings, and papers on "What Has Been Helpful in Our Branch," read respectively by Miss Amy Wright, of St. James'; Miss M. Howe, of St. Thomas, and Miss Nettie Norris, of St. Paul's, proved particularly noteworthy.

Miss Strickland, of Tarn Taran, India, spoke of hospitals and schools in the Punjab, illustrating her remarks with stories of the children and girls.

Miss Makeham, of the "Training Home," Matsumoto, Japan, dwelt on the curious customs of the Japanese, such as their manner of visiting and accepting invitations. Passing on to the more serious portion of her address Miss Makeham spoke of her evangelistic work, and pleaded most earnestly for a helper to enable her to continue her mission work.

The audience were generous when the collection was taken up, nearly $100 being handed in. This sum will be divided among the three speakers of the evening for their respective works.

WILL TAKE UP. POWER QUESTION

To-day in the Ontario Cabinet — Transmission Line.

Toronto, May 2.—It was the intention of the members of the Government to consider the power question at its meeting yesterday. One of the parties to the discussion, was, however, unable to attend. However, the Administration will take up the subject at eleven o'clock this morning in council, and will devote the greater part of the day's session to its consideration. It is expected that the Government will be able to announce, perhaps at the end of the week, that it has arranged for a supply of power at Niagara Falls for those municipalities that have signified their desire to participate in its schemes for providing cheap electricity for the people. The question of supply it was officially stated yesterday will be taken up first and disposed of. The Government will then turn its attention to the problem of transmitting the electric energy to the customers of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission. That body, too, will shortly be prepared to forward a formal contract to the municipalities, which have applied for power.

Sailors and Police Have Fight; Lively Conflict at Santiago

Marines Returning From Banquet Have Fierce Encounter.

Seamen Were Charged Upon by Police With Revolvers and Machetes—Naval Officer Felled to the Ground—Many Injured by Clubbing—One May Die—Captain and Constables Suspended.

Santiago, May 2.—The conflict between police and sailors of the cruiser Tacoma here Tuesday followed an orderly banquet, which was given at the Cafe Leon de Oro by a number of first-class seamen of the cruiser. At one in the morning the men separated, and 12 of them went to the Cafe Union in a reasonably sober condition. A police captain named Lay, who was in citizens' clothes, had been watching this cafe all the evening, with seven or eight policemen to support him. At about two o'clock in the morning the seamen started for the wharf with the intention of boarding the Tacoma. Capt. Lay asserts that the seamen started the trouble with the police, and the sailors say that Capt. Lay, without any provocation, caused the disturbance. As the enlisted men of the Tacoma had been hindered by the police on their way to the wharf, Ensign Brisbin decided to walk slightly ahead of the party. Suddenly he heard a revolver shot, and immediately afterwards the police charged with revolvers and machetes. Brisbin received an ugly cut on the arm, and was felled to the ground three times. As the crowd of seamen came up, the policemen emptied their revolvers at them, at the same time attacking the Americans with machetes. A fierce fight ensued, with the result that Henry L. Lee, a fireman of the Tacoma, will probably die of a compound fracture of the skull, caused by a machete, and a gunshot wound in the right breast. Ten other seamen were taken to the ship suffering from machete wounds and clubbing. Not one of the policemen was badly hurt, though a number of them suffered from contusions. The captain and all the policemen who participated in the affair have been suspended by order of the civil governor of Santiago, upon the representations of Commander Tappen of the Tacoma and the American consul, Mr. Holaday.

Trade of British Empire Discussed at the Conference

Premier Deakin Suggests Committee of Experts.

Purchasing Power of British Empire an Enormous Asset—Australian Opinion Towards Preference — Question Should Be Taken Out of Party Politics—A Scientific Tariff—Methods Should Be Changed.

London, May 2.—The imperial conference yesterday's precis is preceded by a note from the Secretary of State for the Colonies, announcing that at Premier Deakin's request a summary of the first portion of the Premier's address, delivered Tuesday, is included (with some corrections). The comment is superfluous.

It appears from a re-issued precis that Deakin opened the question from almost an entirely academic point of view.

After a retrospect on the progress of the preference movement, which was commenced at the very first conference in 1887, by Hofmeyer, Cape Colony, he argued that all trade being based on mutual profit, there should be trade in preference and went on to show how foreign imports to the Colonies had shown increasingly higher percentage than British imports during the last 50 years.

An Enormous Asset.

The commonwealth Premier said the purchasing power of the British empire was an enormous asset, and should be used unitedly. He contended that if retaliation was in prospect, the powers discriminating against Britain and her Colonies would desire to treat especially with those countries doing a large export trade with the empire.

The commonwealth could not abolish its customs tariff, but discrimination was possible, and the advantage given to British goods would enable them to replace foreign goods and thus bring about a large addition to the trade between Britain and Australia.

It was to be anticipated that a day would soon arrive when there would be a committee of experts, whose duty it would be to review the trade of the empire as a whole, with a view of increasing the trade between the various constituent parts.

Towards Preference.

The opinion in Australia was steadily moving towards preference, though the hope of an early grant of reciprocity by the mother country had never been strong enough to encourage them to elaborate a plan of mutual concessions. The revision of customs tariff by the new Parliament would give an opportunity of reconsidering everything, including a provision limiting the preference to white-manned British ships.

Premier Deakin concluded that there should be a preference in population as well as in trade, a preference also in the channels of trade, and that the maintenance of all these links between the different portions of the empire would stimulate and embody a sentiment of unity in the empire which would decide its destiny.

Sir Joseph Ward urged that the question should be taken out of the arena of party politics. Preference was not to be confused with protection, as competition between the Colonies would suffice to keep prices at a normal level. Australasia was the third best customer for products from the United Kingdom and it should be remembered that Britain's outward trade to continental countries was almost, if not quite, at its limit, while the Colonies were only beginning their expansion. He suggested assistance in shipping communication by outsiders at the opening of the Suez Canal, in which New Zealand would take its part. New Zealand would also do its best in the matter of bringing Australasia within 30 days of the United Kingdom via Canada.

Dr. Jameson Endorses.

Dr. Jameson endorsed every word of Deakin. He advocated preference as an experiment, and did not ask the Home Government to change the imperial fiscal policy, but change the methods. He felt sure that the opinion of the workingmen of the United Kingdom was that under preference they would gain.

Cape Colony would be unanimous in granting preference if reciprocity could be established. However small. Natal believed in a discriminating scientific tariff. What objection was there to making an experiment?

The conference then adjourned till to-day.

The Canadian Associated Press understands that Laurier will speak, possibly for half an hour. Hon. Asquith and Lloyd George will reply on behalf of the Home Government.

It is hoped to finish the debate to-day.

Why Laurier Was Silent.

London, May 2.—Premier Deakin concluded his speech at the Imperial Conference yesterday afternoon. Sir Joseph Ward, Dr. Jameson and Hon. F. R. Moor followed. It is understood Dr. Jameson strongly urged the case for a preference, but Ward and Moor adopted a conciliatory tone. No resolution was proposed.

The Pall Mall Gazette attributes Laurier's "inaction" at Tuesday's conference to Canada's confidence in her future and the influence of French-Canadian feeling on the Premier. It says "Festina lente" must be the motto of true Canadian statesmanship at present.

HARD UP, SELLS WIFE.

Unique Deal in Montreal, But Police Step In.

Montreal, May 2.—A wife was sold here last week for $60, of which $10 was paid down, watch and overcoat handed over, and the balance of the cash was to be paid in $5 monthly instalments. But the sale was canceled, for the S. P. C. W. interfered. The people are from Southern Europe.

The woman's husband was not supporting her, and as she is young and attractive she had other admirers. One offered to buy her, and she was agreeable to the transfer; so was her husband. The woman wanted to see if the sale was legal, and went with the deed of sale on a scrap of paper to the S. P. C. W. to see if it was all right. But it wasn't, and the buyer is now looking for his ten dollars, watch and overcoat. The police refuse to give the names, but are expecting developments.

MORE MONEY FROM BARS.

Revenue to Province Increased By $201,696.22, Though Fewer Licences.

Toronto, May 2.—The report on the operation of the Liquor License Act for 1906 has just been issued by the Provincial Government.

Attention is drawn to the fact that the number of licenses have been reduced by 145 less than in 1905. The fines collected had increased by $8,000. The revenue to the province from the license branch had increased owing to new legislation by $201,696.22. The revenue from licenses, transfers and fines for 1903-4 $304,677.70; for 1904-5, $297,825.44; and for 1905-6, $330,430.33. The licenses for these three years, including tavern, shop and wholesale, numbered respectively, 2,974, 2,898 and 2,745.

The municipal revenue for the years named was $257,866.64, $248,492.60 and $241,019.57.

During 1906 there were 4,216 commitments for drunkenness in the province, an increase of 59 over 1905.

Special tables, giving detailed information regarding licenses, revenue, expenditure, payments to inspectors and commissioners, local option municipalities, prosecutions, stationery, duties and other matters, are provided.

POWER QUESTION TO-DAY.

Cabinet Will Discuss Program and Make Announcement Soon.

Toronto, May 2.—The Provincial Government was unable yesterday, as anticipated, to take up the power question in Cabinet council owing to the absence of one of the interested parties.

This morning at 11 o'clock, however, it was officially stated yesterday, the Cabinet meeting will be devoted to a discussion of the situation.

It is confidently expected that before the close of the week the Government will announce that an arrangement has been concluded for a satisfactory supply of power from Niagara.

The subject of transmission, which is a separate question, will be dealt with later.

GOVERNMENT GRATUITIES.

Two Officials of the Education Department Rewarded for Services.

Toronto, May 2.—The Provincial Government has decided to award the following gratuities in the Education Department:

To Prof. McLelland, principal of the Normal School at Hamilton, who has been 42 years in educational service, $4,000.

J. E. Hodgson, for 28 years inspector of high schools, $3,000.

To the family of the late W. H. Jenkins, for six years registrar of the Education Department, $1,000.

Capital Wants Two Ridings.

Toronto, May 2.—A. E. Fripp, president; Dr. R. H. Parent, first vice-president, and John Thompson, second vice-president, of the Ottawa Conservative Association, and Barney Slattery, a defeated candidate in the last election, waited on the Government in Queen's Park yesterday.

They submitted a request which is agitating Ottawa politically. The constituency at present elects two members, both of whom are Liberals, by vote of the whole electorate. The proposal is to divide the constituency, so that a member should be elected by each of two constituencies. The population is over 60,000.

It will be considered in connection with the redistribution bill at the next session of the Legislature.

Fees From Charters.

Toronto, May 2.—The Provincial Secretary's department has received in revenue from chartered companies' fees for the first four months of this year the sum of $133,257.28.

This is almost double the amount for the same period last year, the figures being.

	1906.	1907.
January	$14,720.70	$30,547.18
February	18,054.65	35,482.06
March	17,328.30	32,638.15
April	20,581.90	34,589.90
Total	$70,685.55	$133,257.28

Lost All Their Savings.

New York, May 2.—Hundreds of residents of the Bohemian colony in the upper east side of this city learned yesterday that they had lost the savings of years, which they had deposited with Madame Mar-Vitous, the healer, who committed suicide a few weeks ago, in East 72nd street.

Madame Vitous' safe, which was supposed by the depositors to contain $150,000 worth of securities, representing their savings, was opened and found to contain nothing of value.

Earl Grey, Horticulturist.

Ottawa, May 2.—Earl Grey yesterday afternoon gave the children of the separate schools a lesson in horticulture and presented each with several bulbs. The Governor-General is an enthusiastic amateur gardener and this is one of his methods of inculcating in others a love of the beautiful in plant life.

The End of a Drunken Row.

Montreal, May 2.—George Sheard (colored), lunchroom-keeper of St. Antoine street, was yesterday acquitted by Judge Choquette in the Court of Special Sessions of the charge of manslaughter. He had assaulted Joseph Gariepy in a drunken row in a saloon. Gariepy died from the injuries received.

Better Off Here.

London, May 2.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Canadian Premier, addressing the Canada Club on Monday night, said he had no fear that Canada would be Americanized.

The American who crossed the border knew that his property and life were securer than in his own country.

Leopold Fails.

Brussels, May 2.—Additional information seems to confirm the reports that King Leopold's efforts to secure the support of France against the policy of Great Britain towards the Congo have failed.

Mexico is planning to fortify Coatzacoalcos and Salina Cruz, the two terminals of the Tehuantepec railway.

BAD MINING DISASTER

Serious Explosion in Whipple Mine at Scarboro.

One Hundred Miners Entombed—Many Escape Through Emergency Stairway—Boss Was Left In the Mine—Many Seriously Injured—Caused By Firing Heavy Shot—Bodies Being Taken Out.

Hinton, W. Va., May 2.—An explosion occurred in the Whipple Mine at Scarboro, Fayette County yesterday, entombing nearly 100 miners. Fifty-one men escaped through the emergency stairway and reached the surface, but it is believed that 41 are still entombed with little chance of escape.

Of those who escaped some were seriously injured, but all will recover. Isaac Pelter, the mine boss, was left in the mine. He was closing up the air courses in an effort to force in fresh air for those remaining in the mine. He expected to follow his men out, but nothing farther has been heard of him.

The Whipple Mine is within two miles of the Stuart Mine, which exploded Jan. 29, killing 80 men. Both mines are owned by the White Oak Fuel Co. The mine is one of the best equipped in this field, and has always been considered safe.

The cage and shaft were damaged, but were in operation at 9 o'clock last night, and the work of taking out the bodies will continue throughout the night.

The cause of the explosion was probably the result of firing a heavy shot at the face of the workings.

FIVE MEN BADLY HURT.

Dynamite Explosion Occurred While Breaking Ice Jam.

Montreal, May 2.—An explosion, in which five men were shockingly injured, occurred in County Montmagny, between the townships of Moose and Armand, Tuesday afternoon. The victims are Emile Robin, Alf. Robin, Cleophas Colin, G. Motin and Simon Picard, and it is feared that four of them, especially Emile Robin, who is the most gravely injured of the five, may die.

The men were at work breaking an ice jam in the river, when a package of the dynamite cartridges they were using exploded.

TWENTY WOMEN INJURED.

Fall From Fire Escape During Blaze In Chicago.

Chicago, May 2.—About 20 women were injured yesterday at a fire which broke out in the building at 255 Wabash avenue, the three upper floors of which were occupied by the Lotus Lunch Club, patronized by women.

When the flames were discovered, fully 200 women were in the place and a panic ensued.

The flames cut off several women in the front part of the building and about two-thirds of these leaped to the ground. The others were taken out by the firemen uninjured.

FIRED INTO SOLDIERS.

Jew On Parisian Omnibus Emptied Revolver Into Troops.

Paris, May 2.—Yesterday afternoon a man who was passing the Place de la Republique on top of an omnibus, fired five shots from a revolver at a squadron of Cuirassiers, wounding two of the cavalrymen. The man, who was subsequently identified as a Hebrew named Jacob Law, of Balta, Province of Podolia, Russia, was dragged down from the top of the omnibus by the police and narrowly escaped lynching at the hands of the crowd surrounding the vehicle.

Killed by Landslide.

Montreal, May 2.—As the result of a landslide at Cedars, near Vaudreuil, Tuesday evening, B. E. Brodie, 25 years of age, whose home was at Niagara Falls, N. Y., was instantly killed, and several of his fellow-workers severely injured. Brodie was foreman of a gang of concrete workers in the employ of the Canadian White Co., and was in charge of a contract which the company has at the head of the Soulanges Canal. The men were working in a hole below, when suddenly the side of the hill collapsed, and the men were caught like rats in a trap. The officials of the company say that the heavy rain and the frost coming out of the ground were responsible for the accident. An inquest will be held.

To Oppose Pugsley.

St. John, N. B., May 2.—Edward Sears, mayor of St. John, announced last night after the Pugsley ratification meeting, his intention to oppose Hon. William Pugsley for the Federal House, provided there is no Conservative. Mr. Sears is a strong Liberal and claims he was promised the nomination.

"Nothing can stop me opposing Pugsley, if no Conservative runs," he said.

Gorky Was Not There.

Rome, May 2.—The police forbade a public meeting here yesterday, organized by the Socialists to commemorate May Day, at which Maxim Gorky had promised to speak. All the streets leading to the meeting were occupied by troops, but thousands of workmen broke through the cordons and held a meeting. Several Socialists deputies delivered fiery speeches, but Gorky did not appear.

General Strike In Warsaw.

Warsaw, Russian Poland, May 2.—The general strike ordered for May Day here resulted in practically a complete tie-up of the business and traffic. No meat or bread were available, no street cars or cabs appeared on the streets, no papers were printed and the stores were closed. Warsaw yesterday was practically a military camp.

A project is almost completed for the establishment of a new fast Canadian steamship service on the Atlantic and Pacific.

The Marathon Mystery

A Story of Manhattan

By BURTON E. STEVENSON

"Iss t'is your revolver?" asked the coroner, producing the weapon.

Drysdale took it and looked at it with an air of astonishment.

"Why, yes," he said. "Where did you get it?"

"And iss t'is your raincoat?"

"Yes; but what"—

"You wore it when you went out last night?"

"Yes; but I insist"—

"Mr. Drysdale," asked the coroner sternly, "for what purpose did you go out last night, and where did you go?"

Drysdale sprang to his feet, his face red with anger.

"Why, you infernal busybody!" he cried. "It's none of your business."

"T'en you refuse to answer?"

"I most certainly do, and I think you'd better go back to Babylon."

"I shall go back in due time, Mr. Drysdale," retorted the coroner in a cool voice, holding up his hand. "Perhaps you have as yet not heard of t'e murder committed here last night and of t'e robbery which accompanied it?"

Drysdale paled suddenly; his hands were trembling.

"Murder!" he repeated blankly. "Robbery?"

"Precisely. Graham, t'e gardener, was murdered last night and Mrs. Delroy's pearl necklace stolen. You were t'e only person who left t'e house. Your revolver was found beside him. T'is button, torn from your coat, was found in his hand. I hope you will now perceive t'e wisdom of giving us a tetailed account of your movements while you were away from t'e house."

Drysdale had listened with a growing pallor. When the coroner had finished he was fairly livid, and he passed his hand helplessly before his eyes. But he did not speak.

"Well?" asked Heffelbower impatiently, after a moment.

Drysdale took down his hand and steadied himself against the back of his chair.

"I have nothing to say," he murmured hoarsely.

"Do you persist in t'at decision?" asked the coroner sharply.

"I certainly do."

"Then," said Heffelbower, rising in his turn, "in t'e name of t'e law, I shall haf to arrest you. Please finish your dressing."

Drysdale was ready in a few moments, and the little party passed out into the hall.

Suddenly from the farther end came the swish of skirts, and Grace Croydon appeared, radiant as the new day. She paused in astonishment as she saw the group. Then she came forward. Her eyes went anxiously from face to face.

"What is it, Richard?" she asked. "What has happened?"

Delroy laughed a mirthless laugh.

"Enough and to spare," he answered. "They're arresting Jack, here, for murder."

"For murder! Oh, why did you kill him?" she cried, turning upon her lover. "Why did you not wait"—

"Kill him!" echoed Delroy. "But he didn't, Grace! How can you think such a thing? He could clear himself by telling where he was last night, and he refuses to do it. Maybe he'll tell you."

She turned her searching eyes to her lover's face.

"Where were you last night, Jack?" she asked. "You'll tell me, won't you?"

"Tell you?" he sneered, his eyes blazing with savage anger. "Where was I? You ask me that?"

And with a gesture of fierce contempt he went on down the stair.

CHAPTER XX.

IT was not until the Sunday evening following Tremaine's departure that I found myself alone with Cecily and in a position to begin that conversation from which I hoped so much.

She had arrayed herself in the same garments she had worn the first night I had met her—the gorgeous costume of the belle affranchie, in which she was most at home—but I had grown more accustomed to her and sat down near her without any great bedazzlement. She was lying on the couch engaged in rolling cigarettes with remarkable skill and celerity and had quite a pile on the taboret beside her. I sat and watched the supple fingers and the red, red lips and the dark face changing with every wave of feeling.

"My friend," she said suddenly, turning to me with intent gaze, "do you know where doudoux has gone?"

"No," I answered; "he did not tell me. He said only that his business was calling him away."

"Business! Ohe! And you believe that?"

"Why shouldn't I believe it, Cecily?"

"If it were merely business he could have taken me along. Tambou! He is growing weary of me; I annoy him; I can see it. It was, of course, inevitable. Soon he will be sending me away. Ohe!" And she stretched her arms above her head with that gesture I had seen before. "Ah, well, d'amour, de rires et d'oublis!" And she laughed, but I fancied there was a sob beneath the laughter. "At least I shall be again at St. Pierre."

Suddenly there came a soft hissing from the little cage over the radiator.

"Ah, I must feed Fe Fe; she is calling me!" she cried, and she sprang up, ran to the next room and came back with a little wine in a glass.

I stood and watched her without being greatly impressed. Fe Fe seemed very harmless and lethargic—evidently the climate of New York, even though mellowed by the radiator, did not agree with her.

"Of course Tremaine will go back with you," I assured her. I was wondering if she really suspected his intention.

"No; he will not," she said decidedly. "But," she added, with an electric flash of the eyes, "he may come in time."

I lighted another cigarette.

"Where did you meet him, Cecily?"

"He came to St. Pierre three, four years ago. He saw me one day standing at the door of my house in the Rue Peysette."

"Do you know where he came from?"

"No; it mattered nothing to me."

"He never talked about his past?"

"His past? No, no. What was it to us? We had a pretty, pretty place at Fond-Corre. Tambou! I wish I was there now!"

"You were happy there?"

"Yes—except for the times doudoux was in his black spells."

"His black spells?"

"Yes—oh, then every one ran from him—even I. He was terrible—raving and cursing M'seur Johnson."

"Johnson?" I repeated, with a sudden leap of the heart. "Who was he, Cecily?"

"He was doudoux's zombi," she answered with conviction, and crossed herself.

"Then he didn't live at Fond-Corre?"

"At Fond-Corre? Oh, no! He was a zombi—in the air, in the earth, everywhere. Doudoux would fight with him an hour at a time. Oh, it was terrible!"

I leaned back in my chair and watched the smoke from my cigarette circling upward. I remembered the letter that had been tattooed on the arm of the man killed in suit fourteen. So Tremaine had some cause to hate him—he had helped him, had supplied him with whisky, with money, through fear and not through friendship. To establish that was to take another step forward.

"Did he have those spells often, Cecily?" I asked at last.

"Oh, no; sometimes not for months. Then, phut, the zombi would charm him."

"Charm him?"

"With a little scrap of paper, yes. There would come a letter; doudoux would open it; always in it there would be a little piece of paper. Sometimes it had writing on it, sometimes printing, as though it had been cut from a newspaper. Then, tambou, doudoux's face would grow black, he would tear the paper into little, little bits, uttering curses the most terrible, and we would all run!"

Clippings from a newspaper! Here was a coincidence. But I cudgeled my brain vainly. I could form no theory as to why a clipping should cause those fits of rage.

"The last one, though, did not give him a spell," she added, after a moment. "We were watching the sunset out across the water when Dodol brought the letter to him. This time it was printing and writing both. I got up, ready to flee, for I thought that would be twice as bad. But no. He sat reading it, and his eyes glistened. Then he sent me running for his hat and hurried away to St. Pierre. When he came back he told me that we were to come at once to New York."

"You have some very pretty jewelry, Cecily," I said, touching the great brooch of gold that gleamed at her throat.

She laughed like a pleased child.

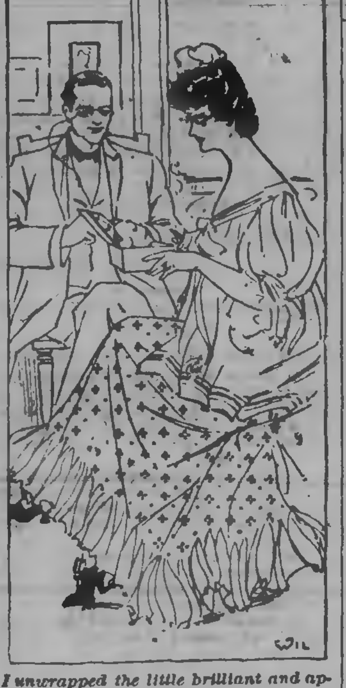
"Yes. Are they not pretty, che? Let me show you," and, springing from the couch, she ran into her bedroom. In a moment she was back again, a box of inlaid ebony in her hands.

"See!" she cried, and threw back the lid.

Indeed they were worth seeing, and it was not wholly to disarm her suspicions, if she had any, that I lingered over them. At last I came to the piece I wanted.

"Here is a beautiful pin," I said, "an opal in a circle of diamonds," and I held it up to the light. "But see, Cecily, one of the diamonds is missing. Have you lost it?"

"Doudoux lost it," she answered. "He wore it sometimes as a pin for his scarf. Tambou! I was angry when I found it gone. You should have heard me!"



I unwrapped the little brilliant and applied it to the break in the circle.

"I have a diamond," I said, getting out my pocketbook, "that might do to replace it. Let us see if it will fit."

I unwrapped the little brilliant and applied it to the break in the circle. Then my heart fell. It was evident in an instant that it had not come from there. It was much smaller than the other stones—differently cut.

"No, it will not do," I stammered at last. "It is too small," and I returned it to my pocket. "I shall have to get you another trinket, Cecily. Good night."

CHAPTER XXI.

IT seemed that my sudden departure had offended Cecily more deeply than I imagined, for when I knocked at her door next evening she told me curtly that she was not feeling well and intended going early to bed. So I went back to my room, rather glad of the chance of an evening to myself.

Besides, Cecily was a good deal like the highly flavored dish—to be fully enjoyed only at intervals. And, too, there was only one point as yet unsettled—where she and Tremaine had been the night of the murder. That, I felt, could be cleared up without much difficulty the first time she received me, which would probably be not later than tomorrow. I had a premonition that that line of inquiry, too, would lead nowhere, that Cecily would prove by a word that neither she nor Tremaine had been anywhere near the Marathon at the hour of the crime. In any event I had plenty of time, and I could spend this evening very profitably in weighing and classifying my discoveries, in getting a fresh start.

As I opened my door I noticed it scraped on the carpet, and an examination showed me that the carpet had come loose along the sill. I stepped to the speaking tube and blew down it.

"Hello!" called up a voice in a moment.

"Is that you, Higgins?"

"Yes, sir."

"This is Mr. Lester. Come up after awhile, will you? I've a little job up here I want you to do."

"All right, sir. Will half an hour do?"

"Oh, yes! Any time this evening."

I got out pipe, tobacco and matches and sat down in my most comfortable chair. I was no longer so discouraged as I had been the evening before. On the whole, I told myself, I had progressed. I had succeeded in forging the chain more tightly about Tremaine, in strengthening it in many places. I could show certainly:

First.—That he knew Thompson and had lied about it.

Second.—That he apparently hated him.

Third.—That he had come to New York on the same boat with him and probably on the same errand.

Fourth.—That Thompson had joined him as soon as released from jail.

On paper, I had to admit, the chain appeared a good deal weaker than I had thought it. There were many gaps; indeed, now that I looked at it, it seemed to consist largely of gaps. Objections to the theory of Tremaine's guilt loomed larger and larger. One of the weightiest was Miss Croydon's attitude toward him. That seemed unexplainable. The man she described as the murderer was quite unlike Tremaine in appearance. Was she, then, shielding him? But why should she do that? Above all, if he were guilty of such a crime, would she have consented to his admission to the Delroy family? And, again, if she feared him why not denounce him to the police, or at least threaten to do so? That would remove him from her path once and forever.

This last question seemed so unanswerable that I paused to look at it again, for it was evident that one really insuperable objection must invalidate the whole theory. By the commission of a crime, especially of a crime so serious as this one, would he not place himself as much in Miss Croydon's power as she could possibly be in his? If she were still in his power, then he had committed no crime, and if he had committed no crime, why, of course he had not killed Thompson. But in that case who had? Where had that diamond come from?

I knocked out my pipe and filled it again. I felt a good deal as though I was wandering around and around in a maze. I was getting a little dizzy.

If Tremaine had not killed Thompson, I asked myself again, who had? Not Miss Croydon! To suppose that a delicately reared girl would smash a man over the head with a piece of pipe was to descend to the ridiculous. Yet if he had attacked her she might have nerved herself to do it. But that was absurd, too, since admittedly she had a pistol in her pocket and was not afraid to use it. Who else, then? Jimmy the Dude? But he had already proved an alibi; besides, a motive was wanting.

Then I thought of Cecily. Could she have been the assassin? Certainly it was not impossible. That last savage act, that shooting of an unconscious man, fitted in somehow with my estimate of her character. She might have done that. But why should Miss Croydon seek to shield her? Was it Cecily who possessed the secret? Was there some connection between them? I remembered the other famous case in which I had been engaged—must I look for the same solution here? Was there a blood relationship between Cecily and Miss Croydon? Clearly such a thing was possible. I even fancied that one, knowing them both, might be able to detect a subtle resemblance. I closed my eyes and endeavored to recall the features of Miss Croydon's portrait; her face had much in common with Cecily's. Both were dark, both were—

A knock at the door brought me out of my thoughts. I opened it and found the janitor standing there.

"It's nothing very much, Higgins," I said, "but I thought you'd better fix it before it got any worse. The carpet has come loose here along the door. Three or four tacks are all it needs."

He stepped over the threshold and looked at it.

"All right, sir," he said. "I'll fix it in th' mornin'. Them fellers what put th' carpet down didn't half do their work. I tacked a loose place down over there by th' wall jest afore you moved in."

"Where was it?" I asked as calmly as I could.

"Right here by this angle," he said, indicating the place with his foot. "I think maybe I'd better go all around th' walls t'morrer."

"Perhaps it would be best," I said. "Thank you." And I closed the door upon him.

The next instant I was down on my hands and knees tearing away the carpet, my blood singing in my ears. I had found them—the clippings—it was here they must be hidden. But for those chance tacks driven by the janitor Tremaine would have had possession of them long ago, and perhaps we should never have penetrated the mystery of Thompson's death. Now it would be laid bare before us—the whole secret. What a little thing it was that had saved us!

I had the carpet loose—I turned it back, and there they lay, that little roll of clippings, just as they had been taken from Thompson's pocketbook. They were to tell us the whole story—we could not again be led astray. I was quite calm again. I picked them up carefully and laid them on my desk. Then I washed my hands and filled my pipe. There was a certain exquisite pleasure in holding myself back from them, in tantalizing myself, in deferring for a moment or two the revelation which was to come.

But at last I sat down and spread them out on the desk before me. There were twelve of them, some only a few lines in length, others of half a column. Of one there were four copies, but of the others only one apiece. They were tattered and stained from long carrying; some were in English and some were in French, and they were dated from places as far apart as Dieppe, New York, Sydney.

I piled them carefully beside me and started hopefully on the task of deciphering them—of piecing together the story they had to tell me. But the farther I proceeded the more my spirits fell, for they told no story, they seemed to have no relation to each other—no common thread. Apparently, they had been gathered aimlessly at haphazard to satisfy the whim of the moment. One chronicled a wreck at sea; another a bank robbery; a third an escape from prison; a fourth was merely a marriage notice; a fifth told of a row in a sailors' dive, and so on down the list. They were about different people—friends of Thompson's, perhaps; none of them had any connection with Tremaine; they told no story, furnished no clew, shed not a ray of light on the mystery—they were absolutely worthless.

I laid them down in despair. Yet if they were worthless, why had Miss Croydon taken them? Why had Tremaine sought for them? Were they mistaken too? Had they imagined the clippings told a secret which in fact they did not tell? But perhaps they did tell it—perhaps I had overlooked it. They must have some connection with the tragedy? Why could I not perceive it?

I ran through them feverishly again, but with no better result. At last I laid them down and took up my pipe. I must submit them to a keener brain than mine. If Godfrey were only here!

I heard a step come down the hall, stop at my door. Some one knocked.

I hastily stuffed the clippings into my pocket and opened the door. But it was not Tremaine who stood there. It was Godfrey.

"Well, of all things!" I cried. "I was just wishing for you. Come in."

With that quiet smile of his he stepped over the threshold.

"That must mean you've got some new problem to solve," he said, still smiling.

"I have; the worst yet; impenetrable as the countenance of the sphinx. But first give me your coat and hat."

They were dripping with water, and for the first time I heard the rain beating savagely against the windows.

"I happened to be across the street talking with Simmonds," he said, "and I thought I'd run over and see you a moment."

"When did you get back from Washington?"

"Just this evening, and I've got to put in tomorrow at Boston, worse luck!"

I handed him a cigar and took one myself. I confess that the match with which I lighted it was not wholly steady.

"Come," said Godfrey, smiling in sympathy with my excitement, "what's the great discovery? Some news from the house party?"

"No. I haven't heard a word from the house party."

"What is it, then? Out with it."

"Godfrey," I cried, "I've found the clippings!" And I plunged my hand into my pocket and drew them forth.

He was out of his seat in an instant.

"The clippings! Not the ones"—

"The very ones!" I nodded triumphantly.

"Let me see them. But wait," and he held himself back. "I confess you surprised me, Lester. I wasn't expecting such a bomb. This is great luck. Where did you find them?"

I told him of Higgins' chance remark that had put me on the track, and in the same breath related what Cecily had told me of Tremaine and his encounter with his zombi.

"Good boy!" Godfrey commended when I had finished. "You're worth all the rest of us put together. You see, we're beginning to get the threads in hand. Now bring the clippings over here to the desk under the light."

I laid them on the desk and he sat down before it.

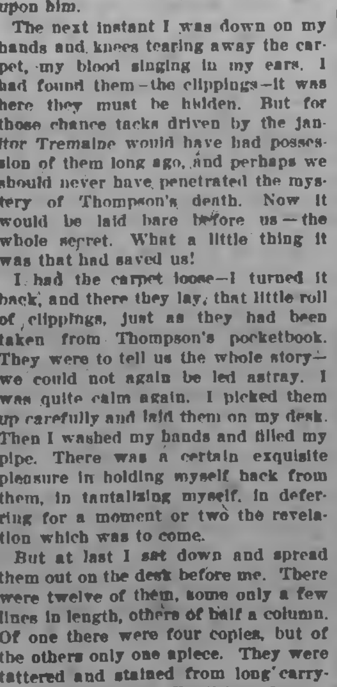
"But here," he said, starting up again, "you'll want to see them too"—

"No, no," I protested. "Sit down. I have seen them," and then suddenly I remembered how I had been disappointed. They contained no secret, they gave us no clew.

"So," he said, sitting down again; "so you're in the secret, then?"

"I've looked them over," I repeated despondently, "but I'm not in the secret. They don't tell any secret or anything else that concerns this case. I don't believe they'll help us a bit, Godfrey. They're about everything under the sun but the one thing we're interested in."

I went back to my chair and applied myself to my cigar; I hardly dared look at Godfrey, his disappointment would be so intense. A silence of three or four minutes followed, broken only by the rustling of paper and the howling of the wind about the building.



"Godfrey," I cried, "I've found the clippings!"

Then I glanced at Godfrey. His cheeks were flushed, his eyes were beaming with triumph.

"What!" I cried, starting up. "Do you think"—

He looked up with a little nod.

"Yes," he said; "they tell us the whole story, Lester."

CHAPTER XXII.

FOR a moment I thought that Godfrey was joking. How could that tangle of haphazard clippings tell any story? And if they did, how could it be connected with the one which we were trying to decipher? Then, at a second glance, I saw how in deadly earnest he was. There could be no doubting it. He had read into them some meaning which I had failed utterly to see.

I sat down in my chair again, my nerves a-quiver; at last we were on the verge of success.

"Well, let's hear it," I said.

"I intend that you shall—wait till I get them arranged. I'll build up the story as I go along, and I want you to ask any questions or point out any defects that occur to you. Of course it will be only a study in probabilities, but between us I think we can get it pretty straight."

He got up from the desk with the clippings in a neat little pile and sat down in the chair facing mine. He took a meditative puff or two before he began.

Price of Coal Takes a Drop

Dusky Diamonds Now Selling at $6.90 Per Ton

Coal in Peterborough has taken a drop in price and is now selling at $6.90. Last month and all winter the quotation for the dusky diamonds in Peterborough was $7.30. The decrease of 40 cents per ton is the regular "spring' drop and depends on the action of the wholesalers. These usually quote the minimum figures at the first of May, and raise them 10 cents a month until navigation closes.

Some fears were expressed that the strike in the Northwest and the greater demand for coal there, would prevent the price being lowered, but a local dealer said today that this did not affect the Peterborough situation in the least.

In Toronto yesterday the coal merchants dropped the figure fifty cents and coal is now selling at $6.50, which is forty cents cheaper than in Peterborough.

A Hamilton despatch says: Hamilton coal dealers today boosted the price of coal from $6.50 to $6.75 a ton, and they say that it will go still higher before fall. They say that the reason for the advance is that so much coal is being shipped to the Northwest and they have to pay more than they used to in order to get a supply. They also claim that there is danger of a coal famine.

Construction Work On Trent Canal

Will Start at Trenton and Healey's Falls Working Both Ways

The Belleville Intelligencer says: Since the determination of the question, regarding the outlet of the Trent Canal, in favor of Trenton, Mr. Porter, the member for West Hastings, has been working assiduously to have the work commenced at Trenton and completed as the work proceeds up the river, which will mean the development of immense water power, which will be available to the constituents whom he represents. His efforts in the direction indicated have been rewarded, as will be shown by the following letter received by him from the Deputy Minister and Chief Engineer of the Department of Railways and Canals:

M. J. Butler, Deputy Minister, and Chief Engineer. Office of the Deputy Minister and Chief Engineer, Ottawa, Ont., April 29th, 1907.

Dear Mr. Porter,—I have your letter of the 27th inst. The engineers will go to work on the Trent Canal construction immediately, or as soon as they can be organized. The present intention is to start at Trenton and Healey's Falls, working both ways, and possibly one other point, of which I am not quite clear. It will, of course, take some little time to get at the working plans and specifications for the construction work, when they will be advertised for at least six weeks before letting contracts. The intention is to push the work with all possible despatch. The work in the vicinity of Trenton naturally will be straightening and dredging of the river, and the building of a lock in the vicinity of the Grand Trunk bridge, and so on up the river.

Yours faithfully,
M. J. BUTLER.

E. Guss Porter, Esq., M. P., Belleville, Ont.

Mr. Porter's efforts in the interests of his constituents will, we are sure, be very much appreciated.

Many Thousands of Dollars are Needed for Streets This Year

Board of Works Have Big Contract Ahead of Them—Six Miles of Sewers—Nine Miles of Granolithic Walks and Miles of Street Repairs—Street Extensions and General Work.

To begin to do the work on the streets required something like $40,000 or $50,000 would have to be raised. The Board of Works and the members of the Council who drove around the city yesteray fully realized that fact. It has always been admitted that the streets in this city were not attended to as they should have been, that is not enough money was spent on them, the aldermen had no idea of the nature of the proposition they were up against until they bumped over the roads in a bus.

The party started out at half past eight in the morning and were on the go all day until half past six last night. It was a big job and they are all very tired to-day. But they learned something and they know what is expected of them.

In speaking to one or two it was learned that the Council is unanimous in its determination to do all the work possible this year. There is only a limited amount of money, not enough to do half what should be done, but this will be made go as far as possible. The reason for a great many of the roads being bad is that the contractors on the sewers last year made little or no attempt to comply with that clause in their specifications which calls for the road being left in as good condition as it was before they started. The gas company also has a lot to answer for in this way, although Mr. Larmonth promised last year to have his men go over the road and have it put in shape wherever the trench for the gas mains had been laid. The only way, it appears, said one of the city officials, that the city can get any satisfaction from the sewer contractors, the gas company and others who disturbes the streets is to do the work and charge it up to the respective parties, and make them pay for it. If the Board of Works were to do that this year a lot of money would be saved and more street work could be done.

Among other things the Board of Works has upon its slate this year are some six miles of sewers; nine miles of cement walks; the extension of George, Aylmer and Hunter street east; grading and watertabling Water street north; fixing up Aylmer street north; Rubidge street, Stewart street, Homewood ave., Weller treet, Gilmour street, Victoria ave., and the usual amount of repair work.

Three gangs of men will be put on the sidewalks; two or three gangs on the sewers and one gang on the roads with the steam roller. The list of roads does not include one in Ashburnham and everyone knows that it is a crying shame the way the streets over there have been neglected. The sewers put in last year have made them much worse than they were before and there is no relief in sight. Hunter street east will be extended, but that work will be of no use to residents of Ward Five. The work will start at the entrance to the Armour estate and the road will be opened for traffic through to the lift lock. A lot of deep cutting will be required, at one point about eight feet will have to be removed. But this is provided for out of a special fund.

Water street south, which was arranged for last year has already been started. The men are working at the north end near the Hilliard gravel pit and they will come south to where the work stopped last fall. When this is done hundreds of farmers will be glad as they have met with more trouble on that portion of the road than anywhere else in the county. The other work will be started as soon as the weather permits and men can be secured.

Again, gentlemen, I thank you, and bespeak for my successor the same unanimous, kind, generous, sympathetic and indulgent support you have given and extended to me. If this is done there is no doubt as to the continued future prosperity of our club.

Respectfully submitted,
D. H. MOORE,
President Peterborough Bowling Club.

Union Collar Makers Went On Strike This Morning

Latest Development in the Strike Situation at Ackerman's—Leather Workers Issue a Statement.

Out of sympathy with the striking harnessmakers, eight union collarmakers quit work at the factory of B. F. Ackerman, Son & Company, this morning. The men walked out of the shop at 8.30 and will not return to work until a settlement is reached with the union harnessmakers.

The striking Leather Workers today issued the following statement:

"We desire to let the public know of the stand taken by Mr. Ackerman in the present strike of the Leather Workers on Horse Goods. Our 4th Vice-President and Canadian representative, arrived in the city Monday evening and the firm were asked for a conference, and Mr. Ackerman stated that he had given his word that he would not meet a committee from the union, under any consideration. After receiving this report, it was decided to call the Collarmakers out in the morning, unless a conference was granted, and in order to get eight hours more work out of the men before they went out, this man breaks his word and meets a committee last evening. To show the friendly attitude he had towards our organization, upon being introduced to Mr. Shipman, our International Officer, Mr. Ackerman refused point blank to even shake hands with him. He told the committee, while he would agree to higher wages, the men must return to work, the same as those who are employed there at the present time, and whom we call strike-breakers. This proposition, of course, we could not agree to. In this proposition Mr. Ackerman denies us our God given right to belong to an organization. The Collarmakers were called out at 8.30 this morning. We are backed up by our International Union and receive strike benefits of $7.00 per week, to married men and $5.00 per week to single men, as long as the strike lasts."

Signed,
THE LEATHER WORKERS

Enquiry at the factory by the Review, elicited the information from the management that there are still eleven men at work in the collar factory.

All the union men are now out and intend to remain firm in the stand they have taken.

A Study of Breeds of Swine; Six Kinds Reared in Canada

The Yorkshire and Tamworths are Best Bacon Hogs and are the Oldest Breeds in Canada—Are Becoming More Popular Each Year.

An instructive pamphlet devoted to breeds of swine has been issued from Ottawa as Bulletin No. 11 of the Live Stock Branch. It deals with the history, characteristics and the points of excellence of the six principal breeds reared in Canada. Commencing with a review of the origin of domestic swine the bulletin teaches that the many varieties that are found in various parts of the world are all descended from one original stock of wild hogs. The variations that were effected by domestication upon the progenitors of our present breeds are followed out briefly. It is pointed out that confinement, along with an ample supply of food, soon affected great and lasting changes in conformation, disposition and aptitude of the animal. With these changes there came about a breeding to type and color in various localities, as suited the requirements and desires of the hog raisers, resulting in the course of time, in establishing the present pure breeds.

The breeds described in the bulletin and represented by illustrations of typical animals are the Yorkshire, the Tamworth, the Berkshire, the Chester-White, the Poland-China, and the Duroc-Jersey. The first and second are described as bacon breeds, the third and fourth as midway between the bacon and the lard type and the two remaining breeds as belonging to the lard producing class of hogs.

The improvement of the Yorkshire is traced down from 1760, the time of Robert Bakewell. It was not until 1860 that this breed was given a separate classification at English shows. Among the chief classifications of the Yorkshire of the present day are its docility, vigor, muscular development and its excellent crossing qualities. They are said to be early maturing, reaching with good care, a marketable condition, weighing from 180 to 220 lbs. at from 6 to 7 months old.

The Tamworth, which is also described as belonging to the large breeds, is traced from about 1815, when it is said to have been introduced into England from Ireland by Sir Robert Peel. The author of the Bulletin claims that this breed is purer than any of the others inasmuch as its improvement has been brought about almost entirely by selection of animals within the breed itself. It is stated to have received little attention outside of the counties of Leicestershire, Staffordshire and North Hamptonshire, until about 1870, when the bacon curers of England commenced a campaign against the then fashionable short, fat and heavy shouldered pig, which they found quite unsuitable for bacon production. The Tamworth then came into prominence as an improver of some of the other English breeds. It seems to have maintained from the first, its disposition to put on lean meat during its growth.

The Berkshire is stated to have assumed a fairly uniform and desirable type about the year 1825. It was at that time a fine appearing animal, very hardy, of good size and length, yet without coarseness. Unfortunately owing to a fashion which prevailed some years afterwards, the Berkshire was developed into a thick, short animal, with heavy jowl, thick neck and fat back. Later this style of hog became unpopular and the attention was again given to developing greater length, symmetry and fleshiness. As now found, the Berkshire exhibits desirable qualifications as a packers' animal.

The history of the Chester-White is extremely interesting. It is said to trace back to a pair of white hogs, imported into Chester County, Pa., from England, in 1816. This importation made a marked change in the swine of the district with the result that the Chester-White rapidly grew in favor. In the early years it was a fairly lengthy type of hog but for many years past it has been classed as a corn belt hog of the thick-backed sort. A few breeders in Canada, the Bulletin states, have sought by selection and management to develop the form and quality of the animal looked upon with favor by the packers and to some extent they have been successful.

The Poland-China and Duroc-Jersey have, during the past ten years grown less and less popular in Canada, according to the author of the Bulletin. In 1906 only eight members of the Dominion Swine Breeders' Association bred Poland-Chinas and three bred Duroc-Jerseys.

With the description of each breed is published a scale of points by which, with the illustrations of typical animals, a valuable service is afforded in teaching the correct ideals to be looked for in selecting breeding animals. The author of the Bulletin is Mr. J. B. Spencer, B.S.A. who has in this work presented a systematic study of swine that should be highly appreciated, not only by students of animal husbandry, but by swine raisers in all parts of Canada. Copies of the Bulletin are obtainable by applying to the Live Stock Commissioner at Ottawa.

Dr. Hugo's Health Tablets for Women Make Healthy Women.

Whether you believe it or not, this incontrovertible fact remains. These tablets will change weak and diseased organs into strong, healthy organs; fast with some, more slowly with others, but sure and absolutely certain with all who persist in their use, except the few beyond the help of medicine.

Disease, even chronic, will then disappear as these organs are restored to their normal conditions.

These tablets are now recognized beyond doubt or question as best adapted to the special needs of women.

The committee in charge are to be congratulated on the success of the event.

DOES NOT WANT TO END HIS LIFE

Magistrate Told Matthew Edwards to Leave Whiskey Alone.

Matthew Edwards was charged at the police court this morning with attempting to commit suicide. He decided to be tried by the magistrate and said that he did not intend to end his life. He had no desire to die.

"What do you drink whiskey for if it makes you want to do desperate acts!" asked his Worship.

"I'll not touch it again," said Edwards.

His Worship sentenced him to ten days in gaol and told him when he got out to go right back to Otonabee and get to work.

Edwards has appeared in police court on several occasions before. A short time ago he was arrested on a charge of stealing a horse and rig at Lakefield.

OBITUARY

HERBERT PEARSON.

His death was due to peritonitis. He was born in Smith, where he lived until four years ago, when he came to this city, where he engaged in carpenter work.

The late Mr. Pearson was widely known and the news of his death will come as a great shock to a large number of people. He was a member of the Canadian Order of Foresters', Selwyn, and also a member of the Carpenters' Union. Three brothers and five sisters are left to mourn this loss.

The brothers are Messrs. Fred and Robt. of this city and Thomas of Minnesota. The sisters are Mrs. S. Pearson, Bethune street; Mrs. M. Furbec, Thompsonville, Conn., and Misses Bella, Ada and Carrie, at home.

GOOD NEWS FOR G. T. R. EMPLOYEES

Ten per cent Increase in Wages for Road masters, Firemen and Sectionmen

Local employees of the Grand Trunk railway will be much interested in the following despatch from Toronto:—

An increase in wages amounting to 10 per cent. has been granted by the Grand Trunk railway to its roadmasters, foremen and sectionmen beginning this month. About 1,500 men are affected by the advance. This is not the result, it is explained of any ultimatum issued by an organized body, but follows from approaches which the men have made from time to time for increases because of the greater cost of living today as against that of a few years ago."

TEACHERS' UNION

Toronto, May 2. — The Ontario Teachers' Union is steadily gaining strength all over the province. Already half of the Toronto teachers, it is said, have joined the union and the officials hope to get nearly all of the 800 into the organization.

In Guelph every teacher but one has joined the union.

A meeting of the Executive has been called for May 24, when the work of framing a constitution will be taken up. The constitution framed at the recent convention in the Toronto University was only a provisional framework of the real thing.

"We are going ahead slowly but surely, and we are confident that we will accomplish our purposes," said Dr. L. E. Embree, senior principal of Toronto high schools today.

"We are not going about it in a way to antagonize anybody, and every action we take will be well thought out and carefully considered."

ASHES FOR ROADS

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I do not see why our Board of Works cannot use ashes to make new roadways and fill up holes in the streets. The city should be glad to get ashes for filling in purposes, and should cart them away gratis. This is done in many cities, and the people are only too glad to have the ashes carried away. Clean ashes make a very good roadbed.

Yours, etc.,
ROADWISE.

BISHOP'S ANNIVERSARY

A Hamilton despatch says:—Right Reverend Thomas Joseph Dowling, formerly of Peterborough, today officiated at Solemn Pontifical High Mass at St. Mary's Cathedral, in celebration of the twentieth anniversary of his elevation from the priesthood to the episcopate and the eighteenth anniversary of his transfer to this diocese. A large number of school children attended in a body and the local outside clergy were represented.

TELEPHONE SYSTEMS.

Under the act of 1906 the Railway and Municipal Board are preparing standard specifications with which municipalities constructing telephone systems must comply. Without desiring to impede the construction of lines the Government desires a certain standard of durability in view of the fact that many municipalitie swill conect with other municipalities the need of a uniform standard is evident. The act of 1906 enables municipalities to pass a bylaw to raise money for a telephine system to be pid for ultelephone system to be paid for ultimately by the subscribers. Already half a dozen municipalities are taking advantage of the act.

CHEMONG BRIDGE REPAIRS.

Reeve R. N. Scott of Smith township, and Chairman of the County Roads and Bridges Committee was in the city yesterday, on his way home from Chemong, where he had been looking after the repairs to the bridge. He said that he believed the total cost this year would not exceed $50, which is the lowest sum for damages from ice in the spring, since the bridge was first opened for traffic. This is due largely, said Mr. Scott, to the qualifications of Mr. Leary for his position. He took every precaution, when the ice began to break up to protect the bridge and he succeeded remarkably well.

NO SUNDAY SALES.

The notices have been issued and placed in all the drug stores of the town, announcing that, commencing with May 12th, the drug stores will close all day on Sundays. This action was due to the notice given by Chief Bond the other day that it was against the law for druggists to sell cigars, tobacco, candy, or anything except drugs on Sunday, and if they continued to do so, they were liable to punishment. The druggists felt that the amount realized on Sunday from drugs is not sufficient for them to keep their places of business open, and so they decided to close Saturday nights and remain closed until the usual hour Monday morning.—Port Hope Guide.

SUGGESTS REGATTA ON VICTORIA DAY

Deferred Acquatic Events of Last Fall Should Take Place.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I observe that there will be no military demonstration in Peterborough on May 24th, as proposed, the Dufferin Rifles of Brantford, not being able to pay our city a visit.

Now, what is the matter with holding a regatta, as was proposed last fall, when considerable money was collected and valuable prizes offered for competition. The big acquatic events were to have taken place on the Otonabee river at Crawford's Grove. Is there any reason that the regataa cannot be pulled off on Victoria Day? I understand that the prize money is in the bank and is available at any time. Let us get up some kind of a holiday demonstration and keep our people at home. Why should they have to go to other towns and cities to spend that day? It is some years since we had a celebration in this city, and we should do something in that line now. It is not yet too late to hold a regatta down the Otonabee or on Little Lake. I would like to hear from some of the members of the Regatta Committee and hope my suggestion will bear fruit, and be speedily acted upon.

Yours, etc.,
PUBLIC SPIRIT.

TRAVELLER AIRS SOME GRIEVANCES

Complains of Tables Being Removed From C.P.R. Waiting Room.

A well known traveller for a Berlin manufacturing firm, who was registered at the Oriental today, was overheard by a Review man this morning in earnest conversation with a fellow traveller for a Toronto drug house. They were discussing railway accommodation, and the Berlin gentleman remarked that he thought the C.P.R. was endeavoring to remove the station from Peterborough, piece by piece.

"I notice," he added sarcastically, "that the local train which goes through here shortly after seven o'clock in the morning does not stop until it gets pretty near to Cavanville. The other morning I had to walk pretty near a quarter of a mile down the platform to board a car. I am at a loss to understand why the train does not pull up at the station, but goes a long way by.

"Oh, yes; and another thing I have noticed is that there are now no writing tables in the general waiting room. I missed them the other day while hanging around for a delayed train. I and others have found them very convenient for writing letters and looking over and filling in our order books. I dod not know why the tables have been removed unless the C.P.R. is anxious to move the station away from Peterborough gradually. These may be small matters, but just think of a waiting room without tables to do some writing. I am going to Toronto by some other line than the C.P.R. if more attention is not paid to our comfort and convenience. Come, let us have a cigar," and the two knights of the grip walked into the dispensary of the hotel to refresh themselves.

CANADIAN WOMEN FIND RELIEF

The Case of Ellen Walby Is One of Thousands of Cures Made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How many women realize that it is not the plan of nature that women should suffer so severely?

Ellen Walby

Thousands of Canadian Women, however, have found relief from all monthly suffering by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it is the most thorough female regulator known to medical science. It cures the condition which causes so much discomfort and robs these periods of their terrors.

Ellen Walby, of Wellington Hotel, Ottawa, Ont. writes:

"Your Vegetable Compound was recommended to me to take for the intense suffering which I endured every month and with which I had been a sufferer for many years getting no relief from the many prescriptions which were prescribed, until, finally becoming discouraged with doctors and their medicines I determined to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am glad that I did, for within a short time I began to mend and in an incredible short time the flow was regular, natural and without pain. This seems too good to be true and I am indeed a grateful and happy woman."

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, bloating, (or flatulence), displacement of organs, inflammation or ulceration, that "bearing-down" feeling, dizziness, faintness, indigestion, nervous prostration or the blues, should take immediate action to ward off serious consequences, and be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and then write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for further free advice. She is daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years has been advising women free of charge. Thousands have been cured by so doing.

St. Andrew's Choir Honor Leader

Pleasant Time Spent at Residence of Mr. C. C. Forsyth

Last evening a most enjoyable party was held at the residence of Mr. C. C. Forsyth, when the choir of St. Andrew's church took him by surprise.

After a pleasant time spent in games the members gathered around the table to partake of the excellent refreshments provided by the lady members. The gathering then became a sort of banquet and speeches were delivered by many members The choir are exceedingly sorry to lose Mr. Forsyth as in him they found a true friend. To show in some way they appreciated his kindness, a topical Bible was presented to him. Mr Forsyth replied in a well worded speech, telling how he enjoyed the fellowship and good feeling of those associated with him in the choir, and he gave hearty invitations to visit him at any time. The choir are glad that Mr. Forsyth has received such an exceedingly good position in Lindsay and hope that he may have every success. The pleasant evening closed by singing Auld Lang Syne.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness, caused by Catarrh, that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

An attractive programme will be presented this evening and every one—no matter of what nationality—is invited to be present. Mr. R. E. EXHAUSTIVE INQUIRY INTO HOUSE PROBLEM AND DEMAND FOR DWELLINGS IN THIS CITY

Cheaper Class of Residences in Demand—Plenty of High-Priced Houses Beyond Mechanics Means—A Wave of Luxary—Large Building Operations Keep Wages Up—Cheap Power and Bright Outlook for Industries—Conditions as Found in Peterborough by a Representative of the Toronto News—Rents Have Doubled in the Last Six Years.

The Toronto News has, during the past few days, been sending a special commissioner to inquire into the house problem and the demand for workingmen's dwellings in various cities and towns of the province

On Monday last the News man visited Peterborough and in last night's edition of that paper he presents a full and impartial result of his observations as gathered from several interviews and certain information gleaned during his stay here. His write-up of local conditions is breezy and eminently fair but, when he deals with figures in connection with building operations, he is somewhat astray in his calculations. He estimates the building being carried on by the Canadian General Electric Company altogether at $65,000, whereas the large concrete transformer structure, now nearing completion, will cost about $200,000, making the amount expended in large buildings during the year about $600,000. This sum is exclusive of private residences.

The News man also states that the new armories will cost $100,000 whereas the outlay is more likely to be $150,000.

His summary of the situation here is as follows;

Peterborough, May 1. — In this thriving industrial centre no absolute lack of houses is felt. There are a considerable number of them to be had if one is only prepared to pay the price. Scarcely a house is available in the city for less than $10 a month, while the generality of those seeking tenants at the present time are held for figures ranging between $15 to $25.

The trouble seems to be that builders find a ready market for houses of the better class, those ranging in price between $1,500 and $3,500. And, even at that, a prominent contractor told the News that scarcely a new house was selling for less than $1,800. Most people who buy, be they artisans or merchants, are called upon to disburse $2,300 they both alike desire all the modern improvements.

WANT MORE EXPENSIVE STYLES

In Peterborough, perhaps more than in any other town of a like size in the Province, the people have been educated up to a demand for houses furnished in approved style, and anything less they will disregard Experience has shown that the residents will not coddle to a house of the poorer class. Mechanics have been known to pay $3,000 for their homes, while one contractor, Mr. H. C. Stabler, said that he had put $60 extra into the verandahs on a series of houses he was building, and that those with the extra adornments were the best sellers.

While scarcely as many houses will be built this year as last, when over 300 were rushed up, the contractors expect a busy summer. Mr J. J. Hartley remarked that he had three houses now under way that would bring $2,000 without conveniences, and $2,300, with the necessary improvements.

"These," he said, "are about the smallest houses that you can build if you expect to suit the people. They are 20x36 feet, and two storeys in height. There are a parlor, a dining room, a kitchen and a pantry on the ground floor and four bedrooms and a bathroom on the second floor."

$435,000 IN PUBLIC BUILDINGS.

Most of the building in Peterborough this year will be devoted to public buildings, upon which a total of $435,000 is to be spent. Itemized the amounts would be distributed something like this;

Armories	$100,000
Collegiate Institute	60,000
Normal School	55,000
Canadian General Electric	50,000
Roman Catholic Church	40,000
King Street School	35,000
Canadian General Electric, building nearly complete	15,000
North Ward school, addition	25,000
All Saints' church	25,000
Colonial Weaving Co.	15,000

As may be imagined, with all this exceptional building in progress, taken in conjunction with that which goes on from year to year, there will be a great demand for laborers to whom wages quite equal to those to be obtained in other centres will be paid Bricklayers are paid 45c. an hour, laborers, 28 cents, and carpenters a minimum of 27 1-2c, while the generality of them draw 30 cents.

Another thing which makes building operations expensive at the present time is the fact that materials have gone up in price at least 10 per cent.

Mr. William Langford, the contractor in charge of the erection of the new Collegiate Institute—an undertaking which he hopes to have completed by the end of the year—has built a large number of houses in his time and is conceded to be thoroughly conversant with the local building situation.

SHOULD RENT AT $6 TO $8.

"There is no doubt," he remarked "that what the city requires more than anything else is a large number of small dwellings that can be erected for rental at from $6 to $8 a month, but these houses would have to rely for tenants upon newcomers.

"Those who have been resident in the city for some time can look back to the time when they could get a six or seven roomed house for $6 or $8 a month. Now those figures are practically doubled and while wages have not advanced in anything like the same ratio, the old inhabitant could not be induced to live in a house that would better meet his abilities to pay.

"In a word, the average artisan has adopted a mode of living which he is now indisposed, if not powerless to drop. Though unable to afford the payment of the present high scale of rentals, he prefers continuing to do so rather than live in a small house to which he is unaccustomed.

"The result is that so long as the contractor is able to build the better class of house with a fair degree of certainty that a purchaser will be forthcoming, so long he will refrain from erecting the rows of small cottages that would come within the means of every artisan,

HIGHER MARGIN OF PROFIT.

"Contractors, the way conditions are today, are not inclined to abandon the building of the better class of house, with the attendant advantages in the way of large profits, in order to devote their energies to the smaller houses, which might or might not afford them tenants, and which in any event, if put up for sale would bring a comparatively small margin of profit.

"When I was in Liverpool last year I saw whole rows of small cottages, which contained four or five rooms, rented for eight dollars a month. That is the kind of a house that the artisan here should affect, but you cannot get him to do so. As I have said, if they were built at all, they would have to be for the more recent arrivals, unused to the modified luxuries that have been the lot of even the laborer in Canada during the past decade.

RENTS DOUBLED IN SIX YEARS.

"To show the way rents are at present, I may say that six years ago, I built two houses, which rented for $8 per month. These were very neat and comfortable houses; just such as suited the desires of the artisan, both as regards price and appointments. Last year I built a third house in the immediate neighborhood, similar to the other two in every essential respect, and this now rents for $16 a month.

"So that you see that, in six years the contractor, in order to obtain an adequate return on his investment, has been forced to double the rents, the cost of building houses having advanced in just that ratio."

Mr. Vincent Eastwood, who, until recently, was closely in touch with the building trade in his capacity as manager of a large wholesale hardware firm, took very much the same view of the situation.

"Builders," he observed, "have been putting up houses at a cost very much in excess of the price which an artisan can be reasonably supposed to give when purchasing a home. The tendency has been towards a class of houses very far beyond their means.

"As a consequence, if an artisan desires to rent, he has to pay a figure that would have given him pause a few years ago, and which, even with the advance in the rate of wages all along the line, leaves him worse off than he was in the old days. The only difference, is, that, being paid a higher scale, he does not notice the outlay to the same extent.

FORCED TO SEEK CHEAPER HOMES.

"But the time is at hand, when the people will be forced to adapt themselves to smaller homes. The increase in the cost of living will necessitate their seeking a cheaper class of home.

"Rents here, as elsewhere, have gone up surprisingly the last few years. Little houses, which five years ago, rented for $6 or $7 per month, now readily find tenants at from $10 to $12 per month—figures that are beyond the price, that any, but the better class of artizan should be expected to pay.

"There are in the city any number of houses available that rent from $17 to $18 per month, but there is an absolute dearth of houses of the cheaper sort. One would find it difficult, if not impossible to secure a house in the city for less than $10 a month. What we need then—and need badly is a five-roomed house that will rent for $8 or $9 a month.

"But, so far as I have been able to observe, there is no disposition on the part of the builders, to erect the cheaper class of houses to which I refer. They are devoting their attention entirely to the house that they can sell at about $2,500. On such a house they make, say, $400, in profit, while on the cheap home, such as the artizan demands, they could not reap a profit of more than $100."

Mr R. F. McWilliams, the Mayor, indicated his delight at the progress the city is making. This progress, in his estimation, was substantial, and the outlook, never was brighter than at the present moment.

"The city," he said, "is supplied with as many good houses as are required, but there is a great lack of houses of the cheaper sort. There was a boom in building when the Canadian General Electric Company came here about fifteen years ago, but, since then, the building of houses has scarcely kept pace with the demand, especially in respect of the class of house to which I allude. There has been another building boom the past two years, but it has involved the erection of no terraces; it is confined exclusively to high-class houses."

NEW INDUSTRIES LOCATING.

"Have any new industries located here recently?" asked the reporter.

"Yes," replied Mr. McWilliams, "there has been within the last year, the Brinton Carpet Company, which now employs between 60 and 70 hands, and the Rapid Tool Company, which has on its pay sheets between 30 and 40. All these are skilled operatives."

"Is there much demand for labor of various sorts?"

"Yes, but relatively more demand for skilled than for unskilled labor But you cannot run a factory without both."

"Has the city any more industries in view?"

"We are negotiating with two more factories, but I am not at the present at liberty to say what they are. Combined they will probably give employment to over 100 hands."

CITY GIVES NO BONUSES.

"What is Peterborough prepared to do in the way of bonusing industries?"

"We are opposed to granting money bonuses. The best we can do is to grant a free site and a uniform assessment for ten years. To the Canadian General Electric Company we gave a free site, a fixed assessment and a railway siding. The Quaker Oats Company was granted a long term fixed assessment. The site we gave the Cordage Company cost the city $4,500, and they were given a fixed assessment on that figure for ten years but, in return, we got an industry which employs 180 hands. But a great many of our best industries located here without any bonus whatever."

THREE SOURCES OF CHEAP POWER.

"How do you meet the demand for cheap power?"

"We are in a position to offer cheap power. Right in the city we have two power developments—the Peterborough Hydraulic Company and the Otonabee Power Company. The first of these has a head of 28 feet and is capable, at a minimum flow, of developing 4,000 horse power. The Otonabee Company utilizes one of the Government dams, known as No. 6, and can develop 1,500 horse power. This company has also secured leave from the Government to utilize dam No. 4, a short distance away, and they are building a new power house to combine the two dams, giving a head of 26 feet, with power nearly as great as the hydraulic company. The Canada General Electric Company have their own power with a dam at Nassau. They use the power generated themselves, and are looking for more."

"Are there any other sources of power supply?"

"Yes the ones I have mentioned are in Peterborough or the immediate vicinity. In addition, the Auburn Woollen Mills have a partially developed power within the city limits at present used for their own mills and to supply the street railway with motive power. This plant has a capacity of 1,600 horse power.

"The Otonabee river between the city and Lakefield has a fall of 130 feet, giving a total of 18,000 odd horse power, and the flow of the river is constantly being developed by the Government for canal purposes.

"If we have occasion to go farther afield, at Burleigh Falls, twenty miles distant, 3,500 horse power can be developed, and at Buckhorn Falls, a similar distance away, 2,000 horse power can be obtained. Healey Falls, forty miles away, where there is a drop of 65 feet in three distant falls, easily 8,000 horse power can be secured.

"So that, taken all in all, you will see that we have nothing to fear from any place, outside of Hamilton, so far as a supply of power is concerned."

NEW LINE FROM GEORGIAN BAY.

Mr McWilliams went on to indicate the advantages possessed by Peterborough in the way of transportation facilities.

"The city," he said, "is on the main Ontario division of the C.P.R., while the G.T.R. stretches out in four different directions. What will tell more in our favor than anything else is the fact that the C.P.R. has a line under contract from Georgian Bay to connect with the existing line at Peterborough, and paralleling the G.T.R. between the two points mentioned. Added facilities will be given when the G.T.R. has double-tracked its Midland-Peterborough route, as is proposed.

"The object of both the railways," Mr. McWilliams continued, "is, as is the object of Canadian trade generally, to get the products of the West to tide-water by the shortest route, and thence to the markets of the world. Conversely, the Eastern manufacturers desire the cheapest possible route to the West for the output of their factories.

BOOM FROM THE NEW CANAL.

"Aside from the railways, the completion of the Trent Valley Canal will do much to assist the farmers of the West and the manufacturers of the East in getting together on a profitable basis. From Georgian Bay to Trenton, by the canal route, is a distance of 203 miles, and 160 miles have yet to be completed. The remaining 43 miles consists in a large part of the river stretches at both ends, where locks will have to be built at various points to overcome rapids.

"The balance of the work should be done within the next five years. What this will mean to Peterborough is clearly shown in the fact that one large concern, which already employs over 100 men, will triple its plant as soon as it becomes apparent that the Government intends to push the work on to completion."

BOYS' CAMP SUPPER HELD AT Y.M.C.A.

Enjoyable Time Spent Around Festive Board Last Night.

The ninth annual Y.M.C.A. boys' camp, held at Clear Lake, in July, 1906, was lived over again for an hour or more last evening, on the occasion of the annual camp supper, which is always looked forward to with deep interest on the part of the boys who have attended the camp.

The camp of last year was pronounced as the best one ever held, it being attended by 37 boys and leaders.

The invitations for the supper were quite unique, the design for the cover having been drawn by Mr. Harold McCrea, artist. Camp phraseology was used to describe the different items on the artistic bill-of-fare, and included Flynnigan's Clear Lake soup, pork and beans au' Tom, biscuit punk, grease, smullagon, Lumber Jack pie, essence of limberger and memories of picnic day. About 30 sat down to supper, and from the time supper started the fun began and kept up until the close. Mr. R. E. Harding, the president of the Association, who has for the past four years been a welcome visitor at the camp, occupied the chief seat at the feast, and conducted the programme which followed it. Each boy responded to roll call with his camp name, those present including W. Stratton, C. Dean, Frank Patterson, Walter Perks, A. Gilbert, H. Outram, G. Minorgan, W. H. Saxby, H. E. Saxby, M. Turner, S. Pringle, G. Potter, Geo. Martin, G. McClennan, S. Madill, R. Dutton, E. Sanderson, N. McAllister, D. Layfield, W. Fortye, Jas D Patterson, G. H. Williamson, John Evans, P. Wallace, R. Baker, and Mr. George K. Martin.

Each boy then gave an echo of the camp of '06 in a one-minute speech. This recalled many amusing features of the camp, and as the boys took part they were subject to many interruptions—the singing of the camp songs and the giving of the camp yells

The pleasant evening concluded by all joining hands and singing "Auld Lang Syne." All the boys are looking forward to going to the camp of 1907, arrangements for which will shortly be made. The boys have still to secure $70 to pay for the camp lot at Clear Lake, and they are hoping that some good-hearted friend or friends of the boys who appreciate the value of the camp, will make it possible for the boys to own their own lot and erect a permanent lodge on it

How Carpets are Thoroughly Cleaned by Immense Revolving Cylinder

Messrs White and Mitchell who have established a carpet cleaning works in Peterborough at the corner of Charlotte and Aylmer streets, and whose advertisement appears in another column in the Review, are doing a very large business.

The plant is certainly an up-to-date one and consists of an immense open work wooden cylinder driven by an electric motor. This cylinder is thirteen feet in diameter and ten fet wide and makes 20 revolutions per minute.

In this vast wheel are placed carpets of any size, dimension or make, and as the wheel revolves every atom of dust or infection is carried off by air shafts, into which the dust, etc., is blown by rapidly revolving electric fans.

During the process of cleaning all carpets are treated by a formaldyhide process which thoroughly disinfects and purifies them.

The carpets are allowed to remain in the revolving cylinder an hour and a half, and when taken out, are fresh and clean not a speck or dust being observable. The invention is certainly a wonderful and effective one.

INCANDESCENT LAMPS BETTER

Than Arc Lamps on Many Sts. and Committee May Adopt Them

While the Board of Works and other members of the Council were touring the city yesterday they killed two birds with one stone. Ald. Johnston, chairman of the Fire, Water and Light committee, took advantage of the opportunity and looked into the requests of applicants for electric lights on the streets. There were several members of the Fire, Water and Light committee in the party and they gained a great deal of valuable information which will enable them to deal more properly with the requests for lights when they are taken up in committee.

At the present time fully a dozen new arc lamps have been asked for. These were looked after especially and also several other sections where more light will be needed soon. At the present time the question of increasing the arc lamps is a very serious one. The Peterborough Light and Power Company state that they cannot furnish more than probably a couple of open arc lamps and if arc lamps are wanted they will have to be the enclosed, which means changing the system.

The Fire, Water and Light committee will, however, endeavor to overcome the difficulty by using incandescent lamps. In several parts of the city the smaller lamps are in use and in the opinion of many the service thus supplied is the more satisfactory Four incandescent lamps can be secured for $48 per year, or $12 each. This is two dollars a year less than the arc lamps. It is claimed that the four small lamps, while they they do not give as bright a light, they distribute it more evenly, and as they are hung under the trees the street is actually lighted better. It is, therefore, quite probable that those applying for arc lamps will be given four incandescent lamps, unless this year's Council takes an entirely different stand to that taken by the Council last year.

The Fire, Water and Light committee will go into this question very thoroughly in the near future.

THE DOG BY-LAW

The dog poisoner is a nuisance. He is a menace to the community, and of late has been plying his calling in Peterborough with a zeal worthy of a much better cause. It is a dastardly crime to poison a dog, and cause the animal intense suffering. It would be far more merciful and humane to shoot him. It is difficult to fasten guilt on the dog poisoner. He works by stealth and the evidences or consequences of his act some times are not brought to light for several days or hours later. There is no doubt that many curs are of no use to their owners or anybody else, but that does not justify strychnine or arsenic being handed out in liberal quantities The police should see that all dogs are registered and, any canine that does not wear a tag, should be promptly impounded. If not claimed within a reasonable time the animal should be shot. If certain persons in their desire to rid the community of dogs, would band themselves together to see that no members of this tribe are allowed to run the streets at their own sweet will, and that a bylaw is passed and enforced that no animals should be permitted to wander the streets in an indiscriminate fashion they would be doing the citizens a real service. Many people do not like dogs and have no use for them whatever, while others love canines and make of them household or family pets. There should be moderation exercised on both sides.

In the town of Welland may dogs have been destroyed and a Dog Protective Association has been formed. The sum of one hundred dollars will be paid to any party or parties giving information that will lead to the conviction of any person or persons, who may be convicted of poisoning any dog in the town of Welland or vicinity.

This money is to be paid by the Dog Protective Association which was recently organized.

It is said that the penalty for the crime is imprisonment without the option of a fine. The dog owners in Peterborough might follow the course adopted in Welland. It should be understood that all canines, which are not licensed, should be sent to the "happy hunting ground." Good and useful dogs should be protected, but the mongrel cur, the vagrant bow-wow, the pilfering animal, should be despatched, but not by the poison method. A more humane way of terminating the existence of such animals is to have them shot, and the police authorities are the ones to carry out such regulations.

A FILTHY HABIT

Many persons in every civilized centre do not appear to care how much trouble or danger they cause others. They believe in so-called "personal liberty," and are frequently reckless of the consequences of their acts. There is the fellow who is all the time expectorating, just when and where he pleases,—in public halls, in corridors, in sitting rooms and on the sidewalk. The practice is not only unsanitary but it is disgusting in the extreme. Ejecting sputa and tobacco juice in an indiscriminate manner, has caused many citizens much annoyance and inconvenience and has led to the passing of anti-spitting bylaws.

There is no such a measure in force in Peterborough and the City Solicitor has been instructed to draw up the necessary document, when it will in all likelihood be adopted by the council. A few stiff fines for a violation of its observance will have the effect of causing the provisions of the bylaw to be strictly lived up to. If anyone desires to expectorate, the proper place to do so is in the gutter. It is but the work of a moment to step to the edge of the sidewalk.

Clean walks and clean streets, are what the civic fathers should see is guaranteed to the community, while private householders should be made to have sanitary yards and surroundings. It is a movement all right-thinking and clean living people should assist in carrying out. The anti-spitting bylaw cannot be passed too soon. Such a protective measure is urgently needed in Peterborough, and is of infinitely more importance to the weal of the community than the overhanging sign bylaw, and some other matters, which have created such a commotion of late.

INSURANCE INVESTMENT

The Commercial and Financial Chronicle, of New York, the leading financial journal of the United States, in commenting on the investment clauses of the various state laws, says:—

"The vice of such laws, however, goes beyond and is independent of their immediate results. The very bottom of the foundation of life insurance is that all funds shall be so placed as to compound at the best rates and with the least possible loss of time, due reference being had to security. The premiums are calculated and the contracts are issued to run for a long term of years on a very conservative forecast of the interest rates, and the principal states require reserve liability to be computed on specific rates, ranging from three to four and a half per cent. It is manifest that an unfavorable change of even a fraction in the rate realized would make a vast difference in the finances and strength of the companies, as well as in the premium rates.

"Heretofore we have had laws specifying in what kinds of securities trust funds may be invested. A year ago, notwithstanding all remonstrance, this state (New York), ordered the life companies to sell their stocks, regardless of quality; and now laws are beginning to command them to put funds where the managers of the funds would not put them voluntarily. Thus we are rushed, in the name of reform, from bad to worse, and blow after blow is struck upon the thrift and even the integrity of life insurance in the incriminating attack upon corporations."

"The many sided character of the insurance business becomes increasingly evident as time passes, and legislation affecting such a very important interest, in which such a large proportion of our population are concerned, cannot be too well considered. Mr. Fielding has acted wisely in not allowing any bill either in harmony with or opposed to the recommendations of the Royal Commission, to be rushed through this session of Parliament."

PEN POINTS

Which problem is the worse—house cleaning or house hunting?

There are a great many moving spirits in the city just now. If you do not believe it ask the transfer men.

Carpet beating is the most popular pastime nowadays. He is a poor husband who cannot raise some kind of a dust.

Bicycle riding is again becoming popular and perhaps the old time sport of a road race may soon reappear.

Be you English, Irish or Scotch you will be warmly welcomed at the "Irish evening" in the Young Conservative club rooms this evening.

The Regina, Sask., Leader has issued a special spring building number, which is a most creditable production and gives an excellent representation of the growth and development of that thriving and ambitious western city. It contains much valuable and timely information and is gotten up in most attractive style. The Regina Leader is to be congratulated on its enterprise and go-ahead spirit.

W. A. Miller of Port Hope Mixed Up in Romance With American

New York Despatch Says Miss Palmer, One of the Prettiest Show Girls on Broadway, Married Port Hope Man—Disowned by Parents—Were Divorced—Girl to be Married Again.

New York, May 1.—The American has the following:

Frances Palmer, one of the prettiest and most popular show girls on Broadway, will be married the latter part of this week to L. A. Hopkinson, a wealthy automobile manufacturer of this city and St. Louis.

Behind this announcement lies a romance of a mistaken marriage and the struggle of a pretty girl, scarce out of her teens, to support herself and her abandoned baby. Miss Palmer received her final decree of divorce yesterday from her former husband.

The wedding will be a society event in Nashville, Tenn., where the maternal grandmother, Mrs. Hume, and relatives of the bride live. Miss Palmer is living in the hotel Lucerne now, while her fiancee is registered at the Hotel Breslin. They will leave tomorrow for Nashville.

TO PREVENT KIDNAPPING.

Frances Palmer became known first to Broadway when she disappeared from the Frank Daniels company, "Miss Simplicity," which was playing at the Casino several years ago. It was said that she ran away from all her former friends, her position and her home, to keep her husband from kidnapping their twelve-months-old child.

The bride-to-be is the daughter of Frank A. Palmer, of Chicago, general passenger agent of the Wabash Railroad, and a well-to-do man. The family formerly lived in Newark New York, where Miss Palmer was born. Frances was sent to a fashionable school in Port Hope, Canada. There she met a young man named Miller, the village beau, with whom she fell in love. He easily persuaded her to elope with him and marry him, believing her father would save him the necessity to work for a living.

STRANDED IN TORONTO.

The father was inexorable, however, and refused to have anything to do with either of them. Ultimately Mrs. Miller found herself stranded in Toronto, having been deserted by her husband, with a baby born a year after her marriage.

The girl then came to New York and sought work on the stage. She found at first with "The Burgomaster" company, and later joined Frank Daniels' forces. When her father found that she had left her husband, he gave her an allowance, which with her salary, enabled the girl to live at the Gilsey House and to keep a maid for little Bessie.

The husband heard of her good fortune however, and came to New York, determined to make her contribute to his support. When he threatened, unless she made provision for him, that he would kidnap her child. Mrs. Miller disappeared.

NOT MARRIED THERE

Port Hope, May 1.—W. A. Miller is a son of W. M. Miller, former manager of the Port Hope Canning Co., who still resides here, retired. The son, W. A. Miller, came to Port Hope from the United States, about eight or nine years ago, and lived here for about two years with his wife, said to have been a Miss Palmer, daughter of an American railway magnate. One child was born to them in Port Hope. Mrs. Miller's younger sister spent some time with them here. Young Miller was engaged in the canning business, under his father, and also for a short time the former ran the Hotel St. Lawrence. His wife never attended school in Port Hope, the marriage having been contracted elsewhere. Mrs. Miller was a remarkably pretty woman, and Miller, himself, was also good looking.

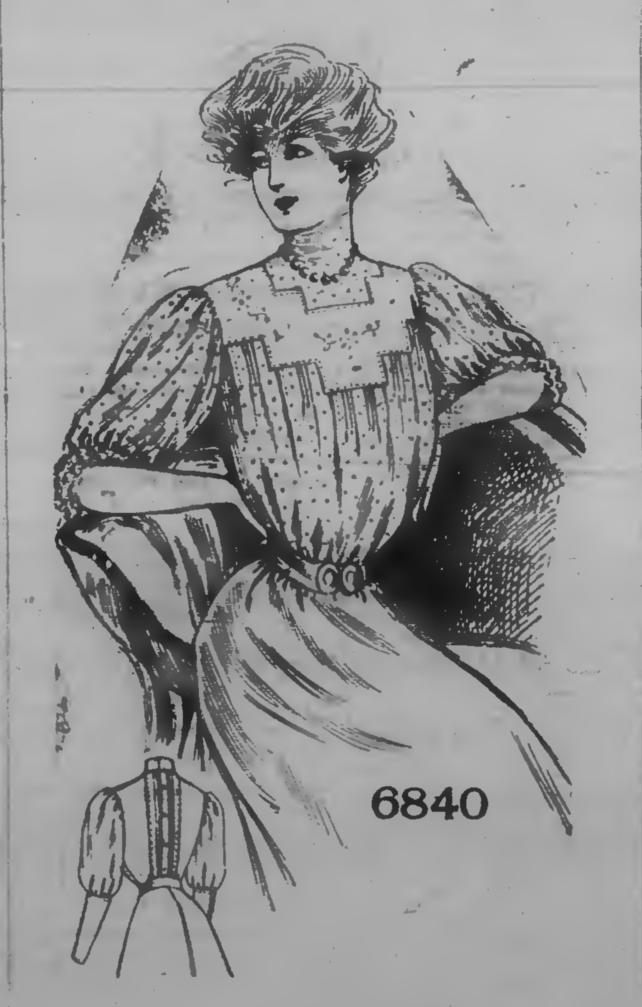
Construction Co. Workman Had Very Narrow Escape

Struck on Head by Heavy Piece of Steel Which Fell From Hands of Another Employee Working Higher Up.

M. Allan, an employee of the Dominion Engineering and Construction Company at the new transformer building of the Canadian General Electric Company, had a miraculous escape from death yesterday. As it was he was badly injured, his head being cut into, to the skull, several stitches being required to close the gash.

Allan was working on the ground floor of the building, when he was struck on the head by a heavy piece of steel that fell from the hands of a workman working overhead. The man who dropped the iron was about thirty feet above Allan and the big piece of steel came sailing down without anything obstructing its passage and struck the unfortunate fellow on the head. Luckily it struck with a glancing motion. Had it fallen directly upon Allan's head, he would undoubtedly have been killed. His head was cut through to the skull and he was rendered unconscious for several minutes. The other workmen did what they could for the injured man until Dr. Young arrived, and dressed his injuries. Several stitches were required to close the gash in his head.

Allan was afterwards taken to his boarding house. He was very weak from the shock and loss of blood, but will pull through all right. Allan is not a permanent resident of the city.



A CLEVER WAIST DESIGN

The charm of harmony and contrast is effectively brought out in this waist of silk with its unique yoke of dark color and inner one of light, further emphasizing the tones of the waist material. This fashion for two yokes is new and very fetching if cleverly realized. The tucks which extend from the yoke edges are distinct in groups and provide an ample fulness for the front. The back is tucked at either side of the closing but is without further ornamentation. The sleeves may be finished at the elbow or long to the wrist as shown, while they may be elaborated with narrow folds if desired. The waist is suitable to development in any of the seasonable waistings, a light cloth or silk being suggested, while any amount of originality may be shown in the trimming. The medium size calls for 3 1-8 yards of 27 inch material.

6840.—Six sizes, 32 to 42 inches bust measure.

The price of this pattern is ten cents.

SPRING HORSE SHOW.

Superb Display Marks Opening of Thirteenth Annual Event.

Toronto, May 2.—His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor formally opened the Canadian National Horse Show in St. Lawrence Market yesterday evening. At 8.20 the first phrases of the National Anthem from the band of the 48th Highlanders brought all the military units to the saluto, while His Honor entered with Mrs. Clark, Miss Clark and Miss Elsie Clark, who were presented with elaborate bouquets. George W. Beardmore, president; Stewart Houston, manager; W. J. Stark, treasurer, and other gentlemen conducted His Honor to the centre of the arena, where Mr. Houston read the address from the association.

His Honor congratulated the association on [illegible] a permanent and [illegible]itable home and on the way in which the arena had been decorated for the occasion.

Merit Permanent Quarters.

The association merited good quarters, for they represented what was not only an institution in the city, but recognized as such in the province and Dominion. He noted that they had taken a new departure in associating other similar interests with them and in becoming incorporated. His Honor hoped that in becoming an incorporation they had not lost that soul which characterized them in the past. He noted with interest, that the new company was to pay no dividends, and presumed that the citizens would not insist on the stock being put up to auction. (Laughter.) He spoke of the great benefits which had accrued to the city and province by the improvement in the breed and raising of horses by the efforts of the association and bespoke for the directors the genuine and cordial sympathy and assistance of the people to be manifested by their attendance.

The attendance was in the neighborhood of 3,000. The animals were up to and beyond the average.

MAY DAY IN MONTREAL.

Socialists Charged By Students and Scattered By Police.

Montreal, May 2.—The Socialists were not allowed to parade yesterday, but they did succeed in having a monster demonstration last night on the Champ de Mars. An enormous crowd of Socialists, students and spectators filled the square and overflowed into the street, completely blocking traffic. To add to the congestion and confusion the 65th Regiment held their weekly parade there at the same time. The Socialist leaders harangued the crowd for nearly three hours, until the Laval students, growing weary, started a rush, which put an end to the speech-making. A melee would soon have resulted had not the police promptly driven the entire crowd ahead of them and chased them through the streets. The entire police force was on hand to quell any disturbance, but apart from the one rush there was no attempt to interfere with the meeting.

BANNER FROM THE QUEEN.

Royal Gift to McGill University Unveiled By President Peterson.

Montreal, May 2.—An interesting event took place at McGill Convocation when a banner, presented to the college by her Majesty Queen Alexandra, through Lord Strathcona, was unveiled by President Peterson. The banner was worked by Mrs. Watts, widow of the great artist, and is emblematic of Canada's greatness. The gift will be placed in the Royal Victoria College dining-room.

Builders Want Increase.

Galt, Ont., May 2.—The builders' laborers' union demand an advance to 25 cents an hour, and threaten to strike if it was not granted. A conference was proposed for last night, but the convenor of the builders' exchange is in Toronto. The men were offered 22 1-2 cents and the builders are ready to make better terms to the men. One representative contractor last night said they are besieged with laborers glad to take work at 22 1-2 cents and less.

Hamilton Man Wins Oxford Prize.

Montreal, May 2.—Principal Peterson has received a cable announcing that Herbert J. Rose, one of the McGill Rhodes scholars at Oxford, and a scholar of Balliol, had won the Chancellor's Latin essay prize, offered for competition among senior students. Mr. Rose will have the honor of reading a portion of his essay at the approaching commemoration in the Sheldonian Theatre. He is a son of Rev. Dr. Rose, Methodist minister of Hamilton.

Winnipeg, May 2.—The first of what may be a series of strikes among the building trades went into effect yesterday morning, when the plasterers quit work because an advance of 10 cents per hour and a Saturday half holiday have not been granted.

Bricklayers Strike.

Ottawa, May 2.—Contrary to expectations, there occurred a strike in Ottawa yesterday, about 500 bricklayers, stonecutters and masons going out. They demand 50 cents an hour. A compromise is almost certain, to be affected.

Rochester, May 2.—Dominic Fuino, convicted of murder, second degree, for the killing of Camille Paget, a French-Canadian, was sentenced by Justice Benton yesterday morning to a life term in Auburn prison.

SOCIALISTS PARADE.

Sympathize With Men Under Indictment of Murder.

New York, May 2.—With the "Marseillaise" as their marching hymn, more than 6,000 Socialist and labor unionists paraded through the Brownsville and east end New York sections of Brooklyn yesterday to show their sympathy for Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone, the labor leaders under indictment, charged with murder of Governor Steunenburg of Idaho. Every man wore a picture button of the accused men, and several large banners, picturing them as martyrs in a righteous cause, were also displayed. Red flags and American flags were equally in evidence. During the parade and meeting in Congress Hall, which followed it, there was no disorder. This meeting adopted resolutions of sympathy for Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone. One of the speakers criticized President Roosevelt's allusion to them in the Harriman letter.

John Kells Ingram Dead.

Dublin, May 2.—John Kells Ingram, LL.D., the political economist, is dead.

He was born in County Donegal, Ireland, in 1823. He was a member of the commission for publication of ancient laws and institutes of Ireland and was connected permanently with various Irish societies and movements.

He published, in 1888, a history of political economy, which has been translated into Japanese and into nine European languages. Other works of a similar character have been widely read.

Object to "The Mikado."

London, May 2.—The censors' prohibition of the production of "The Mikado," as a mark of sympathy with Japan, is causing considerable protest here. Vincent Kennedy, Irish Nationalist member of the west division of Cavan, has given notice that he will question the Government in the House as to whether Premier Campbell-Bannerman will cause the presentation of "Hamlet" to be prohibited, "since Denmark is a friendly power and a Danish king is therein portrayed as a murderer."

Earthquakes Cause Distress.

Constantinople, May 2.—Earthquakes and famine are causing deplorable distress in the Bitlis district of Turkish Armenia.

A despatch received from there April 30 said that earthquake shocks were still being felt there, accompanied by terrific thunderstorms and lightning, which had wrought much havoc. The food supplies, it was added, were inadequate. The authorities are furnishing little relief, except in rebuilding fallen structures.

Prince Edward Joins College.

London, May 2.—Prince Edward of Wales, eldest son of the Prince of Wales, yesterday joined the Royal Naval College at Osborne, Isle of Wight, as a cadet. He will be treated exactly the same as the 400 other cadets, will occupy a bunk in the college dormitory and will be restricted to the 25 cents weekly pocket money allowed by the regulations. Prince Edward was born June 23, 1894.

Early Journalism in Peterborough

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—The Examiner makes the claim that it is the oldest paper in Peterborough. Is that correct? I thought The Review was. Will you enlighten us to settle an argument.

Yours, etc.,
OLD TIMER

Peterborough,
May 2nd, 1907.

In reply to our correspondent we give the facts relative to the history of newspapers in Peterborough. The first paper was "The Backwoodsman and Sentinel," founded in 1837, but it had only a short life. It was started as an enterprise by Mr. John Darcus. The "Chronicle" was founded in December, 1842, by Mr. Thos Messenger, and with Mr. Jas. McCarrol, as editor. Mr. McCarroll eventually left Peterborough and went to New York to engage in literary work. In his day he achieved quite a reputation as a poet, and published a volume of selections, written at Peterborough, and after his removal. The building in which the paper was first printed is that small frame building, now standing on Brock street, adjoining the Windsor. For a time the building was used as the town post office, and the slit by which the papers were taken in, still remains in the door. Afterwards the office was removed to a frame building adjoining "Ryan's" tannery, and the ground is now covered by the Lock Works buildings. A fire destroyed the building in 1848, the most of the plant being in fair condition. The "Despatch" was the next venture, in 1846. It was owned and published by Mr. George Hazelhurst, until 1856.

In 1853, Mr. Robert Romaine came to Peterborough and began the publication of the Review, in part of the second story of the building on George Street, now occupied by Mr W. Wrighton. The building was on the ground floor, used as a store by Mr. James Haffey. Mr. Romaine, in addition to the plant he brought with him, acquired what was left of the plant from the Chronicle, and most of the Despatch, the Review succeeding the Despatch. In the Review office are now fyles of the Despatch, bound, reaching from the sixth number of publication in Vol. I, forward. These fyles are the only ones in existence and form a very interesting history of the town during the years in which it was published. Many of the cuts and some part of the plant of the Despatch, are now in the Review office, kept on account of old association, rather than for any practical value. In the sense that the Review acquired and succeeded the Despatch, it may be taken that the Review is the oldest paper printed in Peterborough.

In 1856, the Examiner was begun by Mr. A. Sawers, afterwards published by Alexander Graham and James Renfrew. In 1863, Mr. James Dunn, who had been principal of the local Grammar school, came in with Mr. Graham. Afterwards Mr. Dunn retired and Mr. James Stratton went in with Mr. Graham, who eventually withdrew, leaving Mr. Stratton (father of the present proprietor of the Examiner) sole proprietor.

ROBBING BIRDS' NESTS

"Humane" Calls Attention to the Cruel Practice of Several Boys.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I have heard of a great many boys robbing birds' nests and believe these meddlesome lads should be punished. The forget that the young birds kill many of the worms and insects that do much damage to our shade trees. It is cruel and heartless to destroy the eggs of the mother bird and rob her of her young. Thoughtless youths who perpetuate such wanton acts, should be severely dealt with.

Yours, etc.,
HUMANE.

Opening Day of Eastern League

Excursion Will be Run to Toronto From Peterborough

Interest in the race for the pennant in the Eastern League this year promises to be the best for years, with the two Canadian teams well up in the fight. Arrangements have been made by which Peterborough fans will have an opportunity of witnessing the game on Saturdays in Toronto, which will be practically the opening of the season, so far as Toronto is concerned. A few of the Peterborough baseball enthusiasts have arranged for a special train to leave the C.P.R. station at 12.45 p.m. on Saturday, arriving in ample time to get to the grounds in time for the game. There will be a special train returning the same night, allowing those who wish, to attend the theatre. Those who wish, however, may remain in the city until Monday, the tickets being good until that night. The return fare has been set at $2.05, which is very low, and doubtless many will take advantage of the opportunity of seeing the ball game and visiting over Sunday with friends.

Schedule Will Be Arranged

Mr. Ambrose Regan, secretary of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club, received word today that a meeting of the representatives of the clubs in the district in which Peterborough is grouped, will be held at Beaverton on May 8th for the purpose of drawing up the schedule for the season. Mr. Regan will be the representative of the local club.

The boys have not yet had a workout, owing to the chilly weather. However, they will get busy with the gutted sticks at Riverside Park very soon now. The prospects for having a fast team in Peterborough are exceptionally bright. All the old timers will turn out and in addition to these, there is plenty of young material to recruit from. With Peterborough in such an excellent district as they are, there should be some great lacrosse here this season. In addition to playing on the home end of the field, Pat. McDonough will act as trainer for the local team during the season.

An exhibition game will likely be played with the Junction Shamrocks at Riverside Park on May 24th.

SHAMROCKS HAD FIRST PRACTICE

Lacrosse now occupies a large share of the attention of the local sporting enthusiasts and with the commencement of practice the interest increases. The Peterborough Shamrock's, Peterborough's representatives in the Junior C.L.A., had a workout at Central Park last night and travelled at a lively clip for the opening of the season. About a dozen players were on hand, the majority of whom were members of last year's team. Once they got warmed up to their work they set a lively gait. Several new men were out and from appearances there is going to be plenty of material from which to pick a fast junior dozen.

BASEBALL

POSTPONED.

The meeting which was to have been held last evening at the Oriental for the purpose of organizing a city baseball league, was postponed till Saturday afternoon, when it is hoped there will be a good attendance of representatives from all teams wishing to enter the league.

A STEP HIGHER.

"Yebbie" Flaherty, the clever local baseball twirler, leaves this week for Waterbury, Connecticut, having signed with the team of that city which is in the state league. He should make good and the local fans will watch his career with much interest.

FOOTBALL

HASTINGS ORGANIZES.

Hastings has organized a football club. The team will get into the Midland League, and if this is not possible will arrange games with Warkworth, Campbellford, Norwood and Keene, who are all playing football this year.

The name decided on for team was the Hastings Stars.

The following officers were elected,—

Captain—H. Brown.
Vice-Captain—T. Ray.
Secretary-Treasurer—J. Wilson.
Managing Committee—H. Wilson, W. J. Smith, F. Hinds, and officers of the club.

President Submitted Report At Meeting of Lawn Bowlers

Last Season Was One of Importance in Many Respects Election of Officers and Other Business Left Over Until Next Wednesday Evening.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club, which was to have been held last night has been postponed for a week and will, therefore, be held on Wednesday evening of next week. Although there was a large attendance at the meeting, in the handsome new Dominion bank chambers, it was decided to have the postponement as some of the prizes, which have been ordered, for the successful ones in last year's competitions, and which were to have been presented last night, have not yet arrived. However, the president of the Club, Mr D. H. Moore, submitted his annual report last night and there was an informal discussion regarding the season's prospects and the arrangements to be made. The report of the secretary treasurer, M. G. H. Giroux, will be submitted, and the election of officers take place, at the meeting next Wednesday evening. It is understood that the club is in as good financial condition as possible, considering the exceptional circumstances last season.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT.

The report of President Moore was as follows;

To the officers and members of the Peterborough Bowling Club.

Gentlemen;

Another year has rolled by and we are close to the opening of another bowling season. The past year has been a rather important one in more ways than one. We have had the British bowlers with us and although your president holds the record as the easiest mark of the four yet our club stood a good distance from the foot of the list.

The past year too was the first in which we have had any local competition for prizes. Owing to the generosity of Mr. C. E. Frost who presented a beautiful cup for the inter-rink competition, Mr Crane, who presented a pair of bowls for the singles competition, the honorary president, Dr. Boucher, and our vice president, Dr. Greer, who each presented a pair of bowls for competition in Scotch doubles we have had very interesting and keen rivalry among those who competed for these trophies. The past year has, therefore, been different from the ordinary, in that we have never before had such exceptional causes for enthusiasm.

We had, however, many annoying drawbacks, which caused considerable unforeseen and unavoidable expenditures. In order to have our lawn present as favorable appearance as possible when our visitors arrived we decided to place and sod a bank around the sides of the lawn. When this was done it was found that a large portion of the grass had been badly winter killed and owing to the very backward character of the spring there was little hope of it being ready when required, so we were forced to resod a considerable portion of it and in order to have this newly sodded portion in any kind of decent shape for playing on, we were obliged to spend a large sum in watering, rolling and filling in the uneven places. In addition to this we installed a new lighting system; also a watering plant, and procured new hose and a new mower. All this has been hard on the finances of the club but, under the circumstances, we pulled through very well.

The hose procured last year proved very defective, and the lawn mower, although an excellent machine in every other way, had soft knives which required too frequent grinding. Messrs. Kingan & Co., have taken the hose back to replace it, and we have sent the mower back to have the knives hardened. It will, therefore, be seen that, providing some sort of diffusion shades for the lamps, which appear necessary, we should have little, if any more than the ordinary expenditure for the coming season.

The lawn is looking well now and if the players will only have patience and not start to bowl too soon we should have the finest lawn that has ever been in Peterborough, and one of the finest in the country.

It is generally believed that we should require all players to either wear rubber shoes, or wear rubbers on their boots, as the sharp gouge form of the front of the heel of the boot, and the unrestrained enthusiasm of some of the players have a tendency to cut up the grass and injure the lawn. This, with the matter of diffusing shades are matters for your consideration.

Now gentlemen, as a Club, I desire to thank you most heartily for the repeated confidence you have voted in me, and the honor and kindness you have so generously showered on me. I desire to thank the members of the executive most sincerely for their cordial co-operation and advice, and where all have been so uniformly kind and generous it may seem a little invidious to particularize, but I feel that the wise and unstinted assistance I have received from Mr. Fitzgerald is worthy of special mention. It may be to some extent his proximity to the grounds that caused me to consult him more frequently. I have always found him a useful man in time of trouble and the club is indebted to him for many little services, the cost of which will never be known to you.

Baseball Score Cards Given Free at the Review Office

The Review is prepared to publish scores by innings together with the batteries of all amateur baseball games, and score by quarters with the line-up of all lacrosse matches, played by Peterborough teams in this city or elsewhere the approaching season. No matter of how little importance the game may be, if the score is authentic it will be printed by the Review.

Scores must be sent in on the day on which the games are played. They may be mailed to the sporting editor or left in the main office, thus assuring their publication the following day. Be sure that the scores are absolutely correct with names properly spelled, and figures clean and correctly totalled.

Secretaries of all leagues and clubs are requested to send to the Sporting Editor the names of the members of their teams, schedules of games and such items of interest as they deem worthy of publication. Communications may be sent as often as desired, and will receive prompt attention.

The Review has on hand a supply of score cards to record runs by innings, hits, errors, batteries and the features of the game. The cards can be procured by club captains and secretaries at any time, free of charge.

Call at this office and as many as required will be furnished gratis. Every club in the city should secure a supply. Junior teams will be given them just as gladly as their elders.

Local Bowlers to Play in Toronto

A team of Peterborough bowlers will go to Toronto tomorrow night to play a game with the Royal Canadians, one of the leading teams in the city. The Peterborough quintette will be composed of Messrs. W. McIlroy, T. Boyd, J. Conners, C. E. Frost and W. Crowley.

CRICKET

CLUB MEETS TOMORROW NIGHT

A meeting of the Peterborough Cricket Club will be held tomorrow, Friday evening, in the Y.M.C.A. hall. All fees are requested to be paid by that time, as the new material cannot be taken out until paid for. If sufficient money is received the first practice will be held on Saturday. The senior fee is $2 and junior $1. Age limit, 18. It is expected there will be a game here on May 24th with an outside club.

HARRIERS HAD GOOD RUN

A large number of the Y.M.C.A. Harriers turned out last night for the regular Wednesday night run, and had a good practice run, leaving the building about 8.15. Quite an interest is taken in the club this year, and it is expected that double the number of men will soon be running them. Last year's first and second men in the Examiner road race are turning out regularly, along with a large number of beginners and the Association should be well represented in the race this year.

General Baron Kuroki, of the Japanese army, will arrive at Victoria on Tuesday on his way to the Jamestown Exposition.

FLAHERTY WILL BE OUT ON SATURDAY

The Peterborough Baseball team will have a big workout at Riverside Park Saturday afternoon. Among those who will be on hand is "Yebbie" Flaherty, who is leaving shortly to do the twirling for the Waterbury team in the Connecticut State League. Flaherty did good work for Galt in the Canadian league last season and his appearance with the locals will be watched with considerable interest. The following players are asked to turn out next Saturday afternoon.;

Sheridan, Green, McDonald, Lucas, Parnell, Shaw, Johnson, Laing, McMillan, Burns, Burridge, Belleghem, Flaherty, Graham, Trainer Quinlan, Derocher, Callahan, Heaslip, Doherty, Gillespie, Cahill, Connors, Wareham, Grady, Curtis, J. Pilling, H. E. Pilling, A. Thompson, and P. Weatherstone.

THE RING

Boston, April 20th.—Tommy Daly, of Toronto, reached the finals in the American boxing championship at Boston last night and thought he had made a great impression. He trimmed James Korrigan, of South Boston in the semi-final, though Korrigan scored a knock down. In the first round of the final bout, however, he met a stiff proposition in Doyle. Daly had a punch that was characterized as a peach by the Boston crowd, and for three minutes he put up a beautiful fight. Just as the bell rang for the close of the round Daly walked into a cross counter which caught him flush on the jaw and he went down and out. It was some time before the attending physician could bring the boy around.

Daly is a nice two-handed boxer, and was well fancied by the Bostonese. Doyle won his semi-final by a knock-out, which gives him first prize and Daly second in their class.

Another Bank for Peterboro'

It is Reported Sovereign Bank Will Open an Agency Here

It is rumored in certain quarters that the Sovereign Bank will open a branch in Peterborough in the near future.

The city now has seven branches of strong, chartered Canadian banks, but it is reported that outsiders consider there is room for another institution. The Sovereign Bank has made great progress in Canada and only this week several important changes were made. Mr. Aemilius Jarvis, of Toronto, has been elected President, and Mr. Robt. Cassels associate general manager.

Mr. Randolph Macdonald, in stepping down to make way for Mr. Jarvis, becomes vice-president, which office and also that of director is resigned by Mr. D. M. Stewart, the general manager, the consequent vacancy on the board being filled by the election of Mr. J. H. Dunn, of the firm of Dunn, Fischer and Company, of London England.

Several Peterborough residents hold stock in the Sovereign Bank and knowing ones say that an agency will shortly be established in this city.

Snow Blockades Prove Expensive

Humboldt, Sask., May 3 — It cost the C. N. R. $6,580 to feed the passengers who were held up here for two weeks during the recent blockade. The Humboldt hotel got $4,080 and the Windsor hotel received $2,500. This is only one of the many large items of expense that the company were put to as a result of the tie-ups.

Since the blockade was lifted there has been unusual activity in the local yards, an average of about 150 cars leaving daily, both east and west.

Go to Toronto for Sunday. Special excursion on C. P. R. leaving at 12.45 on Saturday. $2.05 return fare.

Getting Ready for the Season

Horticultural Society Members Will Receive Roots

The Horticultural Society is prepared for the season and will in a few days send out to each member two roots of different varieties of perennial phlox, which it is hoped they will plant and thus add to the attractiveness of many a lawn and yard in the city.

Will Stand for Free Trade; With Statesmen at London

Mr. Asquith Gives Answer on Preference to Conference.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Says People Have Spoken—British Government Has Its Mandate and Must Obey—Premier Botha's Opinion—Colonies Should Be Free—Criticism of Canadian Tariff.

London, May 3.—(C. A. P.)—Yesterday's precis of the Imperial Conference proceedings is mainly devoted to the speeches of Sir James MacKay of the India Office, and Mr. Asquith, Chancellor of the Exchequer. Bond and Botha are briefly summarized. The remaining speeches will be issued to-day.

Premier Botha said he had no mandate, but expressed the opinion that the 1902 resolution should stand. He did not think any good would result from pressing on the Mother Country any advance on that. Respective Governments should be free to manage their own affairs.

Premier Bond joined Premier Laurier in supporting the resolution of 1902. His Government desired to co-operated in all possible ways in a policy of preference between the United Kingdom and the colonies.

Asquith's Cold Water.

Mr. Asquith said Premier Laurier had pointed out on several occasions that the basis of unity must be that each member of the Empire must look first to what in its own interests would best serve the whole by so doing. The colonies had received full fiscal independence, and had even used it to build up tariff walls against the Mother Country. If the colonies thought this their duty, their action would not evoke remonstrance or even criticism from him. If preferential tariffs from self-governing colonies did not admit British manufacturers to compete on equal terms with local product, doubtless the colonies held this to be vital to their interests. In some way the Home Government held free trade to be vital to the interests of the United Kingdom.

After fullest discussion and examination the people of England declared in favor of free trade by a majority unexampled in size and the Government could not accept any infringement on that policy, even by way of such experiment as Premier Jameson had suggested.

Examining the preferential tariffs of the colonies he found the South African preference very liberal, but it was too early to judge its effect on British trade.

Canada's Tariff.

The Canadian tariff had been beneficial to British trade rather by the way of stopping a decrease than by an actual increase in proportion to the total trade. Canadian manufacturers, however, remained protected. On dutiable goods the average ad valorem rate was about 25 per cent. for both the United Kingdom and the United States. Taking the average on all goods dutiable, the free ad valorem rate was, on United Kingdom goods, 19 per cent., and on United States goods 13 per cent.

Cannot Accept It.

It was a question of principle. There was no possibility of such a compromise as had been suggested by previous speakers.

Mr. Asquith proceeded to consider then what preference must be given, if at all, but the Home Government, speaking for the people, could not accept the principle of preferential trade by way of a tariff preference.

Extreme Purism.

London, May 3.—(C. A. P.)—The Times turns with a feeling of depression from the speeches of the Premiers to the reply of Asquith, and takes the line that as preference has never been clearly denied or affirmed by the electorate, the chancellor's attitude is one of extreme fiscal purism, if not prudery. It must be a disappointing future, this failure to make any advance towards the imperial states on a practical question, it says.

Elevator Collapses.

Yorkton, Sask., May 3.—The Canadian Elevator Co.'s elevator at this point collapsed and as a result 20,000 bushels of grain are spread over the C. P. R. tracks. There was 30,000 bushels in the building when the accident occurred. The whole north wall, from the roof down, fell outwards. This elevator has been filled to the roof all winter, owing to the Yorkton grain blockade, and the continuous strain was too much for it.

Amherst Foundry Destroyed.

St. John, N. B., May 3.—Fire yesterday morning totally destroyed the main building of the Amherst Foundry Co. Workmen were engaged in the lower storey at the time the fire broke out. The building is a complete ruin, and the loss will amount to $50,000, covered by insurance.

The cause of the fire was a defective smokestack. The owners say they will rebuild immediately.

Escaped In Nightclothes.

Durham, N.C., May 3.—Fire last night destroyed the Hotel Carrolina, a four-storey frame structure, located in the centre of the city, entailing a loss of $175,000, fully covered by insurance. There were 50 or 75 guests, all of whom escaped without injury. Some of them escaped in their night clothes, losing all of their possessions.

MAY FIGHT GUATEMALA

War Cloud Threatening the Peace of America.

Strained Relations With Mexico—Troops Are Gathering—Forces Mobilizing On the Frontier—Central American Republic Accused of Harboring General Lima—Secretary Root As Mediator.

Washington, May 3.—The strained relations between Mexico and Guatemala arising from the failure of the latter to surrender Gen. Lima under extradition proceedings for trial in Mexico, Lima being charged with complicity in the assassination of ex-President Barrillas, is a matter of serious concern to the officials here.

War May Be Averted.

As the situation stands, it may be stated upon authority that the Mexican Government does not believe it will be necessary to go to the length of actual hostilities, but it does feel that it has a right to demand of Guatemala the surrender of fugitives who have committed the greatest crimes upon Mexican soil. It is feared that the demand for Jose Lima will ultimately be refused by Guatemala, if for no other reason than because Lima is regarded as the right hand man of President Cabrera, in whose interest he is charged with connivance at the assassination of Barrillas. But even in that event war might not follow, though the 10,000 Mexican troops now mobilized on the Guatemalan frontier would probably be maintained there.

An Insult to Mexico.

Mexico City, May 3.—The Mexican Legation at Guatemala City was searched Monday by Guatemalan authorities to ascertain whether there were sheltered in it Guatemalans who were suspected of complicity in the attempted assassination of President Estrada Cabrera in Guatemala City Monday. The search was made on the invitation of Minister Gamboa as soon as he learned of the suspicion of the Guatemalans.

The approximate value of new buildings in Toronto for the first four months of the year is $5,116,701.

WEALTHY BREWER ARRESTED.

Wanted in the United States for Arson and Perjury.

Niagara Falls, Ont., May 3.—It turns out the arrest made Wednesday evening by Chief Mains and Officer McNamara of the Ontario Police, at the Clifton House, is an important one, as the man who registered as W. Warner, Toronto, is none other than Herman Bartells, the wealthy Auburn brewer who was convicted about a year ago of setting fire to his own brewery and about ten months ago jumped his bonds of $15,000.

Since his departure the grand jury of Cayuga Court, New York State, found a true bill of perjury against Bartells, and it is on this charge that the authorities from Auburn, N. Y., for the past ten months have had detectives trailing him through Canada. Bartells has successfully evaded the sleuths of Montreal, Kingston, Brockville and Toronto.

The detection was made on the strength of a photograph sent the chief, and within one hour after he had registered at the Clifton Hotel, he was under arrest. Bartells strenuously protested he was not Bartells. The authorities at Auburn were telegraphed and a reply came to hold Bartells. Attorney E. W. Barrett and Under Sheriff Thomas Walker of Cayuga County, arrived here yesterday afternoon and went with Chief Mains to Bartells' cell. He recognized both the visitors and shook hands with them, admitting his identity, but announced he would not return to Auburn, and would fight extradition.

It was only last week his bondsmen compromised with the state for $9,000 in settlement. The prisoner will be taken to Welland County jail to-day, pending extradition proceedings.

MUST ATTEND TO WORK.

Some Senators Lose Part of Their Salary For Session.

Ottawa, May 3.—A novel point in the payment of sessional indemnity to Senators appointed during a session of Parliament has just been ruled upon by the Minister of Justice. His decision is that the statutory fine of $15 for each day a Senator is absent from the House must be imposed for each day of the session of Parliament, prior to the appointment of the new Senator, whether the Senate was in session or not.

There are five Senators affected by the ruling, four of whom were appointed on Jan. 15 and one on March 12. Parliament met on Nov. 22 and they have been mulcted for every day from that date to the date of their appointment.

MAROONED ON LONELY SPOT.

Sixteen Men Held Prisoners For Ten Days In Lake Superior.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., May 3.—C. B. Robinson and fifteen men were marooned on a lonely spot in Lake Superior, off Point au Frepe, where the Pittsburg Steamship Co. is putting up a coal dock. When the ice broke up the men were unable to get ashore, and for ten days they were prisoners and had to live on salt pork and potatoes. At times the men became tired of their imprisonment and attempted to reach shore over the drifting ice, but they were compelled to return, and one of them was rescued in an unconscious condition. The men were taken off by the steamer Waldo, which stopped for coal.

SPIRITUALISTIC VICTORY.

Archdeacon Wins Suit Against Maskelyne, the Conjurer.

London, May 3.—The suit of Archdeacon Colley against Maskelyne, the well-known conjurer, for libel in denying his right to the title of Archdeacon came to an end yesterday with a verdict of $375 damages for the Archdeacon.

Maskelyne had a counter-suit, in which he claimed $5,000 from Colley for fulfilling the conditions of a challenge issued by Colley to him to reproduce by the conjurer's art certain spiritualistic phenomena the genuineness of which Colley believed in and Maskelyne denied.

This suit was dismissed.

Bankers Discuss Money Orders.

Montreal, Que., May 3.—The regular quarterly meeting of the Canadian Bankers' Association took place here yesterday at the Bank of Montreal, the president, Mr. E. S. Clouston in the chair. The chief question under discussion was the issuing of money orders by the several banks, and, although it is understood that some of the members are not very favorable to the plan adopted two or three years ago, it is said that a majority still favor the continuance of the project and everything will be done to make the system as perfect as possible.

Repatriation of Italy.

Rome, May 3.—The Government yesterday presented a bill to Parliament, providing for stricter emigration regulations. Messina is added to Genoa, Naples and Palermo as ports from which emigrants may leave Italy. The repatriation of emigrants returning from America will only be allowed on steamers authorized by the Italian Government. Steamers violating this rule will, on arrival in Italian waters, be fined $20 for each returning emigrant over the first twenty.

Local Option Upheld.

Weston, May 3.—Local option has been upheld in the town. Wednesday Chief Justice Meredith heard the application of James Haverson, K. C., on behalf of Lex Wynne, the Weston hotelkeeper, who sought to quash the local option bylaws on technical grounds. The chief justice held that the vote was unaffected thereby, and ordered that Wynne pay the costs of the case.

British Cabinet Considers Subsidizing of Steamers.

Would Be Indirect Form of Preference Freight Charges From Colonies to Great Britain Could Be Greatly Reduced—Sir Wilfrid Suggests Imperial Steamship Lines — Divert Traffic Going by New York.

London, May 3.—The suggestion thrown out by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Canadian Premier, to the effect that the Imperial Government, without violating is free trade principles, might give the colonies a quid pro que for their preferential treatment of British goods by subsidizing lines of steamers between England and the more important colonies, is being seriously considered by the Cabinet. The object of the suggestion is to bring about a reduction in freight charges, thus giving an indirect form of preference to the colonies. Those in close touch with the Government, however, point out that the British Government has spent millions of pounds sterling in profitless railroads in Africa, and that this is the legitimate form of preference which the colonies are entitled to expect. The Canadian Premier specially suggested Imperial steamship line between England and Canada and Canada and Australiasia, reducin gthe time from England to Australia to twenty, instead of thirty days, and in the end diverting some of the traffic now going by way of New York.

Scheme Deserves Encouragement.

London, May 3.—The Westminster Gazette hopes that if the scheme of communication via Canada with the Far East is put before it in a practical shape the Imperial Government will give it the most careful and sympathetic consideration.

DON'T WANT TARIFF WAR.

Governments Will Have to Come to Terms Soon.

Washington, May 3.—The attitude of the French Government in declining to accept as sufficient for import purposes the tag of the Agricultural Department affixed to fresh meats, has convinced the United States State Department officials that the time has arrived when an effort must be made to reach a general agreement with France to govern the trade relations between the two Governments. It is believed that the present attitude of the French customs officials is the result of extreme conservatism, rather than any actual opposition to the American method of meat inspection and certification.

In view of the failure of Congress to assent to any of the reciprocity treaties to which the State Department had committed itself in principle, notably in the case of the pending French treaty, the officials are embarrassed in taking up a course of action that will prevent a general tariff war. Their course would have become easier had Congress, in declining to approve the French treaty, indicated what its own desires were. In the absence of any such definition of policy, the State Department is facing the necessity of framing some other method of dealing with the important question than the one which it favored at the beginning.

CLERGYMAN ELOPES.

Leaves His Church and Wife for Fair Young Maiden.

New York, May 3.—Members of the fashionable St. George's Episcopal Church at Hempstead, Long Island, were astonished yesterday when they learned that their pastor, Rev. John Knode Cooke had departed from Hempstead, and that Miss Floretta Whaley also had left her home, and had written letters saying she would not return. Rev. Mr. Cooke is married. His wife is Miss Matilda Clarke, daughter of Rienzie A. Clarke of Hartford, Conn. She left Hempstead some time ago, and is now at her father's home.

According to stories which were circulated freely in Hempstead, the infatuation of the minister for Miss Whaley has been apparent for some time, and was the direct cause of Mrs. Cooke leaving for her father's home.

Montreal, May 3.—Dr. Torrey, the evangelist, intimated in a statement to the press yesterday that he will fight the effort of Norman Murray, the disciple of Aristotle, to make him apologize for an allusion to that gentleman at one of his meetings recently. Dr. Torrey denies that he used the words in the form imputed to him, and states that if Murray detains him here in connection with the case, he will sue him for loss of time. Dr. Torrey states that he has no intention of making any further allusion to the matter in public until the case further develops.

London, May 3.—(C. A. P.)—With every appearance of authority, says The Telegraph, the statement was made in the lobby of the House that the Government's plan of home rule in Ireland resembles the scheme Chamberlain proposed in 1886, which was to establish between England and Ireland the same relations which subsist between the Dominion Parliament and the Provincial Legislatures.

The Marathon Mystery

A Story of Manhattan

By BURTON E. STEVENSON
Author of "The Holladay Case"

Copyright, 1904, by Henry Holt and Company

"We'll have to start with a few general observations," he said at last. "It's evident that Thompson wouldn't have carried these clippings around with him for so long unless they in some way concerned him. It's evident that Miss Croydon would never have dared to take them unless she was pretty certain that they somehow vitally concerned her. It's evident that Tremaine wouldn't have taken so much trouble to look for them unless he was mighty anxious to find them. We arrive, then, at our first conclusion—namely, that these clippings necessarily shed some light upon the tragedy recently enacted in this room and upon the connection of these people with each other."

"Yes," I agreed; "unless all these people were mistaken in their estimate of the value of the clippings."

"That, of course, is possible, but I don't think it probable. At any rate, let us disregard that suggestion for the moment and proceed along the other line. What light is it possible for these clippings to shed on the murder of Thompson? Obviously it must be only by explaining motives. The majority of them seem to be concerned with the adventures of a Frenchman who goes under various names, but who, I am sure, is one and the same person. He must, then, be either Tremaine or Thompson. But Thompson was evidently not a Frenchman, and Tremaine pretty evidently is, though his contact with the world has served to rub away a good many of the marks. I think we're pretty safe, therefore, in assuming that the Frenchman of these clippings is Tremaine. As we go on, I believe we'll find some internal evidence confirming this. You agree with me thus far?"

"Perfectly," I said, "admitting your first premise that these clippings are really concerned with the case."

"That, too, I believe, we'll soon be able to prove by internal evidence. Of course, if they haven't any connection with it, they'll soon lead us into chaos. But there's another thing. We mustn't expect too much from them. We mustn't expect a story complete in all its parts—it's bound to be fragmentary. The wonder is that Thompson succeeded in keeping this many links in the chain. Maybe in his more prosperous days he had a mania for clippings. At best we mustn't be disappointed if there are long gaps in the story."

"Yes," I agreed again. "That's evident enough."

"Very well. We'll begin with the clippings, then, substituting Tremaine's name for the one used. The first clipping is merely a marriage notice, announcing that on the 23d of August, 1883, Tremaine married one Terese Bertigny at Dieppe. Let me see. Tremaine was then probably about twenty years of age. No doubt he was born at Dieppe, so that the name given here, Victor Charente, is his real one. You'll notice that he's retained his first name, which is a bit of corroborative evidence."

"Or a mere coincidence," I supplemented.

"I'll wire our correspondent at Dieppe to look up this Charente. Perhaps he can get a photograph. That would settle the question."

I nodded. Yes, that would settle it, for Tremaine at forty was probably not greatly different from Tremaine at twenty.

"The second clipping," proceeded Godfrey, "shows us that our hero soon wandered from the straight and narrow path, and gives us, too, a little light upon his personal history. In the spring following his marriage—April 16, 1884, to be exact—while assistant manager of the ship supplies house of Briquet Freres, he absconds with 60,000 francs. He is believed to have gone to America, to have been smuggled out of the harbor by a friendly American captain. Surely, it is not impossible," he added, "that this friendly American captain was Thompson."

"Very few things are impossible," I commented. I began to be impatient with Godfrey. He was permitting his prejudice against Tremaine to warp his judgment.

"Well, we'll keep that for a hypothesis, anyhow." And he turned to the third clipping. "This," he continued, "shows us that he indeed came to America. It is dated July 23, 1885, and states that a young Frenchman and a tramp skipper named Johnson—ah, you see?"

I did, indeed, see. Here was the first appearance of Tremaine's zombi—of his familiar devil. I looked at Godfrey with the liveliest admiration. This constructive reasoning was something which I certainly was quite incapable of.

"So that J on Thompson's arm was the initial of his real name," observed Godfrey. "I thought it was; it had been there a long time, and an effort had been made to erase it. After a man has started on the crooked path he doesn't want any tattoo marks on him; they make identification too easy. For Johnson, then, we'll hereafter read Thompson."

I nodded; I was beginning to be convinced.

"Well," continued Godfrey, "Tremaine and Thompson, then, were arrested in New York July 23, 1885, at a low resort where they were having a carouse. They had beaten and robbed another sailor. It seems that nothing was left of the 60,000 francs, and naturally Tremaine found it difficult to go honestly to work again. The fourth clipping, undated, but probably some months later, shows that Tremaine and Thompson were sentenced to three years each in Sing Sing. But they didn't stay there so long," he added, turning to the next clipping, "at least Tremaine didn't. On the night of Jan. 2, 1886, in the midst of a tremendous snowstorm they managed to hide themselves in one of the workshops and afterward to scale the outer wall. In the morning Thompson was found at the foot of the wall with his head cut open and nearly frozen. Tremaine got clear away. Thompson was brought around with the greatest difficulty and would say nothing except to indulge in terrible imprecations against his companion. You see," concluded Godfrey, looking up, "we begin to get at the motive."

"Yes," I agreed; "it's very plain, now you've started on the right track. It's a good deal like Columbus' egg."

Godfrey smiled and turned to the sixth clipping, the longest of them all.

"It's that way with most mysteries," he said, "and here's the internal evidence that all this theorizing is pretty straight. It's the clew, too, which we've been seeking so long."

"It explains Miss Croydon's presence here?" I asked, intensely interested and deeply stirred.

"Just that!" he said, and shot me a triumphant glance. "Let us see if you can catch it. The clipping is in French, and, though my French isn't of the highest order, I can get the sense of it pretty well. It is dated Suresnes and is evidently a letter from a provincial correspondent to a Paris newspaper, who, like most other provincial correspondents, is delightfully vague. However, I gather from it that on the night of Sept. 16, 1891, a beautiful young English girl—name not given—ran away from the convent school of the Sacred Heart at Suresnes and that the next morning she was safely married to a 'gallant Frenchman'—Tremaine, of course—by the cure of the little village of Petits Colombes. The marriage was quite regular—though no doubt the cure's fee was larger than usual—for the banns had been published as required."

"But still," I objected, "I don't see that that explains anything."

"Let me help you. It was this clipping I happened to look at first the night we found the body. I read two or three lines aloud, then Simmonds put it back in the pocket. It must have been those few lines which told Miss Croydon the nature of the clippings and their importance to her. The date line would have been enough to do that. Besides, if she'd already known of them she'd have taken them before we got here."

"You mean Miss Croydon is the girl who ran away with Tremaine? But, then, she couldn't have been more than ten or twelve years old in 1891."

"Eleven," corrected Godfrey, and I was struck by the radiant expression of his face as he took a yellow paper from his pocket. "Let me read you two sentences from this old report concerning the Croydon family. You ought to have recalled them, my dear Lester."

"Go ahead," I said helplessly.

"'Eldest daughter, Edith, born in France, Aug. 26, 1874. Educated at school there, but broke down from overstudy and returned to Beckenham. Religion, Catholic.' Now," he demanded, "do you understand who it was married Tremaine at Petits Colombes in 1891?"

At last I saw it, and I could only sit and stare at him, marveling at my own stupidity. This was the key—the key to the whole enigma. Miss Croydon had taken her sister's place, had tried to buy him off to get him out of her sister's way. It was Tremaine who had opened the door; it was Tremaine whom she had come to the Marathon to meet. But—and I started upright—since they were Catholics, only his death could release Mrs. Delroy! Perhaps it was Thompson, after all, and his death had released her! But, no, and in an instant the whole terrible position of the elder woman burst upon me. She was not Delroy's wife; she was—

"So," I said hoarsely, "Tremaine is, then, the true husband of Mrs. Delroy!"

"Let us finish the story of the clippings before going into that," suggested Godfrey. "I confess I don't quite see the bearing of this next one. It's a New York dispatch, perhaps to a London paper, under date of Feb. 18, 1892, and chronicles the loss of the bark Centaur, with all on board, off the coast of Martinique. The Centaur was bound from Marseilles to Fort-de-France, with a cargo of wines and muslins. Let us leave it for a moment and pass on to the next one, which is the last.

"This is dated Sydney, Australia, Oct. 23, 1896, and relates how a daring scheme to rob the Bank of New South Wales was frustrated by a sailor who had been a member of the gang, but who got frightened and informed the police. The ringleader, a Frenchman, was captured and would receive a term of years in prison. There are four copies of this clipping, which no doubt means that it is the one which Thompson was sometimes in the habit of sending to Tremaine to remind him of that Australian experience.

"Now, don't you see, we reconstruct the whole story. Tremaine, starting out as a defaulter and robber, escapes from prison, leaving his partner in the lurch, treacherously, no doubt, since it awakened his violent anger. There isn't any hatred more vindictive than that of one criminal toward another who has betrayed him. Tremaine finally goes back to France and succeeds in entangling Edith Croydon, then only about sixteen, in marriage. We know how fascinating he is, and it's not wonderful that he should be able to mislead an inexperienced girl. Of course what he wants is money, and so she writes to her father. He comes for her and takes her home, no doubt paying Tremaine a handsome sum to take himself off—in fact, mortgaging his home to do it.

"Miss Croydon gradually recovers; but she is Tremaine's wife. Yet in 1900 she marries Delroy. She must, therefore, have had good reason to believe Tremaine dead."

"Don't you see?" I cried. "That's the meaning of that item about the foundering of the Centaur, with all on board. Tremaine was a passenger and she knew it."

"Good!" nodded Godfrey. "That's undoubtedly it. Let me see," and he turned back to the clipping; "that was in 1892. His name, perhaps, appeared among the missing; she waited eight years, and at last, believing his death established beyond a doubt, married again.

"Now let us see what Tremaine was doing. In 1896 he was in Australia, planning a bank robbery. He meets Thompson, descended from his estate of captain to that of common sailor. Tremaine takes Thompson in on the plan, and Thompson, to get even for that treachery at Sing Sing, gives him away. Tremaine, no doubt, got a penitentiary sentence. He probably broke jail again, for in 1899 he appears at Martinique, supposedly from South America. He has considerable money, which he no doubt stole somewhere, and perhaps he chose St. Pierre as a safe place to stay in hiding until the hue and cry after him was over. He would have some acquaintance with the island, if he landed there from the wreck.

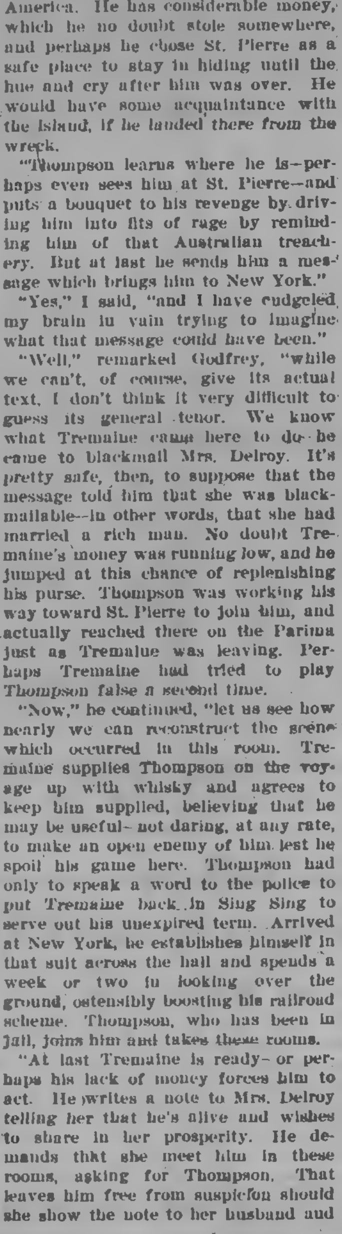
"Thompson learns where he is—perhaps even sees him at St. Pierre—and puts a bouquet to his revenge by driving him into fits of rage by reminding him of that Australian treachery. But at last he sends him a message which brings him to New York."

"Yes," I said, "and I have cudgeled my brain in vain trying to imagine what that message could have been."

"Well," remarked Godfrey, "while we can't, of course, give its actual text, I don't think it very difficult to guess its general tenor. We know what Tremaine came here to do—he came to blackmail Mrs. Delroy. It's pretty safe, then, to suppose that the message told him that she was blackmailable—in other words, that she had married a rich man. No doubt Tremaine's money was running low, and he jumped at this chance of replenishing his purse. Thompson was working his way toward St. Pierre to join him, and actually reached there on the Parima just as Tremaine was leaving. Perhaps Tremaine had tried to play Thompson false a second time.

"Now," he continued, "let us see how nearly we can reconstruct the scene which occurred in this room. Tremaine supplies Thompson on the voyage up with whisky and agrees to keep him supplied, believing that he may be useful—not daring, at any rate, to make an open enemy of him lest he spoil his game here. Thompson had only to speak a word to the police to put Tremaine back in Sing Sing to serve out his unexpired term. Arrived at New York, he establishes himself in that suit across the hall and spends a week or two in looking over the ground, ostensibly boosting his railroad scheme. Thompson, who has been in jail, joins him and takes these rooms.

"At last Tremaine is ready—or perhaps his lack of money forces him to act. He writes a note to Mrs. Delroy telling her that he's alive and wishes to share in her prosperity. He demands that she meet him in these rooms, asking for Thompson. That leaves him free from suspicion should she show the note to her husband and should he attempt to have the writer arrested for blackmail. But she isn't so sensible. Perhaps she disregards his first note; perhaps she's unable to decide what to do. She has, of course, been thrown into a panic. He writes again. In despair she seeks the advice of her sister, and Miss Croydon, who is by far the stronger of the two, offers to come here herself, see the man and find out what he proposes to do.



"Tremaine picks up the iron pipe and knocks him down."

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Steady—Chicago Slightly Easier for Hogs.

LONDON, May 2.—Liverpool and London cables are easy at 11½c to 12½c per lb., dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 8⅝c to 9c per lb.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, May 2.—Receipts of live stock at the City Market since Tuesday, as reported by the railways, were 104 car loads, composed of 1716 cattle, 1904 hogs, 124 sheep and lambs, with 189 calves.

Exporters.

Prices ranged from $4.90 to $5.25, but only one load was reported at the latter figure, the bulk selling at $5 to $5.10 per cwt. Bulls sold at $3.75 to $4.25.

Butchers.

Prime picked lots of butchers' ranged from $5 to $5.25, and one or two were reported at $5.30, but the cattle quoted at $5.25 and $5.30 were really exporters bought for butchers' purposes, and there were few of them. Loads of good, $4.60 to $4.90 per cwt.; fair to good, $4.35 to $4.60; good cows, $4.25 to $4.60; medium cows, $3.50 to $3.85; common cows, $2.75 to $3.25 per cwt.

Feeders and Stockers.

H. Murby reports only a fair demand this week for this line, the bulk of the demand being for good stockers, 800 lbs. and up to 1000 lbs. The demand for short-keeps was limited, a few loads selling from $4.75 to $4.90 per cwt., with a few as high as $5, but they had to be choice. The light, medium and common stockers are still very hard to sell, and the price has got to be made very inducing in order to make a sale. Several of this class had to be sacrificed at the close of the market. The stocker buyers are shying clear of this class. This is chiefly on account of the high cost of keeping them lying around the yards waiting for chance customers, and shippers are taking big chances in shipping them in unless they get them very low in the country and can take a bad price here, as in nearly every case the shipper has to look to the stocker buyers for a customer for this stuff. Prices ranged as follows: Steers, 1100 to 1200 lbs., $4.60 to $4.75; steers, 1000 to 1050 lbs., $4.25 to $4.50; steers, 800 to 900 lbs., $3.90 to $4; stockers, 400 to 500 lbs., $3 to $3.50, common stockers $2.75 to $3 per cwt.

Milch Cows.

About sixty cows were on sale for Wednesday and Thursday. The trade was much better than for several weeks, owing to several buyers from Montreal and Ottawa being on the market. Prices ranged all the way from $30 to $60 each, and one extra quality cow brought $70. The bulk of sales were made from $45 to $55 each. More good cows would have sold and one dealer stated that good to choice cows would be in good demand next week.

Veal Calves.

Good quality veal calves are scarce, and in brisk demand, while common to medium are about steady, prices ranging from $3 to $6 per cwt., but prime new milk-fed calves would bring more money.

Sheep and Lambs.

Receipts of sheep and lambs were light, and prices firm. Export ewes, $6 to $6.50 per cwt.; rams, $5 to $5.50; good yearling lambs, $7.50 to $8; common lambs, $5.50 to $6.50. One load of choice yearling ewes and wethers sold at $8.25 per cwt.; spring lambs sold at $3 to $7 each. More prime quality lambs are wanted.

Hogs.

Mr. Harris, who got over 1900 hogs on Wednesday and Thursday, reports prices unchanged at $6.40 per cwt. for selects and $6.15 for lights and fats.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, May 2.—Calves—Slow; prime steers, $5.65 to $6.

Veals—Receipts, 600 head; active and 25c lower; $5 to $7.

Hogs—Receipts, 3800 head; fairly active and 10c lower; heavy, $6.70 to $6.85; mixed and yorkers, $6.85; pigs, $6.85 to $6.90; roughs, $5.75 to $6.05.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 5400 head; steady; sheep, slow; lambs, active; prices unchanged.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, May 2.—Beeves—Receipts, 1422; very little doing; about a carload of rough cattle sold at scant steady prices; bulls, $3.50 to $3.85; cows, $2.30 to $2.50; feeling weak. Exports, 41 cattle, and 20 sheep.

Calves—Receipts, 85; market about steady; medium to prime veals, $6.25 to $7; no choice stock here.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 4963; sheep, nominal; lambs, firm; clipped lambs quoted at $7.25 to $8 for choice; no wooled lambs offering; spring lambs, nominal and feeling dull.

Hogs—Receipts, 1952; all for slaughterers; none for sale; nominally steady.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, May 2.—Cattle—Receipts, about 6000; market weak; common to prime steers, $4 to $6.60; heifers, $3 to $5.50; cows, $3.25 to $5; bulls, $3.40 to $4.60; calves, $2.75 to $5.75; stockers and feeders, $3 to $5.25.

Hogs—Receipts, about 21,000; steady; choice to prime heavy, $6.50 to $6.52½; medium to good heavy, $6.45 to $6.47½; butchers' weights, $6.45 to $6.50; good to prime mixed, $6.45 to $6.47½; packing, $6.20 to $6.45; pigs, $5.50 to $6.50; bulk of sales, $6.45 to $6.50.

Sheep—Receipts, about 12,000; market weak; sheep, $4.25 to $6.15; yearlings, $5.25 to $7; lambs, $6.50 to $8.70.

SENTENCED FOR FRAUD.

Washington Life Insurance Man Let Off With a Fine.

New York, May 3.—William A. Brewer, Jr., former president of the Washington Life Insurance Co., was sentenced yesterday to pay a fine of $500 for making a false and fraudulent report to the state superintendent of insurance in regard to the financial condition of that company. Two indictments against him, charging him with perjury, were dismissed. Mr. Brewer paid the fine.

The indictments against Mr. Brewer were an outcome of the insurance investigation and were based upon offences alleged to have been committed in 1901. When the case came up for sentence Assistant District Attorney Nott asked that a prison sentence be imposed. Judge Blanchard said he believed the accused the victim of a vicious practice, that is obtained in all insurance companies, and imposed a fine instead of confinement.

Charged With Perjury.

Toronto, May 3.—In the police court yesterday, the preliminary investigation into a criminal charge, brought by Thomas Crawford against Murdock McLeod of New Liskeard, was held. The charge arises out of the Lawson Mining Co. suit.

Mr. Crawford maintains that McLeod swore falsely when he gave in court certain dates upon which he said he made certain mineral discoveries in Coleman Township. These dates did not tally with those he inserted in affidavits of these discoveries.

The case will go to a jury.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY

Correspondent Thinks Mr. Carnegie Should be Asked for Grant.

To the Editior of the Review.

Sir,—I have read with interest your article in a recent issue on the subject of Public Libraries. This question of the propriety of accepting the millionaire ironmaster's money, does not worry very many people, as a rule and we need not waste any empty sentiment on that score. Granted that a Public Library is desirable, it is then only a question of cost and our ability to maintain. We have now a Mechanic's Institute, the neuclus of a good library, with a considerable endowment. Assuming that we were willing to accept twelve to fifteen thousand dollars from Mr. Carnegie's fund, then with our present asset, and fund, we could easily have a library, building and equipment at a very low cost of maintenance. Will some of your readers, who know the situation better than I do, take up this matter and indicate the opportunity that seems to offer itself to the public.

Yours respectfully,
LIBRARY.

Nearly $6,000 Was Received This Week From License Fees

All the Hotel Keepers Have Promptly Paid Their Half Yearly Fee—Licenses Have Been Granted to Thirty Bartenders.

The price for a hotel license in Peterborough is $500 per annum—payable in two equal instalments. The first instalment for the coming license year fell due this week, and every licensee forwarded his cheque for the amount due—$250—to Inspector Stewart. Eighteen hotelkeepers have each paid in $250, which amounts to $4,500. The proprietor of the Royal Hotel, which has been given three months extension to sell out, took out a license for a quarter of a year and handed over $125 Besides four shop licenses have paid in $250 each adding another $1,000 to the snug bill.

The Peterborough Club had to yield up $50, and this makes the grand total receipts from license fees $5,675. Half of this sum goes to the Ontario Government and half to the municipality of Peterborough. This represents only a period of six months, so that the total revenue from licenses in Peterborough is about $12,000, of which the city gets one-half.

BARTENDERS' LICENSES.

Inspector Stewart has issued thirty bartenders' licenses, and the little books will be there today. The license fee is $2. All who have been granted bartenders' licenses may receive the same tomorrow by calling at the Inspector's office.

Alterations to Old Fire Hall Passed by Property Committee

All the Officials Down Stairs Except Medical Health Officer and Sanitary Inspector—Work to Start Soon as Possible—Will be Done by Day Labor

The plans for the remodelling of the fire hall, the work on which will begin within the next three or four weeks, have been completed. The property committee spent more than an hour discussing the engineer's plans, which had been amended. These were adopted and the work will be done by day labor. The object of this was in case a number of changes might want to be made and if a contractor had the job he would have too large a bill for extras.

The revised plans provide for the tax collector's office at front, with three wickets, at which the public can pay their taxes in rush seasons Along with the tax collector will be an office for the assessors, who will need more desk room than anything else. Back of the collector will be the public waiting room furnished with a table and a couple of chairs. Along one wall will be fitted three rows of shelves for the accommodation of the files of the three local papers. The city now has files stored away where they cannot be got at, and they are of no use to the public or the city officials. These files run back to about 1860 and they are accumulating each year. With the improvement, as provided for, any person will be able to lay his or her hand on any file they wish without any trouble.

At the back of the hall, where the horses now stand will be the city engineer's office, with accommodation for the street commissioner and plumbing inspector. Also the engineer will have the big vault, now lying idle, for keeping his plans and papers, which are now lying without protection from fire.

All these offices will be furnished with telephones, desks chairs, and all conveniences for the carrying on of their work expeditiously. The new sanitary inspector and medical health officer will have an office upstairs, probably the bedroom used by Engineer Wainwright. This will furnish office accommodation in one building for all the city officials, except for the Charity Board's agent, and he has such very little use for an office that it would not pay to give him one.

The cost of the proposed alterations has not yet been estimated by the city engineer, but he will be instructed to have such estimate ready in a few days and at the council meeting on Monday night the committee will ask for authority to go ahead with the work.

On motion of Ald. Morgan and Ald. Elliott the chairman was authorized to make the best arrangement he can for the tearing down of the tower and stables at the back of the fire hall.

It was moved by the mayor and Ald. Morgan that the lease prepared by the solicitor for the Chamberlain estate, with one or two minor changes, be accepted, and that the city solicitor be instructed to prepare a bylaw.

It was moved by the mayor and Ald Elliott that the city engineer be instructed to extend the roof over the weigh scales, four feet at each end and construct a pitch roof to his office as per his estimate of $62.—Carried.

Moved by Ald. Morgan and the mayor, that the mayor and chairman be authorized to have the partition between the ward room and committee room removed, so that the committee room will be enlarged to accommodate the large deputation which frequently visit the council.—Carried.

Property Committee Talk of Garbage System for the City

The Property Committee made considerable headway last night with the garbage system, which is to be adopted in the city this summer. This matter has been discussed since last December, although there never was any intention of putting the thing in force here until the summer. Then the bylaws, rules and regulations, governing the system in other cities were not received until a couple of days ago.

But for a start the committee got over a lot of ground last night and when they meet again will be able to get the thing in pretty good shape.

Sanitary Inspector Ball spoke of his trip to Brantford, where he went to investigate the garbage system in force there. He said in part that Brantford used their waggons for collecting garbage, and charged 15 cents a month. This proved so satisfactory that while he was there, the council had extended the system to cover the whole city and charge for it on a general rate. For collecting night soil, two or three waggons were used. Both of these staffs will have to be increased now. Inspector Ball spoke very highly of the sanitary condition of Brantford. One strong feature in force there was that the collector of garbage, walked into the back yards, took the cans out to the waggon, dumped the contents, and took the can back to the place where he found it. In this way the back yards in Brantford are kept as clean as the front lawns

Only Two Building Permits Have Been Issued Up to Date

Probably a Hundred Buildings are Being Constructed Without a Permit—Aldermen are as Great Offenders as Anyone—Penalty of $50 for Non Compliance

Only two building permits have been issued by the city clerk so far this year. These were to Mr. Duncan McNevan, for an addition to his house, and to Mr. C. L. Smith, for a new house on McDonnell street near Aylmer street. It will be noticed that the name of the chairman of the property committee does not appear in the list. He is a contractor who builds as many houses during the year as anyone and he is now working on several. He is the chairman of the committee which drafted the building permit bylaw and had it put through the council. He knows all about it and can, therefore, offer no excuse for not complying with it.

The chairman of the fire, water and light committee, another contractor, and one who advocated issuing building permit bylaws for year has not yet taken out a permit for the various buildings and alterations he has contracted for and started He too knows all the provisions of the bylaw, and has no excuse for not complying with them.

Another member of the council is also a building contractor who supported the bylaw and has taken out no building permits yet. Several other building contractors, who are in a sense employees of the city, as they are engaged from time to time to act in different capacities are erecting and altering buildings, yet they have taken out no permit. Ex-Aldermen of the city are building contractors, who are now loaded up with work, yet they have taken out no permits.

Among the public buildings for which permits have not been taken out are the Collegiate Institute, the new Fire Hall, the King Edward School, the North Ward School, the Normal School, etc. In a few days the old Fire Hall is to be altered. A permit must be taken out for that.

The building permit bylaw met with great favor when it was before the council and very laudable speeches were made on its behalf The aldermen painted pictures of the city clerk's annual report on the building operations in the city during 1907; they argued that the water commissioners could secure information as to the quantity of water needed for the different buildings without any trouble; the assessors were to get valuable information by referring to the application for permits. In short the benefits of the building permit bylaw were without end. Yet that bylaw has been passed for a month and only two permits have been issued, while at least a hundred buildings have been started.

It will also be remembered that all houses or buildings of any kind not completed last year were to be included in this year's list and permits were to be taken out. As yet no one of the owners or contractors have applied to the city clerk

The bylaw provides a penalty for non-compliance with its provisions, of a fine not to exceed $50. It provides an officer to issue the permits. But who is to see that it is enforced? The mayor very kindly volunteered to see that every bylaw in the city was strictly enforced. But in this case he would have his hands full running around the city looking after the contractors and owners of houses.

Enquiry was made as to what official was responsible for the enforcement of the bylaw, but no one seemed to know. If that is the case, and in face of the failure of the aldermen themselves to comply with their own laws, the outsiders can hardly be blamed for their neglect.

The Funeral of Frederick G Cox

Private Service at the House—Large Number of Friends Attended

Toronto, May 2.—The funeral of the late Frederick George Cox, which took place yesterday afternoon from the family residence, 47 Queen's Park, was very largely attended, several hundred of the leading financial and business men of the city paying their last respects, while there was also a large number of friends from other places, including Ottawa, Montreal, Peterborough, New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and Boston. A private service for the family was held at 2.30, conducted by Rev. C. J. James of the Church of the Redeemer. At three o'clock, a public service was conducted by Rev. Prof. F. H. Wallace of Victoria College, assisted by Rev. George Jackson, B. A., of Sherbourne Street Methodist Church.

The chief mourners were Hon. Senator Cox, father of the deceased; Messrs. Herbert C. Cox, and Edward W. Cox, brothers, and H. Swan, A. L. Davis, and A. E. Ames, brothers-in-law. The honorary pallbearers were Messrs. Stephen Haas, T. J. Clark, J. W. Drynan, George Higginbotham, George H. Gooderham, C. A. B. Brown, William Pearson, jr., and Randolph Macdonald. The staffs of the Imperial Life Assurance Company, the Central Canada Loan & Savings Company, and the Canada Life Assurance Company, with all of which deceased was connected, attended in a body.

When the cortege moved off from the family residence it consisted of between ninety and one hundred carriages, about twenty automobiles and many gentlemen on foot. The remains were laid to rest in the family vault of Hon. Senator Cox, in Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

Up to the hour of the funeral telegrams and cables of sympathy were being received from a number of personal friends, including many Torontonians who are at present in Europe. Flags were at half mast on a number of the office buildings of the city.

An acceptable change is made in the mode of taking oaths—placing the hand on the Bible instead of pressing it to the lips. The penalty remains, of course, for false statements.

LAYING OUT WALKS.

AT STURGEON POINT

Mr Joe Brown claims the honor of having been the first to reach Sturgeon Point with a yacht. A party went down on Sunday last on board the "Rella." Members of the party brought back huge bunches of May flowers.—Lindsay Post.

MILK SUPPLY.

The milk dealers in Toronto have their own troubles. The men supplying the milk are on strike and the dealers are trying to get milk from here. The local train on the C. P. R. yesterday morning only had half a supply and the retail men in Toronto, are up against it.

TROUBLE IN THE JONES FAMILY

Jones had an awful time. If you care to see how he got along and see the moving picture entertainment at Scott's Colloseum, 432 George street. Afternoon 2 to 5, evening 7 to 10. Change of programme twice a week. Admission 5 cents.

GRANOLITHIC APPROACH.

Street Commissioner Harry Evans has a gang at work on the cement approach to the new fire hall. This piece of concrete covers a lot of ground and as it needs to be particularly well made the commissioner is superintending the job himself. He only has a couple of weeks to complete the job and to get it thoroughly dry and hardened before the firemen move in.

TWEED MAN'S ACCIDENT.

A Kingston despatch says; Joseph Shell, a young man residing at Tweed, is a patient at the general hospital here, as the result of an accident. He was employed in one of the factories, and had the misfortune to have his right arm caught in the shafting of one of the machines, and suffered a compound fracture of the lower forearm. Dr. Robertson, of Tweed, accompanied the young man to the hospital.

A WARNING.

Peterborough smart Alecks are warned against the following experiment; Joseph Gordon was instantly killed at Ogdensburg, N.Y. by an electric shock, while he was attempting to light a cigar from an electric arc in the street. With several companions he was returning from a dance when, in a spirit of bravado he lowered one of the electric street lamps and placed his cigar against one of the carbons. He received a shock of 2,000 volts.

LICENSES CANCELLED.

The Bancroft Times says; The license commissioners met at Marmora on Monday last and cancelled the shop licenses at Madoc, Marmora and Bancroft. The hotel license at Coe Hill was also cut off. The hotel at Maynooth, recently built by Mr. P. Rody, is also without a license. The commissioners met a couple of weeks ago and transferred the license to Mr. Geo. Flynn but Mr. P. Doyle, who is at present in possession, claims that his rent is paid until next November, and refuses to vacate the premises. The house will, therefore, be without a license after the first of May unless some settlement can be effected between Rody and Doyle.

CHEAP WHEELS.

The space available for bicycles at the police court is being filled with found wheels. The entire stock was loaded onto a dray yesterday and taken away. Disposition of the unclaimed machines will have to be made as the collection has become cumbersome. Over fifty bicycles were gathered together last year by the police, and no owners called at the station for them, so they have remained on hand, filling up the limited room on James street. The cycle season is again opening and the collection is starting to accumulate so that the clearing off of the old stock is imperative.—Winnipeg Free Press.

SUNDAY FERRY.

Ogdensburg Journal; The Lord's Day Act, which went into effect in Ontario recently, will, the Canadian authorities contend, prevent the operation of a Sunday ferry between Prescott and Ogdensburg; the Oddfellows' of the Fort Town, yesterday, could not come over to join their local brethren in divine service. The ferry company takes an opposite view and will contest the matter in the courts; at any rate the ferry should be permitted to connect with Sunday trains. The law will not affect the operation of the Richelieu & Ontario Company's Sunday boats, as they come within the "in transit" class, which is exempt.

MIDLAND WON'T STAY DRY.

In the town of Midland was waged one of the hottest local option fights of the recent campaign, and the bylaw passed by a vote of more than two to one, has now been quashed. The vote stood 477 to 234 and the town council was so eager to put the will of the people into law that it passed the final reading of the bylaw one week after the vote instead of leaving as the statute requires, a clear two weeks between the clerk's declaration of the result and the final passing of the measure. On this ground the bylaw has been quashed by Chief Justice Mulock, of Osgoode Hall. His Lordship holding that the citizens should be given an opportunity to apply for a scrutiny of the votes before the result of the vote became operative. This is the intent of the provision requiring the two weeks to elapse. The town has to pay the costs.

New Arrivals in Large Numbers

An immigrant train of five coaches passed through the city this morning a few minutes after eleven o'clock. It carried about 300 new arrivals from the Old Country. Four or five persons got off here, but the great majority were bound for Toronto and Western Ontario. An immigrant special has passed through the city nearly every day during the past week.

ANGLICAN WOMEN CHOSE OFFICERS

Miss Tilley Again President—Big Public Meeting Last Night

The second morning session of the Diocesan Women's Auxiliaries of the Anglican Church, being held in Toronto, was devoted almost entirely to business and reports from the various mission fields. The meeting was opened with singing and prayers, followed by a report of the nominations.

Rev. Mr. Wittaker, late of Herscheli Island, is leaving shortly for Fort McPherson. An interesting account of this post was given, in which it was described as a wild, desolate region, with the inhabitants so few and far between that there is barely one individual per 100,000 acres. Not much difficulty is encountered winning the Indians over to Christianity. In June last year over 100 travelled a distance of over 100 mile to partake of the Holy Communion, at the same time contributing generously to mission funds.

At the close of the morning session, Provost Macklem, of Trinity University, gave a stirring address founded upon a portion of the Lord's Prayer," "Lead us not into temptation."

The afternoon meeting was opened by Miss Cummings, who spoke of the improvement and surprising increase of the Leaflet, a publication devoted to Christian work. In its first year the Leaflet had only 300 subscribers, and this number at the present day has swelled to $13,362.

Several papers giving the history of the various Northwest missions were read. The first, Temiscamingue, was read by Mrs. Boultbee, followed by Moosonee, Moose Fort, Mrs. Stevenson; Qu'Appelle, Gordon School.; Mrs. E. Baldwin; Saskatchewan, Lac la Rouge, Mrs. W. Boyd, and Onion Lake, Mrs. Ellis, read by Mrs. Hodgins; Calgary, Blackfoot Reserve, Miss I Wilkes; Athabaska, Lesser Slave Lake, and White Fish Lake, Mrs S. Thompson; New Westminster, Miss O'Mella's work among the Japanese, Mrs Bedford Jones; Caledonia, Metlakatla, Mrs Upperton, read by Miss Halson.; Selkirk, Carcross, Mrs Skey

The rapidly growing interest in the Women's Auxiliary was testified by the large number of people who attended the evening meeting. The Venerable Archdeacon Sweeny was in the chair and opened proceedings with the hymn, "Lord, Her Watch Thy Church is Keeping," followed by the creed and prayers. The Venerable Archdeacon Warren touched on the great strength in unity shown, and congratulated the members on their success during the years of their minority. Twenty-one years of life just ended witnesses that the women recognize the great missionary character of the Church, and that they have a place to fill in the Northwest and foreign lands that is of enormous value.

Canon Tucker spoke of the Columbia Coast Mission and emphasized the fact that the Women's Auxiliary is debtor to the men engaged in the field out there. It was Rev. John Antle who began the work at Fairview, in 1905, and taught the Gospel to the loggers, rough enough stock to work upon, but his efforts have been crowned with success beyond expectation, for the mission was self-supporting in 12 months. Medical aid, however, is urgently needed, and it is to be hoped the desired aid will be given immediately.

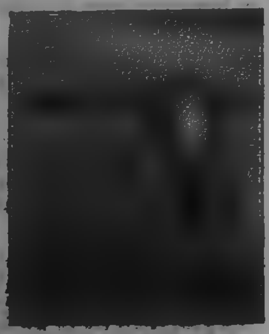
Where to While Away the Warm and Delightful Summer Days in Solid Comfort

Some Suggestions as to Canoe Trips and Camping—Places Where Lunge and Bass Abound—Illustrations Showing the Attractiveness of the Waters of the Kawartha Lakes and Other Points—Locations Near Peterborough Offer Unrivalled Advantages—How to Reach Some of These Retreats.

In the variety and abundance of sport obtainable, at a minimum expense and trouble, Canada has no rival, and is now acknowledged to be the best big game country in the world.

It so happens that the best game districts of the Dominion are either in the immediate vicinity of or at no great distance from the Canadian Pacific Railway, and outside the Dominion the road and its connections afford easy access for the angler and hunter to highly favored regions. Newfoundland is now brought within six hours' steam of the Canadian railways, and in the States adjacent to Canada, the Canadian Pacific Railway and its connecting lines traverse the best fields for sport. The heart of the moose, caribou and deer country of New Brunswick, and of Eastern and Northern Quebec is penetrated — lands which are not only famed for their big game, but which abound in salmon and trout streams, and lakes inhabited by many species of game fish.



Ready for business

For the greater part of the way between St. John, N.B., and Vancouver on the Pacific, the Canadian Pacific Railway passes through territory from which, in season, no sportsmen, however untried he may be, should return empty handed. There is necessarily considerable diference between the resources of one field and those of another. A particular locality may be more promising for certain kinds of game than the rest—one good for caribou, but scant for moose; one well streaked with trout streams, but affording less excellent bass fishing; one unsurpassed for wild fowl but not equal to others for grouse; but there are some which hold many species of game and will well repay the organization of a camping party. Some sportsmen, too, are not content to "rough it" however richly they may be rewarded, but require all the accessories of civilization reasonably obtainable; others regard the camp, the occasional inconveniences, and the complete change in mode of life as additional attractions to the search for and the securing of their game.

Bass weighing 6 lb. 2 oz.

Every sportsman should be familiar with the game laws of the province or state he intends to fish or hunt in, and to assist him in observing the law the Canadian Pacific Railway publishes, for free distribution, a booklet called, "Open Seasons for Fishe and Game." Ask any agent for it.

THE RIVER TRENT, ADJACENT WATERS AND PETERBOROUGH.

This is one of the best available regions for the tourist-sportsmen and anglers, especially for those who make Toronto their starting point. Leaving Toronto by the Canadian Pacific Railway, Havelock station is reached within four hours, or in other words, you can leave Toronto in the morning and be busy with bass and lunge early in the afternoon, a feature that should bear weight with those who have only a few days at their disposal. Havelock, distant 100 miles from Toronto, is the best point to select as headquarters, if a trial of the Trent be decided upon; and the angler or sportsman can take a trip, satisfied that, unless he is one of those who seem especially selected as the victim of hard luck, he will be richly rewarded for his trouble. Close to Havelock station, there is a hotel where visitors can make themselves at home, and pick up valuable pointers as to the best method for circumventing the bass and lunge in the Trent. Trent bridge is only three miles from the hotel, and one can secure conveyances at the latter place and be driven over. Boats and guides can be hired at the bridge at reasonable rates, and to many, the most enjoyable method is to camp by the stream. Those who do not fancy spending a holiday under canvas, can find accommodation close at hand. From almost the commencement until the end of the open season the lunge and black bass fishing is A1, except an odd day now and again, such as will be experienced on any water. Above the bridge toward the town of Hastings, trolling for lunge will give satisfactory results, for the "fresh water sharks" are numerous and bite freely, at either spoon, or live minnow, or chub, and the catch will be varied with heavy black bass. The right hand channel at the island, going down stream, and below the island for some miles to the government boom, are famous reaches for bass and lunge. Lunge scaling all the way from five to twenty or thirty pounds have been taken by still fishing, all along the river, between Trent Bridge, and Healey's Falls and Rapids, a distance of about seven miles. The stream varies in width from one hundred yards to a quarter of a mile, and here and there expands into broad bays; at many points there are rocky shoals and gravel beds, where, as the bass fisher will guess, many fine fish are sure to be.

Landing a four pound bass.

Trying a cast.

But the spot of spots for small mouthed black bass is below the falls. The stream widens fully forty feet over a rocky ledge, a hundred yards wide, and in the deep pools below the bass are found in all their glory.

About a mile and a half below Healey Falls, the Trent runs into Crow Bay, a noted spot for both lunge and bass, and one that is almost certain to well reward a trial.

Another excellent point on the Trent is Campbellford, twelve miles from Havelock Station. Up and down stream from Campbellford, a rod can be kept busy all day, and the fly fishing is good.

Anyone going to Havelock should write in advance, retaining boats and conveyance, in order that no time be lost in getting to work. By following this course a goodly string should be taken ere night falls on the first day of the outing.

One of the most important centres of Ontario, is Peterborough, which may be considered the birthplace of the modern canoe. It is a convenient point from which to reach some fine lakes, including Stoney Lake, one of Canada's charming summer resorts, where good bass and lunge fishing can be had. Rice Lake, distant twelve miles is reached by steamer daily, and is an admirable point for camping. There is hotel accommodation at Jubilee Point and Idlewyld. Chemong Lake is seven miles distant, and Katchewanooka, nine miles. Live minnow bait will prove deadly with bass and lunge; the fishing is generally excellent, and a couple of weeks may be pleasantly spent with rod and canoe, at trifling expense. Fairly good duck and grouse shooting can be had, but deer must be sought farther afield.

Northeast of Havelock is a fine sporting country for trout, deer and grouse. A sportsman can go to Rathbun or Bancroft by rail, at both of which places there are country hotels and thence drive out into the country he intends to work.

THE KAWARTHA LAKES

The Kawartha Lakes consist of ten beautiful lakes, known as Katchewanooka, Clear, Stony, Buckhorn, Chemong, Pigeon, Bald, Sturgeon, Cameron and Balsam. They are situated in Central Ontario, only three hours from Toronto, and eight hours from Buffalo or Rochester.

The altitude of these famous lakes gives them additional charm for the tourist and pleasure seeker, being over six hundred feet higher than Lake Ontario, and three hundred feet higher than Georgian Bay. To those who suffer from hay fever, the pure air of these lakes affords instant relief, and a brief stay, invariably effects a cure.

Bobcaygeon, the centre of these lakes, is a charming village, situated at the terminus of the Lindsay Branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway, on an island between Sturgeon and Pigeon lakes. It is noted for its bass and maskinonge fishing. The Kawartha Lakes are frequented by canoeing and camping parties, the beautiful shores and numerous islands making these waters an ideal camping place to enjoy the pleasures of rod and reel, the free life of camping, and the delight of canoeing. Guides may be obtained at Bobcaygeon or Lindsay by communicating with the Canadian Pacific Railway agent.

THE CHAIN OF LAKES NORTH OF THE TRENT.

Ranging northward of Havelock is a region of forest, lake and stream, which combines picturesque scenery with good prospects fro fish and game. A far-reaching chain of beautiful lakes extends through this wild country, linked together by small streams navigable by canoes, excepting in a few places where portages must be made.

The principal waters of the chain are Round Lake, Belmont, Deer, Oak, Blue, Twin, Sandy, Jack, Cushamogabog, Tonomong, White, Gull, and Eagle Lake. On the north side of Round Lake Round River discharges. This stream is navigable either by canoe or rowboat up to the "narrows," and here, after a portage of fifty yards, you can continue, bearing northward into Bass Bay, and the fishing in these waters is good all the summer months.

Oak Lake is a very pretty sheet, having numerous islands and bass fishing can generally be relied upon any time after the legal season opens.

A 28 lb. Maskinonge caught in Kawartha lakes.

The portage from Oak to Cushamogabog Lake is about a quarter of a quarter of a mile and easily made. Those who have used minnow, frog and worm bait in these waters, found them all excellent. Bass are a capricious fish, and while some days they wouldn't look at a big, fat, juicy, dew-worm, another day they would seem to prefer them to any other bait. Live minnows, however, are the most killing bait, as a general rule, and these can be obtained in reasonable quantities at the lake. If you want a most enjoyable outing, on one of the most picturesque lakes in Ontario, you cannot do better than decide on a week or two at Cushamogabog. The scenery is charming; the water very cold, even in August, the fish of a superb quality and firm as a rock. Take along your boat and camp outfit, then you can move around to suit yourself, and change localities as often as the spirit moves you. Close by are numerous other lakes, all of them easily reached by driving over a very fair road. They are Blue Lake, Twin Lakes, Gull Lake, Eagle Lake, Tonomong, Sandy Lake, and others still further north, but the group already mentioned are sufficiently numerous to furnish all the sport required by those who desire a pleasant outing and with whom time is an important consideration.

There is deer and partridge shooting through this whole section of country, and it is possible to obtain comfortable accommodation with some settler in many of the best shooting sections. The country is rocky and by no means easy to walk, but the sportsman who is prepared to take it as it comes, and can shoot reasonably straight when he sees game, will have no difficulty in killing all the deer the law allows him, and the bright, clear, northern atmosphere will give him a mighty appetite.

Belmont Lake, a few miles east of Round Lake, is best reached from Havelock station. There is a large boarding house on the shores of Belmont Lake, where good accommodation can be had, also boats and other supplies. There are a few boats available at Flairton and guides can be secured there. The fishing is about the same as already described, in fact, the general characteristics of all these waters are so similar as to render separate description superflous. If you have time to go beyond Belmont, you can have a thoroughly enjoyable trip by proceeding via Deer River and Deer Lake; the portage is only about 200 yards across and the bass fishing is really first-class. There are some charming spots on which to camp, and altogether a most delightful outing may be enjoyed hered.

From Whetstone Lake, you may portage into Tonomong, and this is a good spot for both bass and salmon trout. There are some accommodating settlers not far from the lake, and at no stage of this trip need there be any daifficulty in obtaining supplies of milk, butter, eggs, potatoes, etc. In all the lakes here mentioned the quality of the fish, owing to the extremely low temperature of the water is fine, and no gamer ones ever took an angler's bait. The grouse and deer shooting are good in the neighborhood of this lake, which is a favorite resort with a few of Toronto's sportsmen. An added advantage in its favor is that it can be reached over a very fair road, by a five hours' drive from Havelock station. If you are bound only on a fishing trip, the only driving necessary is from Havelock to Belmont—three miles and a half.

FISHING AND SHOOTING NEAR MONTREAL AND QUEBEC

Two very convenient points from which, by short journeys, excellent fishing and good hunting may be had, are the famous historical cities of Montreal and Quebec.

Anglers from Montreal usually find good sport beyond St. Jerome in the Laurentian mountain district in the small lakes and their feeders, these points being but a short run from Montreal. St. Margaret and Ste Agathe are stations in the same neighborhood, but further from Montreal, in the centre of groups of lakes in which there is good trout fishing. St. Faustin is also the centre of numerous fishing waters and a very good headquarters, miles from Montreal, excellent sport may be obtained. Beyond Labelle are the Macaza and Nominingue districts, the latter the terminus of the branch railway and [illegible]ding thirty fishing lakes within an area of sixteen square miles.

Among the hills northward of St. St. Barthelemey, sixty-four miles east of Montreal and distant from that station fifteen miles, are waters that will be found well worth a trial. The headwaters and tributaries of the St. Maurice River, which flow into the St. Lawrence at Three Rivers, are abundantly stocked with fair sized fish. The St Maurice is navigable to La Tuque, seventy-five miles north of Grande Piles, which is reached by railway, and there is a regular line of steamboats running between these points. Good guides can be procured at Grandes Piles. It is possible to canoe by way of the St. Maurice River and tributaries, to Lake St. John by three different routes; by little Bostonnais River, by Big Bostonnais River, and by La Croche River and thence from lake to lake. Fishing is good all the way through. Canoe routes lead to the headwaters of the Ottawa, the Gatineau and the Lievre, offering an infinite number of waterways through a splendid game and fish region. The Shawinigan River reached by stage from Lac a la Tortue—Turtle Lake—on the Grandes Pile Branch, twenty-one miles from Three Rivers, usually furnishes heavy strings of trout, as handsome and game as can be taken anywhere and big ones are fairly plentiful. The celebrated Mastigouche chain of lakes is reached by stage from St. Gabriel the terminus of the Joliette branch distant from Montreal seventy-eight miles. Beyond the Mastigouche are other lakes and waterways, which afford opportunities for splendid sport with rod and gun, and delightful canoe voyages.

Where business cares are forgotten.

The station of Portneuf, thirty miles from the city of Quebec, is a promising objective point. A pleasant drive of about fifteen miles up the river will bring one to excellent fishing in the river above and below the falls.

There are some good points for the angler near Quebec City, and he will find at the Chateau Frontenac delightful headquarters from which to make excursions.

A fine assortment captured on waters adjacent to Peterborough

Directly north of the city, 190 mile, by the Quebec & Lake St. John Railway, is Lake St. John, the home of the ouananiche. Marvellous tales have been told of this species, which is found in but few waters, and it is admitted that they are as game, strong and hard-fighting fish as ever tested skill and tackle. It would be difficult to imagine a more attractive centre for the canoeist and the fisherman than this broad lake, with its hundreds of miles of tributary rivers, extending far into a great unknown land. With skilled Indian guides the explorer can follow his fancy, penetrating the lonely haunts of big game in regions never visited by white men, travelling for days upon waters swarming with trout and finding sport unlimited. At Roberval, on Lake St. John, is a fine hotel, another at Grand Discharge, and steamers ply on the lake, the birthplace of the glorious Saguenay. Lake Edward between Quebec and St. John, is another excellent fishing water, at which there is also a good hotel.

Along the Lower St. Lawrence are many noted salmon streams, which may be reached by mail steamer, or by sailing vessel.

THE RIDEAU LAKES.

A few miles north of the River St. Lawrence, in Ontario, and easily reached from Kingston, Brockville and Smith's Falls, are the winsome Rideau Lakes, large, island dotted, bodies of crystal water. By the construction of the Rideau Canal, a watery highway 125 miles in length was completed, connecting the capital city of Ottawa, and the historic city of Kingston. The Rideau was always a fine bass water, and under the altered conditions, it not only held its own, but so rapidly improved that it is now one of the best for black bass fishing in America. As the years passed and the flooded country ran wild, the entire aspect changed; broad marshes were formed, overgrown with wild rice and rushes, attracting thousands of duck and other waterfowl. There is nothing, except an occasional lock to suggest to the voyager that he is upon anything but a great, natural water highway, a broad stream widening every now and again into lakes of greater or less extent, with long stretches of rushes and beds of rice, weeds and lily pads, such as are loved by duck and fish. Besides myriads of bass, there are land-locked salmon. Trout and pickerel are also plentiful, and in the fall, there is capital duck shooting.

On Long Island will be found the Angler's Club House, a good hotel containing about forty rooms, which is open to members of the Club which owns the island and hotel, also to those having letters of introduction.

A canoe cruise on the lakes will be found thoroughly enjoyable. Camp can be pitched almost anywhere. For those who prefer to spend their holiday among pretty surroundings and at the same time remain within all of civilization, the Rideau offers many inducements. The lakes are easily reached and easily traversed, and there is no hardship connected with the trip. The entire cruise is inexpensive and has been made in four days, but that, of course, necessitated hard work at the paddles. A couple of weeks, or a month or longer, could be pleasantly and profitably spent here. Should Kingston be selected as the starting point, tourists from east or west, are best conveyed thither by fine steamers, that ply upon the St. Lawrence and Lake Ontario, for that trip by water is considered one of the most attractive in the Dominion. If Ottawa or Smith's Falls are chosen, either is reached from east or west, direct by the Canadian Pacific Railway. Steamers run regularly between Ottawa and Kingston.

PURE FOODS

There was a sad plaint from a contemporary when it was learned that the bill for the regulation of patent medicines was not to be passed this year. What is the loss? There is a Pure Food law heroes the way, and it does not permit one from buying an article that is adulterated. The law simply makes a manufacturer label his goods. And the label is the last thing which some men consult. "You may, therefore," says the critic, "buy all the coal and tar and dye you like."

The situation has caused The Pennsylvania School Journal to comment upon it, and to say that science has lent itself to the adulteration of food, and has invented cheap substitutes with such skill that "nothing is what it seems to be." Butter comes from the butchers' packing houses, done up in aniline dye. Wheat bread is made of cornmeal, alum and such things. Apple vinegar comes from the manufacturing chemist, the milk from the barnyard pump, freighted with typhoid fever. Catsup is coal-tar dyes and salicylic acid; pepper is coconut shells, sawdust and clay; jellies and preserves are aniline dyes, and the bye-products of vitrol honey never saw the busy bee—the chemist make it. Red wine is salicylic acid, white wine is sulphuric acid, and, worst of all, whiskey is largely wood alcohol.

"The marvel of it all is that any human life remains," says the School Journal. But, despite all the concoctions and deceptions, all the adulterations and frauds, all the arts and devices of the chemist, "the average term of human life was never as great as it is in this day of imitation." Would you believe it?

WHAT IS NEWS?

Printer and Publisher, in its current issue, says:—

In a recent editorial the Orillia Packet calls attention to a matter of some interest to all publishers of newspapers, but more particularly to publishers in the smaller towns. The Packet strongly deprecates the habit prevalent among some sections of the public of sending in for free publication as items of news, what is in reality nothing but advertising.

The Packet declares that it will refuse free publication to "all advertising notices of meetings, concerts, socials and such like, where there is any monetary consideration, in the form either of an admission fee or a collection, as well as all business announcements connected with any sort of organization."

The Packet points out that very often economical committees decide to "save the cost of getting out bills by putting a notice in the paper," thus making the publisher's paper the vehicle for robbing the job department. "Insult is added to injury," says the Packet, "when the advertising notice is accompanied by an intimation that it will 'help to fill up'"

The indignation of the Packet is but just. A firm stand should be taken on the matter by all business publishers. It may be a trifle hard at times, to distinguish between what is news and what is advertising, but a safe guide is the method adopted by the Packet as mentioned above. No reasonable person will attempt to dispute the fact wherever money is one of the objects of any meeting, social or concert, and the promoters thereof wish the public to know about it in advance, it is a business transaction for which advertising is required, and any newspaper space occupied by it should be paid for. When it is over, as a matter of local history, then it becomes news, if the publisher thinks his readers are interested in hearing about it.

Credit is due to the Canadian Magazine for bringing to the attention of students of literature some interesting sidelights on the characteristics of some of the early Victorian poets, particularly of Dickens and Wordsworth. The May number contains an article by Mr. O. J. Stevenson, entitled "The Eccentricities of Genius," in which it is shown that Dickens declined to contribute towards the erection in Westminster Abbey of a tablet to the memory of the poet Cowper. Wordsworth supported the proposal and the difference between the letters on the subject by these two distinguished writers is striking and decidedly interesting. The May number contains also several well-illustrated articles and five or six capital short stories.

"The Conference of Colonial Premiers in London has stirred up much enthusiasm, amongst those interested in emigration. One of the immediate results of this is the projected issue of a new weekly, high-class, illustrated penny popular journal called "The British Emigrant." The new paper will shortly be published by Messrs. Travel, Limited, 62 Regent street, London, who have extensive connections throughout the British colonies. The tone and policy of "The British Emigrant" will be patriotic and many distinguished Imperialists will contribute to its columns. Connected with this journal a new British Emigration Association is in progress of formation, having for its object the fostering of emigration to the British Colonies, the protection of the interests of British emigrants, and the drawing closer of the bonds of union between the colonies and the Mother-land. Many well known names are connected with it, and a meeting will be held prior to the return of the Colonial Premiers to formally inaugurate the Association."

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the Eustachian Tube. Interesting Time at the Barracks

Salvation Army Bandsmen Were Commissioned Last Night

A large number of the Salvation Army bandsmen and their friends were in attendance at the barracks last evening.

It was the occasion of the annual commissioning of the bandsmen and the appointment of officers for the coming year. Adjutant Wiggins had charge of the meeting and, in a few appropriate remarks, addressed the members and handed them their commissions. Thirty-six old members along with two others, Messrs. Horton and Moore, recent arrivals from the old country, and another new drummer, who takes the place of Harry Jobe, who has left the city, were commissioned last night.

The officers were appointed as follows:—

Bandmaster.—J. M. Greene.
Band Secretary.—W. J. Outram.
Band League Secretary.—F. Gandy.
Band Segt.—S. McDonnell.
Librarian.—H. Dafoe.
Band Correspondent.—E. Hensely.

In recognition of his long and faithful service in the Army, Mr. Mark Spencely was appointed honorary member. The band regrets very much the resignation of bandsman Northcotte from the office of deputy bandmaster. It is eighteen years ago since the band was first organized and it has steadily grown ever since. Twelve years ago Bandmaster Greene took charge and, with the exception of two years he spent as an officer in the Army when he was absent from the city, he has filled that position ever since.

The band officers will likely meet next week to consider plans for the summer work.

MEANING OF "ARTISTIC"

The Beautiful Way of Doing Things Will Bear Analysis.

Art is the beautiful way of doing things. A man may be born with an artistic instinct, but he must cultivate it in order that he may become creative.

Any tailor can take a web of cloth and make a suit of clothes, but few ever attain to the artistic conception and positive impression which is put into Semi-ready tailoring.

"There are gentlemen who want good clothes, and, when they know that it cost more to make the cloth and tailor them rightly, they will willingly pay the price," said the President of the Semi-ready Company.

That is one of the bases of Semi-ready. You can buy cheaper clothes, but you cannot buy better. Few are satisfied with the cheaper.

Target Practice at Drill Hall

Regimental Rifle Committee Will Meet Tuesday Night

Major Clegg, chairman of the 57th Regimental Rifle Committee, has called a meeting of the committee for Tuesday evening next at 8 o'clock, instead of at 10 o'clock, as previously announced. Officers commanding companies are requested to govern themselves accordingly, and a full attendance is requested.

A gallery rifle range will be fitted up in the drill hall, when Morris tubes and miniature targets at 25 yards will be used. Rifle practice will start on Wednesday night next.

The local detachment of the 3rd Prince of Wales Canadian Dragoons will go into camp at Kingston on June 17th for two weeks.

BIG RECEIPTS FOR THE TREASURY

Toronto May 3.—The receipts of the Provincial Secretary's Department for the first four months in 1907 show a large advance on those of the same period last year. This year the total revenue was $133,257.28. In 1906 it was only $70,685.55 for the same space of four months. In April, 1907, $34,589.90 was the sum collected, as against $20,581.90 in April, 1906.

The gross amount received by the Succession Duties Department of the province during the month of April was $306,381. Of this sum, however $150,000 is a deposit held by the treasury pending an adjustment of the amount due for taxation by the estate of the late Senator Pulford of Brockville. The executors have paid $100,000 on account, and in addition have deposited the sum above mentioned.

Pill Pounders Were "At Home"

Jolly Event at Foresters' Hall Last Night

Foresters' hall was the scene of another jolly gathering last night, when the "Pill Pounders" held another "At Home." The event was a delightful one in every respect, and the fifty couples who were present had a most enjoyable time. The floor was in splendid condition for dancing and excellent music was supplied by Mr. E. A. Harding, of the Colloseum.

Dancing was kept up until an early hour, with an intermission at midnight, when dainty refreshments were served. The committee in charge, which consisted of Messrs. R. Quinn, G. E. Fitzgerald and R. Mann, is to be congratulated on the success of the function, which was voted by everyone one of the best of the season.

Said Goodbye to Mr. McBude

Popular Young Man Banquetted by His Companions

A number of the friends of Mr. Garnett McBrien, who is leaving the city to take a position in Brandon, Manitoba, in one of the newspaper offices of that city, tendered him a banquet at the National hotel last evening on the eve of his departure for the west. Mr. James R. Bell made a most agreeable chairman and after ample justice had been done the many good things provided, a short toast list was carried out.

During the evening Mr. McBrien was presented with an appreciative address.

The toast list was as follows:—

"The King."

"Our Country," by Mr. M. H. Drysdale, and responded to by Mr. Bert Hunter.

"Our guest," proposed by Mr. B. Doucette, and responded to by Mr McBrien.

"Peterborough's Industries," by the chairman, and acknowledged by Mr. Mr. Samuel Trude.

Mr. James Browne responded to the toast of "The Press," and "The Ladies" found an able champion in Mr. C. Burns.

During the festivities capital songs were contributed by Messrs. James Browne and Harry Burridge, while recitations were given by Messrs. B. Doucette and J. W. N. Lea. Mr. M. H. Drysdale was heard in a clever monologue.

The following address was presented to Mr. McBrien:—

Peterborough, May 2nd, 1907.
To Mr. Garnett McBrien,—

Dear Friend,—As companions and friends, we would be untrue to our feelings if we did not extend the best wishes for a pleasant trip and a happy, prosperous future to one of our number who is about to leave us and associate himself with new companions in that great and glorious West, where the flower of Ontario, the pick of this country, is going to seek fortune.

We cannot say good-bye to you without regret, as you have always held the highest position in our esteem; and we will miss you in many ways. But we shall be comforted with the assurance that you will enjoy yourself in the "Fresh fields and pastures new."

Wherever you go you are bound to make friends, yet we beg to assure you, that we are confident you will find none more faithful—we think we may say none so faithful—as those you leave behind. There is an unspoken farewell to you in each of our hearts. A far more eloquent one than the lips of any of us can utter.

Your friends join heart and hand in wishing you all happiness and success in your western home.

St. Andrew's Church Will Have Gallery

Matter Will Soon be Taken up by Board of Managers

The Board of Managers of St. Andrew's church held a meeting last night. Only routine business was transacted.

It is expected that the managers will shortly consider the advisability of adding a gallery to the church. The seating accommodation is now taxed to its utmost and many persons are waiting for sittings.

St Andrew's church, Lindsay, is modelled considerably after the plan and style of St. Andrew's church in this city and a gallery was placed in the Lindsay edifice, which afforded much needed accommodation and did not in the least detract from the interior appearance or acoustic properties of the sanctuary.

There is no reason, architecturally or otherwise, why a gallery should not be placed in the church here, and as soon as the money is raised the improvement will likely be undertaken.

Irish Evening at Club Rooms

Most Enjoyable Programme Contributed Last Night

"Irish Evening" at the Young Conservative club rooms, attracted a large number of gentlemen of Hibernian extraction and some who do not lay claim to be descendants of Erin's green isle. It was the last of the series of national evenings and a splendid programme was rendered.

Mr. R. E. Layfield proved to be a most capable chairman and under his direction, everything passed off smoothly and pleasantly. The programme was a varied one and was much appreciated. Nearly every number was deservedly encored, and all, who took part, acquitted themselves in admirable style.

The numbers were as follows,—

Piano Solo—J. E. Dickenson.
Vocal trio—Messrs. W. A. Greenslade, J. W. Chambers, and H. B. Paddock.
Song—Fred Freeland.
Recitation—George Lynch.
Song—Frank Pratt.
Piano and Violin—H. Nicolls and Geo. Howarth.
Song—Geo. Lynch.
Recitation—David Moore.
Song—H. B. Paddock.
Song—R. H. Shepherd.
Piano Solo—H. Nicolls.

The chairman, during the evening, referred to two distinguished Irish Canadians who had recently passed away in the persons of Hon. J. W. St. John, Speaker of the Ontario Legislature, and Dr. W. H. Drummond. He read Chancellor Burwash's tribute to the late Mr. St. John, and also gave a short review of the poems of Dr. Drummond.

MR. R. E. LAYFIELD

The Chairman of "Irish Evening" at Young Conservative Club Rooms.

At the close Mr. Layfield heartily thanked all those who had taken part in the programme, and announced that the Young Conservative Club would hold one more of their popular evenings before the close of the season.

It would partake of the nature of an "At Home" to which the wives and lady friends of the members would be invited to attend.

The gathering broke up with the singing of "God Save the King," and "The Maple Leaf."

Torn By Wild Beasts

HISTORY OF A GREAT DISCOVERY

The old Roman heroes who were torn by wild beasts at their fights in the now ruined Colosseum at Rome the Greek charioteers, and the gladiators, who made fighting a profession, all knew the virtues of herbal essences, for skin injuries and diseases. They would emerge from a combat sore, bleeding, and covered with wounds. They would apply at night their secret herbal balms and in a few days would again be ready for combat. Their ideal of a balm or salve was the correct one—a preparation which must combine power with purity, and that ideal is realized in Zam-Buk.

Ordinary ointments, salves, and embrocations are generally composed of rancid animal fats and mineral poisons.

Zam-Buk, on the contrary, is a healing balm, composed of highly refined saps and juices got from certain rich medicinal herbs, and every household may rely on its healing aid.

When the little one runs in from his play with a smarting, dirt-filled scrape on his hand or knee, simply wash the part, and smear with Zam-Buk, bandaging if necessary.

When father returns from work with a cut hand, the handy box of Zam-Buk again meets the emergency, and the housewife or mother continually finds it a real friend in need for the burns, the scalds, scrapes and bruises of general household duties. For eczema, ulcers, itch, fistulas, abscesses, scalp sores, and all skin diseases, it acts like a charm. It eases the pain and stops the bleeding of piles and cures this painful ailment quickly and surely. All druggists and stores sell at 50c a box, or from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price, 6 boxes for $2.50.

Delightful Study of Astronomy

Prof. Chant's Lecture To-night Should be Largely Patronized

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir.—The lecture by Prof. Chant, of the University College, Toronto, upon "The Sun" ought to be attended by all those who have a desire to look deeper than the mere surface of created things. In the heavens, more than elsewhere, we seem to deal with the mechanism of the universe fresh from the hand of God Himself. If there is anything that will help us more than another out of the little swamp of human affairs and theological tangles, into which we have sunk, it is the contemplation of the starry hosts of heaven and the wonderful order of their movement. Even to an amateur, in the most amateurish sense, astronomy, in a little acquaintance will prove vastly more fascinating than all else in the world combined. If a word in season will help the committee I am glad to say it.

Yours, etc.
MICRI-MICRON.

Angling Club Will Hold Meeting

Important Business Will Come Up on Monday Night

The C.G.E. Angling Club will hold a meeting at St. Peter's T. A. S. rooms on Monday night next, when a new secretary for the club will be elected. Mr. R. H. Shepherd, the present holder of the office, is retiring, as he is leaving the city in a few days. The club expects to have an outing down the river on May 24 A committee will also report in reference to the matter of establishing a club house down the river, at some central spot. The question will be thoroughly considered at the meeting on Monday night.

He Wanted to Buy But Had no Money

Last week a Scotchman named Rust, supposed to be from the vicinity of Fenella, blew into town wearing a summer straw hat, and an overcoat with checks of extraordinary size, and proceeded to sell Cobalt Mining Stock. Whether he sold much stock or not, we are not prepared to say, but he was also on the buy, says the Hastings Star.

On Friday he bargained for one of Alexander Greenley's best horses, but fortunately Mr. Greenley was not to deliver the horse until the money was forthcoming. As he had purchased a horse, on his way down to the stable he passed Al. Chapman's and seeing a new buggy in front he at once bought it in the same way he bought the horse, the only difference being he gave a check in part payment, which Mr. Chapman didn't seem to think was any good, and the deal fell through. A little later on looking for a dog he was supposed to own, he was told by someone that the dog was down at Ed. Lynch's shop, and he at once repaired there, and accused Edward of having his dog. Of course, Ed. did not see his dog and told him so, but Rust couldn't see it that way and roundly abused Ed. for keeping the animal; finally holding his fist under the constable's nose, telling what he would do to him. Just about then Mr. Rust started for the lock-up. After cooling his heels in the cell for a few minutes he was allowed to go on condition that he left town, and the last seen of him, he was only touching the high spots on the road to Roseneath.

AN EGG STORY FROM OTONABEE

Thieves Took Eggs From Under Hatching Hens

A somewhat unusual case of theft is reported from Otonabee township, and it is being investigated by the county police officials. Two men are wanted for the offence, and warrants for their arrest have been sworn out. It appears that a short time ago the wife of an Otonabee farmer bought nearly 200 eggs for hatching purposes. The hen fruit was of the kind produced by pure bred hens, and the lady paid a good price for the means by which she hoped to obtain a fine flock of pure bred fowls. The eggs were placed under a dozen hatching hens, but in the meantime some one in the neighborhood got busy and stole the eggs, or at least the bulk of them. This was more than the good housewife could stand and she at once placed the matter in the hands of the proper authorities, who are now making an investigation.

PERSONAL

The Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, came up on Tuesday to attend Mrs. Stanley Smith's funeral. Mr. Langfeldt is still feeling the effects of the illness from which he lately suffered, and was looking thin and worn. He was confined to bed for rather more than three weeks.—Orillia Packet.

Miss M. E. Berry, a graduate of The Nicholls Hospital, who has become very popular as a professional nurse here, has accepted a position at Red Deer, Sask., as assistant superintendent of the hospital there. The position is a very responsible one and we feel sure that the authorities of that institution have made no mistake in securing Miss Berry's services, as she is eminently fitted for the position to which she has been appointed. Miss Berry's home is in Cavan, where she leaves early next week, to assume her duties. Her many friends in Peterborough wish her every success.

Programme Fiends Worry Merchants

Forced to Pay for Advertising Schemes of no Value

On checking over the various small sums paid here and there for advertisements in programmes, year books, church, school and society announcements of various kinds, the average Toronto business man finds that he has spent a sum sufficient to have paid for a year's contract for real advertising in a really good daily newspaper, where the actual returns are sure to be profitable.

Why does he do it?

For divers reasons.

He belongs to a church. He and his family attend regularly and contribute their full share to its maintenance. A concert is projected, programmes are required. The committee go out to get ads enough to pay for printing and perhaps a little over. They check over the list of the business men of their congregation—and there he is. They call. It's only $2.50 for a page. Time is valuable. "All right. Put me down for a page. Miss —— will write out something to put in it." He knows he can't expect one cent of return, so copy is really a matter of no importance. How can he escape?

His lodge, his regiment, his favorite charity, all get after him in like manner. The "help along" argument is worked. The canvassers in many cases don't really try to prove that any benefit will ever come to him as a result of the expenditure, but—— "help along a good cause."

In cities like Toronto this traffic has come to be so profitable that professional takers are making a business of getting out these programmes, often paying the committee in charge a considerable sum in addition to the cost of furnishing so many hundred programmes. In return the committee furnishes a list of names of members who are regarded as legitimate prey.

Forth goes the programme fiend, not to talk advertising. Oh, no! That's not his trump card, and he knows it, but to get the "member" to "help along." There are tears in his voice as he presents the claims of the "good cause." They are trying to make the entertainment a great success. The committee asks him to call on Mr. Merchant to see "if he couldn't please aid them by paying $10 for the back page." (Dummy programme is here produced.)

And so he puts up the $10 feeling that, while he may not be doing a good stroke of business, he is at least assisting the finances of some worthy institution. In many cases not a dollar of this $10 ever reaches the treasury of that organization. The programme fiend gets it.

If a man ever allows his name to appear on one of these programme schemes he is sure to be hounded for all time by all the others,

Their name is legion, theatre programmes, Horse Show programmes, Massey Hall Concert programmes, Pure Food Show programmes, Poultry Show programmes, Dog show programmes, Woodbine racing programmes, baseball programmes, lacrosse programmes, sporting schedule and musical curriculum, and so on ad nauseam.

In many cities the leading business men have banded together and made an agreement to withhold their patronage from the many and varied advertising schemes to which they are called upon to contribute from time to time. There is not a city in the country where the business men would not profit by making the same sort of agreement and be money in pocket at the end of the year. If the solicitors for the many schemes referred to were given a firm refusal it would only be a question of time before these fake advertising schemes disappeared entirely.

This is the cure. Turn all down promptly and firmly. Make no exceptions.—Mail and Empire.

Two Composite Companies Will go From Peterborough

Two companies from the 57th regiment will go into camp at Kingston June 17th and will form part of the composite regiment that will train there. The composite regiment will remain four days in camp and will be composed in the same manner as the one at the Cobourg camp last year.

This was the statement made by Col. Miller today and the authorization of the same is contained in the following paragraph from general orders for 1907:—

"One regiment from each district composed of officers and men of city infantry corps, is authorized to train for four days in the camp of instruction in which the rural infantry corps of that district assemble for annual training."

The two companies from the Peterborough regiment will be composed of about thirty men each. It is not yet known who will be in command, but the officers will be appointed shortly.

Total Catch of 5000 Muskrats In the Vicinity of Lindsay

Past Season Has Been the Most Successful in a Decade —Prices for Skins Ranged from 30 to 36 cents—Some Great Records.

With a total catch of about 3000 muskrats in the vicinity of Lindsay, the season of 1907 has been the most successful one in a decade, says the Lindsay Post. With rats plentiful, fur in good condition, and prices—already high—still further raised by the competition of buyers, many hunters were tempted to pack up their traps and camping outfit, and betake themselves down or up the Scugog for a week or two's trapping. With prices ranging from 30 to 36 1-2 cents per skin, their labors were generously rewarded.

As far as can yet be ascertained the most successful trappers were D. Hudson and Son, who secured 450 skins. Messrs. J. Dickson and F. Bushnell laid their traps near Green Point, Goose Lake, and secured, in round numbers 400 rats, for which which they received 36 1-2 cents per pelt. The following is a list of many who have marketed their catches in Lindsay,—

W. Brady, East Creek	95
Geo. Jackman, McLaren's Creek	230
Ford Bros., McLaren's Creek	280
H. Jackman, McLaren's Creek	75
Alf. and Will Ford, Scugog	96

Tom Jackett, Upper Scugog	30
Cooper & Fagers, Upper Scugog	300
Merriam Bros., Lower Scugog	425
Hooper, Little Brittain	150
Rogers, Little Britain	180
Whetung Bros., Upper Scugog	245
Chilvers, Scugog Lake	160
Starr, Valentia	180
Geo. Goose, Indian, Upper Scugog	100

Besides these Lansing and son, Hearn and sons, and others of Caesarea, caught 1,200 rats, which may be sold in Lindsay.

Mr. Ed. Armstrong of Dundas & Flavelles, was the most successful buyer, securing around 3,500 pelts. Last year he bought 2,200. Messrs. Simon Marshall, Tom Pratt, John Flurey and others, also bought quantities.

Besides the large number of muskrats caught, a number of mink skins were added to the pile by some of the trappers. R. Baxter got two mink, Geo. Jackman and Jack O'Brien got two each; Whetung Bros. got one apiece. Jack O'Brien's single handed catch of 300 rats, is a record to be envied.

BOYS MUST BE SENT TO SCHOOL

Truancy Officer Cochrane Laid Two Charges in Police Court

Truant officer George Cochrane had two cases in the police court this morning.

Jas McCollum ,of this city, was charged with not sending his boy to school. Mrs. McCollum was present and said that her boy had had the measles. The doctor's certificate showed that the lad could have been going to school since the 21st of April. The case was dismissed, and she was ordered to send her boy to school.

Mr. C. Holland was also in court for the same offence.

Mr McDonald, of the Separate school staff, was present and said that the boy had only been to school 35 days since the first of January. Mrs Holland contended that her son was ill-treated at school, and she was not going to send him there to be abused.

His Worship said that the lad was not whipped unless he deserved it, and if his parents would whip him a little more he would not skip school so much. The Magistrate informed the mother that if she could not send the child to school the authorities would see that he was made to go. Next time, the Magistrate added, that he would fine the parents heavily.

John Powers was given two months in the county gaol this morning for vagrancy.

A Political Poem on Fair Canada

Toronto Globe Should Send its $100 to Peterborough

The Toronto Globe recently offered a prize of $100 for the best political poem received by that paper. A well known local poet will send the following to the leading Grit organ of the Province and trusts that the words and sentiments expressed will so commend themselves to the management of the Globe, that the $100 premium will be forwarded to Peterborough.

The Daily Mail and Empire,
Is fighting against graft,
But the Grits will stick together,
Like barnacles on a craft,
Or like the potato beetles,
On the Irishman's vine,
All getting fat and very rich,
On graft, women and wine.

The Government of Canada
Has gone from bad to worse,
Canadians in high places,
Are bringing on a curse.
There is scandal upon scandal
And wine, women and graft
The news all over Canada
A-floating like some graft.

The Manitoba school question
Has put us in this pitch.
The Grits came into power then,
To make themselves all rich.
They stick together right or wrong
Without the least of shame,
Our morals are all getting worse,
Let Grits now take the blame.

O Province, dear Province Quebec,
You hear three men complain,
Who love their country, Canada
And fear the curse of Cain.
These three men are noble Christians,
Who stand against all graft,
They are ashamed to read the news
That's floating like a raft.

O Canada! O Canada!
Majorities may laugh,
To see the plight of Canada,
A sorry epitaph.
Some newspapers are defending
And some we see complain,
And some are like three sterling men,
Who fear the curse of Cain.
